NOMINATIONS FOR LIFE TO THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

(Consideration of Governor's Message No. 1.)

Motion made and Question put,—That the Committee agree to the following Resolution (Mr. Forster):—

The Legislative Assembly having taken into consideration His Excellency the Governor's Message, No. 1, dated the 1st instant, cannot avoid expressing its regret that the Executive Government should deem it inexpedient to lay before this House any documents of a public nature, having reference to a matter of such vast public interest and importance as the late nominations for life to the Legislative Council, particularly upon the grounds set forth in the Message, namely, "in view to the public interest and the confidence which should subsist on similar occasions."

On the contrary, it appears to the Assembly that the public interest, and the confidence which should subsist on all occasions between the Executive Government and this House, require all the documents specified in the Address of the 17th ultimo to be laid before the House.

The Assembly had no intention in that Address to make any claim for copies of private correspondence, but it feels compelled, in the performance of its duty to the Country, respectfully to pray, that His Excellency the Governor will cause all documents of a public nature, specified in the said Address, which are now withheld, to be laid before the House.

Debate ensued;—

EXTRACTS FROM THE VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

VOTES No. 2. WEDNESDAY, 4 SEPTEMBER, 1861.

8. Standing Orders Committee :—Mr. Cowper moved, pursuant to notice, That the Standing Orders Committee for the present Session consist of the following Members, viz. :—The Speaker, Mr. Cowper, Mr. Arnold, Mr. Hart, Mr. Hay, Mr. Windeyer, Mr. Piddington, Mr. Dick, Mr. Smart, and Mr. Wisdom, with leave to sit during any adjournment, and authority to confer upon subjects of mutual concernment with any Committee appointed for similar purposes by the Legislative Council. Question put and passed.

VOTES No. 30. THURSDAY, 24 OCTOBER, 1861.

2. Question of Order, (Petition) :—Mr. Buchanan,—referring to the Petition received by this House on presentation by Mr. Piddington, on the 17th instant, adverse to the Maitland and Morpeth Railway Company's Bill, then and now under the consideration of a Select Committee,—drew attention to the apparent identity of handwriting of many of the signatures thereto ; and requested the ruling of the Speaker on the question, whether such identity would not invalidate the Petition. The Speaker said that, while by the Rules of Parliament, every Petition is required to be signed by the parties whose names are appended thereto ; yet, supposing a Petition to bear some counterfeit signatures (which, however, it might be difficult to prove such), if it also bore on the same skin or sheet, even one genuine signature, such Petition was not invalid. While, therefore, he agreed as to the apparent identity of handwriting of some of the signatures to the Petition in question, there was sufficient in the general appearance of others to warrant him in believing that the latter were genuine, and that the reception of the Petition had been entirely warranted.

2. Question of Order, (Petition):—Mr. Buchanan,—referring to the Petition received by this House on presentation by Mr. Piddington, on the 17th instant, adverse to the Maitland and Morpeth Railway Company's Bill, then and now under the consideration of a Select Committee,—drew attention to the apparent indentity of handwriting of many of the signatures thereto; and requested the ruling of the Speaker on the question, whether such identity would not invalidate the Petition.
The Speaker said that, while by the Rules of Parliament, every Petition is required to be signed by the parties whose names are appended thereto; yet, supposing a Petition to bear some counterfeit signatures (which, however, it might be difficult to prove such), if it also bore on the same skin or sheet, even one genuine signature, such Petition was not invalid.
While, therefore, he agreed as to the apparent identity of handwriting of some of the signatures to the Petition in question, there was sufficient in the general appearance of others to warrant him in believing that the latter were genuine, and that the reception of the Petition had been entirely warranted.

REPORT.

THE STANDING ORDERS COMMITTEE, to whom it was referred, on the 18th instant, "to consider and report whether the 7th Standing Order of the House of Commons upon Private Bills ought to be applied as a Rule of Voting in Select Committees of this House upon Private Bills," have agreed to the following Report:—

(1.) Your Committee find that the Standing Order of the House of Commons indicated is not relevant to the question particularized by the Honorable Member on whose motion the present reference to your Committee is made; that question being, as he, a Member of your Committee states—whether the Chairman of a Select Committee on a Private Bill ought to have both a deliberative and a casting vote, or only a casting vote.

(2.) Your Committee having carefully considered this question, have the honor to recommend to your Honorable House the adoption of the following suggestion:—

That the Chairman of a Select Committee on a Private Bill ought to be entitled to vote on all questions in the same way as other Members of such Committee, and in case of an equality of Votes, should exercise a second or casting Vote.

NOMINATIONS FOR LIFE TO THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

No. 1.

EXTRACT from Governor General Sir W. Denison's Despatch of the 19th November, 1860, to the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

(The former portion of this Despatch has no reference to the subject in question.)

* * * * *

By the Constitution Act the Legislative Council, as now existing, will expire in May; and it will be the duty of the Governor, with the advice of his then Executive Council, to nominate the Members of a new Council, who will hold their seats for life.

It is, of course, an object with those who are anxious to effect a change in the Constitution of the Legislative Council to be in office at this period, in order that they may press the Governor to nominate, as Members, such men as may be willing to adopt their views with reference to the character of this change.

I need hardly point out to your Grace that a strong jealousy exists in the Legislative Assembly of the power vested in the Legislative Council, and that there are many who would not hesitate to vote for the abolition of a second Chamber (among whom I may, I believe, place two of the Members of my present Ministry), while there are others who, adhering to the form of a second Chamber, would practically reduce the Upper to a nullity, by making it a mere duplicate of the Assembly, elected by the same constituents, without any qualification for the Members.

I mention this matter to your Grace in order that some instructions may, if thought necessary, be given to my successor for his guidance under the very difficult circumstances in which he will be placed shortly after his arrival.

Had I remained in New South Wales I should have taken upon myself the responsibility of acting in this matter, without special reference to your Grace; my knowledge of the state of public feeling, and of the character of the people, and the interests of the Colony generally, would have afforded data for my guidance; but in these my successor must necessarily be deficient, and he will be called upon to act in a matter upon which the political character of the Colony must depend, without any other data than those which general principles of policy may indicate.

I trust that your Grace will not think that I have intruded my advice unnecessarily on this occasion.

I have, &c.,
W. DENISON.

No. 2.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE TO THE GOVERNOR.

*Downing-street,
4 February, 1861.*

New South Wales
Separate.

SIR,

I have been reminded by your predecessor's Despatch, No. 113, of the 19th November last, that the period is approaching when the present Members of the Legislative Council will vacate their seats, and a new appointment of Councillors will become necessary.

The Members of the first Council were appointed under the Constitutional Act, in May, 1856, and were to retain their seats for five years. In May, 1861, therefore, it will become the duty of the Governor, with the advice of his Executive Council, to appoint not less than twenty-one Legislative Councillors, who are to hold their seats for life.

I am very deeply impressed by the importance of this conjuncture, to the well being of the Colony, not because I at all anticipate that the opportunity will be taken to place unfit persons in that branch of the Legislature, but because the occasion appears to me one which is calculated to try, very severely, the system of party Government, now established, more or less, in the principal British Colonies.

A Government, representing not the entire community, but that political party which is in the ascendant, is in an evidently false position when called upon to reconstruct a branch of the Legislature. If they adopt the task it cannot be expected that they will place their own party in a minority in the Council. But it is equally clear that, if they give themselves a majority in that body, it will be liable to be viewed as the mere creature of the party which appointed it; and that their opponents will probably conceive themselves justified, on succeeding to office, in adjusting the inequality, by the creation of fresh Councillors. On every change of Ministry the same argument will be equally good, and the consequence may be, that the first act of each administration may be, to swamp the Council, which has been previously swamped by their predecessors.

Such a result would, of course, amount to a total change of the present Constitution. But, far worse than the change of the Constitution would be the demoralizing effects of the mode in which that change had been effected. No Government can subsist unless the Legislature is an object of respect. No party Government can long subsist with advantage to the community, unless rival political parties are tacitly agreed that great constitutional cases shall be treated with reference to the public good, and not to party interests.

Now,

Now, in the circumstances I have supposed, a branch of the Legislature, without ceasing to exist, could not fail to sink into a state of weakness and disrepute. And this misfortune would have arisen from the fact, that a number of gentlemen, finding themselves in power at the period of a great constitutional change, had treated, or at least had allowed it to be supposed that they had treated that occasion as a mere means of party advantage, and that their opponents, on coming into power, had endorsed their proceedings by following (as far as possible) their example.

Not knowing who may be your Advisers when this Despatch reaches the Colony, I may be allowed, without any disrespect to them, to say, that these considerations appear to me conclusive, as to the dangers inherent in the mere nomination of a fresh Legislative Council, in the terms of the Colonial Acts of Parliament, by the Governor and Executive Council.

But it is possible that some of those who are dissatisfied with the existing Constitution, may be desirous of using this opportunity to bring the Legislature into a position of such embarrassment as shall force an alteration of its composition.

Such a course seems to me hardly less detrimental to the permanent interest of the Colony, than the nomination of a partizan Council. I do not enquire how far the Constitution is suited to the exigencies of New South Wales. This is a question for those who inhabit that Colony. But of this I am certain, that in a free country, little permanency can be expected for any reform, unless it has been carried either without material opposition, or under such circumstances as compel even the minority to acknowledge that they have been fairly heard and decisively vanquished.

This is a consideration of the greatest weight in a new country, where the Constitution has not had time to acquire that authority which is earned by long and successful use. There, most of all, it is desirable that fundamental changes should be so carried as to be secure from reversal. But such reversal is almost invited when an important change in the constitution of the Legislature is carried, not after argument and experience by the deliberate judgment of the community, but by the hasty and adroit use of an exceptional necessity.

It is scarcely requisite to point out an obvious mode of avoiding these difficulties by the bare re-appointment of the present Legislative Councillors. I do not know how far these gentlemen at present command the confidence of the colonists. And it can hardly be supposed that, if the appointments were to be made in 1861, all the same persons would be placed in the Council who were nominated to it in 1856.

But without anticipating the judgment of the colonists on the public conduct of these gentlemen, I may be allowed to say, that if there should be no paramount objection to their re-appointment, I see, in that course, a promise of permanent advantage, or rather an escape from a very serious danger, and that I should learn with great satisfaction that your Government had decided upon adopting it.

It is most probable that the considerations which have pressed so strongly on my own mind, may have presented themselves with still greater force to your Advisers, long before you received this Despatch. And it is possible that public opinion (which must also have been directed to the subject) may have already decided upon some sufficient mode of obviating the inconveniencies of which I am apprehensive.

If this be the case the present Despatch is happily unnecessary.

But it is also possible that the question may be still involved in embarrassment, and that the political parties who are concerned in bringing it to a constitutional settlement, may be aided in their object by the suggestions of one not unacquainted with the exigencies of Constitutional Government, and who cannot be suspected of any other motive than an earnest desire for the welfare of New South Wales.

It is under this impression that I have addressed you. If this very important question is likely to settle itself in a manner conducive to the welfare of the Colony, there is no reason why you should give publicity to this Despatch.

But you are at liberty to make use of it in such a way as you may find expedient, if you think that its communication to your Government, or to the colonists generally, will be advantageous to the public interests.

I have, &c.,

[Enclosure

4 NOMINATIONS FOR LIFE TO THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

[Enclosure to No. 3.]

PROCEEDINGS of the Executive Council on the 11th June, 1861, with respect to the appointment of New Members to the Legislative Council.

His Excellency the Governor directs the attention of the Council to the necessity which exists for the appointment of a new Legislative Council, in terms of the 3rd clause of the Constitution Act, the period for which the original Members held their seats having expired on the 13th of May last.

2. His Excellency lays before the Council a list of twenty-seven gentlemen, to whom, it appears to him, seats may, with propriety, be offered, and desires the advice of the Council on this point, and generally also in reference to the question.

3. The Council express their full concurrence in the necessity of at once nominating the Members of the new Council; but, keenly alive to the difficulties which surround the selection of the gentlemen to be nominated, they approach a decision upon the question with feelings of no ordinary anxiety.

The subject has, however, engaged their serious attention for some time past, and having now again given to it that consideration which its importance demands, they are led to the conclusion, that in making these appointments, the following principles should be distinctly kept in view:—

1st. It is essential that the Legislative Council should, as speedily as possible, be reconstructed on an Elective basis.

2nd. It is equally essential that the Land Bills, as last agreed to by the Legislative Assembly, should be passed without delay; and

3rd. That the Government should have in the Council a fair working majority.

4. These are principles which, in the opinion of the Council, pervade the community, and to which they feel that they are bound to give effect.

5. The Council believe that the list submitted to them by His Excellency will give the Government a fair working majority; and in the expectation that the gentlemen named in it will adopt these principles in deference to public opinion, and in a generous spirit, they are prepared to advise that seats in the Legislative Council be offered to them, as set forth in the said list, a copy of which is hereto appended.

6. The Council also recommend that a copy of this Minute should accompany the letter which His Excellency may direct to be addressed to each gentleman; and as a fitting tribute to the eminent services conferred by Mr. Wentworth on the Colony, they finally advise that His Excellency should request him to accept the office of President.

For reasons which will perhaps readily occur to you, but which I may be permitted to say do not in any way touch your position and standing in the Colony, I have not been advised to include your name amongst those to whom, upon the reappointment of the Legislative Council, it is considered expedient seats should be offered.

Legislative Assembly.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

OFFICE OF SPEAKER.

(LETTER FROM SPEAKER RELATIVE TO ALLOWANCES ATTACHED TO.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 22 October, 1861.

SPEAKER to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Sydney, 7 September, 1861.

SIR,

The disadvantageous position in which I am placed, as Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, in comparison with that of my predecessors in the office, induces me to address you on my own behalf, as well as on that of any of my successors who may happen to be similarly circumstanced with myself.

My predecessors were all residents, either in the City or in its immediate neighbourhood, and their election to the office of Speaker scarcely added anything to their ordinary expenditure.

My case has been different. Placed in the Chair by the unanimous voice of the House, I readily assumed the responsibilities of that position; but having no town residence of my own, I feel, though fully sensible of the distinguished honour conferred upon me, that in a pecuniary point of view I am a loser by the office.

Several years ago I pointed out in the Legislative Council, that as the Speaker's allowances then stood—and they have not been altered since—the possession of a town residence was virtually one of the essential qualifications for the office, and that no one could aspire to it, however eligible in other respects, if he did not possess this qualification.

Sir Charles Nicholson was Speaker at that time. He was succeeded by Sir Daniel Cooper. But in the case of neither of these gentlemen was it necessary to make any charge.

It is clear, however, that a Member the least gifted in point of fortune may, in education, intellectual attainments, and all other essential qualities, be the most eligible of all to take the Chair of the House as Speaker; and it is surely advisable that the emoluments should be such as would render it unnecessary for a man so qualified to decline it through the apprehension of its exposing him to pecuniary loss.

As the House has twice unanimously elected me as its Speaker, I have no hesitation in assuming the responsibility of bringing this matter under the consideration of the Government; and on my own behalf, as well as on that of those who may succeed me, I make this application for such increased allowances as will enable those who may be elected to the office of Speaker, to fill it without any necessary drain on their own pecuniary resources.

For myself, I may refer to an unbroken career in the Legislature of this Country, since the first establishment of representative institutions, now nearly nineteen years ago, to show that I have never suffered myself to be influenced in the course I have taken by mere private or personal considerations. But I do not think that it is at all unreasonable to request, that the salary of the Speaker should be placed on an equal footing with those of the Secretaries for Lands, Works, and Finance; and that he should also receive an allowance for house-rent, or that a house should be provided for him.

I may mention that such a provision as this is made in several of the Colonies; that in the plans for our new Houses of Parliament, apartments are provided for the Speaker; and that the Speaker of the House of Commons receives not only a munificent salary, and other allowances, but that a suitable establishment is maintained for him. The request therefore, which I make, has the sanction of general usage.

Trusting that the Government will submit a proposition upon this matter to the House of Assembly,—

I have, &c.,

T. A. MURRAY.

APPROPRIATION ACT FOR 1860.

(DESPATCHES RELATING TO RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL, ON THE THIRD READING THEREOF.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

SIR W. DENISON to THE DUKE OF NEWCASTLE.

(No. 76.)

Government House,
Sydney, 13 July, 1860.

MY LORD DUKE,

I have the honor to forward herewith, in accordance with the request contained in the 5th paragraph, a series of Resolutions adopted by the Legislative Council of New South Wales, explanatory of the views entertained by that branch of the Legislature, of the operation of the Appropriation Act in giving Legislative sanction to the payments made by the Government for the public service previous to the passing of such an enactment.

A brief sketch of the circumstances in which the Government of New South Wales has been placed will enable your Grace to comprehend the reasons which have induced the Legislative Council to affirm such a series of Resolutions. Owing to the change of Government, which took place towards the latter end of last year, the Estimates for 1860 were not passed before it became necessary to make the usual payments on account of the various branches of the public service; the Government, however, obtained the sanction (by Resolution) of the Legislative Assembly to a portion of the payments which were made, but for some, owing to another change in the Government, no sanction was obtained previous to the expenditure of the money. Under these circumstances, the Government thought it advisable to free itself from the responsibility which it had incurred, and introduced an Act indemnifying the Governor, the Ministers, and all other persons concerned, for expending that portion of the revenue for which the sanction of the Assembly had not been asked. This Act, when it was brought before the Council, was amended, and made to include an indemnity for the whole of the expenditure previous to the passing of the Appropriation Act, but when it was returned to the Assembly with these amendments it was rejected.

This engendered a feeling of annoyance, and the consideration of the Appropriation Act was adjourned from time to time, with the view of making the passing of this contingent upon the adoption by the Assembly of the Indemnity Bill, in a shape similar to that which it had when sent down from the Council.

The Appropriation Act was, however, finally passed, the Resolutions which I now forward being also passed as a contingent motion upon the Order of the Day for the third reading being called.

It will be my duty to prevent, if possible, the recurrence of a similar state of things, by pressing forward the consideration of the Estimates, so as to obtain for the Government the necessary legal authority for its expenditure before the commencement of the year; but this will not remove all chance of collision between the two Houses of the Legislature, inasmuch as, owing to the construction put upon the words of the Constitution Act, the Council is disposed to assume to itself the right of dealing with questions of Revenue and Expenditure, while the Assembly is disposed to maintain what it considers its right and privilege of being the sole judge of the fitness of any expenditure.

I trust, however, that the good sense of the majority will operate on both sides to prevent any such difference of opinion as would compel the Government to interfere in the only mode which the law sanctions for the purpose of securing unanimity.

With regard to the Resolutions themselves, whatever may be the view legally taken of the operation of the Appropriation Act, it is most certain that the principle affirmed is altogether at variance with the practice which has prevailed in the Colonies, where the Government always assumed the responsibility of expending money for purposes not contemplated when the Estimates for the year were prepared, and has secured a practical indemnity for this by bringing in a Supplementary Estimate, and inserting the amount in the Appropriation Act for the subsequent year.

I have, &c.,
W. DENISON.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY SIR WILLIAM THOMAS DENISON, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Governor General in and over all Her Majesty's Colonies of New South Wales, Tasmania, Victoria, South Australia, and Western Australia, and Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of the Territory of New South Wales and its Dependencies, and Vice-Admiral of the same.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY:—

We, Her Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Members of the Legislative Council of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled, have this day passed the following Resolutions:—

"(1.) That this Council proceeds to the Order of the Day for the third reading of the Appropriation Bill, upon the full understanding that this measure will not, of itself, involve a sanction or indemnity with regard to any portion of the illegal expenditure of Public Moneys which has avowedly been made by the Government since the passing of the last Appropriation Act.

"(2.) That the mere coincidence of any items in the Appropriation Act with an antecedent unauthorised expenditure, is not alone, in the opinion of this Council, any ground of immunity to the persons concerned in thus violating the law and the Constitution, and that even in cases where great public emergency can be pleaded in excuse, the illegality can only be properly condoned by a distinct Act of Indemnity, passed in due form by all branches of the Legislature.

"(3.) That this Council, in further assertion of its undoubted rights, as a branch of the Legislature, resolves, that for any person or persons whatsoever employed in the payment of Public Money, to pay or cause to be paid, any sum or sums of money for or towards the support of services, whether voted in any Session of Parliament or not, before the same be included in an Act of the Legislature, duly passed according to law, is derogatory to the privileges of Parliament, and subversive of the Constitution.

"(4.) That the foregoing Resolutions be embodied in an Address to His Excellency the Governor General.

"(5.) That His Excellency the Governor General be requested to forward a copy of the above Resolutions to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State, for the information of Her Majesty's Government."

And, in accordance with the terms of the fifth of the said Resolutions, we respectfully request that your Excellency will be pleased to forward a copy thereof to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State, for the information of Her Majesty's Government.

SIR,

I have received Sir W. Denison's Despatch, No. 76, of the 13th of July, forwarding, in accordance with the request of the Legislative Council of New South Wales, a series of Resolutions adopted by that branch of the Legislature, explanatory of the views entertained by them respecting the operation of the Appropriation Act in giving Legislative sanction to the payments made by the Government for the public service previous to the passing of such an enactment.

2. Sir W. Denison further explains the difference which had existed between the two branches of the Legislature as to the power of the Legislative Council in dealing with questions of expenditure.

3. I transmit to you for your information copies of a correspondence with the Governor of New Zealand on a similar question which arose within that Government.

4. I trust that the moderation and prudence of both branches of the Legislature, will prevent the recurrence of any similar difficulty in New South Wales.

Legislative.Government House,
Auckland, 22 September, 1854.

My Lord Duke,

A question having been raised just as the last Session of the Assembly was drawing to a close, as to whether the Legislative Council would be justified in making any alterations in a measure of Supply, or whether, by analogy to the British Constitution, the Legislative Council of New Zealand must not either wholly accept or wholly reject every such measure, the Resolution, of which the enclosed is a copy, has been forwarded to me by the Speaker of that body for transmission to your Grace, in order that all doubt upon the subject may be at once authoritatively set at rest, and thus avoid the evils which must result from any conflict of opinion between the two branches of the General Assembly as to the nature and extent of their Constitutional rights.

I have, &c.,
R. H. WYNYARD,
Officer Administering the Government.His Grace
The Duke of Newcastle.Legislative Council Chamber,

Sir,

In obedience to a Resolution of the Legislative Council, I beg most respectfully to draw your Excellency's attention to the enclosed extract from the Proceedings of that body of the 16th September, 1854.

I have, &c.,

Sec. of State, 19.
23 March, 1856.Legislative Council Chamber, 20th Sept.,
1854.

EXTRACT from the Proceedings of the Legislative Council, 15 September, 1854.

Resolved:—

1. That, as the Bill for appropriating the Public Revenues was not introduced into the Legislative Council until the 15th instant, and as the Assembly is to be prorogued on the 16th instant, this Council has no alternative but either wholly to reject the Bill or to agree to it in the form in which it has been transmitted to them by the House of Representatives.

2. That, in consenting to pass the Appropriation Bill for 1854-5, without alteration of any of the sums voted by the House of Representatives, the Legislative Council have regard solely to the maintenance of the Civil Establishments of the Colony, and desire in no way to prejudice any right to alter or amend the Annual Appropriation Bill, or any other measure for raising or disposing of the Public Revenues.

3. That, although the Act for granting a Representative Constitution to the Colony of New Zealand contains no provisions for limiting or restricting the power of the Legislative Council to alter or amend any Legislative measures whatever which may be submitted for their consideration, the question has nevertheless been raised, whether the Legislative Council would be justified in making any alteration in any measure of supply, or whether, by analogy to the British Constitution, the Legislative Council of New Zealand must not either wholly accept or wholly reject every such measure.

4. That, in order to avoid the evils which would result from any conflict of opinion between two of the branches of the General Assembly, as to the nature and extent of their respective Constitutional rights, all doubt upon the subject should be at once and authoritatively set at rest; and that, with a view to that object, His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government be respectfully moved to bring the question under the consideration of Her Majesty's Imperial Government.

5. That a copy of the preceding Resolutions (passed this day), in reference to the rights of the Legislative Council in respect of measures of Supply, be forwarded to His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government, and that His Excellency's attention thereto be respectfully requested.

(True Extract.)

WILLIAM SWAINSON,
Speaker of the Legislative Council.

(No. 19.)

*Downing-street,
25 March, 1855.*

Sir,

I have received your Despatch, No. 88, of the 22nd September last, enclosing a copy of a Resolution of the Legislative Council of New Zealand, on the question whether that body would be justified in making any alteration in any measure of Supply which had been voted by the House of Representatives, or whether, by analogy to the British Constitution, the Legislative Council must either wholly accept or wholly reject every such measure.

2. The question raised by your Despatch is one of great importance in itself, and touching on the first principles of English Constitutional Law. In this country it has been the undisputed practice, as affirmed by a resolution of the House of Commons of the year 1678, that Bills for Supply "ought not to be changed or altered by the House of Lords." It is quite true that the New Zealand Constitutional Act contains no provision to the same effect. But it appears to me that the analogy of the English Constitution ought to prevail, the reason being the same, when the Upper House is not elected by the people. And in Canada, where the Constitutional Act is similar in this respect to that of New Zealand, the Legislative Assembly has hitherto exercised without dispute the same privilege in regard to money votes as the British House of Commons.

(PETITION FROM.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 18 October, 1861.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of David Blair,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioner, David Blair, has been dismissed from his Government appointment, namely, from his situation of Front Doorkeeper and Messenger to the Legislative Assembly, in a very unjust, unceremonious, and un-English manner; and that it was as impossible for him to avert his dismissal as it would be for him to prevent the rising or the setting of the sun. His prayer therefore is, that your Honorable House will take his case into your humane consideration, and award to him that meed of redress, which Englishmen, with their inherent love of right, do generally bestow.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Fifth.—You are as much as possible to observe, in the passing of all Laws, that each different matter be provided for by a different Law, without intermixing in one and the same Act such things as have no proper relation to each other; and you are more especially to take care that no Clause or Clauses be inserted in or annexed to any Act which shall be foreign to what the title of such Act imports, and that no perpetual Clause be part of any temporary law, and that no Act whatever be suspended, altered, continued, revived, or repealed, by general words; but that the title and date of such Act so suspended, altered, continued, revived, or repealed, be particularly mentioned and expressed in the enacting part.

Sixth.—

Sixth.—When any Bill is presented to you for Our Assent, of either of the classes hereinafter specified, you shall (unless you shall think proper to withhold Our Assent from the same) reserve the same for the signification of Our pleasure thereon; subject, nevertheless, to your discretion, in case you should be of opinion that an urgent necessity exists, requiring that such Bill be brought into immediate operation; in which case you are authorized to assent to such Bill in Our name, transmitting to Us, by the earliest opportunity, the Bill so assented to, together with your reasons for assenting thereto, that is to say:—

1. Any Bill for the divorce of persons joined together in Holy Matrimony.
2. Any Bill whereby any grant of land or money, or other donation or gratuity, may be made to yourself.
3. Any Bill whereby any paper or other currency may be made a legal tender, except the coin of the Realm or other gold or silver coin.
4. Any Bill for raising money by the institution of public or private lotteries.

9. Any Bill that shall purport to be enacted for a time less than one year.
10. Any Bill of any extraordinary nature and importance, whereby Our Prerogative, or the rights and property of Our subjects not residing in the Colony, or the trade and shipping of the United Kingdom and its dependencies, may be prejudiced.
11. Any Bill containing provisions to which Our Assent has been once refused, or which have been disallowed by Us.

Seventh.—You shall take care that all Laws assented to by you in Our name, or reserved for the signification of Our Royal pleasure thereon, shall, when transmitted by you, be fairly abstracted in the margins, and accompanied with explanatory observations upon each of them, and you are also to transmit the reasons and occasion for proposing such Law. You shall also transmit fair copies of the Journals, and Minutes of the Proceedings of the said Legislative Council and Assembly, which you are to require from the Clerks or other proper Officers in that behalf of the said Legislative Council and Assembly.

Eighth.—You are to communicate forthwith to Our Executive Council for Our said Colony, these Our Instructions, and, likewise, all such others from time to time as you shall find convenient for Our service to be imparted to them.

Ninth.—And We do hereby declare, and it is Our pleasure, that Our said Executive Council shall not proceed to the dispatch of business unless duly summoned by your authority, and unless two Members, at the least, (exclusive of yourself, or the Member presiding) be present, and assisting throughout the whole of the meetings at which any such business shall be dispatched.

Tenth.—And it is Our pleasure that you do attend and preside at the meetings of Our said Executive Council, unless when prevented by some necessary or reasonable cause, and you are hereby further authorized to appoint, by an Instrument under the Great Seal of the Province, one Member of the said Executive Council to preside in your absence, and to remove him and appoint another in his stead; and if, during your absence, the Member so appointed shall also be absent, then the Senior Member of the said Executive Council actually present shall preside at all such meetings, the Seniority of the Members of the Council being regulated according to the priority of their appointments as Members of the said Council.

Eleventh.—And We do further direct and command that a full, exact Journal or Minute be kept of all the deliberations, acts, proceedings, votes, and resolutions of Our said Council, and that at each meeting of the said Council the Minutes of the last meeting be read over, confirmed, or amended, as the case may require, before proceeding to the dispatch of any other business.

Twelfth.—And it is Our further will and pleasure, and We do hereby command you, that in the execution of the several powers and authorities granted and committed to you by Our said Commission and these Our Instructions, or by any additional Instructions hereafter to be given to you by Us, you do in all things consult and advise with Our said Executive Council, and that you do not exercise the powers and authorities aforesaid, or any of them, except by and with the concurrence and advice of Our said Council, save and except only in such cases as are hereinafter saved and excepted: Provided always that nothing herein contained shall extend to prevent your exercising, without the advice and consent of Our said Council, the several powers and authorities, or any of them, which may be of so urgent and pressing a nature as not to admit of the delay unavoidably incident to the deliberations of Our said Council. It is, nevertheless, Our pleasure that the measures adopted by you without the advice of our said Council upon any such emergency shall, with all convenient speed, be by you brought before Our said Council for their revision and sanction. Provided also that nothing herein contained shall prevent your exercising the several powers and authorities aforesaid, or any of them, without the advice and concurrence of Our said Council in any case, or upon any occasion which may not appear to you to be sufficiently important to require their assistance and advice, or which may be of such a nature that, in your judgment, Our service would sustain material prejudice by consulting Our said Council thereupon.

Thirteenth.—And We do authorize you, in your discretion, and if it shall in any case appear right, to act in the exercise of the power committed to you by Our said Commission, in opposition to the advice which may in any such case be given to you by the Members of Our said Executive Council: Provided nevertheless, that in any such case you do fully report to Us, by the first convenient opportunity, every such proceeding, with the grounds and reasons thereof.

Fourteenth.—And whereas We have, by Our said Commission authorized you, upon sufficient cause to you appearing to suspend from the exercise of his office within our said Colony, any person exercising the same under and by virtue of any Commission or Warrant granted, or to be granted by Us, or in Our name, or under Our authority: Now, We do charge and require you that before proceeding to any such suspension, you do signify by a statement in writing to the person so to be suspended, the grounds of such your intended proceeding against him, and that you do call upon such person to communicate to you in writing, a statement of the grounds upon which he may be desirous to exculpate himself; which statement and exculpation you will lay before the Executive Council, and, having consulted them thereupon, you will cause to be recorded in the Minutes of the said Council whether they or the majority of them do or do not assent to the said suspension, and if you thereupon proceed to such suspension, you are to transmit both of the said statements, together with the Minutes of Council, to Us through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State by the earliest conveyance: But if, in any case, the interests of Our service shall appear to you to demand that a person shall cease to exercise the powers and functions of his office instantly, or before there shall be time to take the proceedings hereinbefore directed, you shall then interdict such person from the exercise of his powers and functions, preserving to him however, until such proceedings shall have been taken, the emoluments and advantages of his office.

Fifteenth.—And whereas by Our said Commission We have given and granted unto you full power and authority, as you shall see occasion, in Our name and on Our behalf, to grant to any offender, convicted of any crime, in any Court, or before any Judge, Justice, or Magistrate within Our said Colony, a pardon, either free or subject to lawful conditions, or any respite of the sentence of any such offender for such period as to you may seem fit: Now, We do hereby require and enjoin you to call upon the Judge presiding at the trial of any such offender, who may from time to time be condemned to suffer death by any sentence of any Court within the said Colony, to make to you a written report of the case of such offender, and such report of the said Judge shall by you be taken into consideration at the first meeting thereafter which may be conveniently held of Our said Executive Council, where the said Judge shall be specially summoned to attend, and you shall not pardon or relieve any such offenders as aforesaid, unless, upon receiving the advice of Our Executive Council therein, it shall appear to you expedient so to do; but, in all such cases, you are to decide either to extend or to withhold a pardon or relieve, according to your own deliberate judgment, whether the Members of our said Executive Council concur therein or otherwise, entering, nevertheless, on the Minutes of the said Council, a Minute of your reasons at length, in case you should decide any such question in opposition to the judgment of the majority of the Members thereof.

Sixteenth.—And whereas we have, by divers Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, erected within Our said Colony two Bishoprics, entitled respectively the Bishopric of Sydney and the Bishopric of Newcastle: It is, therefore, Our will and pleasure, that, in the administration of the Government of Our said Colony of New South Wales, you do give the most particular attention to all such matters as the erection of the said Bishoprics hath rendered necessary: And it is Our pleasure that you do appoint provisionally, and until Our pleasure be known, to such spiritual Cures as may from time to time become vacant; and you are to consult with the said Bishops upon all questions that may arise touching the celebration of Divine Worship or the performance of any peculiar Ecclesiastical rites and ceremonies, or touching the stipends or allowances of the inferior Clergy.

Seventeenth.—And it is Our further will and pleasure that you do, to the utmost of your power, promote religion and education among the native inhabitants of Our said Colony, or of the lands and islands thereto adjoining; and that you do especially take care to protect them in their persons, and in the free enjoyment of their possessions; and that you do, by all lawful means, prevent and restrain all violence and injustice which may in any manner be practised or attempted against them; and that you take such measures as may appear to be necessary to further their conversion to the Christian faith and their advancement in civilization.

Eighteenth.—And whereas great prejudice may happen to Our Service and to the security of Our said Colony by the absence of the Governor, you shall not, upon any pretence whatever, quit the said Colony, without having first obtained leave from Us for so doing under Our Sign Manual and Signet, or through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State.

TITLE OF "GOVERNOR GENERAL."
(DESPATCH RESPECTING.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 17 October, 1861.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES to GOVERNOR SIR JOHN YOUNG.

(New South Wales—No. 47.)

Downing-street,

12 August, 1861.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your Despatch No. 20, of 15th May last, enclosing two Petitions, from the Legislative Council and Assembly, praying that the Title of Governor General may not be withdrawn from the Officer Administering the Government of the Colony of New South Wales.

The Colonists will have already become aware that this Title was discontinued in the Commission which was issued to you on your appointment.

I am to state, however, that in consideration of the authority of the Petitioners, and the temperate tone in which their desires are conveyed, Her Majesty would have been extremely anxious to accede to their request, if it had been one which merely concerned the Colony of New South Wales; but the Title of Governor General indicates a species of authority and pre-eminence over the Governors of the other Australian Colonies which, having regard to the actual importance of those Colonies, and still more to the certain and rapid increase of that importance, cannot with justice be continued; and if continued, cannot fail to excite a dissatisfaction very prejudicial to their common interests.

Under these circumstances, Her Majesty's Government decided that the time had arrived for abandoning that designation; and the reasons of that abandonment would of course be still more conclusive against its resumption.

No. 38.

SIR,

With reference to my despatch, No. 14, of the 1st February, and to previous correspondence respecting the intervention of the Imperial Treasury in the supervision of Pensions granted by the Government of New South Wales, I transmit for your information and guidance, the copy of a letter which I directed to be addressed to the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, together with a copy of the reply from their Lordships' department. You will perceive that they do not consider that further interference on their part is necessary, except in cases in which a proportion of a Pension is payable by the Imperial Government, but that they recommend the principles of the Superannuation Acts in this country as deserving the attention of the Colonial Government.

Sir,

With reference to former correspondence between the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury and this Department, on the subject of Pensions awarded by the Governor of New South Wales to Civil Servants there, I am directed by the Duke of Newcastle to request that you will lay before their Lordships, for their information, copies of despatches since received, and of the answers which he has addressed thereto.

Pending some reform in the Pension System of the Colony, which may be expected, it appears to His Grace that the best course will be that he should always transmit to the Treasury despatches reporting grants of Pensions, when such Pensions are made payable out of the sum reserved for that purpose by the Constitutional Act of the Colony, and made expressly subject to their Lordships' approval. But that he should not send to their Lordships reports of Pensions granted (as in the case of Colonel Barney) out of the general revenues of the Colony, over which Her Majesty's Government now exercise no control, and which it is desirable, for the sake of precision, to treat as a separate matter.

Treasury Chambers,
14 April, 1860.

Sir,

I am directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to acquaint you, for the information of the Duke of Newcastle, that they have had under their consideration the despatch from the Governor, No. 107, of the 9th November, 1859, and the Minutes of the Proceedings of the Executive Council of New South Wales, which accompanied Mr. Merivale's letter of the 19th ultimo, on the subject of the interference of this Board in cases of Pensions to be hereafter granted to the Civil Officers in the service of the Colonial Government.

They would observe that the object in view (when the sum of £3,500 was reserved by the Constitutional Act for the payment of Pensions) was to secure Pensions, to a certain extent, to the Civil Officers then in the service.

4—A

It

It appears that the sum of £3,500 has now been wholly absorbed in the payment of Pensions granted since the passing of that Act, and that it will be necessary to apply to the Colonial Legislature to make provision for such Pensions as may be hereafter granted in excess of that amount.

Under these circumstances, and so long as the sum of £3,500 is annually appropriated towards the payment of Pensions, their Lordships do not consider that further interference on their part is necessary, except in those cases in which a proportion of a Pension is payable by the Imperial Government.

They trust that the Parliament of New South Wales will acknowledge the claims of the several Civil Servants to Pensions, upon the same principles as have been established in this country; and as the Act 4 and 5 William IV, cap. 24, under the provisions of which Pensions payable from the reserve of £3,500 were to be regulated, has been amended by the Act 22 Victoria, cap. 26, it appears desirable that the Legislature of New South Wales should adopt the principles of the amending Act in any general measure to be passed in regard to the grant of Pensions and compensation allowances in that Colony.

CIRCULAR.

Downing-street,
17 December, 1860.

SIR,

With reference to my circular despatch of the 31st December last, on the subject of Retiring Pensions and Allowances, I transmit to you, for your information and guidance, the enclosed copies of the report of the Superannuation Committee, dated the 19th October, 1859, and of their Lordships' minute of the 24th August last, on the application of the 4th or professional qualification clause of the Superannuation Act of 1859.

You will observe that the enclosed minute, and the previous one of the 14th June, 1859, of which a copy was forwarded to you in my circular despatch of the 31st December last, contain the entire list of officers in this country to which it has been considered advisable to extend the provisions of the clause in question. It has not been considered necessary to extend the additional periods of service to be allowed, beyond the terms of ten, seven, and five years, respectively, already provided for.

I have, &c.,
NEWCASTLE.

REPORT OF SUPERANNUATION COMMITTEE,

Dated 19th October, 1859.

The Committee appointed by the Minute of 30th May last (8793), in their Report of 11th June (10,010), stated it to be in their opinion inexpedient to suggest general rules with regard to the application of the Clauses relating to professional or special offices, allowances in case of bodily injury, gratuities in case of short services, or allowance on abolition of offices, until they should have before them communications which had been invited from the several Departments on those heads.

The Board, however, in their Minute of the 14th June, having to some extent dealt with the application of the 4th Clause to certain offices, and of the 7th Clause to the abolition of offices, it remains for the Committee now to report upon the communications from several Departments which have been referred to them, as regards principally the application of the 4th Clause.

In the first instance we desire to remark, that, while the Superannuation Act of 1859 is intended to provide a retiring allowance for all Civil Servants, according to the definition and with the limitations contained in the 2nd and 17th Clauses, it expressly restricts the application of the 4th Clause to "Offices" requiring professional or other peculiar qualifications in the parties filling those offices; and the object seems to be that inasmuch as there are certain offices in the Civil Service requiring experience and professional or other attainments not usually to be found in the Department, or in the Civil Service generally, and therefore, under ordinary circumstances, not admitting of being filled by promotion or selection from the Civil Service, it would appear just and for the public interest that the persons filling such offices, when age or infirmity compels them to retire, should not find themselves in a worse position than those who, from their employment in inferior situations not demanding those peculiar qualifications, have had the advantage of entering the Service at a far earlier age, and thus becoming entitled, when the period of retirement arrives, to a higher rate of Superannuation allowance, in proportion to the greater length of their public service.

This view would appear consistent both with the reasoning of the Commissioners in pages 23, 24 of their Report, and with the Bills introduced into Parliament, in which certain offices were set forth in the Schedules.

The Commissioners, after comparing the case of a youth entering first the Civil Service at a low salary proportioned to the supposed value of his services, gradually improving in position and salary, till he arrives at a more mature age, with that of a barrister, receiving his training in the exercise of his professional duties, till he arrives at the same age, and then induced to join the Civil Service in a situation in which his professional training becomes available for the public interest, proceed to state,— "in both cases the remuneration is proportioned to the fair value of the services to be rendered, whether that value arises from qualifications which are the result of a course of training within the Service itself, or in some other profession. Supposing, therefore, these two Civil servants to have been at the same period of life receiving the same salary, there does not appear to be any good reason for making a difference in the proportion which their retiring pensions should bear to their salary. All the reasons for awarding an adequate Superannuation, which we have stated in the former part of this Report, apply equally in both cases."

We have deemed it proper to notice this argument, because, while in our view it was the intention of the Legislature to attach to certain offices an allowance of years, which would be equivalent to the training and experience out of the Civil Service, and to the maturity of age requisite for the proper discharge of the duties of these offices, in the communications addressed to the Treasury we find the claims of the individuals filling the offices, in many cases, strongly urged, not on the grounds of the requirements of these offices, but because the individuals now filling them may have happened to enter the Civil Service at a mature period of life.

Whatever may be the special claims of individuals, it appears to us a matter of much importance, that for the future, at least, the offices intended to be comprised within the 4th Section should be strictly defined, according to right principles, and the terms of Superannuation well ascertained, upon which every Civil Servant enters the public service. We believe it to be necessary to guard as much as possible against the danger of appointing persons beyond the proper age to offices not requiring the qualifications intended by the 4th Clause, and then giving them the advantage of that claim.

We

We submit also, that no Pension of this description should be allowed to exceed the maximum of two-thirds, prescribed by the 1st Section of the Act of 1859. This appears to be alike consistent with the views which we have just expressed, and with the object of the Legislature, and it is in accordance with the recommendation of the Report of 11th June last. If this limitation be observed, no difficulty will arise in cases in which gentlemen in the Civil Service may be found already qualified for appointments of this nature, and to whom of course the additional number of years under the 4th Clause would not be awarded because it may be assumed, if the scale of additional years is properly fixed, and it would be always found to be the case, that the previous service of these gentlemen would place them at least in the same position as regards the prospects of Superannuation allowance, when appointed to the offices in question, as gentlemen then introduced for the first time with the allowance of years, under the 4th Clause.

We have further to observe, that in the case of Naval or Military Officers who may be appointed to offices of this description, they will remain subject to the conditions and limitations of the 16th Clause of the Act Wm. IV., ch 24, which is incorporated with the present Act, and which provides that any half-pay of which they may be in receipt, must be included in the final computation of their retiring allowance.

In conformity with the principles we have now laid down, we confine ourselves to inquiring first, what are the offices requiring the peculiar qualifications contemplated by the 4th Clause; and secondly, what are the periods beyond the ordinary limit of age for entering the public service, requisite for the acquisition of the experience or qualifications considered necessary for the several offices.

The Board, in their Minute of 14th June, have determined the first of these questions as regards certain classes of offices, and have also, in reference to these offices, appointed three scales of years to be added to the services of the Officers in those cases.

Adopting the classification laid down in the Minute of 14th June, we append a Table containing the suggestions of the several Departments, and the offices and classification which we recommend.

As regards offices in the Colonies, from the variety of circumstances under which appointments are made, and salaries fixed and paid, as well as from the different position in which the Civil Servants of the Crown are placed, where a climate is unhealthy as compared with those in a healthy climate, we find it difficult to recommend any fixed classification. We suggest, however, that at least in the more unhealthy climates, the right to receive a superannuation allowance might accrue in case of retirement from bad health after 7 years; and that an addition of 10 years might be granted under the 4th Clause to Colonial Judges and Magistrates, and of 7 years to Colonial Chaplains.

(COPY OF TREASURY MINUTE. DATED 24 AUGUST, 1860.)

My Lords have under consideration the second report of the Superannuation Committee, appointed by the minute of 30th May, 1859.

The Committee recommend that the following offices, in addition to those enumerated in the minute of 14th June, 1859, shall be brought within the provision of the 4th clause of the 22nd Vic., c. 26, so far as entitling the persons filling such offices to have an additional number of years computed in the calculation of the period of their services, with a view to superannuation allowance on retirement, by reason of the professional or peculiar qualifications required for such offices, and be placed in the 1st, 2nd, or 3rd classes established by the said minute for such purposes:—

The Committee further suggest that in the case of Civil Servants of the Crown holding offices in the more unhealthy Colonies, the right to receive superannuation allowance might accrue, in case of retirement, from bad health, after seven years.

My Lords, concurring in the recommendations of the Committee, are pleased, by this order, to direct and declare that the offices enumerated by the Committee, shall be added to those appointed in the Minute of 14th June, 1859, to come within the 4th clause of the Act of 1859, and that they shall be classified, as regards the number of years to be added in computing the amount of retiring allowance, according to the recommendations of the Committee.

As regards the period at which, in the more unhealthy of the British Colonies, such as the West Coast of Africa, and some of the West India Islands, the right to receive superannuation allowance should accrue in case of retirement from bad health, my Lords are of opinion that it is not expedient at present to lay down any general rule, but that the cases of such offices should be dealt with under the 4th clause, as they arise.

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 25 October, 1861.

SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES to GOVERNOR SIR JOHN YOUNG.

(No. 52.)

Downing-street,
26 August, 1861.

SIR,

With reference to your predecessor's despatch, No. 70, of the 23rd of June, 1860, respecting the proposed transfer to the Colony of South Australia of the land lying between the western boundary of that Colony and the eastern boundary of Western Australia, I transmit to you copy of an Act for effecting this object which has recently been ^{24 & 25 Vic.,} cap. 44. passed, and to which Her Majesty's Assent has been given.

You will observe that provision has been made in the Act to enable the Governors of any two contiguous Australian Colonies, with the approval of the Queen, to alter the boundaries from time to time of any of the Australian Colonies on the main land as may hereafter be expedient.

I have, &c.,

ANNO VICESIMO QUARTO & VICESIMO QUINTO
VICTORIÆ REGINÆ.

CAP. XLIV.

An Act to remove Doubts respecting the Authority of the Legislature of Queensland and to annex certain Territories to the Colony of South Australia and for other purposes.
[22 July, 1861.]

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the Session of Parliament holden in the fifth and sixth years of Her Majesty intituled "An Act for the Government of New South Wales and Van Diemen's Land" it was enacted that it should be lawful for Her Majesty by Letters Patent to be from time to time issued under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland to define as to Her Majesty should seem fit the limits of the Colony of New South Wales and to erect into a separate Colony or Colonies any Territories which then were or were reputed to be or thereafter might be comprised within the said Colony of New South Wales Provided always that no part of the Territories lying southward of the twenty-sixth degree of south latitude in the said Colony should by any such Letters Patent be detached from the said Colony And whereas by a Bill passed by the Legislative Council of New South Wales in the seventeenth year of Her Majesty intituled "An Act to confer a Constitution upon New South Wales and to grant a Civil List to Her Majesty" which said Act was with certain amendments assented to by Her Majesty in Council under authority of an Act of Parliament passed in the Session holden in the ^{5 and 6 Vict.,} c. 76. eighteenth eighteenth and nineteenth year of Her said Majesty intituled "An Act to enable Her Majesty to assent to a Bill as amended of the Legislature of New South Wales to confer a Constitution upon New South Wales and to grant a Civil List to Her Majesty" it was provided that nothing in the said Bill contained should be deemed to prevent Her Majesty from altering the boundary of New South Wales on the north in such manner as to Her Majesty might seem fit nor for detaching from the said Colony that portion of the same which lies between the western boundary of South Australia and the one hundred and twenty-ninth degree of east longitude reckoning from the meridian of Greenwich And whereas by the last-recited Act of Parliament provision was made respecting the exercise by Her Majesty of the power given Her by the said Bill of altering the northern boundary of New South Wales and it was declared that it should be lawful for Her Majesty by Letters Patent to be from time to time issued under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland to erect into a separate Colony or Colonies any Territories which might be separated from New South Wales by such alteration as aforesaid of the northern boundary thereof and in and by such Letters Patent or by Order in Council to make provision for the Government of any such Colony and for the establishment of a Legislature therein in manner as nearly resembling the form of Government and Legislature which should be at such time established in New South Wales as the circumstances of such Colony would allow and that full power should be given in and by such Letters Patent or Order in Council to the Legislature of the said Colony to make further provision in that behalf And whereas in virtue of the powers hereinbefore set forth Her Majesty did by certain Letters Patent bearing date the sixth day of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine separate certain Territories therein mentioned from the Colony of New South Wales and did erect the said Territories into a separate Colony under the name of Queensland and did also by a certain Order in Council also bearing date the said sixth day of June one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine make provision for the Government of the said Colony of Queensland and for the establishment of a Legislature therein but the form of Government and Legislature so established did not in all respects resemble the form of Government and Legislature at that time established in New South Wales And whereas doubts are entertained whether the powers intended to be conferred upon the said Government and Legislature by the said Order in Council and the Acts done by them may not be invalid by reason of such want of resemblance as aforesaid And whereas doubts are also entertained whether it is competent to Her Majesty by Letters Patent to annex to any existing Colony any part of New South Wales which may be detached therefrom or to detach from New South Wales that portion thereof which lies between the western boundary of South Australia and the one hundred and twenty-ninth degree of east longitude And whereas it is expedient to set at rest all such doubts as aforesaid and also to detach from New South Wales the last-mentioned portion thereof and to annex the same to South Australia Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons in this present Parliament assembled and by the authority of the same as follows:—

Certain Territories detached from New South Wales and annexed to South Australia.

Power to annex to existing Colonies Territories now part of New South Wales.

All provisions of Letters Patent of 6th June 1859 and proceedings thereunder of Government &c. of Queensland to be valid.

Sect. 7 of 18 and 19 Vict. c. 54 repealed.

1. So much of the Colony of New South Wales being to the south of the twenty-sixth degree of south latitude as lies between the western boundary of South Australia and the one hundred and twenty-ninth degree of east longitude shall be and the same is hereby detached from the Colony of New South Wales and annexed to the Colony of South Australia and shall for all purposes whatever be deemed to be part of the said last-mentioned Colony from the day on which this Act of Parliament shall be proclaimed therein.

2. It shall be lawful for Her Majesty by such Letters Patent as aforesaid to annex to any Colony which is now or may hereafter be established on the Continent of Australia any Territories which in exercise of the powers hereinbefore mentioned might have been erected into a separate Colony Provided always that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty in such Letters Patent to reserve such powers of revoking or altering the same as to Her Majesty shall seem fit or to declare the period during which such Letters Patent shall remain in force and also on the revocation or other determination of such Letters Patent again to exercise in respect of the Territories referred to therein or any part thereof all such powers and authority as might have been exercised if the said Letters Patent had never been made.

3. All the provisions made in the afore-mentioned Letters Patent and Order in Council of the said sixth day of June one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine for establishing the Colony of Queensland and for the Government of the said Colony and for the establishment of a Legislature therein shall be and be deemed to have been valid and effectual for all purposes whatever and all acts and proceedings of the said Government and Legislature shall be and be deemed to have been from the date of the said Order in Council of the same force and effect as if the last-mentioned Order in Council had been in all respects valid and free from doubt.

4. And whereas in the event of any Territories being hereafter separated from New South Wales and erected into a separate Colony it may not be expedient that the form of the Government and Legislature to be established in the said Colony should depend upon the form of Government and Legislature which may at the time of such separation be established in New South Wales Be it enacted as follows—So much of the secondly herein-recited Act of Parliament as requires that the Government and Legislature of any Colony so erected as aforesaid shall as nearly as the circumstances of the said Colony shall allow resemble the form of Government and Legislature which shall be at such time established in New South Wales shall be and the same is hereby repealed.

5. Whereas the boundaries of certain of Her Majesty's Colonies on the Continent of Australia may be found to have been imperfectly or inconveniently defined and it may be expedient from time to time to determine or alter such boundaries Be it therefore further enacted as follows—It shall be lawful from time to time for the Governors of any contiguous Colonies on the said Continent with the advice of their respective Executive Councils by any instrument under their joint hands and seals to determine or alter the common boundary of such Colonies and the boundary described in any such instrument shall be deemed to be within the limits there laid down the true boundary of said Colonies so soon as Her Majesty's approval of such instrument shall have been proclaimed in either of such Colonies by the Governor thereof.

Provisions for determining boundaries.

6. In the event of any Territory being hereafter separated from any Australian Colony and either erected into a separated Colony or annexed to any other Colony if the Governor of the Colony to which such Territory belonged before separation or the Governor of the Colony to which it shall belong or which it may constitute after separation shall represent to one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State that a question has arisen between the Governments of the two Colonies as to the proportions in which the Public Debt of the Colony from which such Territory has been separated should be borne by the two Colonies respectively after separation or as to the division of the Public Monies in the Treasury of such first-mentioned Colony at the time of separation it shall be lawful for Her Majesty through one of Her Principal Secretaries of State to require the Governors of the two Colonies with the advice of their respective Executive Councils each to appoint a Commissioner and it shall be lawful for Her Majesty to appoint a third Commissioner not being a resident in or employed in the Public Service of either Colony and to fix the time and place of the first meeting of the Commissioners and such Commissioners shall determine the proportion in which such monies or debt shall be divided between the two Colonies and the award of such Commissioners or of any two of them when confirmed by Her Majesty in Council shall be final and conclusive against both Colonies Provided always that nothing herein contained and no award as aforesaid shall in any way prejudice or affect the security of any Debentures which may have been issued before the separation of any Territory by the Government of the Colony from which such Territory may be separated or the absolute right and claim of the holders thereof to demand and receive payment of the amounts thereby respectively purporting to be secured as well out of the revenues of the Colony from which such Territory has been separated as out of the revenues of the Colony to which such Territory shall belong or which it may constitute.

Providing mode of apportioning Public Debt in the event of any Territory being separated from any Australian Colony.

(No. 59.)

Downing-street,
26 September, 1861.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your Despatch No. 27, of the 20th May last forwarding two Petitions from the Inhabitants and Resident Householders in the Districts of the Clarence and Richmond Rivers praying that certain Territories lying north of the 30th parallel of south latitude may be separated from New South Wales, and attached to the Colony of Queensland. I have also received your Despatch of the 18th May, No. 24, enclosing Resolutions from the Legislative Assembly deprecating any such dismemberment as unjust if not illegal in itself and as injurious to the interests of New South Wales. I have to request that you will inform the Petitioners that I have given my most attentive consideration to the prayer of their Petition, but that for the reasons which I shall proceed to specify, I have not felt at liberty to recommend Her Majesty to accede to it.

I must in the first place observe that when the Moreton Bay district was separated from New South Wales the exclusion of the districts of Clarence and Richmond from the new Colony of Queensland was not (as the Memorialists appear to suppose) the result of a petition signed by 1550 persons connected with those and other districts in the Autumn of 1856—which petition besides being addressed not to the Crown but to the local Legislature contained (as the present Memorialists truly observe) nothing more than an incidental allusion to the question of separation, and was possibly signed by persons not in any way interested in that question.

By a reference to papers printed for Parliament the Memorialists will perceive that subsequently to the above-mentioned petition the most effectual means were instituted by Sir W. Denison to ascertain the wishes of the persons inhabiting the Clarence and other districts south of the 28th parallel, that public meetings were held, for this purpose, in the principal towns, and that petitions were sent to England which exhibited an overwhelming preponderance of public opinion against separation.

Parliamentary papers relative to the separation of the Moreton Bay district from New South Wales 30th July 1858.

It was in consequence of these subsequent petitions, and in accordance with the opinions expressed in them, that the present boundary of Queensland was determined.

Without deciding therefore whether the Home Government does or does not retain the legal power necessary to vary the boundary which was, on these grounds, laid down by Order in Council, I am clearly of opinion that it will be most inexpedient to do so, or even to hold out any hope or expectation that it will be done. Nor do I see any reason to alter the opinion which is expressed in my Despatch of the 18th August 1859, that any further alteration of the common boundary of New South Wales and Queensland should only be effected by the consent of the two separate Colonies, and might require the authority of the Imperial Parliament to confirm it.

You will have already observed that in accordance with this opinion facilities have been afforded, by a recent Act of Parliament of the last Session, for altering the boundaries of conterminous Colonies, with the concurrence of the Governments concerned.

As the petitioners appear to allege that they are neglected by the Central Government, I think it best to add that this is a matter of which the Imperial Government (except in extreme cases) can no longer take cognizance. If any part of the inhabitants of New South Wales consider themselves to be misgoverned, the same means of redress are open to them as to all other bodies of persons living under a Constitutional Government, namely the election of Members who will urge their grievances on the notice of the Colonial Legislature.

To that Legislature I am bound to refer them, believing that nothing can be more injurious to the prospects of any Colony, than that the inhabitants should be encouraged to seek relief from real or supposed misgovernment not in the improvement of the Institutions under which they live—but in transferring themselves to another Government from which they imagine that better treatment can be obtained.

I have, &c.

*Molroy, Bingera,

SIR,

I have the honor to forward you a letter from the Clerk of Petty Sessions at Warialda, received to-day, and addressed to the Bench of Magistrates at Warialda.

[Enclosure in No. 1.]

*Police Office, Warialda,
5 October, 1861.*

Gentlemen,

In reference to the Principal Under Secretary's letter of the 24th ultimo, requesting you to furnish certain information relative to the proceedings held at a Revision Court, on the 19th March last, on the revising of the Electoral Roll for that portion of the Electorate of The Gwydir, comprised within the Police District of Warialda, I have the honor to explain that I was at that time necessarily absent in Maitland, on subpoena, but before starting, I left the Electoral Lists in charge of the Acting C. P. S., Mr. Young, with instructions to present them to the Magistrates who attended such Court, for signature. Mr. Young informs me that each page of the Electoral List was duly signed by two of the Justices; but on reference to the copy of the Roll I found that the Acting C.P.S. had omitted to insert the signatures of the Magistrates who signed the original list. It is possible that the Revised List may have been sent to the Returning Officer, without signature. I am at present in communication with the Magistrates who attended the Revision Court, namely,—Messrs. M'Donnall, Wyndham, and Capel, with the view of ascertaining whether the list sent to the Returning Officer was signed by them.

The information required by the Government shall be duly furnished; but I require time for a correspondence with these gentlemen, which involves considerable delay, especially as two of the Justices reside upwards of fifty miles from here.

I can certify that the Collectors appointed were not constables, and that they performed their duties with diligence and care.

2. I shall feel obliged by your submitting this letter to the Government, in order that the delay in furnishing the information required may be explained.

I have, &c.,

*Police Office, Warialda,

SIR,

In compliance with the instructions contained in your letter of the 21st ultimo, we have the honor to furnish the information therein called for.

2. The Electoral Roll referred to in the enclosed letter, addressed by the Returning Officer to the Clerk of Petty Sessions, was prepared from the Collectors' lists, and revised by us.

3. After the Roll was delivered to the Clerk of Petty Sessions by the Collectors, no person requested to have his name placed thereon, nor were any objections made to any of the names on the Roll.

4. When the Revision Court was held, Mr. Snape, the Clerk of Petty Sessions, was absent on subpoena to attend the Maitland Court, and Mr. Young acted in his place.

5. We think that the Collectors used due care and diligence in the preparation of their Rolls.

We enclose the declarations made by them.

Cooma, 3 June, 1861.

SIR,

It becomes my duty, as representative of the Electorate of Monaro, to bring under your notice the extraordinary procedure of the Bench of Magistrates at Cooma, whilst revising the Electoral Roll for 1861-2.

It appears that about 300 names of residents on Kiandra were returned by the appointed collector, and duly inscribed on the Roll previous to revision.

This Roll was submitted to the revision of the Police Magistrate (R. Dawson), and Messrs. M. Harnett and P. J. Clifford. No objection was lodged, as required by the Act, to any of the names of parties whose residence was at Kiandra; nevertheless, the gentlemen above named took it upon themselves to strike off a considerable number of such names, and the parties are thus deprived for the present year of their political rights.

On these grounds, therefore, I charge the Magistrates named with acting with gross injustice and partiality, and most illegally, in the discharge of their duties whilst engaged in the revision of the Electoral Roll for 1861-2; and I demand that an inquiry by a competent and disinterested person be at once made into this charge, and that such further steps be taken as the justice of the case and the interests of society demands.

I may state that Mr. Grahame, the Returning Officer, has possession of the Revised Roll; that transmitted to the Government Printing Office, or to your Office, being only a copy of the same. Mr. Grahame is now in Sydney, I believe, and may be found at the Union Club. The name of the collector who took the Kiandra portion of the Roll is Burchell; he is at present at Lambing Flat, and could be found by the police.

Trusting that this matter may meet with prompt attention,—

I have, &c.,

THOS. GARRETT, M.P.

The Attorney General may be referred to.

OPINION of the Attorney General.

THE charge against these gentlemen is very vaguely worded, and yet direct enough to require some explanation from the Magistrates, to whom I think a copy of the letter may be sent for their reply as to whether they acted duly under the 23rd section of the Electoral Act.

GENTLEMEN,

In transmitting to you the accompanying copy of a letter from Mr. Garrett, M.P., complaining of your proceedings, in respect to the revision of the Electoral Lists of the Monaro Electorate, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to request your early report as to whether you acted in the matter in accordance with the 23rd section of the Electoral Act.

Police Office, Cooma,23 September, 1861.

SIR,

Referring to your letter of the 12th instant, calling for our report, in reference to a complaint of Mr. Thomas Garrett, M.P., respecting the revision of the Electoral Roll, for the year 1861 and 1862,—

We have the honor to acquaint you that we were of opinion that the names of the gold miners at Kiandra should not be placed on the Electoral Roll for this District, in consequence of their having a vote for the Southern Gold Field.

The

The Revision Court was twice adjourned, in order to get the opinions of the other Magistrates on the subject, some of whom, although not able to attend the Court of Revision, coincided in our views in striking off the names.

We admit having misinterpreted the Act, and beg most emphatically to deny Mr. Garrett's imputations of having knowingly acted with injustice and partiality; had we contemplated acting as Mr. Garrett insinuates, we would not have adjourned the Court, as we did on two occasions.

BENCH OF MAGISTRATES, COOMA, to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Cooma, 23 September, 1861.

SIR,

Having seen copy of a letter from Mr. Thomas Garrett, the representative of this District, addressed to you, in which he charges certain Magistrates with gross injustice, partiality, and illegality, in the discharge of their duties as revisors of the Electoral Roll for 1861-2,—

We do ourselves the honor to state, for the information of the Government, that we believe the whole of these Magistrates to be entirely free from any such imputation, and particularly Mr. Robert Dawson, Police Magistrate, who has never interfered, nor ever even interested himself in any political matter since his first appointment as Clerk of Petty Sessions in 1847, and we are fully certain that no man in the District can with truth bring any such allegation against him.

There has, undoubtedly, been a misapprehension of their powers on the part of the revising Magistrates, but we are satisfied there was no intention to do any injustice to any of the electors, or deprive them of any of their rights.

We would take the liberty of suggesting that the Electoral Roll for the District of Kiandra should, for the future, be revised there, as it is impossible for any proper correction of the list to take place at this distance.

CERTAIN RESIDENTS, COOMA, to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

*Cooma, Maneroo,
10 October, 1861.*

SIR,

We, the undersigned, residents of the Township and Police District of Cooma, beg most respectfully to inform you that we have seen with surprise and extreme regret, that our Member, Mr. Thomas Garrett, has called for certain papers with reference to the Electoral Roll for the District of Maneroo, for the year 1861 and 1862.

From the manner in which this step has been taken, we apprehend that it is with a view to have our highly respected and much esteemed Police Magistrate, Robert Dawson, Esq., censured or removed from our District. Any such result we would most deeply regret, inasmuch as during the whole of his public career, both as Clerk of Petty Sessions and Police Magistrate, we have invariably found him an upright man and a good Magistrate, most regular and attentive in the discharge of his duties, and most desirous in every case to administer justice with the strictest impartiality.

In the case complained of by our Member, we are satisfied that the decision given by Mr. Dawson and the other Magistrates who joined the Court of Revision arose solely from a misconception of the Electoral Act; we are firmly convinced that in the whole proceeding they only wished to carry out the directions and spirit of the said Act. If, therefore, any mistake has been made, we most humbly request the Government will deal with it leniently, and take into their favourable consideration our earnest desire to have Mr. Dawson remain with us.

We have, &c.,—

THE SHERIFF to THE UNDER SECRETARY.

Sheriff's Office,
Sydney, 28 June, 1861.

SIR,

In accordance with the instructions contained in your letter of the 11th May last, I have the honor to enclose a Return of Special Warrants, &c.

I have, &c.,
GEO. UHR,
Sheriff.RETURN respecting SPECIAL WARRANTS on fi. fa., &c., from 1856 to 1860 :—

YEAR.	Special Warrants issued on fi. fa.	Amount of Fees paid on Special Warrants.		Total Amount to be levied under Special Warrants and Poundage. * It is perhaps necessary that I should explain the anomalous appearance of these figures. By Rule of Court poundage is chargeable for executing every writ of fi. fa., at the rate of 5 per cent. on the first £100, and 2½ per cent. above that. Now, the items contained in the larger sums are generally below £50, the totals being swelled by a few writs for large amounts; the items in the smaller sums are generally £100 and upwards. I here give an example :—

RULES FOR THE ADMISSION OF BARRISTERS.

NEW SOUTH WALES, }
TO WIT. }

Friday, the 19th day of July, 1861.

WHEREAS by an Act of the Governor and Legislative Council of New South Wales, passed in the eleventh year of the reign of our Lady the Queen, intituled, "An Act to regulate the Admission, in certain cases, of Barristers of the Supreme Court of New South Wales," after reciting that it was expedient to make provision in certain cases for the admission of properly qualified persons to practise as Barristers of the Supreme Court of New South Wales, it is enacted, That the Judges of the Supreme Court at Sydney, the Attorney General for the time being, and two Barristers of the Supreme Court, to be annually elected in the month of December, for the year then ensuing, by the practising Barristers of the said Court, should form a Board for the approval of properly qualified persons to be Barristers of the Supreme Court of New South Wales:

And that the said Board should from time to time, as might appear to them to be expedient, make and promulgate Rules for the Examination of Candidates in the Ancient Classics, both Greek and Latin, in Mathematics, in Law, and in such other branches of knowledge as they should deem meet; and that the said Board might, from time to time, depute the Examination of such Candidates to such persons as they should consider competent to examine such Candidates, subject to the payment of such reasonable fees to the Examiners respectively as the said Board should order to be paid by such Candidates: Provided that no Candidate, however qualified in other respects, should be admitted to be a Barrister of the said Supreme Court, unless the said Board shall be satisfied that he is a person of good fame and character.

We, the Judges aforesaid, with John Fletcher Hargrave, Esquire, Attorney General, and John Bayley Darvall and Peter Faucett, Esquires, the Barristers elected according to the said Act in the month of December last, do in pursuance of the said Act make and promulgate the following Rules for the Examination and Admission of Candidates, applying to be admitted Barristers of the Supreme Court, under the said Act, after this date: Provided that the subjects for Examination, during the present year, shall be those only which were required at its commencement.

1. Every Candidate shall give written notice to the Board, through the Attorney General, ten clear days at the least before the first day of some Term, of his intention to apply to be admitted a Barrister; and shall at the same time transmit to him, to be submitted to the Board, written testimonials from two or more persons resident in Sydney (of whom one shall be a Barrister, or a Graduate of some University within the meaning of the Acts hereinafter mentioned), to the effect that they have been well acquainted with the Candidate for twelve months and upwards, and that he is a person of good fame and character.

2. The Board shall meet at the Chief Justice's Chambers, at four o'clock in the afternoon of the first Wednesday in that Term, or on some other day named for that purpose by the Attorney General, to consider the application of such Candidate: Provided that such meeting may be adjourned, from time to time, as shall be found necessary.

3. Where the Board is satisfied as to the character of the Candidate, he shall be admitted to Examination in the Classics, and in Mathematics and History; which Examination shall be conducted by two Examiners, to be appointed by the Board for that purpose: Provided that, where it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Board that the Candidate is a Graduate of an University, within the meaning of the Acts 20 Victoria, No. 14, and 22 Victoria, No. 23, or either of them, he shall be at once admitted to Examination in Law.

4. The Board shall annually, on the first Wednesday in the Third Term, or on some other day to be named as aforesaid, appoint four Examiners, being Graduates of some University as aforesaid: And two Examiners shall be nominated for each Examination, from the four so appointed.

5. The said two Examiners shall meet in Sydney for the Examination of the Candidate, on such day (after signification to them, by the Prothonotary, that the Candidate is to be admitted to such Examination), and at such place and hour as they shall appoint; of which appointment they shall give not less than two clear days' notice to him, and to the Prothonotary: Provided that the said meeting shall be within fourteen days after such signification, and that the Examiners shall have power to adjourn, from time to time, as may be thought necessary.

6. The subjects for Examination by them shall be those specified in the Appendix hereto, marked A:—and so soon as the Examination has been concluded, the Examiners shall transmit to the Prothonotary a Certificate, to be laid before the Board, that they have duly examined the Candidate on those subjects, in the manner prescribed by these Rules:—and they shall report, as to each of the said subjects, that his Examination has or has not been satisfactory.

7. If it be certified that the Candidate's Examination has, on any subject, not been satisfactory, or if, for any reason to be allowed by the Board, he shall not have prosecuted his Examination, the Candidate may, upon application to the Board for that purpose, be admitted to a second Examination: Provided, that the fees hereinafter mentioned shall be payable in respect of each Examination.

8. On the first or third Wednesday in the Term, or on some other day named by the Attorney General for that purpose, next after the receipt of any such application, or of any Certificate from the Examiners, the Board shall meet at the Chief Justice's Chambers, at four o'clock in the afternoon, to consider the same; and shall then, or on some day of adjournment therefrom, determine on the admission of the Candidate to a second Examination as aforesaid, or to his Examination in Law, as the case may require.

9. No Candidate, not being a Graduate of some University as aforesaid, shall be admitted to Examination in Law, until he shall, either on his first or second Examination, have passed satisfactorily in all the subjects specified in the Appendix, and a Certificate to that effect have been transmitted by the Examiners.

10. Provided that nothing in these Rules shall prevent any person, who shall have failed in so passing notwithstanding two Examinations, from applying de novo at any time after twelve months from the date of his second Examination.

11. The Examination in Law may be at any time within three years after the Examination of the Candidate in the Classics, Mathematics, and History, or at such later period as the Board may on application by him allow; and shall be by the Master and two practising Barristers, to be annually appointed for that purpose.

12. The Examiners in Law shall meet in Sydney, for the Examination of the Candidate, on such day (after signification to the Master by him, that he desires to proceed to such Examination), and at such place and hour as they shall appoint; of which appointment two clear days' notice shall be given to him by the Master. The said Meeting to be as soon after such signification as conveniently may be; but the Examiners shall have power to adjourn, from time to time, as may be thought necessary.

13. The subjects for Examination in Law shall be those specified in the Appendix hereto, marked B;—and, so soon as such Examination has been concluded, the Examiners shall transmit to the Prothonotary a Certificate and Report, as to those subjects, to the effect mentioned in the 6th of these Rules.

14. Any Candidate may be admitted, on application by him to the Board for that purpose, to a second Examination in Law, on the terms mentioned in the 7th Rule.

15. On the first or third Wednesday, in the Term next after such application, or after the receipt of any Certificate from the Examiners, or on some other day named for that purpose, the Board shall meet and consider the same; and shall then, or on some day of adjournment, determine on admitting the Candidate to a second Examination, or (where he shall have passed his Examination satisfactorily) to be called to the Bar, as the case may require.

16. Provided that no Candidate shall be admitted to the Bar until he shall have so passed, on his first or second Examination, in all the subjects of Examination in Law; and that, where he shall have failed after two Examinations, he may apply de novo at any time after twelve months, as in the case of Candidates affected by the 10th Rule.

17. The Examinations in each subject, under either Appendix A or B, shall be by printed or written questions, given to the Candidate at the time of Examination, and answered by him in writing, in the presence of the Examiners, or one of them:—and there shall be five separate Examination Papers, containing each not less than 12 nor more than 18 questions, on the several subjects; or, in respect of the Classical Papers, three passages for translation, of not less than 10 nor more than 15 lines each, from the books specified, with from 6 to 12 questions in addition.

18. Provided that, on the application of any Candidate to the Board, two Examination Papers may be given on Equity, and Equity Practice, in lieu of Stephen on Pleading and the General Paper;—or two Papers on the last mentioned subjects, and Practice in Actions, in lieu of the Equity Paper.

19. Provided also, with respect to Appendix A, that, where one Paper only has been answered unsatisfactorily, the Board may in its discretion, approve of the Candidate, if the Examiners certify, as to any three of the other Papers, that his Examination therein has been "very" satisfactory.

20. Not more than two hours shall, in general, be allowed for answering one Examination Paper. Provided that the Examiners may, at their discretion, allow an additional hour.

21. The answers to each Paper shall be signed by the Candidate, and be forwarded by the Examiners, as soon as conveniently may be, under seal, with the questions, and their Certificate and Report on such answers, to the Prothonotary.

22. So soon as the admission of any Candidate to the Bar has been approved of, it shall be notified to him by the Prothonotary; and he shall be admitted and sworn as a Barrister in open Court, on any day following, in or out of Term, on which two Judges shall be sitting.

23. Each Examiner (other than the Master) shall be paid, by each Candidate, a fee of Ten Guineas for his Examination, including the Report thereon:—such fees to be paid to the Prothonotary, for the Examiners, before the Candidate shall be admitted by the Board to such Examination.

Received the following Message from Yass Station, at 4h. 46m., August 3rd, 1861 :—

We went to Tipperary Gully this morning with troops, police, and naval brigade and gun; took four rioters prisoners. Principal ringleaders left on our approach, as we heard. I do not believe they are gone, but merely hiding. I go to-morrow to Back Creek, and shall reinstate the Chinese there. I am making arrangements for temporary building to enable me to resume work. Warrants I have issued for Torpy, Spicer, Cameron, and Stewart. Captain McLerie does not telegram, as the Colonel and myself are doing so—I have shewn him this. Men and all other arrangements in capital order.

Mudgee, 23 April, 1861.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to enclose a statement from Mr. Myles Harte Lyons, J.P., by which you will observe that he publicly declares having made slanderous and false statements to the Government, respecting my mother, in his letter of 20th December, 1859.

I have, &c.,

W. R. BLACKMAN.

[Enclosure in No. 1.]

I, Myles Harte Lyons, of Mudgee, do hereby publicly declare that I have known Mrs. William Blackman, senior, of Mudgee, since my arrival in the district, and have no hesitation in stating that no member of the community is more generally and justly respected. I also publicly declare that all the statements I made to the Government, in my letter of the 20th of December, 1859, reflecting on the character of Mrs. Blackman, are wholly destitute of truth, and I most deeply regret that I should, in an unguarded moment, so unjustly accuse her. If Mrs. Blackman will discountenance the action she has commenced against me I will pay all law expenses incurred, and she has my permission to publish this, my retraction, three times in the Herald, Empire, Mudgee Newspaper, and Western Post, my paying for such advertisements; and I further consent that a copy of this document shall be sent to the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, for the information of His Excellency the Governor General and Executive Council.

PROCEEDINGS of the Executive Council, on the 30th April, 1861, relative to the removal of Mr. M. H. Lyons from the Commission of the Peace.

Minute No. 61-18. Confirmed—6th May, 1861.

His Excellency the Administrator of the Government, at the instance of the Honorable the Vice-President, consults the Council as to the propriety, under the following circumstances, of removing Mr. Myles Harte Lyons, a Magistrate of the Territory, from the Commission of the Peace.

Mr. Lyons, who resides in or near Mudgee, was appointed a Magistrate in October, 1859, and shortly thereafter the majority of the Bench at that place declined to sit with him, and tendered their resignations, for reasons which are recorded in the Minutes of the Proceedings on the 19th of December, 1859. An investigation having been instituted by the Government into the validity of these reasons, a correspondence ensued with the different persons concerned; and in the course of that correspondence Mr. Lyons addressed to the Colonial Secretary a letter, dated 20th December, 1859, in which he made certain statements reflecting on the character of a Mrs. W. Blackman, senior. This letter was laid before the Legislative Assembly, in pursuance of an Address from that House, and Mrs. Blackman thereupon commenced legal proceedings against Mr. Lyons for slander.

Within the last few days a letter has been received from the son of Mrs. Blackman, by the Honorable the Vice-President, enclosing the following statement, which, in accordance with the terms of the last paragraph, has also been published in certain of the public journals.

“ I, Myles Harte Lyons, of Mudgee, do hereby publicly declare that I have known Mrs. William Blackman, senior, of Mudgee, since my arrival in the district, and have no hesitation in stating that no member of the community is more generally and justly respected. I also publicly declare that all the statements I made to the Government, in my letter of the 20th December, 1859, reflecting on the character of Mrs. Blackman, are wholly destitute of truth, and I most deeply regret that I should in an unguarded moment so unjustly accuse her. “ M. H. LYONS.

“ Clerk to Mr. W. R. TEMPLETON,
“ Solicitor, Mudgee.”

In view of this document, the Council do not hesitate to record the opinion that Mr. Lyons is utterly unworthy to be entrusted with the administration of justice, and they advise that without any delay he be removed from the Commission of the Peace.

Clerk of the Council.

The Colonial Secretary having laid before His Excellency the Governor and Executive Council the declaration bearing your signature, in which you admit that the statements made by you to the Government, in your letter of the 20th of December, 1859, reflecting on the character of Mrs. Blackman, are untrue, I am now directed to inform you that, in view of this document, the Council consider that you ought not to be entrusted with the administration of justice; and that, under their advice, a writ superseding you as a Magistrate of the Territory has been issued and forwarded to the Supreme Court.

SIR,

I have the honor to submit to your notice the present deficiency of Magistrates in the Mudgee District.

Mr. Marlay has been in Sydney for some time, and is also frequently away at the other stations of which he has the management.

Mr. M'Cauley (the Mayor) has also left Mudgee on a month's absence, and he can only sit in cases that occur within the Municipality.

With every wish to assist Mr. Warburton (whom I think a most efficient officer) to the utmost of my power, still I find that attending the Court every Tuesday and Friday (the distance being eight miles from here) takes more time than I can possibly devote to it.

Would you allow me to suggest, for your consideration, the re-appointment of one of each of the three families who so long held the commission in this District, viz. :—Mr. G. H. Cox, Mr. N. P. Bayley, and Mr. Robert Lowe.

REVEREND W. CHAUCER.

No. 1.

THE UNDER SECRETARY to THE SHERIFF.

*Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney, 21 March, 1861.*

SIR,

I am directed to state, for your information and guidance, that His Excellency the Administrator of the Government has been pleased to approve of the hard labour portion of the sentence of twelve months' imprisonment, with hard labour, in Darlinghurst Gaol, passed upon the Reverend William Chaucer, being suspended for the present.

I have, &c.,
W. ELYARD.

No. 2.

To His Excellency COLONEL KEMPT, Administrator of the Government of the Colony of New South Wales.

The Petition of the undersigned,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That the Reverend William Chaucer, Presbyterian Minister, who has for many years been constantly and laboriously engaged in the work of the Gospel ministry, and for about eight years past has been so labouring at Newcastle, Pitt Town, Tomago, and other places in that neighbourhood, did, on the 22nd January last, duly and legally celebrate marriage between one Samuel Thompson and Ann Kittridge, both parties having signed a declaration to the effect that there was no lawful impediment to their being inter-married; the said Ann Kittridge, in particular, having affirmed that she was 21 years of age.

That on the following day, 23rd January, Mr. Kittridge, the father of the said Ann Kittridge, met the Rev. William Chaucer, and informed him that his daughter was under the age of 21, and that he would not consent to her marriage with Samuel Thompson; he also threatened legal proceedings against Mr. Chaucer; on which that gentleman, to conciliate all parties, and prevent the recurrence of doubts as to the validity of the marriage, consented to perform the ceremony again the next day in presence of the parents of the bride. In thus consenting to go through the ceremony a second time, and to treat the marriage celebrated on the 22nd as a mere pre-contract, Rev. Wm. Chaucer undoubtedly committed a grave error; but as his object was to remove doubts as to the validity of the marriage, and prevent family discord, your Petitioners cannot conceive that there was any moral guilt whatever in that error.

That on the 24th January, accordingly, Rev. W. Chaucer again went through the form of the marriage ceremony between Samuel Thompson and Ann Kittridge, Mrs. Kittridge, the mother of the bride, being present, and giving her consent to the marriage.

That, immediately thereupon, Rev. W. Chaucer filled up a certificate of the marriage, dating it on the 24th January, and certifying that the mother of the bride was present, as in fact she was, during the ceremony performed on that day.

That Rev. Wm. Chaucer was afterwards, on the 12th day of the present month, prosecuted at the Maitland Assizes, before His Honor Mr. Justice Wise, on the charge of illegally performing a marriage with a minor, without the consent of her parents. That at the trial on this charge evidence was given that the marriage was legally performed, and all legal requirements duly observed on the 22nd January, and Mr. Chaucer was accordingly acquitted.

That, on the 14th instant, Rev. W. Chaucer was again prosecuted on a charge of making false statements in a certificate of marriage returned to the District Registrar or Newcastle; and, on the ground that the certificate was dated on the 24th, whereas the legal marriage took place on the 22nd; and also on the ground that Mr. Chaucer had certified that the mother of the bride was present at the marriage; whereas, though actually present and consenting to the ceremony on the 24th, Mrs. Kittridge was not present on the 22nd; the accused minister was found guilty of the charge, and was sentenced to twelve months imprisonment, with hard labour, in Darlinghurst Gaol.

That although, as your Petitioners verily believe, Rev. Wm. Chaucer is innocent of any attempt to deceive, he has thus, for a mere mistake as to the legal effect of the ceremony performed—a mistake which neither indicated any corrupt intention on his part, nor could lead to any injurious consequences to the parties concerned (inasmuch as the marriage performed on the 22nd January was legal and irrevocable)—been condemned to the degrading and painful punishment of a felon—a punishment which must be the more distressing and humiliating to him, on account of the position he has held as a minister of religion, and of the withering effect such a sentence must have on his future prospect of usefulness in the sacred cause to which his best years have been devoted.

That,

That, as your Petitioners are informed, the domestic circumstances of the Rev. W. Chaucer, especially the peculiar liability of his wife to be distracted and overwhelmed by even less calamities than the present, render the punishment to which he is subjected far more terrible than if it affected himself alone.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly appeal to Your Excellency's just and merciful consideration of the case, trusting that your Excellency may see fit, with due regard to the maintenance of law and justice, to remit the punishment to which the Rev. William Chaucer has been condemned.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

SIR,

I am directed to request the favor of your Honor's report upon the accompanying Petition, for mitigation of the sentence of twelve months imprisonment, with hard labour, in Darlinghurst Gaol, passed by you upon the prisouer named in the margin.

The Rev. Wm.
Chaucer.

No. 4.

To His Excellency SIR JOHN YOUNG, Administrator of the Government of the Colony of New South Wales.

The Petition of the undersigned William Chaucer, Presbyterian Minister,—
HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That your Petitioner was ordained to the office of the Holy Ministry by the Synod of New South Wales, in the year 1853; and has from that time been constantly engaged in the work of the pastorate at Newcastle, Hexham, Pitt Town, Tomago, and other places in that neighbourhood; and from the testimony borne to his ministerial character and labours, by those who are acquainted with them, your Petitioner has reason to hope that his efforts to promote the moral and religious welfare of his fellow creatures have not been altogether in vain. That on the 22nd January last, your Petitioner having been requested by one Samuel Thompson, a widower, residing on the Lake Macquarie Road, near Newcastle, to join him in wedlock to one Ann Kittridge, and both parties having signed a declaration as required by law, to the effect that there was no lawful impediment to their being inter-married—the said Ann Kittridge in particular having affirmed that she was twenty-one years of age—your Petitioner did celebrate marriage between these parties, according to the form and rule of the Presbyterian Church.

That on the following day, 23rd January, Mr. Kittridge, the father of the said Ann Kittridge, met your Petitioner, and informed him that his daughter was under age, and that he would not consent to her marriage; and also threatened legal proceedings against your Petitioner for performing the said marriage; on which your Petitioner, to restore peace to the family, and remove all doubt as to the validity of the marriage, consented to perform the ceremony again the next day, in presence of the parents of the bride. In thus consenting to go through the ceremony a second time, and treat the marriage celebrated on the 22nd as a mere pre-contract, your Petitioner has since discovered, and now acknowledges, that he committed a grave error, but he acted with a view to conciliate the offended parents, and to prevent any future discord on the subject of the marriage.

That on the 24th, accordingly, your Petitioner again went through the form of the marriage ceremony between Samuel Thompson and Ann Kittridge, according to the rule of the Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Kittridge, the mother of the bride, being present, and giving her consent to the union.

That immediately afterwards, your Petitioner filled up a certificate of the marriage, dating it on the 24th January, and certifying that the mother of the bride was present; and this your Petitioner did under the impression that the ceremony performed on that day was a valid marriage.

That your Petitioner was afterwards, on the 12th March, prosecuted at the Maitland Assizes, before His Honor Mr. Justice Wise, on the charge of illegally performing a marriage with a minor without the consent of her parents; that at the trial on this charge, evidence was given that the marriage was legally performed, the preliminary declarations having been taken, and all other requirements duly observed, on the 22nd of January, and your Petitioner was accordingly acquitted.

That on the 14th of March your Petitioner was again prosecuted on a charge of making false statements in a certificate of marriage returned to the District Registrar of Newcastle; and, on the ground that the certificate stated that the marriage took place on the 24th, whereas it was legally performed on the 22nd; and also on the ground that your Petitioner had certified that the mother of the bride was present at the marriage, whereas though present at the performance of the ceremony on the 24th, Mrs. Kittridge was not present on the 22nd, when the marriage was legally effected; your Petitioner was found guilty of the charge, and sentenced by the Judge to twelve months imprisonment with hard labour in Darlinghurst Gaol.

That your Petitioner, in certifying that the marriage was performed on the 24th January, and that the mother of the bride was present, was under the impression that the ceremony performed on that day, at which the mother was present and consenting to the union, was in fact the marriage of Samuel Thompson with Ann Kittridge, inasmuch as your Petitioner conceived that the absence of the parents invalidated the ceremony performed on the 22nd, and that the presence of the mother on the 24th gave validity to that ceremony.

That although your Petitioner is innocent of any attempt to deceive, by a false statement, he is, for the mistake into which he fell as to the legal effect of the ceremony performed, condemned to the degrading and painful punishment of a felon, which is rendered far more distressing and humiliating to your Petitioner by the remembrance of the position he has held, and the consideration of the effect such a sentence must have in destroying his prospect of future usefulness to the sacred cause to which his best years have been devoted.

That the domestic circumstances of your Petitioner, especially the peculiar liability of his beloved wife to be distracted and overwhelmed by even less calamities than the present, render the punishment to which your Petitioner is subjected a hundredfold more dreadful than if it affected himself alone.

In these circumstances your Petitioner humbly appeals to Your Excellency's just and merciful consideration, and trusts, on a review of the facts of the case, Your Excellency may see it to be consistent with due regard to the maintenance of law and equity, to remit the punishment to which your Petitioner has been condemned.

And your Petitioner, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

WILLIAM CHAUCER.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Ministers of Religion,—

SHEWETH:—

That the Revd. William Chaucer is now incarcerated in Maitland Gaol, for a violation of the Marriage Law of this Colony, and is sentenced to twelve months imprisonment.

That your Petitioners, whilst acknowledging that a breach of the Law has been committed by the said Revd. William Chaucer, nevertheless taking into consideration his former unexceptionable character, and the deep distress into which his family have been plunged, together with the pain and humiliation already suffered by him, in consequence of a confinement for many days in company with common felons, and believing moreover that the majesty of the Law has been sufficiently vindicated, and the ends of justice secured, humbly recommend him to your mercy, and pray for such a further remission of his sentence as in your wisdom and clemency may seem fitting.

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That your Petitioners have heard, with much sorrow, of the imprisonment for a period of twelve calendar months, with hard labour, of the Revd. William Chaucer, who for many years has laboriously and successfully ministered amongst us as a Presbyterian clergyman, and whose zealous efforts for our moral and religious welfare, and the establishment of schools for the education of our children, make it our imperative duty, as a token of our gratitude for such services, to petition your Excellency to graciously take his case into consideration, and grant such relief as your prerogative and the nature of the case admits of.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Sydney 28 March, 1861.

SIR,

I am directed, with reference to previous correspondence, to transmit to your Honor, for the favour of your report thereon, the accompanying Petition on behalf of the prisoner named in the margin.

The Reverend
William Chaucer

I have, &c.,
W. ELYARD.

No. 9.

MR. JUSTICE WISE to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Supreme Court, Sydney,
1 April, 1861.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge your letter of the 23rd of March, enclosing a Petition praying for the remission of the sentence passed by me, at the Maitland Assizes, on the Revd. W. Chaucer; and also your letter of the 28th of March, enclosing a similar Petition from the Revd. W. Chaucer himself; and also a letter of the same date, enclosing a Petition from certain Ministers of Religion, praying for mitigation of punishment, and requesting my report on such Petitions.

It is essential that I should state the facts which led to the trial of Mr. Chaucer upon this particular charge.

He was first indicted under 19 Vict., No. 30, s. 17, for having celebrated marriage between Samuel Thompson and Anne Kittridge, a girl under 21, he knowing that she was under age, and without the requisite consent of her father or other lawful guardian. A certificate was put in, signed by Mr. Chaucer, that he had duly married the parties named, on the 24th of January, and on this certificate Mrs. Kittridge (the mother of Anne Kittridge) and Samuel Thompson were stated to have been the witnesses of the marriage. A declaration was put in, signed by T. Thompson and Anne Kittridge, that there was no lawful impediment, and Anne Kittridge further declared that she was 21 years of age. This purported to have been made before Mr. Chaucer, on the 24th—"the 24th" being written in figures over the figures 22, and in full underneath, and in the margin "24th January," same day to Mr. Burrows who was the District Registrar. Upon it was the following indorsement in Mr. Chaucer's handwriting:—I, the mother of bride, give my witness and consent to the marriage of my daughter Ann to Samuel Thompson.

ANN X KITTRIDGE,
mark
Mother of Bride.

Witness—W. CHAUCER.

N.B.—The father having forsaken his family, and taken up with another woman, and had children by her, is not, in law, in my opinion, the lawful guardian of the daughters.

W. C.

The father proved that his daughter had for about three weeks been in the service of Mr. Thompson of Newcastle; that having heard that she had been married to him on the 22nd, he met Mr. Chaucer on the 24th, and asked him if he knew Samuel Thompson; he replied, "Yes, I married him the night before last." "Who authorized you to do so," said the father? "The girl declared herself to be 21," was his reply. "Did you not know better better, as a man?" asked Kittridge. Mr. Chaucer said, "I don't know, or I can't say." On Kittridge threatening him with an action Mr. Chaucer said, "But they are not married; they only entered into a solemn contract."

The Crown relied on this as proof that Mr. Chaucer must have known at the time of the marriage (which was supposed to have been on the 24th, as stated in Mr. Chaucer's official certificate) that the girl was under age. The daughter was then called, and proved that she signed the declaration just before she was married, but it was impossible to ascertain from her evidence whether she was married on Tuesday (the 22nd) or Thursday (the 24th). Her husband's evidence was equally unsatisfactory as to the day of the marriage, but he swore distinctly that Mr. Chaucer asked if Thomas Kittridge, the father, had given his consent, and that he told him that he had not, and that there would be no witnesses except his own (Thompson's) family; that Mr. Chaucer then asked if the girl was of age, to which he replied that he believed she was.

The way in which these two witnesses gave their evidence, and the inconsistency between Thompson's statement and the statement on the certificate that Mrs. Kittridge was present, led to further examination of Thompson; and then he, with evident reluctance, proved that the marriage took place late on the evening of the 22nd, in the presence only of his two children, the eldest of whom was only 13; and that on the 24th Mr. Chaucer came to him and said he had met Mr. Kittridge, "who had given him a blowing up," and threatened him with an action; and that he (Mr. Chaucer) required the mother to be a witness to a second ceremony; that the mother shortly afterwards came in and was got to sign the marriage lines, and "a sort of ceremony" gone through, which he (the bridegroom) did not pay much attention to, as he thought it "all form, because they had been married two days before."

The prosecution upon this evidence failed, because the marriage had taken place on the 22nd, and there was no evidence that Mr. Chaucer knew that the girl was under age, although she certainly to all appearance was so. He was accordingly found not guilty. Sir William Manning, however, and in my opinion most properly, filed an information against him for the more serious offence of falsely certifying that the marriage had taken place on the 24th, in the presence of the mother and Mr. Thompson's sons. The witnesses were again examined, and also the mother of the girl, and it was then clear that the declaration was signed by Samuel Thompson and Anne Kittridge, on the 22nd; and that although the marriage lines were read over on the 24th, no marriage ceremony was really gone through. The mother further stated, that she refused to put her mark several times, but at length did so. The Jury upon this very conclusive evidence found Mr. Chaucer guilty, recommending him to mercy.

It seemed to me impossible to doubt that Mr. Chaucer, from the continued performance of the duties of his office, must have known the importance attached by the law to the correctness of these certificates, and that, in the hope of concealing his conduct on the 22nd, he had suggested the proceedings on the 24th, and with the same object had wilfully made the false return as to the marriage, and falsified the other document by altering the 22nd to the 24th, and making the endorsement thereon. Considering the severity of the punishment specified in the statute (viz., imprisonment with hard labour, or hard labour on the roads for any time not exceeding five years), the importance to the community that all such returns should be reliable documents, invested as they are by law with almost conclusive effect (see sec. 16), and thinking also that the sacred character which Mr. Chaucer filled rendered his guilt the greater, and after giving full weight to the recommendation of the Jury, I sentenced him to twelve months imprisonment in Darlinghurst Gaol, with hard labour, the latter part of the sentence being necessary by the provisions of the statute (see sec. 20.)

On the Monday following, in consequence of the statement of his wife, I directed Mr. Day, who was acting for the Sheriff, to detain him at Maitland until I had made inquiries as to his state of health. Dr. Bowker's reply I append hereto.

A comparison of these facts with the statements in the petition first above-mentioned will show that it was prepared in ignorance of the circumstances proved by the evidence; for assuredly the petitioners, if they had known the facts, would not have said that Mr. Chaucer, "to conciliate all parties and prevent the recurrence of doubts as to the validity of the marriage, consented to perform the ceremony again the next day in the presence of the parents of the bride." I must, however, remark that the same excuse cannot be made for Mr. Chaucer, whose petition is almost in the same terms as the former one. I cannot reconcile his assertion of his "innocence of any attempt to deceive," with the facts clearly proved in the case; and when he also asserts, contrary to the evidence, "that he consented to go through the ceremony again in the presence of the parents of the bride, in order to restore peace to the family and remove doubts as to the validity of the marriage," he seems to me again to have disregarded the obligation to tell the truth.

With respect to the petition asking for a remission of the sentence, among other grounds, because of Mr. Chaucer's "former unexceptionable character," I feel it right to state that I have ascertained that on a former occasion he was prosecuted for unlawfully marrying a youth about eighteen (18), although the prosecution failed, and that frequent complaints have been made to the Registrar General of irregularities by him with reference to certificates, and one is now under inquiry by the Registrar General.

I cannot therefore recommend any remission of the sentence upon the ground of the circumstances under which the offence was committed, but the state of the prisoner's health ought in this, as in every other case, to be taken into consideration.

I have, &c.,
EDWARD WISE.

Dear Sir,

In answer to your letter of the 20th instant, inquiring whether I am acquainted with any matters relative to the health of the Revd. Mr. Chaucer, I beg to state that about a year ago I attended Mr. Chaucer during a severe attack of pleuro-pneumonia, that I consider him of delicate and uncertain health, and not likely to bear with impunity a course of hard labour.

REV. W. RIDLEY to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Thursday Evening.

SIR,

I have just received the accompanying Petition from Newcastle. It is signed by 243 members of Mr. Chaucer's congregation and adherents, and expresses, inter alia, their conviction, from his long known character, that he could not be guilty of a wilful misstatement.

I am, &c.,
WILLIAM RIDLEY.

[Enclosure in No. 10.]

To His Excellency SIR JOHN YOUNG, Governor General of the Australian Colonies, and Governor-in-Chief of the Colony of New South Wales.

The Petition of the undersigned members of the congregation under the pastoral charge of the Reverend William Chaucer, and other adherents and friends,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That the Rev. William Chaucer has for many years been engaged in the work of a Minister of the Gospel, and during the last eight years has been constantly and earnestly carrying on the work of a Christian Pastor at Newcastle, Pitt Town, Tomago, and the surrounding neighbourhood; where his self-denying labours as a faithful minister, his zealous and successful efforts to promote the cause of education and the spread of useful knowledge among the people, and his blameless and consistent life, have gained for him the cordial esteem of a large circle of hearers and friends.

That on the 22nd January last, Rev. W. Chaucer having been requested by one Samuel Thompson, a widower, residing on the Lake Macquarie Road near Newcastle, to unite him in marriage with one Ann Kittridge, and both parties having signed a declaration to the effect that there was no lawful impediment to the marriage—the said Ann Kittridge in particular having affirmed that she was twenty-one years of age,—he, Mr. Chaucer, did then celebrate marriage between those parties, according to the form and rule of the Presbyterian Church.

That on the following day, 23 January, Mr. Kittridge, the father of the said Ann Kittridge, met Rev. W. Chaucer, and informed him that his daughter was under age, and that he would not consent to her marriage, and also threatened legal proceedings against Mr. Chaucer; on which that minister, to remove all doubts as to the validity of the marriage, and to conciliate the parents, consented to perform the ceremony again the next day, in presence of the parents or one of them. As the marriage performed on the 22nd was valid, the requirements of the law having been all complied with by Mr. Chaucer on that occasion, he undoubtedly committed an error in consenting to repeat the ceremony, but your petitioners verily believe that he had no corrupt or unlawful design in so doing, but only sought to prevent future doubt and discord on the subject of the marriage.

That on the 24th January accordingly, Rev. W. Chaucer again went through the form of the marriage ceremony between Samuel Thompson and Ann Kittridge; Mrs. Kittridge, the mother of the bride, being present and giving her consent to the marriage.

That the Rev. W. Chaucer thereupon filled up a certificate of the marriage, dating it on the 24th January, and certifying that the mother of the bride was present, as in fact she was at the ceremony performed on the 24th.

That Rev. William Chaucer was afterwards, on the 12th of March, prosecuted at the Maitland Assizes, before His Honor Mr. Justice Wise, on the charge of illegally performing a marriage with a minor without the consent of her parents; at which trial, as the marriage was proved to have been legally performed on the 22nd January, he was acquitted.

That, on the 14th March, Mr. Chaucer was again prosecuted on a charge of knowingly making false statements in a certificate of marriage returned to the District Registrar of Newcastle; and on the ground that the certificate was dated the 24th, whereas the marriage was legally completed on the 22nd, and also on the ground that the mother of the bride was not present at the real marriage although she was present as certified on the 24th, the accused was found guilty, and sentenced to twelve months imprisonment in Darlinghurst Gaol with hard labour.

That your Petitioners verily believe that Rev. W. Chaucer, in certifying that the marriage took place on the 24th, when the mother of the bride was present, did not knowingly make a false statement, but regarded the ceremony that day performed in the presence of Mrs. Kittridge as the legal marriage; and from their knowledge of Mr. Chaucer, with whom some of them have been acquainted for many years, your Petitioners are confident that he could never be guilty of a designed and deliberate falsehood.

That your Petitioners exceedingly deplore that, for what they regard as a mere error of judgment, Mr. Chaucer is subjected to the degrading and painful punishment of a felon; a punishment rendered a hundred-fold more distressing and humiliating by the remembrance of the position he has held, by a consideration of its probable withering effect on his future usefulness in the sacred cause to which his best years have been devoted, and by the overwhelming sorrow into which Mrs. Chaucer has been plunged by this unexpected blow.

Your Petitioners, therefore, humbly pray your Excellency to take this matter into your just and merciful consideration, and to remit the punishment to which Rev. William Chaucer has been condemned.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

The Petition of the Junior Minister, Kirk Session, and Congregation of the Scots' Church, Church Hill, Sydney,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That the Rev. William Chaucer, a Minister of the Synod of New South Wales, is now in Maitland Gaol, under sentence of twelve months imprisonment, on the charge of supplying to the Registrar, at Newcastle, a false Certificate of Marriage.

That, though your Petitioners have not had an opportunity of examining the evidence taken in trial, and are not in possession of all the facts of the case, they have, nevertheless, reason to believe that Mr. Chaucer has acted with indiscretion, and may have committed a legal error.

That your Petitioners, however, are convinced, from their knowledge of Mr. Chaucer, who has hitherto maintained a consistent and Christian character in all respects, that he has acted from a hasty and mistaken judgment, and not from any corrupt motive or fraudulent intention.

Your Petitioners, therefore, while anxious to uphold the authority of Law, yet, taking into their consideration the painful humiliation and distress which Mr. Chaucer has already undergone, humbly pray Your Excellency to remit the remainder of his sentence.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

REV. W. RIDLEY AND OTHERS to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

SIR,

We the undersigned, having had under careful consideration the trial, sentence, and imprisonment of the Rev. William Chaucer, of Waratah, for entering a false statement on a certificate returned to the District Registrar of Newcastle, request the favour of your considerate attention to the conclusion at which we have unanimously arrived.

Admitting the urgent importance of requiring the utmost accuracy in all proceedings relating to marriage, and the justice and necessity of vindicating the law on that subject whenever it is infringed, we cannot but think that the sufferings already undergone by Mr. Chaucer, and the injury sustained by his health in consequence of his imprisonment, constitute a punishment adequate to the vindication of the law against which he has offended; and we earnestly hope that the Government, considering the painful humiliation, the prolonged suffering, and the enfeebled health of Mr. Chaucer, may see it to be consistent with the claims of justice and of the common weal to release him from further imprisonment.

No. 23.

To His Excellency the Right Honorable STR JOHN YOUNG, Baronet, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Administrator of the Government of New South Wales and its Dependencies, &c., &c., &c.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Residents in the District of Maitland,—

MOST RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioners deeply sympathize with the humiliating and painful position in which the Rev. W. Chaucer, a Presbyterian Clergyman, has been placed by the recent judgment of Mr. Justice Wise, and in virtue of which he is now confined as a felon in Darlinghurst Gaol, for a mere error of judgment.

That your Petitioners having carefully considered the facts and circumstances connected with the case of the Rev. W. Chaucer, are of opinion that the sentence awarded by the presiding Judge was altogether incommensurate with the nature of the offence.

That your Petitioners would most respectfully call Your Excellency's attention to what they cannot but consider the arbitrary mode in which the Deputy Crown Prosecutor, Sir Wm. Manning, exercised the power of Grand Jury in the Rev. W. Chaucer's case, by indicting that gentleman and obtaining a conviction, without having previously afforded him the time or opportunity of employing counsel; and in thus calling Your Excellency's attention to this extenuating feature of the case, your Petitioners desire most respectfully to express their opinion that the power vested in the Attorney General, by which he may either exercise or depute to others the functions of Grand Jury, is incompatible with the liberty of the subject, and imperatively calls for immediate action on the part of the Legislature.

That the sentiments of this Petition having been unanimously adopted at a public meeting, which was numerously attended, and presided over by the Warden of the District, your Petitioners sincerely trust that Your Excellency will deem it expedient to exercise the prerogative of the Crown in the Rev. W. Chaucer's case, by an immediate remission of the remaining portion of the sentence.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

REV. W. CHAUCER to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

*Darlinghurst Gaol Hospital,
13 May, 1861.*

HONORED SIR,

In addressing this to you I beg to apologize for such a course, on the grounds of my present and past sufferings, which have originated in circumstances connected with my imprisonment and its cause.

My object is not to heap censure on any party concerned in placing me in this position, but to place before you, as a Christian man, facts which the light of eternity will demonstrate to be such when the shadows of time shall have rolled past, and when the history of man will be read in true character.

To a mind less sensitive, imprisonment, with all its gloomy concomitants, might appear but trivial; to a constitution more robust, less injurious; but to me the sufferings already endured have been severe; and rather than have the prospect of enduring for months longer similar distress and anxiety, I would gladly take farewell of earthly ties, and seek repose in the presence of that God who ever extends the sceptre of His mercy to those who trust in Him.

My

My sufferings have been embittered by unprincipled aims on the part of some two or three individuals (whom, God knows, I never wronged in word or deed), who, with demoniac cruelty, have used every weapon which falsehood could supply, to deter the Government of my adopted country from extending mercy to me. That mercy is surely becoming in the legislators of our land, which, in Britain, sheds its hallowed ray from the throne into the prison gloom where the oppressed soul groans forth its woe. Mercy which, like the voice of forgiveness issuing from the seat of the Great Eternal, carries gladness to the broken heart, and begets, in the liberated, a gratitude never forgotten nor cold.

Relative to my persecutors Mr. Hannell can give information. Brookes, of the Newcastle Chronicle, was opposed by me at the last election, when he aimed at getting a seat in the Assembly, disguising his principles to oppose a liberal and worthy Ministry. My conscientious opposition he has never forgotten; and now, when I am in prison, he, with unmanly and unchristian means, strives to rivet round me the chains of despair.

Relative to the cause of my sufferings, I aver that, neither knowingly or wilfully did I violate the laws of my country, though I now know that I erred.

What motive had I for celebrating the binding part of a marriage a second time, when I knew that without this I was beyond the reach of punishment by law?

My sole motive was to satisfy my own mind and the family, when, by the information subsequently received, I was made aware that I had been misled in the first instance.

Moral rectitude only required this second rectification, so far as it could be done.

Now I may let enemies plot as they choose against me, even should mercy be denied me by man, yet truth will stand forth in all its lustre when time shall be no more, and I, with all concerned in my present grief, shall stand before God.

Could I express in words what my heart feels; could I place before you a suffering and afflicted wife, weeping nightly over my sad fate in her lonely despair; could I pourtray the couches of languishing from which the afflicted utter their laments over the loss of my wonted visits of mercy; then would the merciful among those in power (beings who themselves need mercy at the hand of Heaven) extend mercy to me. In fine I aver that, as Presbyterians use neither prayer book or require the minister to put on the ring when celebrating marriage, I did not (as sworn by the parties on my trial) do either on any occasion; but I forgive them all. Trusting that you will hasten a decision in my case, that I may either hope or despair, and eventually wishing success to the efforts of that enlightened Ministry of which you are Premier,—

I remain, &c.,

WM. CHAUCER.

P.S.—Excuse my incoherency and nervousness, which cause inelegance at present in my writing.

W. C.

N.B.—In the case for which I suffer there are no injured parties whatever to redress.

District Registrar's Office,
Newcastle, 13 February, 1861.

Sir,

I do myself the honor to inform you that, in accordance with your instructions, I lodged an information against the Revd. Mr. Chaucer, for breach of the 17th section of the Marriage Act.

The case was heard at the Police Office yesterday, when the defendant was committed to take his trial at Maitland, on the 11th March next.

I have not thought it necessary to send you a copy of the depositions, but should you require it I will do so; but I think it my duty to draw your attention to the following points elicited in the hearing of the case:—

Both the parties married stated in their evidence that, at the time of the celebration of the marriage, they were not asked by Mr. Chaucer to make the declaration upon oath, although neither of them objected to take the oath.

The girl Anne Thompson—formerly Kittridge—in her evidence swears that she believes herself to be twenty-one years old, although admitting that an elder sister had been married a few months previously (in November last), and that she (the elder sister) being a minor, had obtained the father's consent to her marriage.

And the father states in his evidence that the girl, Anne Thompson (formerly Kittridge) is now only seventeen years old.

He also states what I mentioned in my former letter to you, viz.—that he saw Mr. Chaucer on the 24th January (the date of the marriage), previous to the celebration of the marriage, and told him that the girl Anne was under age.

In the event of the Attorney General filing a bill against Mr. Chaucer, I should be glad to know what course I am to pursue in reference to the prosecution on the 11th proximo.

John Burrowes, on his oath, saith:—I am the Registrar of Births, Marriages, and Deaths, in this District of Newcastle; I produce a marriage certificate, dated the 24th day of January last, purporting to be a certificate of the marriage of one Samuel Thompson, widower, of Newcastle, with one Anne Kittridge, spinster, at the Lake Macquarie Road, Newcastle, aforesaid; this was delivered to me personally, by the defendant, in my official capacity as such Registrar, on the 24th or 25th January last, I am not sure which; the certificate bears the signature of Mr. Chaucer; the endorsement on the certificate, also signed by Mr. Chaucer, was endorsed thereon at the time it was delivered to me; I am aware that the defendant is a minister duly authorized to celebrate marriages, and I have seen his name in a list furnished to me by the Registrar General; I have instituted these proceedings at the instance of the Registrar General; no consent of the parent or guardian is endorsed on the certificate; there is a blank statement of consent printed thereon, but not filled up.

JOHN BURROWES.

HELENUS SCOTT, P.M.

Samuel Thompson, the elder, on his oath, saith:—I am a storekeeper, residing on the Lake Macquarie Road, in the City of Newcastle; I was married on the 24th January last in my own house, on the Lake Macquarie Road aforesaid, to my present wife Ann Kittridge, by the defendant, the Rev. Mr. Chaucer, now present; the certificate now produced is the certificate of my marriage, and bears my signature "Samuel Thompson;" I saw my wife sign the certificate as Ann Kittridge; I am not aware of my own knowledge of my wife's age; she has a father named Thomas Kittridge; I do not know whether he ever gave his consent to our marriage; I never knew that he objected to our marriage; the mother of my wife (Mary Anne Kittridge) was present at our marriage; I saw her put her mark to the certificate produced as one of the witnesses to the marriage; Thomas Kittridge, the father, is living in the City of Newcastle aforesaid; my mother-in-law and my wife were living with my father-in-law previous to our marriage; my wife was living as my housekeeper with me for a fortnight before our marriage; she had for a few weeks before been living with her parents; I heard Mr. Chaucer ask my wife her age immediately before her marriage, she said she was twenty-one; I asked my mother-in-law, in the presence of the defendant, if she was consenting to our marriage, she said "I am quite willing."

By Mr. Brown, (for Defendant): My mother-in-law was present when my wife told the defendant she was twenty-one; the printed and written paper produced bears my signature; that paper was read over to myself and my wife before I signed it; the paper also bears the signature of my wife by her maiden name; it was read over to her by Mr. Chaucer before she signed it; it was signed by my wife and myself before our marriage, and declared to by us; I do not know whether the indorsements now appearing on the paper last produced were there or not before I and my wife signed and declared to it; this paper was explained by Mr. Chaucer to myself and my wife before it was signed and declared to by us.

By the Court: I can't positively swear I signed the paper last produced, but I think I did; I think it was read over to me; I was not asked to take any oath; I have no objection to take an oath in the usual way by kissing the Bible; I have done so to-day.

By Mr. Brown: I think I signed four papers; none before the marriage.

By the Court: I don't recollect anything being said about the consent of the father being necessary; Mr. Chaucer said the mother's consent was quite sufficient; the marriage took place in the afternoon.

SAMUEL THOMPSON.

HELENUS SCOTT, P.M.

Thomas Kittridge, on his oath, saith:—I am a married man and have children; I have one by the name of Anne; she was seventeen years old on the 13th September last; I am not quite certain as to the exact day of the month, but I am positive it was in September last; she was seventeen years old in September last; I am confident she is not more; she was married about a fortnight since to Samuel Thompson now present; they both have stated so to me; the marriage took place on the 22nd January last, according to their own statement to me, and they told me this on the 23rd January last; I never gave my consent to the marriage; I never even heard of it till the evening of the 23rd, on leaving my work; my consent was never asked by anyone; I have known Mr. Chaucer some time; he must have frequently seen me; I have many a time wished him good evening or good morning when I have met him; I met the defendant, Mr. Chaucer, between 12 and 1 o'clock in the afternoon of the 24th January last; I said to Mr. Chaucer "Do you know me?" he said, "No;" I said, "Did you ever see me before?" he said, "I don't recollect;" I then said, "Do you know my daughter?" he said, "No;" I then said, "Do you know Sam Thompson, on the Macquarie Road?" he said, "Yes, I do;" I said, "Did you marry a girl to Thompson the night before last?" he said, "Yes;" I said, "Who authorized you to do so?" he said, "The girl declared herself to be twenty-one years of age;" I said, "And did you not know better, Mr. Chaucer?" he said, "I cannot say;" I told him the girl is not more than sixteen—making a mistake in her age at the time—and said, "I'll enter an action against you for what you have done;" he asked me to go over to Mr. Thompson with him, which I refused; I then left him and went to my work.

(At this stage of the proceedings, some one in the Court spoke to the witness, and upon being asked he said I have nothing further to state.)

Mr.

Mr. Chaucer, on the 24th January, when I said I should enter an action against him, said, "Oh! but they are not married yet; they have only entered into a solemn contract."

By the Court: I live with my family; I have never deserted them; I have seen my daughter in Court this day.

THOMAS KITTRIDGE.

HELENUS SCOTT, P.M.

Anne Thompson; on her oath, saith:—I am the wife of Samuel Thompson, now in this Court; I was married to him by the Rev. William Chaucer, now in this Court; my maiden name was Anne Kittridge; I am daughter of Thomas Kittridge; I saw my father in Court this morning; I don't know my age exactly; I think I am about twenty-one; my mother gave her consent to the marriage; I never asked my father's consent, nor did anyone ask it, to my knowledge; I signed the certificate of marriage now produced, on the day of my marriage—the 24th January last; "Anne Kittridge" on that certificate is my proper handwriting; I signed the paper writing now produced; I told Mr. Chaucer I was twenty-one; I do not know whether the declaration was read to me or not before I signed it; I recollect the words "solemnly declare and affirm"; I was not asked to be sworn, I did not object to be sworn; I was not asked by Mr. Chaucer, nor in his presence, whether I had a father or not; I did not ask my father's consent, because I thought I was of age; Mr. Chaucer was never at my father's house before our marriage, to my knowledge; Mr. Chaucer asked me my age, and I told him I was twenty-one.

The Defendant is committed to take his trial at the next Court of Assize, to be holden at Maitland, on the 11th-March next; and in the meantime, to be admitted to bail—himself in £80, and two sureties, in £40 each.

[Enclosure 6 in No. 33.]

District Registrar's Office,
Newcastle, 14 March, 1861.

Sir,

I do myself the honor to inform you, that the case against the Rev. Mr. Chaucer, for illegally celebrating marriage, was tried at the Maitland Circuit Court, on Tuesday, the 12th instant, when the jury gave a verdict of not guilty.

On the following day, the Crown Prosecutor, Sir Wm. Manning, filed a bill against Mr. Chaucer, for transmitting a false certificate. (Section 20.)

The second charge was brought on to-day, and it was clearly proved in evidence that the marriage (Thompson and Kittridge) was celebrated on the 22nd January, and not on the 24th, as stated in the marriage certificate; and it was also proved that the mother of the bride, Mary Anne Kittridge, was not present as a witness at the ceremony on the 22nd, and that no ceremony or form of marriage was gone through on the 24th.

Upon this second charge Mr. Chaucer was found guilty, and recommended to mercy by the jury; he was then sentenced to twelve months imprisonment with hard labour, the Judge intimating that, but for the recommendation of the jury, he would have inflicted a much more severe sentence.

At the conclusion of the trial, Sir William Manning called my attention to the necessity of altering the date (24th) of the marriage certificate to the 22nd, the day on which the marriage was celebrated, and upon this point I await your instructions.

The father of the bride (Thomas Kittridge) has also requested me to ask for your decision as to the validity of the marriage as it now stands.

I enclose the marriage certificate, in the event of your requiring it for the purposes mentioned above.

Sydney.

Manning, to the necessity of altering the date of marriage in the certificate from 24th to 22nd January, the day on which the marriage was celebrated; and in reply, to request that you will alter the date in accordance with the instructions of the Court, by marginal note as in pencil.

District Registry Office, Newcastle, 22 April, 1861.

Sir,

Having in a former letter adverted to another irregularity of Mr. Chaucer's which had come to my notice, I now do myself the honor to inform you that I have investigated the case, and that the circumstances are as follows:—

On the 20th October last I received from Mr. Chaucer the form of Information of Birth (enclosed herewith, marked A), and at once entered the particulars in the Birth Register, No. 359, of last year.

Some time afterwards, the sister of Mrs. Melan came to my house to register her child, when, upon making the usual inquiries, I found that the birth happened on the 15th March last. I at once told her that the birth could not be registered, as the six months allowed by the Act had expired, and that I should have to bring her before a Magistrate, for neglect. She then told me that her sister's (Mrs. Melan's) child was older than hers, and had been registered lately, and she therefore thought that she was within the time allowed. Upon looking back in the Birth Register I found and shewed her the entry, which bears date the 4th September; she at once told me it was wrong, and that the child was born on the 4th March, six months previous, and was therefore older than hers.

I then communicated with Mr. Chaucer upon the matter, and in reply he sent me a letter, and an extract from his Baptismal Register (enclosed herewith, marked B) in explanation. As I did not consider this altogether satisfactory, I sent a message to Melan to come here when he next came to town; and in my first interview I found that he had received a Certificate of Baptism from Mr. Chaucer, which I afterwards received from him, upon which you will observe the true date of birth, 4th March (enclosed.)

Melan informs me that this paper was filled up and given to him on the 9th October, and that the form of Information of Birth was filled up, or rather written at the same time, and that he and his wife had previously told Mr. Chaucer that the child was seven months old (his knowledge of which is apparent by his writing on the Baptismal Certificate), and that they were afraid they would be fined or get into trouble for neglecting to have it registered. He replied that it was "all right," that he "would make it right with Mr. Burrowes," and that "he had plenty of such cases." He added, that "Mr. Burrowes copied from his books every six months." What this means I am at a loss to conjecture, as I have never seen a book of his.

Mrs.

Mrs. Johnston, Melan's mother-in-law, whose child I believe he baptized at the same time, informed me that she saw Mr. Chaucer a few days previous to this event, for the purpose of asking him to baptize these children, and she then told him, in reference to the registration, that the child (Melan's) was more than six months old, and she feared they would get into trouble, when Mr. C. made the same reply, viz., that "he would make it all right with Mr. Burrowes."

I cannot understand why Mr. Chaucer would wilfully falsify the date of birth, but that it was done wilfully I have no hesitation in believing, from the fact that both documents, viz., the information of birth and the baptismal certificate, having been made out at the same time, and also from his expression of "making it right with myself," which latter must impress those hearing it with the idea that the registration generally, and here in particular, is most improperly carried on. I have only to add that I should have reported this case when it first came to my knowledge, but could not clearly see my way through it, to report fully, and waited for an opportunity of conversing with the parties, who are living at the North Shore. In the meanwhile, the other case (Kittridge's) came against Mr. C., and for a time I lost sight of it.

Dear Sir,

The enclosed is an exact copy from my Church Register, of certain baptisms &c., and you will at once see therefrom that I register all births of those I baptize therein, whatever their ages be; nevertheless I return none to you when their ages exceed six months to my knowledge, as I could have no purpose to answer by doing so. The case you mention may have been caused by my mistaking the parent's information, for had I either not been misinformed or miscentered the same, it is evident that the birth would have remained on the Church Register alone, as some very old ones have done, as you will see.

I am, therefore, not prepared to state how it comes to pass that this, the only blunder among so many birth returns by me, has been made.

I am, &c.,
W. CHAUCER.

P.S.—As the several entries were made at the visit, I may have transferred the dates in mistake.

Sir,

I do myself the honor to enclose a copy of Depositions taken in the case Regina v. Malan, heard this day at the Police Court.

I did not think it necessary to subpoena any of the witnesses, as they could have added nothing to the statements made in my evidence.

I shall await your instructions as to the mode of correcting the entry in my Birth Register.

JOHN BURROWES,
District Registrar.

[Sub-Enclosure in Enclosure 3]

John Burrowes, on his oath, saith:—I am District Registrar of Births, Marriages, and Deaths for the Newcastle District, in the Colony of New South Wales; I produce particulars of an information as to the birth of Clara, the daughter of Charles Malan, on the 9th October last; I received the same from the Rev. William Chaucer; the prisoner was not present when I received it; the date of the birth of the child, in those particulars, is given as the 4th September, 1860; I afterwards received a baptismal certificate of the same child from the prisoner Charles Malan, the father of the child, in which the child is stated to be born on the 4th March last; the prisoner gave me the latter document on my applying to him to ascertain whether the proper date was inserted in the document first produced; he told me the 4th March was the correct date of the birth of the child, and that he could not account for the date of the 4th September appearing on the first document produced; he said further that Mr. Chaucer had filled up both papers the same day, and that at the time he filled them up he stated to Mr. Chaucer that the child was born on the 4th March, and that Mr. Chaucer said he would make it all right with the Registrar; the prisoner denied having given a statement at any time that the child was born on the 4th September; the whole of the document first produced is in the handwriting of the Rev. Mr. Chaucer, including what purports to be the signature of the prisoner Charles Malan; I have seen the prisoner's signature—it is not at all like that; the written portion of the baptismal certificate also is in the handwriting of Mr. Chaucer; I am not in the habit of having the baptismal certificates produced to me; the one now produced was delivered to me by the prisoner at my request; the first document produced was crossed as it now appears, by me, after being entered by me in the proper book; there was not the slightest attempt at concealment on the part of the prisoner; he brought over the baptismal certificate produced to me when I sent for him, and told me the child was born on the 4th March; he further told me that Mr. Chaucer at the time said he would make it all right with the Registrar, and that he had previously told Mr. Chaucer that he was afraid that he would get into trouble for not having registered it in time.

Sir,

No. 359.
20 October, 1861.

Acting upon an opinion lately given by the Attorney General in a somewhat similar case, I have to instruct you to allow no correction of the alleged false entry of the birth of Charles Malan's child.

Parents should be cautioned to take greater care to guard the registration of their children against errors—whether wilful or accidental—errors which may have a most serious effect upon the future interests of their children, and which, after our generation has passed away, there can be no possible means of remedying.

I may further take this occasion of cautioning you against implicitly receiving and admitting to registration the particulars of births and deaths from any itinerating minister, or from others than those required by law to furnish the information.

I have, &c.,

Registrar General.

DR. F. BEER.

REPORT.

THE SELECT COMMITTEE of the Legislative Assembly, appointed on the 22nd October last, “to inquire into and report upon the “Petition of Dr. F. Beer, presented to this House on the 23rd April last, and ordered to be printed on the 24th April, 1861,”—“with power to send for persons and papers,”—have agreed to the following Report :—

It appears that Frederick Beer was tried on the 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th April, 1856, on two counts, viz., 1st, for that he did, on 10th day of February, 1856, feloniously and unlawfully administer to, and cause to be taken by one Phillis Brown, a large quantity of a certain noxious thing called Belladonna, to wit, half a drachm of the said noxious thing called Belladonna, with intent then and there, and thereby, to procure the miscarriage of the said Phillis Brown; and 2ndly, for that he did, on the 10th February, 1856, feloniously and unlawfully administer to, and cause to be taken by the said Phillis Brown, a large quantity of a certain deadly poison called Belladonna, to wit, half a drachm of the said Belladonna, with intent, then and there, and thereby, feloniously, wilfully, and of his malice aforethought, to kill and murder the said Phillis Brown; and that he was found guilty on the first count, and not guilty on the second; and was sentenced to ten years on the roads or public works of the Colony, with hard labour.

A Petition was in April last presented to your Honorable House, signed by 1,564 inhabitants of the District of Braidwood, stating, “That, from circumstances which have transpired since the “said conviction, your Petitioners have good reason to believe that “the said Frederick Beer was not guilty of the offence for which he “was so convicted; and that evidence which was not forthcoming at “the trial of the said Frederick Beer, and which could not have then “been obtained, but which can now be produced, will prove that he was “not guilty of such offence, and that he was therefore, wrongfully “convicted.”

Your Committee were subsequently appointed to take this Petition into consideration; and they have now the honor to report, for the information of your Honorable House, the decision arrived at at after the examination of a number of witnesses (whose names will be found in the margin*), after having given the evidence that careful and grave attention which the importance of the case demanded, and after having afforded to the medical gentlemen who gave evidence on the trial, an opportunity to repeal, modify, or alter their opinions, if they saw any necessity for so doing.

It is established incontrovertibly that many persons, whose evidence most probably would have seriously affected the decision at the trial, were either in Court or waiting to be examined, whom Dr. Beer was not permitted to produce; and that evidence has since been procured which would further tend to exculpate him from the crime for which he was convicted, viz., that of Sir Benjamin Brodie, and the evidence of some of the other witnesses examined by your Committee.

The evidence of Dr. Salter, Dr. Alloway, Dr. Burncastle, Dr. Brown, Dr. Eichler, Mr. W. J. Anderson, Mr. M. Egan, Dr. Cox, and Dr. Boyd, proves incontestably,—

1. That abortion could not have resulted from the use of Belladonna, as administered; on the contrary, that its effects would be to prevent abortion.
2. That it could not have caused the death of the child, except through the maternal system.
3. That, as it was administered to the mother, none of the effects stated to have immediately followed the introduction of the suppository could result from its use, as a very considerable period must elapse before it could be dissolved and absorbed.†
4. That, as a general rule, the quantity could not in any way be dangerous.

And Mr. Dent's Evidence proves,—

5. That Dr. Beer had been constantly in the habit of prescribing this drug for other patients in larger doses than those used in this case; therefore, there was nothing unusual in its application here.

It must not be lost sight of—that, whereas Dr. Beer was convicted of administering half a drachm of belladonna, not more than five grains, or one sixth of that quantity was ever taken in one day, and the directions for its administration were, to persist in its use only according to its effects, which, if injurious, would very gradually have developed themselves.

Without in any way impugning the decision arrived at by the jury who tried the case, who, on the evidence before them, could perhaps have arrived at no other conclusion, your Committee have no hesitation in reporting, from the evidence laid before them, that the use of belladonna, in the mode prescribed, could not have procured abortion, and, on that ground they absolve Dr. Beer altogether from the charge on which he was found guilty.

Your

† This fact the Committee proved, by placing a similar suppository, made up at the same druggist's shop, in a glass of water, when, at the end of four hours, they found it was not all dissolved.

Your Committee are of opinion that Dr. Beer ought to have had an opportunity afforded him of placing his case before the Executive Council, and that the Visiting Magistrate was not warranted in refusing him permission to forward a Petition to the Executive, as suggested by Mr. Justice Therry*, as it is clear that the letter of Sir B. Brodie† was precisely within the category prescribed by the regulation‡—quoted by the Visiting Magistrate in justification of his refusal.

*Vide q. q. 952, 954.
 †Vide Separate Appendix C.
 ‡Vide Separate Appendix B.

Finally your Committee cannot withhold placing upon record their opinion, viz., that, in the several matters connected with his reports to the Insurance Companies, Dr. Beer's conduct was improper in the very highest degree, and that the moral feeling must be obtuse indeed, which, on any ground, would attempt to justify an absolute falsehood.

J. Williams,
Esq.

1. By the Chairman: This Committee has been appointed to inquire into and report upon the case of Dr. F. Beer, with power to send for persons and papers; and we have requested in the favor of your attendance to-day, to lay upon the Table the depositions and conviction in the case? The conviction is not with me; it will be in the Supreme Court; but I have brought a copy of the information filed, and Mr. Holroyd's brief, bearing an endorsement by him, which will give you all the information the conviction would afford. I produce the depositions in the case of the Queen against Frederick Beer, and the exhibits that are in my possession. There were some of the exhibits—for instance, the original policies—which were given up to the parties claiming them. The exhibits I produce are the following:—The proposals to the Monarch Fire and Life Insurance Company, the proposals to the Liverpool and London Fire and Life Insurance Company, the proposals to the Alliance British and Foreign Life and Fire Insurance Company, and the proposals to the Australian Mutual Provident Society.
2. The proposals only? The proposals only.
3. Were policies effected on those proposals? I do not know; I was not Crown Solicitor at the time. I imagine the policies will be in the hands of the parties entitled to claim under them, if they were effected. As to the conviction, I can get a copy of it if you wish; but I find with the papers the draft of the information filed, and the counsel's brief, which I have before alluded to. There are also some recognizances to give evidence, which I may as well leave with the papers; it will keep them together; but they are not of importance to the inquiry. (The witness produced all the papers referred to.)

Sir,

On behalf of the Australian Mutual Provident Society I have the honor to request permission that I may deliver a brief to a junior Counsel, to assist in the prosecution of this case. Could I have a loan of the depositions, or a copy of them, it would materially assist.

I have, &c.,

To the Solicitor General,
&c., &c.

There can be no objection to the delivery of a junior brief to Counsel in this case. A copy of the depositions may be obtained from the Attorney General's clerk. I believe it would be inconsistent with the practice of the office to lend the depositions.

I think this defendant ought to be put upon his trial upon the following charges:—

1. Administering poison with intent to procure abortion.

J. S. DOWLING, J.P.

THIS deponent, Phillies Brown, on oath saith as follows:—I am the wife of Michael George Brown, of Cumberland-street, Sydney, he has a situation in the Customs; I know prisoner, Dr. Beer; I have known him about three years; at the time the influenza was about he was recommended to me, and since then he has been our medical attendant; he has attended me professionally; the first time for deafness; for the last six months I have seen him almost daily; he sometimes called as a visitor; before I went to the Insurance Office in June, he said, I had better insure my life to do some good for my family; he brought me some books from Insurance Office, and we read them together; he talked of insuring his own life at the same time; he did not mention the term of Insurance in the "Mutual Provident;" I was not in the family-way when I insured in the "Mutual Provident;" shortly after I became pregnant and mentioned it to Dr. Beer; he said "no such thing, you are not that way at all;" he said it was a "gathering in the stomach;" between June and December I frequently saw him; I knew very well I was pregnant, he said I was not; he once called before Christmas with a German doctor; I remember going to Crawley and Smith's to insure my life in the "Church of England." and before then Dr. Beer brought the German doctor to me; they both told me "to prepare for death;" I was very ill; Dr. Beer told me there was "still the lump and no child," and that I must "prepare for death;" to fill up the papers I went to the office; Dr. Beer was my medical referee in that case; after I was told to prepare for death I got better; the German doctor and Dr. Beer examined me in bed; after I got up, and a few weeks after, he came to me and said he would insure my life himself, as Mr. Brown had not the means to pay for for it; this was said before I was insured in the "Church of England;" I spoke to Mr. Brown about it, and we agreed that if he wanted to insure it we would do it, but it was too short a term; it was for five years or seven; I said to Dr. Beer, "why insure it for five years, I shall live over that;" he said that was "quite long enough," that I should "not live long;" I said "I might live for years, and if I lived the term out he would lose everything;" Mr. Brown went himself and insured in the "Church of England" for the whole term of life, and paid the fee himself; Dr. Beer filled up the medical certificates on that occasion also; the policy in the "Mutual Provident" was one thousand, and the same amount in the "Church of England;" after I had insured in the "Church of England" perhaps a few days, I had a conversation with Dr. Beer about effecting a third insurance; he said he would insure my life in the "Alliance" for £1,500, that if he died first he would give it to me with the premium, that he would not live long; he took me to Mr. Beit before we went to the "Alliance;" he went first, and they sent me word they must see me first; I went to Mr. Beit with Dr. Beer and my child; my husband was not with me; that was the "Monarch" office; he proposed to insure my life for seven years for £1,500; Mr. Beit asked him why he wanted to insure for such a short period; I answered him by saying I thought Dr. Beer could renew it when the time expired; Mr. Beit said he could, but with much more difficulty; they spoke together; I did not hear what it was; I left Mr. Beit and heard nothing more of it; after being at the "Monarch" Dr. Beer proposed to insure me in the "Alliance" for £1,500, that he would pay the premium himself, and that at his death he would leave my children something, that he wished to do all he could while he lived; I can't say whether he brought me the papers; they were brought to me, and he sat and saw my husband fill them up; he was the medical referee on that occasion; the papers were taken to the office, in what manner I can't say; I had orders to go to Dr. O'Brien, the medical gentleman of that office; I went to see him, but as the papers were not there, my husband went for the papers, and I took them to Dr. O'Brien; he filled them up and I took them back; the premium was to be paid yearly; he was to insure me for the term of life; Dr. Beer wanted to insure for about ten years; I said, "what is the use for insuring for such a short period, they won't take it; why don't you insure for the whole term of life?" he said he would "insure for life;" after that I went with Mr. Brown, he took down £40 of Dr. Beer's money, which amount was paid; I got a receipt and gave it to Dr. Beer; Dr. O'Brien put me down as a "third class" life, because I was in pregnancy; after the "Alliance" insurance I had a lawyer's letter from the office, and gave it to Dr. Beer; the receipt produced, dated 23 July, 1855, I received from Dr. Beer; in July last he owed Mr. Brown some money; I think £20; he had given him an order for £10 before, and he brought me £7; I said, "now Doctor, you have attended me and my children and servant girl, and you must make your bill out if its only a shilling;" he said, he had "no bill against me;" I said, "I will have a bill, if its only for a shilling;" and he made out the bill produced, and gave it to me; a few weeks after I had been to the "Church of England," I went to the "Alliance;" the "Church of England" was in November, and the "Alliance" was in December; before I went to the "Alliance" he felt it, and said I was with child; since June last, excepting my being in the family-way, my health has been better than with the last child; on Sunday, the 10th February last, I sent for Dr. Beer; he saw me professionally; I had been out on the Saturday night, 9th February, got wet, and had taken cold; on the Sunday I could scarcely sit or stand, and was very much alarmed; I did not know what it was; I thought I was very queer, and thought something was going wrong, Dr. Beer having told me I should miscarry; after I had gone 4 months he said I should "never go my time;" that was said past 4 months ago; I saw him about 4 or 5 o'clock on Sunday evening when he came in he said, "Is it in earnest?" I said, "Yes, Doctor, I am very ill;" I told him, "I thought the hand or the foot of the child was going backwards;" he sat down and began to write, and I said, "do Doctor see me before you write, for there is something wrong;" he examined me; he said, "If you wish it;" I went into the bedroom, and he saw me, and made an examination of me; he gave me ease almost immediately; he did something with his hand; I gave two screams, and I then became easier; he asked me if I were easier; I asked him what it was; he said it was the piles; I was then close on 8 months with child, or between 7 and 8 months; he said it was the piles; I said, is it only that; he said, that would be bad enough if I only had them; he came out and sat down at the table for a length of time, seeming to be in thought; I told him I had almost prayed for death, I had suffered so much; he said I should not get over it; Mr. Brown came in; the Doctor said something to him, wrote a prescription, and handed it to Mr. Brown; I had never suffered from piles and did not know what they were; he might have been at my place about half an-hour; I felt easier immediately, and I have not since had any return of what then occurred; my boy took this prescription to Mr. Elliott's; Dr. Beer ordered me six pills, and told me to administer one every three hours. I was to introduce one as far as I could every three hours, and pass it into the bowels; before I put these into the bowels I felt the child move very strongly; it was moving when Dr. Beer was there; when I got the pills I introduced one into the bowels; it might have been between 7 and 8 o'clock when I inserted one; it altered the whole system of my body; my whole body was in pain; I felt in such pain, that I tried to remove the pill from my body but I could not do it; all night I suffered; I had a heavy dull sensation; I felt sick; my head was not then affected; in the morning, about 6 o'clock, I felt queer and heavy, and at 7 o'clock I introduced another, and then became sick in the stomach, and a heavy dead weight lay across the stomach, and there was no movement in the child; I felt sick and giddy, and something like a skin came over my sight; this was almost immediately after taking the second pill; I was in bed at the time, my head was very much in pain; when I spoke it was with pain in the stomach and back; in the after part of Monday I vomited; I had seen him in the meantime; I can't say whether he called on Monday or Tuesday; I did not vomit until he called; the vomit was a thick slimy matter, green and other colours, and afterwards blood; he told me to apply half a pill; that was applied; that made me become very sick and I threw up blood; I had more pain still in the stomach, and when I spoke to the children it gave me much pain; I asked him how it could affect my head so much; he said I would "miscarry;" he said, "I ought to have applied them as he ordered;" I said I could not; the sickness and vomiting continued until Wednesday; on that day I was in a dull heavy state, and perspired much. he sounded my stomach externally; he leant his ear on my stomach and said the heart scarcely beat; he said I should miscarry; "I will bring on a miscarriage and will call to-morrow;" I said "God forbid, let Providence take its course;" he said "it must be done;" on the Wednesday he said if I had "taken the medicine it would have brought on the miscarriage; the child was all but dead;" on the Thursday morning I felt the child move; from Sunday to Thursday I felt the child move but little, and then I was in pain; my stomach was discolored; on Thursday afternoon he came in; he asked if I felt the child; I said, I did; he asked me how I "felt;" I said "better," and that I had "not taken any more of the pills;" he wished me to keep my bed and keep quiet; he said I would not live; I did not see him again until the following Tuesday; between the Thursday and Tuesday I had a conversation with my husband; on Tuesday when he (Dr. Beer) came in, I said to him, "What is the dispute between you and Mr. Brown;" he said, "Then he has told you;" I said, "yes;" he sat down; we talked together, and I told him he must withdraw as a Doctor—that I would not allow him to attend any more on me; I asked him what it was; he said he "would have one of the policies from one of the Societies, or Mr. Brown should have neither;" he said I should not live; he said, "Do you think I would take your life where I have no interest in the matter?" I said, "You would if you had one;" he said he "would have one;" I said, "I am not dead;" he said, "No, but you will not live two months;" we had a conversation; he said, "I might get married, and a thousand will be of great service to me;" he said the child must be sacrificed to save my life; I said, "Doctor, I am not dead yet, I am sure I will get over it;" he said "I never would;" I said I should have a "strong baby;" he said I should have a "sickly baby," and that if he did not attend me I should never get over it; I told him he would not attend me; he asked me about the time; I told him about the first of April; he said he should be close at hand, and would come in whether Mr. Brown liked it or not; I asked him what he was going to do; he said he would not do anything to hurt my feelings whilst I lived, that he should be time enough when I was dead; I said, "Surely Doctor you won't go and forswear yourself, you have got into scrapes before now;" he said, "What do I care of my character? if I had a thousand pounds I would leave the country directly;" I said, "I am not dead, nor shall I die;" he said, "Long may you live!" Mr. Brown shall not laugh at me and get two thousand pounds at your death;" he said Mr. Brown could not do anything without his certificate; in that he would have to state how I died, and that, if Mr. Brown did not give him one of the policies, the Societies would rather give him some hundreds instead of giving Brown some thousands; I have had four children, and easy and short labours with them all, but very weak and low afterwards; I have had two miscarriages, one about nine years ago; I had two children before a miscarriage, one between the second and third child, the second between the third and fourth child; the first miscarriage was at three months, the second at four months; on the Sunday when I consulted with Dr. Beer and he said I had the piles, I had nothing the matter with the womb; I am still pregnant.

By Mr. Rodman: I am rather deaf, and I might not have caught the exact expressions in talking; Dr. Beer generally spoke to me very loud, because he has known me so long; I have made mistakes when people have spoken to me on other occasions; I know he is a foreigner; I can readily catch at what he says; at first I could not; sometimes I have asked him twice or a third time to make myself sure; he did not say "I fear the child must be sacrificed;" he said "the child must be sacrificed to save my life;" I had pains before the exhibition of the piles; he gave me the medicine for the piles; he told me they would ease me; he told me to "administer them every three hours;" I can't say he said "when necessary;" I did not read the directions on the box; I can read; Dr. Beer never gave directions in the prescriptions; I generally asked him for them; he sometimes brought medicines to me; I had no occasion to read the directions on the box, because Dr. Beer told me; after he wrote the prescription he gave me the directions, and afterwards, the child went for it; he said, "apply one every three hours, and insert it as far as possible;" I was relieved before I used the medicine; I was relieved on the instant; there was a pain before I sent for him; the pain had left me before I used the pills; there was a little soreness; I never again had the pain where the piles were, but had a pain in my stomach; the only opium I have ever taken was that which Dr. Beer ordered; when I took it, it generally eased me; I seldom slept after using it, perhaps because my strength had gone; I told Dr. Beer I once had nearly lost my life by taking sixty drops of laudanum in mistake; when he told me I had a gathering in my stomach, I was not in much pain; when he touched me with his finger I suffered a little pain; I was then gone two or three months in the family-way; I said, I was in the family-way, he said, I was not; at the time he told me I had the gathering in the stomach I had not the usual discharges; my last miscarriage was before the birth of my last child, which is better than three years old; I had gone seven or eight months when I took the pills; Dr. Beer did not say he would call Dr. Catlett in; Dr. Catlett belongs to the society of which my husband is a member; his name was mentioned, and Dr. Beer said, as life might be taken, he himself must be sent for immediately, or some other assistance; that was said before the 10th February; on the 9th I caught the cold; after and before the 10th Dr. Beer told me to keep my bed, and keep quiet, and not excite myself; he did not lead me to suppose that if I did otherwise it would cause a miscarriage; I had had a fright, my boy having been hurt, and Dr. Catlett told me to keep quiet; this was before the 10th; it was after the fright I had these pains; I scarcely got over the fright before I caught the cold; Dr. Beer never urged me to call in the assistance of another medical man; Dr. Beer did not frequently tell me he would not take the responsibility of my confinement on himself; it was after taking the second pill I felt the dizziness in the head; after taking the first I did not see Dr. Beer to ask him if I should take a second; all he did to me before I had these dull heavy pains always relieved me; I had great confidence in him, but should not like to have him again; I have lost confidence in him in money matters; I would not trust in his hands my life, in which money is concerned; I would trust the lives of my children to him; it was through what he said my suspicions were aroused; he said, "do you think I would take your life where I had no interest in it;" he did not use this expression "to soothe my fears," he used the expression before I spoke; I said, "you would then if you had an interest in it;" he did not answer me; I did not say to him, my relations tell me my life is not safe; the conversation took place after I had taken the pills; I recovered the medicine and was in better health, as I am now in health; after I had taken the medicine I took an emetic; the pains were not removed by the medicine; they were removed before I used it; I was only lying down from weakness when he gave the prescription; he did not say the pains arose from the contraction of the womb; I was still under the heavy dull pains with no movement when I took the pill; I told him I had pains; I did not roll about the floor until after he gave the medicine; I shall be thirty years of age next birthday; Dr. Catlett did not say what was the matter with me; I merely sent for Dr. Catlett to converse about my confinement; he did not examine me, he gave me a prescription; I used no other medicine externally or internally when taking the pills; I don't know the name of the German doctor who came with Dr. Beer; they said I was suffering from a gathering; they did not say what gathering it was; they did not say there was a contraction of the womb; I don't know exactly what took place as they spoke in German; I suffered a little behind; they gave me an injection of eggs and laudanum to strengthen the bowels; he seldom gave me any medicine but composing draughts; I never suffered from spasms; when I have been very low and weak I have fainted; I got well after the two doctors told me to prepare for death; that was after the insurance in the "Mutual Provident Society;" to my knowledge I never knew Dr. Beer to quarrel with my husband; I never told anyone my husband had had a quarrel with Dr. Beer; I said they had had a few words about the policy; my husband and Dr. Beer both told me so.

By Mr. Roberts: On 10th February Dr. Beer gave my husband the prescription; I was not better the next day; the doctor did not see me from Thursday until Tuesday, then I dismissed him; I have fainted before and since he gave me the pills.

Re-examined: The boy gave these pills to his father who gave them to me.

This deponent, Owen Williams, on oath, states:—I am a legally qualified Medical Practitioner and Doctor of Medicine; from the sixth part of a grain to a grain would be the maximum of a dose I would give in the form of a suppository internally by the mouth; I should not give more than a grain, or a grain and a half, to begin with; I should give that quantity every four hours as a suppository; I have heard the evidence of Mrs. Brown; I believe the symptoms detailed by Mrs. Brown were the effects of an over-dose of belladonna; my opinion is, that to use belladonna, as detailed by Mrs. Brown, would be injurious to a person in a state of pregnancy, as, in a climate like this, the process of absorption is more rapid, consequently, the effect is more powerful than in a cold climate; the dose of a grain or two, as spoken of, would not do in this Colony; I would not administer it at all; it is a remedy I would never approve of; it has a threefold effect on the system.—first, by absorption into the circulation; secondly, its action on the nerves; thirdly, the mucous membrane of the stomach; the symptoms in the womb, detailed by Mrs. Brown, would be caused by the over-dose of belladonna, evidenced by the heavy weight she felt in the fetus; I have never known belladonna given in the case of piles internally as a suppository; from what I have heard from Mrs. Brown, I don't believe she was suffering from the piles; she appears to have been suffering from a slight prolapsus of the inner membrane of the bowel, evidenced evidenced by obtaining relief on the reduction of the bowel; in the state which she appears to have been in, there was no occasion whatever to use belladonna for the purpose of procuring abortion; if the dose had been continued it would have caused abortion; if it had been continued every three hours it would have destroyed the child; the fourth dose would have killed the child, and the mother might have suffered.

By Mr. Redman: I am not a German, and don't know German; I consider belladonna an injurious medicine at all times, and should not be given internally under any circumstances; it is a valuable medicine locally employed; I would not recommend its use internally; it acts as a narcotic; I never saw a prescription containing belladonna to be given internally; belladonna administered to a person subject to fainting would be very injurious; belladonna is decidedly one of the remedies which would be used to procure abortion; when the prolapsus was reduced I should have left my patient to remain quiet.

*George Bennett, Esquire, on oath, states:—*I am a legally qualified Medical Practitioner, and a Member of the Royal College of Surgeons; to give belladonna internally, I would begin with the sixth of a grain cautiously, because it is a very strong narcotic poison; the extract often varies in strength; I should begin with one to two grains in a suppository, and that with great caution; I would only give it once, and would not give it again, except with caution, and in watching the effects; I never used it in prescribing for piles; I have no doubt Mrs. Brown was suffering from a prolapsus of the membrane of the gut; that sometimes happens during pregnancy; she appears to have been suffering from the effects of an over-dose of belladonna; it is not a medicine to be administered to a female in a state of pregnancy; if it should be used it must be with very great caution; the symptoms spoken of would be caused by the over-dose of belladonna; it would tend to destroy the infant if continued; indirectly it would tend to procure abortion by destroying the child.

By Mr. Redman: I use belladonna externally; I have used it internally with great caution; provided I was satisfied that a patient had taken belladonna and morphia combined, I would increase my doses considerably by gradual doses; I did not examine Mrs. Brown; the piles are not uncommon in a state of pregnancy; five grains of belladonna would be too large to begin with, unless the party had been accustomed to take belladonna to that amount; I have used it externally with effect; I should say belladonna would be more likely to produce abortion than morphia; it would act as a sedative, and destroy the child; an aggravated dose would cause very serious consequences; the milder dose would have a sedative effect; I don't object to belladonna except in large and improper doses; I think it an excellent medicine judiciously administered internally.

Re-examined: From the symptoms detailed by Mrs. Brown as to the state she was in on the 10th, I do not think there was any reason to produce abortion.

*Charles Nathan, Esquire, on oath, states:—*I am a Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of London, and am a duly qualified Medical Practitioner; I quite concur in Dr. Bennett's evidence, which I have heard, and I concur in his statement; I do use belladonna at times very minutely, with great care; I should not use it as a suppository in prescribing for a woman in pregnancy; I am of opinion that if the treatment alluded to by Mrs. Brown had been continued, it would have caused abortion; my opinion was, and is, that Mrs. Brown was not suffering from piles; she appeared to be suffering from a prolapsus of the inner membrane of the bowel; it does not appear to me to have been a case where abortion should be attempted; in a suppository I should rather begin with one grain, and watch its effect very carefully.

By Mr. Roberts: I never saw the results of an over-dose of belladonna; it would cause delirium and wandering, general effect on nervous system, dimness of vision, dilated pupil of the eye, a burning constricted feel in the throat, nausea and vomiting, prostration, cold sweats; by carefully watching my patient I would see whether it would be necessary to increase or decrease the doses; I would not allow a patient to take more than one grain, in divided doses, every four hours; I never heard of twelve grains being administered; I do not remember having heard of a larger dose, than one grain being given; I would use it externally, in the case of piles; I should never use belladonna to produce abortion; I have never seen or read of belladonna and morphia being given together in a liquid internally; from fifteen to twenty-five drops of laudanum would be the average quantity to be given; as much as sixty drops have been given in urgent cases by medical men; belladonna has been recommended in strictures of urethra.

Re-examined: It is my opinion that if the system had been pursued it would have caused abortion.

*Charles M'Kay, Esquire, on oath, states:—*I am a Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh, and a duly qualified Medical Practitioner; I have a patient to whom I have administered belladonna; I commenced with one-twelfth of a grain; I have now got to half a grain in four days, every four hours; I would not use it in a suppository, from its uncertain effects; I have never seen it used internally as a suppository; I heard the evidence of Mrs. Brown; I should rather say she was suffering from piles rather than a prolapsus of the membrane; I should say from her statement that abortion should not be resorted to unless it would be with a criminal intent, not as a remediable agent, in her case; from her symptoms I should say she was suffering from an over-dose of belladonna; I believe, had it been continued, it would have been the means of procuring abortion; as a commencement, I should say the twelfth of a grain would be sufficient to be used internally.

By Mr. Roberts: An over-dose of belladonna would affect the head; a large over-dose would cause a red eruption of the skin, the pupils of the eyes would become dilated; belladonna is used in ointment; I have heard of its being applied to cancers; I never saw morphia and belladonna used together as a liquid; it is my opinion they would not act together; if Dr. Gray's theory of the state of the hair produced by an over-dose of opium be correct, and belladonna produce an opposite effect to it, then a larger dose of belladonna might be given; belladonna is a medicine which requires careful watching; supposing that morphia and belladonna had been taken together, I am not prepared to say that five grains, taken as a suppository, would be too much; it would entirely depend on the extract and quality; the quantity would be regulated according to the quality, and in order to do so I should commence with a small dose.

APPENDIX TO THE FOREGOING EVIDENCE.

*Frederick Mackellar, Esquire, on oath, states:—*I am a Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh, and am a legally qualified Medical Practitioner; my opinion of the dose of belladonna internally is that it should be given carefully, commencing with the twelfth of a grain every four hours, and gradually increased until it produced the desired effect; the result being carefully watched; as a suppository I never used it; I would only consent to its being used as a suppository where other known remedies had failed, and then I would carefully watch its effects; it is a highly noxious poison, acting through the brain and nervous system with very violent and irritating effects; I have known the ointment of belladonna externally used on piles; I am of opinion Mrs. Brown was suffering from piles, and I am of that opinion from the immediate relief and reduction the patient experienced; from her evidence I don't see any reason why abortion should be attempted to be produced; the symptoms of which she complained clearly shewed she was suffering from the effects of the poison of belladonna which had been administered; belladonna would cause the death of the fetus in the womb; after reduction of the piles there would be no occasion for the suppositories.

*John Yates Rutter, Esquire, on oath, states:—*I am a legally qualified Medical Practitioner; I know the preparation of the extract of belladonna; I should, to use it internally by the mouth, begin at the eighth of a grain, and repeat it up to a grain given every six hours; I never knew it to be given as a suppository; if I were to use it as a suppository I would give from a grain and a half to two grains, and then I would carefully watch its effects; I would not use it internally for piles; I know that Mrs. Brown suffered from piles; I don't think that I would administer belladonna for piles or prolapse as a suppository, where a woman was in pregnancy; from what I heard from Mrs. Brown I do not think I should have used belladonna in her case; the dimness of sight, nausea, vomiting, and other circumstances detailed by Mrs. Brown, was caused, in my opinion, by an over-dose of belladonna; in my opinion if the system had been carried out the medicine would have produced abortion; as far as the mother was concerned there was not, in my opinion, any reason to produce abortion; five grains as a suppository, in my opinion, would be dangerous.

*By Mr. Roberts: I would not administer belladonna internally under any circumstances; I have not read any case where it has been used as a suppository; I can't speak from recollection that from one to five grains has been laid down as a dose medicinally; I don't know of any case where an ounce has been taken and the patient recovered; I never heard of a case of a child nearly losing its life by taking thirty grains; I have heard of morphia and belladonna being taken internally; belladonna affects the nervous system; opium affects the head; they both affect the head; both are narcotic poisons; I never used it in cases of stricture of the rectum, or in a case of cancer of the vagina; if a suppository were passed into the rectum, in which stricture and ulceration existed, the parts being in a state of irritation, consequent on the disease, it might pass away; the doses recommended are the eighth of a grain, to be increased; some authorities recommend a quarter to half a grain, to be increased up to a grain, the effects carefully watched; belladonna is recommended to be used to overcome the rigidity of the fibre; if belladonna had been used externally, and opiates administered internally, the system would be susceptible of larger doses, and even then five grains would be a large dose; I have not had experience as to the habitual use of belladonna; some of the foreign works are our best guides; it has been highly recommended by a Viennese medical man, in cases of cancer; I cannot speak from experience; I will not undertake to swear that in this case, five grains as a suppository would be too much; I never knew it to be used to procure a miscarriage; there are cases in which it is necessary to bring on premature labour; we don't use medicines in the first instance to produce the effects; belladonna is not used in such cases; I don't know of the case mentioned in the Lancet of 1844, in the case of tetanus; tetanus requires strong remedies, and large doses regulated by the state of the system; five grains of the extract of belladonna might be given internally in the case of tetanus, but I would not give it.*

Re-examined: There was nothing in this case which led me to suppose that there was stricture of the rectum or cancer of the vagina.

By Mr. Redman: Belladonna varies very much in its strength; it is not to be depended upon; it is looked upon as a dangerous medicine; I should be afraid to give one or two grains; to begin with I might give the eighth of a grain.

*Michael George Brown re-sworn, states:—*I am the husband of Mrs. Phillis Brown, who was under examination yesterday; I know Dr. Beer; he has been the medical attendant of my family for some time; I have had a conversation with him about life insurance; the first I heard of life insurance was through my wife, in the early part of May, before I insured in the Mutual Provident Society; I had a conversation with Dr. Beer, the day after my wife spoke to me; he came to my house and said I ought to insure Mrs. Brown's life, for there were great advantages attending it; I said I knew there were many advantages arising from life insurance, but that my means would not allow me; I am in receipt of £240 a year; he said he had or intended to insure his life, and that he knew he would have a short life—he would will some of it to my children; he often called when there was no sickness; what he said appeared to be very satisfactory; I had subsequently a conversation with Mrs. Brown, and a few days after I saw Dr. Beer; on that occasion he brought a prospectus and papers from the "Mutual Provident Society," and said, "Look over those, and by the time you have looked them over you will be satisfied to insure Mrs. Brown's life;" I saw him a third time; I remember nothing more until Mrs. Brown wished me to insure her life; I went to the office for the papers, and after that I saw Dr. Beer; he said "Mention my name, as medical referee, and all will be right;" I shewed him my papers; Dr. Beer requested I would get her insured for seven or ten years; he said I could easily get it renewed at the end of that time, and that the charges would be less; in his presence I proposed to my wife to insure our joint lives; he said, "I would not, if you insure Mrs. Brown's life that will be sufficient boon to your family;" the proposal I made for Mrs. Brown's life is now produced, dated 2nd June, 1855; I sent the required papers to Dr. Beer; the document marked C is in the handwriting of my wife; I know Dr. Beer's signature; I believe the document produced marked D is written and signed by him in June; the policy produced, marked E, I obtained from the Mutual Provident; I paid the premium; about two months after this insurance I saw Dr. Beer, and one evening, when in conversation, he said, "Mr. Brown, I think you had better insure Mrs. Brown's life in another office;" I said I thought the expenses would be too great; he shewed me that the cost would be one pound a-week; I said I might as well do that as anything else; he said it would be quite sufficient to insure for seven or ten years, and on Mrs. Brown's life, but gave no reason, and he said nothing about joint lives; I think I made the application immediately after to the "Church of England," having selected that myself from the books; Dr. Beer said, "Refer to me, of course, as medical referee;" I received the papers from the office; I afterwards received the policy produced, marked F, dated 4 December; from June up to 4 December Mrs. Brown's health was generally good; after the second insurance, I should think four or five weeks, I saw Dr. Beer.

Policy marked F admitted.

Dr. Beer; the third proposal was to insure Mrs. Brown's life in the office of Mr. Beit, in Macquarie-place; Dr. Beer said, "I should like to insure Mrs. Brown's life;" I said if Mrs. Brown had no objection I had none; I said, "But why insure Mrs. Brown's life?" he said, "I have great regard for your family, and I will dispose of most of the proceeds to them;" he said he would pay the premiums himself; he said he would insure her for seven years, at fifteen hundred or two thousand pounds; the next I heard was that he had taken her to the office; a day or two after Dr. Beer told me Mr. Beit said he had an objection to the policy, except it came through me; he also said he wanted to know why he wanted to insure for so large an amount and for so short a period; he seemed disappointed; I had no other conversation about the "Monarch" office; on our next meeting he proposed that I should assist him in effecting an insurance in the "Alliance," as Mr. Beit had not answered him the document of 24 December, marked G, signed by me; he asked if I would assist, as Mrs. Brown was willing; I said I would on one condition, which was, that he should insure her for the whole term of life and not for seven years; he consented to that, and said I should have no trouble in the matter, that he would get all the papers himself; he said he had ridden to the office several times, but did not get the papers; ultimately I went to the office and got the papers at his request; I produce the paper, marked H; Were and Pritchard are the agents of the "Alliance;" on the following day I saw him; I told him I was short of cash, and that a deposit of £2 in cash was required; he gave me that sum, and on the next day he gave me forty pounds; I paid that money to the clerk at Were and Pritchard's, and got a receipt, and gave it to Dr. Beer; he afterwards brought it to my house and asked me to keep it for safety; he left it with me; a few days after Dr. Beer called and demanded the policy, and said he thought he could make Were and Pritchard pay handsomely for refusing; he said he did not want the money, but the policy; he said he would put the matter into the hands of his lawyer, by which means he would get the policy; he called and asked me to go to Were and Pritchard's and demand the policy or know the reason; I went and saw Mr. Pritchard; I afterwards saw Dr. Beer and told him I had called on Mr. Pritchard and asked him for the policy or the receipt, and that Mr. Pritchard said he did not consider the life insured at all, and I told him I had told Mr. Pritchard it was not a business-like method, and I then left him; Dr. Beer said "Well, what can we do now?" I said, "I have done all I can for you; I can do no more;" I heard nothing more about policies until Thursday, 14th; Dr. Beer said he had put the receipt into the hands of his attorney, I think he said Want, Roxburg, and Want; when the policy was effected in the "Alliance" I might have owed Dr. Beer some money for a few casual visits; he owed me at that time about seven pounds, the balance of furniture sold to him; I think during that period my children were ill; the receipt produced, marked A, dated July, is in Dr. Beer's handwriting; on Sunday, 10th February, my wife was indisposed; I went for Dr. Beer; when at my house he wrote a prescription, which is now produced, marked B; I gave it to my son to take to Mr. Elliott's to have made up; that was the only prescription I gave my son that day to take to Elliott's; I afterwards received from my son the box produced, containing six of these suppositories; when Dr. Beer was in the habit of ordering medicines at my house, I generally asked him the expenses of the chemist, and on this occasion he said it would cost about four-pence, but that they would charge me a shilling or one shilling and six-pence; when the boy came home I found the charge was half-a-crown, which I thought was an overcharge; on the Sunday I asked him what he thought of Mrs. Brown's state of health; he said that during my absence he had examined her, and that he found she was suffering from piles; he said he had ordered medicine of the shape of a Minic bullet, and that it would have to be passed into the body as far as the finger could reach; I asked him if it would dissolve there; he said "yes;" as he was leaving the house Mrs. Brown said, "how often are they to be used, Doctor?" he said, "one every three hours;" he did not add the words "necessary" or "required;" I had no further conversation with him until Thursday following, when I saw him at the Argyle Bonded Stores; he came in a friendly manner, shook hands with me, and sat down, he said then, "Mr. Brown, I think the two policies you hold must be very heavy on your hands, let me relieve you of one of them;" I said, "Surely you are not serious?" he said, "Yes, I have served you in the matter, I have been your medical referee;" I said, "Do you claim one on that account?" he said, "No;" but recollect you would not have insured at all, if I had not proposed it to you; I said, "Well, you wished me to insure for you and not for me;" he said, "I think I have as much right to one as you have;" and "Unless you give me one of them, I will make such a statement to the Societies that you shall not get either;" I said, "Are you aware you would perjure yourself by doing so?" he said, "No, I should not, I would tell them that I did it in ignorance; and besides, I was not duly qualified at the time;" I think, he said, a "duly qualified physician;" I said, "Doctor, this is a clear case of extortion, and rather than you should extort a policy from me, I would go to the Societies and surrender both;" he said, "No, you would rather get one thousand pounds than lose two;" he then said, "I am a member of the Mutual Provident Society, and they would rather give me two, or a few hundred pounds, than give you thousands, (I can't say which,) on the death of Mrs. Brown;" he arose from the table and said, "By God! if you don't give me one of the policies you shan't have either;" he then left me; that was the last conversation; nothing was said then about Mrs. Brown, or that she would not live; I now recollect his saying, prior to the last sentence, "I must attend Mrs. Brown in her confinement, for, unless I attend her accouchement, she will not survive;" I gave the prescription to my son, George.

By Mr. Roberts: He has been attending her for about two years and a-half; she once went with Dr. Beer to Dr. Bland's; last year I remember another medical man, a Foreigner, coming as a visitor to my house; they both saw Mrs. Brown; I can't say they made an examination; my wife told me they said she was in a bad state of health; Dr. Beer said, as also the other, that she must soon die; Dr. O'Brien once certified as to her state of health, which he called a "third class life;" I remember an injection being used after the consultation; I don't know what she was suffering from; she said that the Doctors told her that she was not pregnant, that she had a gathering in the side; Dr. Beer also told me the same thing; they ordered the injection; it was tried; they did not say, "We will try the injection first, and then after we will make an examination;" there was a small box of instruments left at my house for the purpose; I used them in passing the injection; Dr. Beer directed how the mixture should be made up, and told me how to use it; I don't know that she has been suffering from a complaint of the cancer of the vagina; I have heard Dr. Beer say she had a gathering in the stomach; Dr. Smith saw her; Dr. Catlett was called to see her; my wife told me Dr. Catlett had called, and that she explained her illness to him; at my request he called to speak of her confinement; this was after the Thursday Dr. Beer demanded the policy from me, and about a month before the 10th February; I don't remember what my wife said; she said she was under the impression that she was going to die in two months, and that she wanted to know what Dr. Catlett said; my wife had a fright and said she had had a succession of frights; first from the horse kicking my son, and again that a dog had frightened her the same day; she felt poorly, and I went to see Dr. Catlett; I can't say whether I went to Dr. Catlett the day before or after; he did not visit more than once; I was not at home when Dr. Beer went to the bedroom; when I came home he was sitting at the table; when about leaving the house he told my wife to use the suppositories every three hours; I gave the box to her; she used them; I did not read the prescription or label; since yesterday I have conversed with my wife about the case; I have not asked her anything to guide me in my evidence; I did not speak to her with reference to the evidence she had given; when Dr. Beer came to me on the Thursday my wife had not recovered; when I returned home I found her on the sofa; she had been up but her health was not so good as on the previous Sunday; when at the bonded store he swore he would destroy the effect of both policies unless I gave him one; he said nothing about the complaint under which my wife was laboring; sometime after Dr. Greenaway called, and about November last year Dr. Beer said my wife would not live; I never heard him say he should not like to attend her alone; alone; up to the time Dr. Beer told my wife she would not live she was in general good health, but after, her spirits were depressed; I never before used or saw anything like these suppositories; my wife never told me she had previously used medicines in this way; she might have suffered months before; had it not been for that threat I should never have suspected he had a design on Mrs. Brown's life; my wife told me Dr. Beer called the third day after the Thursday; I merely stated at the Societies what Dr. Beer said; it was to the effect that Dr. Beer said he would destroy the effect of the policies; Dr. Beer told my wife and myself some two months ago, that the only relief she could get would be in laudanum; I have given her as many as eight or ten drops; he has not often given prescriptions; he sometimes brought the medicines in his pocket; she never told me she was under the influence of chloroform; I was not present when any operation was performed when she was under the influence of anything; she told me about six months ago, and after the first policy, that Dr. Beer had removed a small wart, which Dr. Tierney had said he would remove, or recommended to be removed, three years ago; she did not say where; she said in the private parts somewhere; I am not aware that she suffered extreme pains from that; she said it was no inconvenience to her, but Dr. Beer wanted to take it off; I am not aware of any other operation in that quarter; I never spoke to Dr. Beer with reference to it.

George Brown, on oath, states:—I am son of the last witness; on Sunday, the 10th February last, I remember receiving from my father this prescription to take to Mr. Elliott's, chemist, in George-street; I took it to Mr. Elliott's; the gentleman to whom I gave it is now in Court; he made it up; he gave me a box, containing some pills; I counted five as he put them in; I took them home and gave them to my father.

By Mr. Roberts: My father read the label when I gave it to him; I am certain he read it; he said the chemist had charged too much, and he would go and see the chemist about it; I can't remember what he said to my mother; he did not say to my mother that she was to take one every three hours, if required; I heard my mother speaking to my father about the label on the box a couple of days after we had the box in the house; I heard her mention the word "label," and that's all; my mother did not ask to see the box when it was brought in; I did not hear my mother say anything about these pills; it was not in her reach when in bed; about six months ago I know that my mother was ill; the servants had to lift her from her bed into the chair; I think she was in bed for about seven days, about three or four months ago; she has been complaining to my father about feeling very ill, about once in two months, for the last twelve months.

Re-examined: When I received the box from the chemist's it had a piece of paper round it; my father and mother were sitting at the tea table; she had her usual dress on.

Michael George Brown, recalled, states:—Beside the four Insurance Offices mentioned, application was made for Insurance at the Liverpool and London Fire and Life Insurance Office; the application was made at the request of Dr. Beer; the document produced, marked I, is signed by Dr. Beer; this was done before the application to the "Alliance;" Mrs. Brown went with me to the Manager, Mr. Lee, who refused to insure Mrs. Brown's life alone; after that, we went to the "Alliance;" I think it was after the application to the "Monarch."

By Mr. Roberts: I have been married about 13 years; I know my eldest child is 15; I can't say how long I have been married; my wife had children before she was married to me; she had one child; that child lived. In November or December last, my wife, Dr. Beer, and myself, went to the "Black Swan," to a Mr. Carroll, recommending Dr. Beer as a medical man; Dr. Beer requested myself and wife to get him Mr. Carroll as a patient; I heard Dr. Beer say her tongue was half off; he did not say it was cancer; I did not mention what Mrs. Brown was laboring under; I did not mention that Mrs. Brown had undergone an operation; I said that Dr. Beer had been attending our family successfully, and that he was worthy to be recommended; I spoke in general terms of his ability; I did not say my wife had been cured of a similar disease; prior to that my wife had had the wart taken off; I don't remember saying anything in reference to that operation; I can't state one sentence of what then occurred; my wife spoke, but of what I don't know; something was said by everyone present; what it was I don't know; I don't remember the landlady of the house introducing my wife as a person who had just recovered from a similar complaint in another part of her person; I am quite certain I did not read the label on the box; I can't recollect whether my wife was at the table when the box was brought in; I have no recollection of there being a wrapper on the box; I opened the box and saw the contents; I remember hearing my wife say she had taken a mustard emetic; on the Monday evening she was very ill; from the 10th to the 17th she was ill; when I went home on the Thursday after the 10th I found my wife in bed; I don't remember her being up that evening; I never applied any instrument, except an enema, which was charged with an injection; I never saw or used any other instrument; I only used the injection instrument once; the papers produced, marked I and K, are both in Dr. Beer's handwriting; the document I is witnessed by me.

By the Bench: I am older than my wife, about seven years; I have been in this Colony since 1840; I have no other interest in the life of my wife than that dictated by love and affection; I can't say whether she is a legatee under a will; I am not aware that she has a life annuity; I never attempted to insure the life of myself or wife, before defendant recommended; on one occasion my wife told me that by insuring her life it would be a great boon to her; on one occasion Dr. Beer said he would be the medical referee; I believed all he said, and had confidence in his treatment; when he told me my wife would die I believed him, knowing her constitution was impaired; I have no recollection of being present when these certificates were written, nor do I remember seeing them after they were written; I won't swear I did not see them; he never asked me any questions as to how he was to answer the questions; the certificate to the proposal to the "Monarch" produced, marked I, is signed by me; I am sure I did not read it before I signed it; I witnessed the signature only; I know of no interest which he had in the life of my wife.

Frederick William Elliott, on oath, states:—I am a druggist carrying on business in George-street, Sydney; the prescription produced was brought to me by Mr. Brown's son; I made up the drug according to the prescription; it contains half a drachm of extract of belladonna, 1 drachm of soap,

1 drachm lycopodii, to be mixed together in six equal parts in suppositories; the suppositories produced appear to be some of those I made; the label on the box produced is in my handwriting; the box I delivered to the boy is now produced.

By Mr. Roberts: I might have made up a prescription of morphia and belladonna, but I don't recollect it; I never made up a pill containing two grains of belladonna with one of morphia; I should not make such a pill up without consulting the medical man who gave the prescription; the largest quantity I have known to be given in a dose was about a quarter of a grain; I don't know the difference the belladonna would have by being given internally, inserted as a suppository, or externally.

*Mr. Henry Beit, on oath, saith as follows:—*Our firm are the agents for the "Monarch Insurance;" about the end of November the papers produced were sent to me by Dr. Beer; the applications were sent for by Dr. Beer; he afterwards sent them filled up; I wrote to say that it would be necessary for the applicant to attend in person, and Mrs. Brown and Dr. Beer called at our office; I asked Dr. Beer if he understood the full purport of the questions in this proposal for insurance; he said he did, and I went over each question with them, and a little addition was made as to a referee; I read him over the declaration, and asked him if it was all true; he said it was; I asked him most particularly as to Mrs. Brown's health, and whether it was as he had stated, that she had nothing the matter with her; whereupon he said she had had nothing but erysipelas in the face, and that she was pregnant; I explained to him also that he must have a bonâ fide interest, and I asked him whether he had any interest in the life of Mrs. Brown; he explained to me that he had advanced some moneys to Mr. Brown, that he had attended his family, and never received any recompense, that he had a kindly feeling towards the family, and was satisfied with taking a policy of insurance on Mrs. Brown's life; he stated Mrs. Brown was deaf; she was present when the questions were asked and answered; the proposal was for seven years; I explained to him that that was not an interest on which a life assurance could be based; after seeing my father I wrote to Dr. Beer, requesting his attendance again; he called when my father was not in; he wanted to know if he could not as well speculate on a life assurance as anything else; after consulting with my father I wrote to defendant, declining to entertain the proposal; Dr. Beer wished to know whether Mrs. Brown's life could not be insured by her husband, and legally transferred to him (Dr. Beer); I told him it might be done; an application was made for a proposal, which was sent and returned to us filled up, but the matter being of a suspicious nature it would not be entertained.

Mr. Roberts: I believe I asked Mrs. Brown one or two questions as to her state of health; she confirmed Dr. Beer's statements; she said nothing when Dr. Beer made reference to moneys he had advanced to her husband; she appeared to be very deaf.

*Mr. Charles Pearson Pritchard, on oath, states:—*I am of the firm of Were and Pritchard; we are the agents of the Alliance Life Insurance Company; I remember a proposal for insurance for the life of Mrs. Brown being made about 18th December; the papers came before me on 24th December; Dr. Beer was medical referee; between 5th and 12th February last I had a conversation with Dr. Beer; he called on me; I asked him his name; he said Dr. Beer; he asked if I intended to issue the policy to Mr. Brown; I told him I declined to know him in the matter, and that I considered he had no right to ask me any questions; I told him the matter had been referred to solicitors on both sides, and it was not etiquette for him to come and ask me any questions; he said, "I am the holder of the policy, and will make you give it to me;" Dr. Beer then produced a receipt and said, "All I want to know is, is that your receipt or not?" After looking at it carefully I told him it was not my receipt but my clerk's, and that the clerk had no right to give it; he said, if I denied it he would indict the clerk for obtaining money under false pretences; I referred him to Messrs. Johnson and Johnson, our solicitors; our clerk witnessed the signature to the proposal; proceedings have been threatened us; knowing that Brown was only a locker in the Customs, with a salary of £300 a-year, and knowing that he had insured in two other offices, and our medical referee not being satisfied, I declined to grant the policy.

By Mr. Roberts: Dr. O'Brien was our medical referee; he reported to us in writing; I did not speak to him with reference to Mrs. Brown; in his certificate he spoke of her general bad health, and spoke of her as being a third class life; we have taken third class lives, but it is not our general rule; exceptions have been made; if we knew cancer had existed we should reject the proposal for insurance.

*Mr. Robert Thomson, on oath, states:—*I am Secretary to the Mutual Provident Society; Mrs. Brown's life has been insured in our office; the papers produced relate to the insurance; Dr. Beer was medical referee; since that insurance I have seen him in my office about three times; about 2nd January last I saw him with reference to an insurance in the "Alliance" Office; he stated he had insured in that office the life of a person who owed him money, and in whom he had an interest; he stated he had obtained a receipt for the money, and could not get the policy; he asked me my opinion as to whether he could get the policy; I told him a great deal would depend on the receipt; this occurred in general conversation.

By Mr. Roberts: The policy in our office was effected in Mr. Brown's name at their request; I suggested it should be in Mrs. Brown's name.

*Mr. George Robinson Elliott, on oath, states:—*I am a Member of the College of Surgeons, London, and am a duly qualified Medical Practitioner; I am now trading as a druggist in George-street; I have a brother a dispenser in my establishment; he thoroughly understands his business; the prescription produced I have seen here before; I never saw belladonna applied internally, per rectum; I heard Mrs. Brown's evidence; I have reason to believe she was suffering from piles, and in that that case belladonna would not be a proper medicine applied internally; if belladonna were applied internally as a suppository it would have the same effect as administered by the mouth; in this instance it would act on the fœtus as well as the mother; five grains of belladonna is considered to be a poisonous dose, and in this case it would be poisoning by belladonna; abortion, of course, would be produced afterwards; in this case it did not appear that abortion should be resorted to; lycopodium is one of the fern mosses used to promote menses, also to procure abortion by Perria's authority; Gray's work produced is an authority; our belladonna is a genuine drug; Dr. Beer never spoke to me with reference to our medicines.

By Prisoner: In speaking of five grains as being a poisonous dose I rely on authorities; Brathwaite is not an authority; of morphia one grain to sixty drops are given in a solution; morphia might be pushed up to four or five grains, but belladonna not more than one grain, and then with care; I use belladonna in an ointment for piles externally; I would not use it for inward piles, because I should be afraid of its being absorbed into the system; conium is weaker than belladonna; I never heard of belladonna being given or used to procure abortion; belladonna acts on the fœtus; a small dose of laudanum would not hurt a pregnant woman; belladonna has a different action to ergot of rye or savin; I never read of doses of ten grains; a very large quantity of drugs come out to this Colony adulterated, and I have no doubt that an ounce of some of the belladonna sent out here might be eaten without danger; to produce abortion I would resort to mechanical means; belladonna might be used in cancerous diseases; I have not used it in that matter, nor have I seen it so used; I never saw belladonna given in a larger quantity than half a grain; I never saw it used as a suppository; I have not known belladonna used as an antidote to laudanum; I have not heard of an ounce of tincture of belladonna used at one time with effect; I don't know of any case of rheumatic fever where a dose of eight grains of belladonna have been given every twenty-four hours; Thompson is a compilation of other opinions; I don't think the climate has any effect on belladonna.

Defence.

*Arnauld Nicolas Lassus, on oath, states:—*I am a legally qualified Medical Practitioner of this Colony; I know for what purposes belladonna is applied; it is applied to rheumatic fever and sundry diseases; it is sometimes used internally and by suppositories; I should not use it myself by suppository; I should use it according to the degree of the disease; I should begin with a small dose; I have read books shewing where belladonna may be taken from one to five grains every twenty-four hours, internally, and in that manner I should give it; I have commenced by giving the eighth of a grain and gone on gradually, and have increased it up to five grains by degrees; the greatest dose I have heard given was fifteen grains in a case of confinement, in one ointment round the womb; belladonna is not frequently employed in that way; I know it is not recommended to be used in cases of abortion; ergot of rye is used in such cases; belladonna is used in ointments; to a person in good health you may begin at half a grain and continue up to five or six grains; in some cases ten grains will do no harm; in a case of severe rheumatic fever I know of ten grains having been given without effect one way or the other; if the dose is large enough, and placed near the womb, it would have a tendency to produce abortion; it is used for spasmodic affections of the rectum; as a suppository it would depend on the nature and degree of the irritation, and the suppository regulated according to the irritation; if a suppository were not well introduced some of it would escape; the best judge of the quantity necessary to be given as doses or suppositories would be the medical attendant, and according to the age of the patient and nature of the constitution, and various circumstances; I could administer belladonna to fight against the stricture of the rectum, but should begin with a very small dose, but in a case of cancer I should apply it to the part itself; I never heard of an instance of belladonna causing a miscarriage; it has some specific properties against some diseases,—for instance, scarlatina, but it is not yet properly determined; I don't know that it is sometimes used as a pain-alleviating composing drug; it is used in many cases externally; I am not aware of its properties.

By Mr. Stephen: I know Dr. Beer as a colleague; I don't talk German; I have not had any conversation with him about this case; I know a drug called lycopodium; it has an effect to procure abortion.

Re-examined: In cases of pregnancy it would tend to procure abortion; when used in a suppository the effect would be less; I don't know of any case where used in a suppository, or what its effects would be.

*George Robinson Elliott recalled, states:—*In addition to what is mentioned in the prescription it is allowable, to make a consistency, to use gum; I have now weighed one of these suppositories, and find it weighs twenty-eight grains, being three grains over the prescription; weighing another, I find it is a grain and a-half over weight; the third does not weigh the twenty-five grains; I heard Dr. Beer now say that he had taken twice the quantity as was now here.

With the permission of the Court one of the suppositories was cut in two, and the defendant, without the permission of the Court, swallowed it, and said he had frequently taken double the quantity.

*John Cornelius Horner, on oath, states:—*I am a chemist and druggist, and have dispensed from defendant's prescriptions; I was once his assistant; I know cases where he ordered extract of belladonna in his prescriptions, to be used as an ointment; I have seen the particular effects of belladonna on a patient; some of the prescriptions in the book produced were written by me, at Dr. Beer's dictation; he kept a druggist's shop, and sometimes took the medicine out himself; on 1st July I find, on reference to this book, the prescription for twelve morphia pills for Mrs. Brown; on 3rd August I find a prescription for morphia and conium pills for Mrs. Brown, of Cumberland-street; speaking from recollection I think there was half a grain of morphia in each pill; on 18th September I find belladonna dressings for Mrs. Brown; on November 10th I find entered an emetic, a morphine solution, to be taken as directed; there is a difference between belladonna dressings and the ointment; the dressing dressing is used after the application of a blister; on 12th January, 1855, I find an entry of twelve leeches, a blister, and a belladonna dressing for Mrs. Brown; February 1st,—Bi-chlorid of mercury in pills—one visit—operation; on 14th I find an entry of six pills of morphia for Mrs. Brown; April 4th,—solution of morphia, three drachms; water sufficient, ounce and a half; a teaspoon-full for a dose when the pain is excessive; on 24th April, 1855, I find an entry of a belladonna dressing; looking at the composition of the prescription I should say it was for a suppository; I made it up in this instance, like the suppositories produced; it went out in bulk in this particular prescription; I know that about five grains of belladonna have been used as a suppository; I know that one patient called repeatedly for them; on 11th May, 1855, there is an entry of morphia pills for Mrs. Brown; on 5th May there is an entry of belladonna dressings for Mrs. Brown; there were two dressings.

By Mr. Stephen: I have been in this Colony about four years; I was in defendant's service on 20th February, 1854; I remained with him about eighteen months.

*Isaac Aaron, Esquire, on oath, states:—*I am a duly qualified Medical Practitioner; I was present when Mrs. Brown gave her evidence; in my opinion at the time she stated she obtained relief she was suffering from piles or prolapse; the effect of belladonna in case of stricture would afford relief if properly administered; if the pains were excessive it would depend on circumstances whether five grains would be too much; the medical attendant would be the best judge; I never saw a man swallow a suppository; supposing the stomach were empty and the suppository of five grains taken by the mouth, and it being of a soluble character, in about half an hour the effect would be the usual symptoms of an over-dose—supposing always the extract were of the quality; I have now felt Dr. Beer's pulse and examined his eye, and cannot find any of the symptoms; belladonna is used occasionally in nervous disorders; it is a narcotic and sedative; it might be applied in violent spasmodic affections, but carefully; I know it is used in plaisters; I have not used it in that form, but I have in other forms; I never knew belladonna used as a suppository; in tetanus and hydrophobia enormous quantities have been taken, and, in pains of the womb and rectum, applied to the parts; I have very little experience in the internal use of it; in neuralgia I have read of two to three grains, and even more, being administered after a certain period; when I looked at the state of the pupil of Dr. Beer's eye I found it acting as usual; if Mrs. Brown was suffering from the pains she described, the use of the suppository of five grains would be calculated to give her relief; I should feel it necessary to give very specific directions, and I should feel it my duty to see my patient, and watch its effects, before I would allow another to be used; "Taylor's Medical Jurisprudence" is a standard work; he does not state belladonna is a substance which has been used in producing abortion; I never heard of its being used for such a purpose; in a late work the dose is mentioned from half a grain to three or four grains, gradually increased; for spasmodic stricture of the rectum it is one of the remedies laid down for relief; and for painful piles I will not undertake to say that, in this case, the use of one of the suppositories of five grains was incorrect; I remember once giving to a patient an ounce and a half of laudanum and half a bottle of brandy, in five hours; that patient was suffering from gout in the stomach; the protrusion of the piles might have been caused by the spasm of the rectum; I cannot undertake to say whether, in a case of a person suffering from cancer of the vagina, any portion of the suppository would escape; by administering the suppository by the mouth I should say its effects would be sooner felt.

By Mr. Stephen: I am not in the habit of administering belladonna; I don't like it; the difficulty in its use is the uncertainty of its strength; I have never heard of its being used to produce abortion; if used with proper caution, I don't think its effect on a pregnant woman would be greater than on any other woman.

By the Bench: I have read the prescription produced, and I have seen the label on the box; I heard Mrs. Brown's evidence, and in any case it was not proper to leave her as described; it is my opinion that the poison must go through the whole system of the mother before reaching the fetus, and would destroy the mother in the first instance; this medicine would not have a tendency to produce abortion, in my opinion; in this case I should say the fetus was affected by the belladonna, and in my opinion it must have killed the mother before the child.

N. 11 § 12 Vic., Cap. 42.—Statement of the Accused.

City of Sydney, }
To wit.

FREDERICK BEER stands charged before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace in and for the City and Colony aforesaid, the 5th, 6th, 7th, 10th, and 11th days of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, for that he the said Frederick Beer, on the 10th day of February, 1856, at Sydney, in the said Colony, feloniously and unlawfully did administer to, and cause to be taken by, one Phillis Brown, a large quantity of a certain noxious thing called belladonna, to wit, half a drachm of the said noxious thing called belladonna, with intent then and there, and thereby, to procure the miscarriage of one Phillis Brown; and the said charge being read to the said Frederick Beer, and the witnesses for the prosecution being severally examined in his presence, the said Frederick Beer is now addressed by me as follows:—"Having heard the evidence, do you wish to say anything in answer to the charge? You are not obliged to say anything unless you desire to do so; but whatever you say will be taken down in writing, and may be given in evidence against you upon your trial." Whereupon the said Frederick Beer saith as follows:—

I have acted to the best of my knowledge in this particular case, and have acted for the welfare of Mrs. Brown; I don't remember making mistakes; this is a dose I have applied over and over again in this country with beneficial results, and never knew any dangerous symptoms arising from that cause, but I have always found it the most effective means of avoiding impending dangers, and instead of causing a miscarriage it was the means of preventing one; if I have made an error in the policy I have transgressed; I have always acted for Mrs. Brown's welfare; I never foretold the woman's death to her face, but mentioned to her husband I had a presentiment; I have acted on the best authorities, German and French.

ALLIANCE BRITISH AND FOREIGN LIFE AND FIRE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Report of the Company's Medical Examiner at Sydney, respecting the health of Mrs. Phillis Brown.

The Medical Examiner will request the person he examines to write his or her name.

1. Name	Mrs. Phillis Brown.
2. What is the general appearance of the person? Is there any peculiarity of manner?	Somewhat delicate, with slight eruption on her face. Has suffered from deafness for about 11 years.
3. Is the state of health perfect, so far as you can ascertain; and if not, in what does the deviation from health consist?	She has the appearance of delicate health, and about a year since had an attack of erysipelas of the face, since when the skin of the face is liable to eruption.
4. Has the person suffered from rheumatism, (acute or chronic), gout, fits of any kind, insanity, congestion or inflammation of any important organ, spitting of blood, or other hemorrhage, rupture, piles, urinary affection, or from any other form of disease tending to shorten life?	She has not suffered from any of these affections.
If any of the above conditions form part of the person's history, state to what extent they have existed, and to what extent also you consider the constitution involved
5. Is the heart's action healthy, and proportionate to the pulse?	It is.
6. Is the chest well formed, and resonant throughout on percussion? Does stethoscopic examination prove the respiratory murmur natural, and do the infra-clavicular regions more especially, answer to the above conditions?	The chest is well-proportioned and resonant. The respiratory murmur is natural, and the infra-clavicular regions answer to the conditions mentioned.
7. (If the party be a female). Is she married, or a widow, or a spinster? .. (If married or a widow). Has she borne children; and if so, how many, and did she suffer more than is usual in her confinements?	She is married. She has borne four children, and she states that her confinements are good, but that she is weak for some time afterwards. She had two miscarriages, one nine years and the other seven years since, but has had two living children since the last miscarriage.
Has she ever miscarried, and does she now suffer from the consequences?
Is she pregnant?	She is now pregnant.
8. Having perused the proposal and the replies of the referees, do you consider this an unexceptionable life for assurance?	Judging more from my own observations than from the replies of the referees, I think the applicant a person of delicate health, and her life would require to be classed as a "third-class" life.

Dated this 22nd day of December, 1855.

B. O'BRIEN, M.D.

NOTE.—Should the medical examiner detect any special feature in the case, concerning which information might not be elicited by the foregoing queries, he is requested to make such addition to this report as he may consider desirable for the guidance of the Directors.

Proposal No. 383.

No. 1.

Proposal and Declaration for Assurance.

I, Michael George Brown, of Sydney, New South Wales, of H. M. Customs, being desirous of becoming a member of the Australian Mutual Provident Society, by making an assurance on the life of Mrs. Phillies Brown, née Collins, my wife, in the sum of one thousand pounds, payable in the event of her death, whenever the same may happen, by half-yearly premiums, do hereby declare and set forth that that she was born in Burwash, in the county of Sussex, England, on the first day of January, 1827, and that her age consequently does not exceed twenty-nine years; that she has had either the small-pox or the cow-pox; that she is now in good health, does ordinarily enjoy good health; and that there is no circumstance rendering an assurance on her life more than usually hazardous with which the Directors of the said Society ought to be made acquainted.

And I hereby agree that the basis of the contract for the proposed assurance between me and the said Society shall be this proposal and declaration, together with her personal statement, to be made to one of the medical referees of the said Society; and the particulars which may be stated by Dr. Beer, her medical attendant usually and of late; and Mr. Peter William Flower, Castlereagh-street South, a private friend, who has known her intimately since about twelve years ago; or Mr. Thomas George Watson, of H. M. Customs; and Sergeant Major L. Moore, Castlereagh-street South, and who are fully competent to give satisfactory and complete information respecting her habits, conformation, and general health; and that if any untrue averment be contained therein, or should there be any fraudulent concealment of important particulars, any policy granted upon this proposal shall be null and void, and all moneys which may have been paid to the Society on account of the assurance so effected, shall be forfeited to them. And I hereby declare my adhesion to the rules and regulations of the said Society.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, this second day of June, 1855.

MR. MARKHAM,

MR. MORRICE,
MR. DICK.

MERION MORIARTY, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Frederick Beer, M.D., called in and examined:—

4. By the Chairman: Dr. Beer, this Committee have met for the purpose of investigating into a Petition presented to the House, connected with your case, from the inhabitants of Braidwood. The sixth paragraph of that Petition states:—"That from circumstances which have transpired since the said conviction, your Petitioners have good reason to believe that the said Frederick Beer was not guilty of the offence for which he was so convicted; and that evidence, which was not forthcoming at the trial of the said Frederick Beer, and which could not have then been obtained, but which can now be produced, will prove that he was not guilty of such offence, and that he was therefore wrongfully convicted." It is for you now to satisfy this Committee that that allegation is true? I will do so. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, being a foreigner, I have to beg your permission to employ legal assistance, to bring forward those proofs in the proper order. If you will have the goodness to allow me legal assistance, I have spoken to Mr. Deane. (Witness was requested to withdraw. Committee deliberated. Witness re-introduced.)

Frederick
Beer, M.D.
20 Nov., 1861.

5. By the Chairman: Dr. Beer, in answer to the question you put to the Committee, I have to inform you that you have a right to have your attorney sitting alongside of you, to give you his advice whenever you wish to appeal to him for it, but that if you want him to address the Committee or to examine any witnesses who may be brought, you must present a memorial to the House, in order to obtain permission so to do? May I confer with my solicitor, who is waiting?

6. Certainly. You can have him alongside you, to consult with him on any matter you wish, but he is not to address the Committee? I think that will be sufficient. (Witness having retired for a few minutes, returned, accompanied by Mr. Deane.) I beg to have him here as my adviser.

7. To sit alongside of you? Yes.

8. Very well; you can do that. What line of conduct do you mean to pursue with respect to the allegations contained in the sixth paragraph of the Petition from Braidwood? There being three classes of evidence against me, I mean to repudiate each of them by itself. There are the principal witnesses, which are the Browns; there are the medical witnesses, that is the second; and thirdly, there is that of the Insurance Companies. I beg to repudiate each by themselves, and so to bring the matters out clearer.

- Frederick Beer, M.D.
20 Nov., 1861.
9. Then are you prepared to shew any evidence now which was not forthcoming at the trial on these points? I am. As the principal evidence which had been against me—the Browns'—was misleading the others, not only the medical witnesses, but misleading the Court and the Jury, I must begin to repudiate that, which I will do, with your permission. I stated so at my trial, that it was my intent, not only to prove disease when she said she was a healthy woman, but that she and her husband were utterly unworthy of belief, but I was prevented. I was prevented from calling any of my witnesses, although they had been subpoenaed, and were waiting in Court.
10. Well, then, how do you mean to begin? I have made a statement—a true statement, which I am able to corroborate, or substantiate, by various witnesses, if you will allow me to read it to you.
11. To read what? The statement which I have prepared, shewing everything in connection with the Insurance Companies, and —
12. You wish to put that statement in? In evidence; or to read it over, so that you can see at once the line I mean to adopt, and whether I have any reasonable expectations or not. If I can substantiate what I have here, it will be self-evident that I make my case out fully.
13. Well, sir, you can commence? Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen,—This statement was not drawn out as evidence; it was prepared for my legal adviser; but I give it now as evidence, because I am not frightened about the truth. Mrs. Phillis Brown was one of my first patients I attended in Sydney, after commencing practice there in 1853. She had been attended before that time by several medical men, who had treated her for scirrhus of the vagina and womb—(I have references to Dr. Salter and Dr. Smith)—but without success. At first I, too, looked upon her disease as scirrhus, and even after I had cause to change my mind I left her impressed with the same belief, as she continually accused her husband as the cause of her sufferings, and repeatedly expressed her determination to leave him if that was the case. She constantly urged me to operate upon her, preferring even death to the state she was then in. The morbid growths consisted of a great number of cockscomb-like excrescences upon the lips of the vagina, and entering for about two and a half inches within that part. The tout ensemble resembled very much a bunch of cauliflowers growing over an orifice, with deep incisions to its base, ulcerated on the junction of the stems, and bleeding profusely on the slightest occasion. The greater quantity of those supposed fungi were, however, on the right side, some of them fully two inches long, and very painful to the touch, or while walking. She was, moreover, very deaf. For a long time I did not venture to comply with her request to operate, but treated her externally with a gold preparation, for which they themselves supplied me with the pure material. Internally I administered to her, at the same time, corrosive sublimate, in the form of Dzondi's mercurial pills, upon the recommendation of Dr. Gigax, who states that the priests in Persia used it as a specific in similar cases, that is, with a view to eradicate the cankerous dyscrasis of the blood by an amalgam being formed and brought into circulation through the morbid depositions. (Here is Mrs. Brown's evidence at the trial; she speaks of golden pills in her evidence; and there is the evidence given at the Police Court by the chemist who dispensed the drugs.) The same plan I adopted with Mrs. Carroll affected with cancer of the tongue, to whom Mrs. Brown had recommended me as having been cured by me of a similar disease. (She mentions in her evidence that she went with me to Mrs. Carroll, of the "Black Swan," to recommend me; and her husband states in evidence that she had been affected with a cancer of the tongue, and they recommended me there as having cured her of a similar disease. That you will find in her own evidence.) Gaining no progress, but the morbid appearances at the same time not increasing, and being still urged by her to operate, I went with her to consult Dr. Bland about it, who said it would be madness to do so, as in the event she would most likely bleed to death. (Dr. Bland did not recollect at the trial the circumstances, but both the husband and the wife admit in their evidence at the trial that they went with me there for consultation.) Seeing, however, what I considered secondary symptoms of syphilis breaking out on her skin (the prickly heat which Mrs. Brown mentions in her evidence all over her body), coupled with her obstinate belief of her husband being the cause of her illness, and having myself treated Mr. Brown for chancre as well as for gonorrhœa, I already differed from Dr. Bland's and Dr. Salter's opinion as to the nature of her disease, but henceforth thought I had to deal with an obstinate syphilitic case, and looked upon the fungi as enormous syphilitic pointed condylomes. I adopted once more an energetic anti-syphilitic treatment, by continuing internally the administration of corrosive sublimate, and externally again, the application of gold in a chemically fine reduced state. At last I took courage and operated on her, with the assistance of chloroform, on three different occasions. My proofs are Dr. Salter and George Russel.
14. By the Chairman: Who was present? Nobody. Dr. Salter and George Russel, the son—which was sworn to be the son—and Mrs. Hickey, were aware of it.
15. What medical man was present while you performed that operation? None.
16. None? None.
17. And in Sydney? In Sydney. I operated three times with chloroform. I have amputated legs from the thighs, with chloroform, without assistance.
18. But did you do that in any place where another medical man could be obtained? It was not required.
19. That is a matter of opinion, of course; I am of opinion that it is required? No doubt I might have got assistance in Sydney, but up the country you have to do many things where you cannot get one.
20. A capital operation should never be performed without a second medical man being present? Dr. Salter, George Russel, and Mrs. Hickey, are the persons who know that I operated on her.

21. By Mr. Morrice: Then this Dr. Salter knew afterwards? Dr. Salter, she said, had been attending for two years on her, and could do nothing; and when she was better she called him in and promised to shew him she was well—from mere boast.

Frederick
Beer, M.D.

22. He saw she had been operated on? Dr. Salter said he was astonished she was alive, and so on. I removed with the knife the largest of the lumps, clipped away others with the scissors. To some I applied the ligature, and some of the smallest died away gradually and dropped off. During one of these operations I was obliged to call in Mr. Brown to assist me to stop the bleeding, while I sent for some croosote and caustic.

20 Nov., 1861.

23. By the Chairman: Who is Mr. Brown? Her husband, if he be her husband. During all this period however, and during great part of her pregnancy, one place in the abdomen, in the region of the right ovarium (in her stomach), was always very painful to the touch, and she often endured the greatest agonies in her right hip. (She makes an allusion to the gathering. Mrs. Brown gives in evidence that Dr. Grenauer came to her, after consulting on her state said she could not live forty-eight hours. A clyster was applied—she said she had a gathering in the right side.) Fully for eighteen months her husband slept upon the sofa apart from her, and was ordered by me to have no connection with her—upon her own repeated request—as it caused great pain and extensive bleeding from the parts. Her general health was then very bad. She was very delicate, and the state of her blood very poor. She often fainted in her arm chair, and with the pains in her hip could scarcely stand for weeks. (My references are Mrs. Hickey, the nurse; Mrs. Cole, a neighbour; and her son, George Russel, or George Brown.) Very gradually only she recovered in strength; but when otherwise convalescent her motions became very costive, and the evacuation of the fæces extremely difficult and painful.

24. The what? The evacuation of the fæces. When she was becoming well she had great bearing down pains in passing the fæcal matter, which was streaked with blood and matter. An examination of her bowels shewed at first only great soreness within. (There was so much matter from the other part, when that healed up, I could not account for it, but at last I found it came from the rectum, but hereafter gradually was formed such a formidable stricture in the bowels, within one inch and a half of the orifice, that the passage through the stricture retained at last scarcely the diameter of a small lead-pencil, in consequence of which I was frequently obliged to use bougies with her, and those of a small calibre—not even of that thickness. (Witness held in his hand a quill pen, to which he referred in illustration of the calibre of the bougie.) To prevent the bowels from being too constipated she used constantly brimstone and treacle. I have, as references, Dr. Redhead, who examined her twelve months after my conviction. He was called in, and he will tell you under what circumstances. She subsequently called in Dr. Redhead, and Dr. Williams was called in in consultation. As to the using of bougies, there is their son who knows that they had them for months in the house—a whole box of them—for her use; and there is Mr. Brown's (her husband's) own admission in the Police Court, that Dr. Greenaway said she had a stricture in the bowels. Here is an extract from Mr. Brown's evidence at the Police Court:—He said, in November or December of last year, Dr. Beer and a foreign doctor called at his house, and, in the course of conversation, both said that Mrs. Brown was in a bad state of health, and that she would soon die. They also stated that she had a stricture in the bowels; an injection was applied soon after. It was stated by Pritchard at the trial that our medical referee reported unfavourably, but that no life would be accepted where it was known that a cancer had ever existed, and in the reply of the Crown Prosecutor—Mr. Holroyd—he said "How could business be carried on if medical men gave clean bills of health and made such false statements as Dr. Beer had made?"—shewing that at the time the woman was diseased. It was commented on by the public papers before the trial, that she was diseased, although she was represented as a healthy woman at the trial. But one day after getting wet, I found the passage entirely obstructed from the irritation of the rectum, the mucous membrane within the stricture being swollen, and the fæces and gas or air accumulating above the stricture, and extending her abdomen to an alarming extent, tympanitically; I then took Dr. Grenauer to consult with me. We agreed to try, as a last resource, to form a preternatural anus, by cutting from above the stricture, in the bowels, and through it into the vagina, and so to form a cloak, as existing in female birds naturally (instead of separately entering out of the body they unite within); but before carrying out our resolution we tried a strong clyster of laudanum, part of which passed above the stricture, while the rest was rejected. (Mrs. Brown's evidence.) This had the desired effect, a great deal of wind and fæcal matter passing away. The abdomen sank, and with it ceased the pain. She was relieved, and perhaps her life was saved. About September, 1855, she stated to me her belief of being pregnant, which I thought very improbable, on account of the region about the ovarium being still so very tender, and not thinking her husband had had access to her; but when afterwards I was convinced of the fact, by auscultation (hearing the beat of the child's heart in my ears, which is the only sure proof of pregnancy), I was somewhat alarmed about her ultimate delivery; knowing that during that time she would have to encounter an extra amount of danger from hemorrhage. I may have stated to them my apprehensions, but never predicted that she could not survive, nor did I speak of any necessity of causing abortion, or of crushing the child's head in the act of confinement, as from the state of her health and the nature of the medicines supplied to conquer the disease, I could fully rely on the child not being in a very forward state, but sickly and small, if coming to maturity, and that it would not survive its birth many weeks, which proved to be correct, it dying six weeks after birth. As pregnancy advanced she suffered much with the pain in her right hip (of this I have the evidence of Mrs. Hickey, her nurse.) She took anodyne remedies almost constantly—either morphia or laudanum—of which Mrs. Brown had large quantities in the house (the three ounce bottle of laudanum, which is mentioned in the evidence evidence was not supplied by me), or otherwise narcotics supplied by me, and when these were insufficient to give relief she had extract of belladonna applied endermically, as a dressing on blisters, simply as a pain-relieving remedy, according to Trousseau's recommendation. (Here I have John Cornelius Horner's evidence and her's: She makes the admission that she had twice such applications, and I may refer to Blackett's statement in Plagge's Pharmakodynamik, to shew that I acted in accordance with the recommendation of Trousseau—a French authority). About twelve months before she had the suppositories, alleged to have been administered illegally and with a felonious intent, she had quite a similar application. (This will be seen from Mr. Horner's evidence, and the entry in his book 23rd April, 1855.)

25. By the Chairman: After? No, twelve months before, she had similar suppositories.

26. Who were they ordered by? By me.

27. By Mr. Markham: And by whom supplied? By Mr. Horner, the chemist.

28. By the Chairman: By Mr. Horner in William-street? Yes. He was drowned about eighteen months ago. His evidence is here, in the Police Court depositions, to that effect, and that I was in the habit of using suppositories to my patients beneficially. I often used the same before the charge was preferred, and have done so since I regained my liberty, which I can prove. For the former there is Mr. Horner's evidence, and for the latter, Dr. Redhead, who holds a similar prescription given by me for a patient in Araluen. I have always done so with some beneficial effects. The above is a brief outline of Mrs. Brown's real state of health during more than the three years in which I attended her professionally. All the remuneration I ever accepted from the Browns was ten pounds seventeen shillings (£10 17s.), for which she produced the receipt in Court, and which was accredited by Mr. Horner, by whom the books were kept (in my ledger) upon Mrs. Brown's account, the more important details of which were given in by him in evidence, and to which she made an acknowledgment in part (the dressing for blisters on her hip and the production of receipts for payments.) Now, on Sunday, the tenth of February, eighteen hundred and fifty-six, the day on which the prescription for the six suppositories was given, containing each five grains of the extract of belladonna, with the written instructions to introduce one into the bowels if the pain was excessive, and to be repeated every third hour if required, I was suddenly called to see Mrs. Brown, with the least possible delay, as she was in labour. I hastened to her house and found her suffering from slight labour pains, great irritation in the rectum, the sphinctores ani firmly contracted, in addition to her old stricture of old standing, and the perinæum very painful. You will find that fully corroborated in a statement made by Mrs. Brown, on cross-examination. She admitted that she had severe bearing down pains—that she could not stand nor sit—that she thought the hand or foot of the child had lodged in one part. She spoke of the agony she endured all night—of rolling about—of pain from the head to the foot. She was in such agonies that she almost prayed for death. This you will find in her evidence.

29. By the Chairman: Did anybody see her at that time along with you? No, nobody except me.

30. Not about that time? No; she meant to say she thought she was in labour—the mother of five children—and labour commenced before I was called in. Under these circumstances I thought it best, in order to give speedy relief, and with a view to prevent labour coming on, to apply this, the best of all antispasmodic and anodyne remedies, recollecting Trousseau's words, that if we only succeed in removing the pain we find in many cases that the rest of the symptoms disappear from itself. Judging that the premature contractions of the womb were caused sympathetically or as a reflex movement to the irritation existing in the bowels, I hoped, by removing the latter, to cause the former to cease also. The result shewed the correctness of the view, as she was gradually relieved of all the pains complained of, and retained her child until its full age—the miraculous interference of Providence which it was said happened, so that my felonious intent was not carried out! And here is Dr. Brodie's opinion: he says, I can understand that Dr. Beer might have prescribed the use of belladonna with a view to prevent premature labour, but I cannot see how he or anyone else should dream of prescribing it for the purpose of procuring abortion; and yet this is what I was charged with. In answer to Mr. Dowling, the committing Magistrate, when he cautioned me, I told him what I gave it for. Here is my statement:—"Statement of the accused:—I have acted to the best of my knowledge in this particular case" [I was only charged with having given belladonna to procure abortion, and Mr. Singleton said I laughed, but made no reply when he charged me with it.] "and have acted for the welfare of Mrs. Brown; I don't remember making mistakes; this is a dose I have applied over and over again in this country, with beneficial results, and never knew any dangerous symptoms arising from that cause, but I have always found it the most effective means of avoiding impending dangers; and instead of causing miscarriage it was the means of preventing one. If I have made any error in the policy I have transgressed; I have always acted for Mrs. Brown's welfare. I never foretold the woman's death to her face, but mentioned to her husband I had a presentiment. "I have acted on the best authorities, German and French." This is what I said in answer to the committing Magistrate's inquiry whether I had anything to say. I maintain that a more fit remedy to counteract irritation in spasmodically contracted parts (to relax muscular contractions), in a direct or indirect way, could not have been selected, and I would have recourse to it again, under similar circumstances, with my own mother or sister. That this is correct I refer to Pereira, Christison, Thompson, Plagge, Blackett, Oesterlen, and all other authorities of any note, no matter of what country. As regards the quantity, the whole six doses prescribed, if administered at one time, could not have hurt her in any way, as the quantity is even within that recommended by Blackett, even when in a clyster (in a dissolved state), and in bowels not disorganized by disease, much less when given to a patient affected with an organic stricture reducing the area of absorption to one-eighth of its usual size; and when given in solid form, in which state it has first to be dissolved before it can be absorbed, Blackett recommends infusions of from thirty to sixty grains for clysters.

Frederick
Bear, M.D.

31. By the Chairman: Infusion of the extract? Infusion of the root, which is stronger, because, Blackett says, the extract is given—

20 Nov., 1861.

32. Just answer my questions; I do not want to enter into a medical investigation with you, Dr. Beer? Infusion of the powder. Pereira and Christison recommend from one to two drachms of the bare extract to the os uteri. Moreover a suppository remaining in immediate contact with the muscles shutting the bowels, the local effect of a large dose of belladonna would be the relaxation of those muscles, from whence the remainder would pass out. Besides applying belladonna as an anodyne against irritation in the rectum, and rationally to prevent labour pains, I would have been justified to use it on empirical grounds against the stricture itself. Belladonna being a better local anodyne and antispasmodic than opium I gave it the preference, and as an injection would not have been retained, I gave it in a solid form; this is the reason why I gave suppositories. As regards the theory created on the occasion by the medical witnesses produced against me, that belladonna, as administered by me, might kill the child in the womb, it is needless to enter at length thereupon. A knowledge of physiology (I give Dr. Carpenter—an English authority) will shew the impossibility if not absurdity of the idea, and contrary to every day's experience, without being obliged to lean very strongly on the decidedly expressed opinion of Sir Benjamin Brodie; or why does extract of belladonna, administered in large quantities, up to one hundred and twenty grains of the extract, in its pure state, applied directly to the womb—as directed by the best English authorities in protracted and difficult labour, in the vicinity of the os uteri—have not the baneful effect on the child, and poison it or paralyze it? Pereira and Christison recommend from one to two drachms to be applied to the os uteri in cases of difficult labour.

33. By the Chairman: In which of Christison's works is that to be found? In Christison's Dyspeusatory. I had a copy on my trial, lent to me by Dr. M'Kay, which was produced and read before the jury. These are the words:—"From one to five grains is probably a medium dose, but in cases of difficult labour from one to two drachms of the extract is applied to the mouth of the womb."

34. But you are aware that Christison is not an accoucheur? Still he may know of the practice. Pereira is not an accoucheur either, but he was produced as the first authority in medicine against me at the trial—so I use their own weapons against them; not to speak of other German and English authorities.

35. Those are writers on materia medica? Yes.

36. But that is no authority on medicine? If the fact had been known to them that the application would poison the child in the womb, a warning would have been given. They would not recommend such large doses as one hundred and twenty grains in a pure state, applied to the mouth of the womb, if it was capable of poisoning or paralyzing the child within. Why should not hyoscyamus or henbane have the same effect, whose principle is in every respect identical with belladonna, and which is commonly had recourse to in discomforts of pregnant women. As to its being identical, any eminent botanical work will tell you that the effects are quite the same. The only difference between their principles chemists can make out—English and German—is, that one is more soluble in water than the other, just as brown sugar is more soluble than crystallized sugar. Henbane is a popular remedy of every day use—

37. By the Chairman: Nobody doubts that it is in ordinary use by all medical authorities, but that has nothing to do with the use of belladonna? Surely—

38. No, no, sir, you have nothing to do with hyoscyamus in any case that comes before us; you have to deal with belladonna, and it alone? But if I can prove that belladonna and hyoscyamus in their effects are the same—in the same way that pale brandy and dark brandy—

39. You cannot prove anything of the kind? I cannot! I—

40. I will not allow the time of this Committee to be frittered away upon any such discussion? Well, I will give to you the authority. I defy being contradicted in it then.

41. Reason as much as you like about belladonna, but confine your reasoning to that? Why not other narcotics, such as spirits, which in their effects resemble so entirely those of belladonna?—But if it be admitted that the drug has to be absorbed before it can produce any particular results, does it not convince common reason that those dangerous effects must first become apparent in the mother before it can affect the child, who receives its blood through the placenta, after undergoing there, so to say, a double filtration. If bent upon procuring abortion, or the destruction of the child, either on professional or felonious motives, would such an administration be the likeliest or most secret way of accomplishing the purpose, or would it not be better, as practiced, when occasion requires, in schools of midwifery, by the cold injection in the vagina, or by puncturing the amnion, and whereby the mother would be no wiser, and detection, if feloniously intended, almost impossible, with a common amount of caution? A rash medical man might even, under the circumstances of Mrs. Brown, have thought himself justified in procuring artificial labour and delivery; such, however, was not the case with me, and therefore I did not do anything to gain that end. It remains, however, not so much a wonder to me how medical men could infer that the symptoms of pain, which Mrs. Brown diligently described, should have been caused by the administration of belladonna, as that they pointed out to a common jury the simple fact, that because belladonna was a poison its administration could not have been beneficial; while the greater number of all effective medicines are poisonous when administered injudiciously, and while they themselves use more potent drugs every day. If it be true that the doses of belladonna bring about nearly the same effects as over-doses of spirits, will it be accepted by any sane man that she could have experienced them simultaneously with with the agonies so described? Will a person in a drunken state be in acute bodily suffering, and would he continue in that state to attend to medical directions? It is clear that, when attempting to describe the peculiar effects alleged to have been experienced from this medicine, she could not have observed the blue discoloration breaking out on the body of a person really poisoned by belladonna, after death, or at least after a state of coma had existed for days, not to speak of the high delirium which she must have gone through first—(she speaks of the blue thing or spots, which only when dead appears). Although, therefore, she attempts to describe the effects of an over-dose of belladonna, she does not succeed in mentioning one of the real symptoms, but forgot the instructions she must have received, if not in that medical book of which she speaks as having read about mustard taken in tea, but by that medical savant and inquisitor who privately examined her as a member of the board of the prosecuting Insurance Company, and afterwards acted as Crown Prosecutor and interpreter; and as to the Browns not reading the directions on the box containing such curious shaped things, the like they never saw before, that will require an amount of credulity for anybody to believe, even if we had it not in evidence most positively by their son, and at the time as a witness against me, that his father did read the label. Great stress was laid on the point, and at the examination at the Police Court they positively denied having read the prescription or the label. Although they were such curious things that they had never seen the like before, they both handled the box and never read the directions.

42. By the Chairman: You gave a written prescription? I gave a written prescription.

43. Which was made up at Elliott's? Yes, the nearest chemist's.

44. And that direction speaks for itself? Yes; it was on the box, but they both swore that they did not read it. The son, however, spoke positively that his father did read the label.

45. By Mr. Dick: Do you mean the husband or the son? The son. Here is the evidence of George Brown: He says he gave the box to his father, and that his father read the label, and he will substantiate the same now. Will it not now be seen, at a glance, that I could fully have substantiated my promise to the Court of proving Mrs. Brown diseased in the manner stated—(I stated that she had a stricture, a relict from a former disease in the form of a stricture)—her firm denial notwithstanding, and her, as well as her husband's testimony, unworthy of unbelief, had I been allowed to do so by His Honor, but I was not, although the witnesses had been duly subpoenaed, and I claimed to have them heard. Dr. Salter was subpoenaed.

46. By the Chairman: Have you finished your statement? No, sir. His Honor then said that if my course of examination was only intended to irritate the witness, it could not be allowed, and would be no extenuation of my conduct. He stopped me cross-examining her in the way I wished, and therefore my endeavour to prove her diseased broke down.

47. How were you prepared to prove that? It is in the deposition—in the report.

48. That the Judge interrupted you in the examination of the witness? Yes, it is.

[Mr. Dick here drew the attention of the Chairman to the course of the examination. Witness was requested to withdraw. Committee deliberated. Witness re-introduced.]

49. By the Chairman: You are aware that I drew your attention at the onset to the fact that this Committee had met to afford you an opportunity of producing such evidence as was not forthcoming at your trial, and which could not have been then obtained, but which can now be produced, to prove that you were not guilty of the offence with which you were charged, and that you were therefore wrongfully convicted. It is to that you are to confine yourself. We do not wish to have the time of the Committee unnecessarily occupied with matters which can produce no result. No act of ours can alter the previous trial, but if you can demonstrate to us that which is asserted in the sixth paragraph of the petition to the Legislature, we are prepared to hear it? This I can do. I want to draw your attention to what was the consequence of His Honor not allowing me to cross-examine, in the way I wished, Mrs. Brown. Not only would I have proved that she was diseased in the manner I had stated, but actually unworthy of credit. This I will do now. Evidence which I was not allowed to bring forward then I will bring forward now.

50. Could it not have been brought forward then? No; His Honor said the case was closed, and that my trial had already lasted four days. That was the reason I could not produce the evidence. The Judge said my counsel had closed the case the day before, and that my trial had already lasted four days; so I could not make good my promise. Ten or twelve were subpoenaed and were waiting about; I dare say a copy is kept. Dr. Salter, Mr. Nesbitt and others, were subpoenaed.

51. Will you point out how you are going to demonstrate that which is alleged in the 6th paragraph of the petition? Well, I think if I can make good that part which I have read as to her disease it will shew that she is unworthy of credit; that the medical men gave all their evidence on the false presumption that she was healthy; that the jury and the Court were misled; that I was deprived of the opportunity of justifying my administration, and shewing why I gave it; of breaking down Mr. Brown's evidence, and making good my words, that she was unworthy of credit—

52. We cannot re-open that case? This will be done by evidence.

53. By Mr. Dick: You had an opportunity of cross-examining this woman at your trial, and if you did not do so that must have been your own fault. It was for the jury to say whether they believed her or not. It is not for the Committee, nor would it be fair to hear your statement unless she were present, and there was an opportunity of examining her. You stated that you had got additional evidence; what is it? In the first instance, Dr. Redhead, who can prove that a stricture existed.

54. We would hear him;—any other evidence? Dr. Salter, who attended her for two years for cancer.

55. Anything further? Yes; Mrs. Hickey, the nurse, who had been constantly about her.
 56. Are they present? No; but they can soon be got. One is in Parramatta, Dr. Salter is in town, and Dr. Redhead is in Braidwood.

Frederick
Beer, M.D.

20 Nov., 1861.

57. Any other witnesses? Yes; George Russell, the son.

58. By Mr. Markham: He gives his name as George Brown? There is reason to believe that he is not the son, although they have sworn he is. I have a certificate of his birth or baptism.

59. By the Chairman: Where does he live? In town.

60. With his father or mother? He does not.

61. Where does he live? Somewhere in Woolloomooloo—153, Woolloomooloo-street.

62. That is where Mr. Brown lives? No.

63. Does Mr. Brown live in town? Yes.

64. And his wife? Yes; if she be his wife.

65. That is no business of the Committee? It will do to shew you that she has committed perjury.

66. By the Chairman: Is Dr. Redhead prepared to come down? I do not know. I have got his affidavit, and he will come down if required.

67. Have you had any communication with him on the subject? I have not since the affidavit. I requested him to make an affidavit, in case he should die, and he did so. I have not had communication for months with him, nor seen him.

68. By Mr. Dick: And these are the whole of the witnesses? I have some medical—

69. By the Chairman: You wish to give in a list of the medical authorities which will prove that the administration of belladonna, in the dose you prescribed as a suppository, is not likely to be attended with the results which it was declared by others would follow—is that what you wish to do? Yes; if I may hand in medical authorities in evidence, such as Pereira, Christison, Plagge, Thompson, Oesterlen; and medical witnesses in town—Dr. Aaron, Dr. Brown, Dr. Milford, Dr. McPhee, Dr. Gwynne, Dr. Anderson.

70. Dr. Gwynne, of Parramatta? Yes.

71. Who is Dr. Anderson? He is a medical writer in the papers at Home; he is in town.

72. Mr. Anderson, surgeon, you mean, of Balmain? The surgeon, and Mrs. Cale.

73. Have you any further statement to make? Yes; this document contains a statement of the circumstances of my case, in connection with the Insurance Company. If you would allow me to read it, it would help you to get an insight into the matter, and you would think which of the witnesses to call upon.

74. You would wish to hand that in in the form of an Appendix, perhaps? And not to read it now?

75. It does not appear to be necessary. Who do you wish to be examined now, to prove the facts? Dr. Salter first, Dr. Milford, and Dr. Brown. I would first break down the Browns' evidence completely, and thus shew that they are unworthy of belief, and then shew a justification of my treatment.

76. By Mr. Dick: Will you inform me why these witnesses were not called at the trial? They were subpoenaed. I took them with me, and ten or twelve others, but the Judge did not hear them.

77. The Judge refused to hear them? He said my counsel had closed the case, although Mr. Blake said he would produce medical witnesses to shew how great the difference was. He produced two—Dr. Aaron and Dr. Lassus. I endeavoured to put in Mr. Horner. Mr. Blake left the Court, and did not return; and on the fourth day I was alone. His Honor said I must proceed, and I said, "Will your Honor allow me to proceed with my witnesses?" but he said, "It is entirely at the discretion of the Court; your counsel closed your case yesterday; and besides, your trial has already lasted four days."

78. It appears to me that all this evidence was there at the time? It was; there were others—a Mr. and Mrs. Russell, of the Customs. I do not know them, but none of them were allowed to be called; and so I could not make good my promise to His Honor. He said if it was intended merely to irritate the witness I could not proceed; but if I could show the connection between the disease and belladonna, I would be allowed. I said not only would I prove that she was diseased, but that she was unworthy of credit, and that the whole was a concoction, but I was not allowed to carry out my promise.

79. By the Chairman: What is the name of the Judge? Therry. I beg to name as other witnesses the witness that His Honor recommended me to lay my case before the Executive. The minute is entered on the 10th June, 1858.

80. Was not your case laid before the Executive? It was not then.

81. But your case has been laid before the Executive? When I came out—but not proving the disease. His Honor said it was not necessary for me to prove the disease, if I could prove that belladonna was not such a dangerous drug as had been represented. I have a paper to shew the grounds on which I was refused—my case not coming under the new regulations.

82. By Mr. Dick: Are you at present practising at Braidwood? I am.

83. Are you stopping in town solely for this case? Solely for this case. [Witness handed in a further statement. Vide Appendix A.]

APPENDIX A.

The fact of his Honor not granting my request, and not allowing me to proceed with my cross-examination, deprived me of the only means of having the truth brought to light, and in consequence of having my plea of justification for the administration established, while on the other hand the jury were obliged to accept her as a healthy woman, and consequently could not see the necessity of the administration, and while the medical witnesses based their opinion on the belief of her bowels being in a sound state—the witnesses speaking otherwise than the truth. It is true some admitted that she might have been suffering from piles on the occasion, while they could not see anything otherwise in her evidence which would lead them to suppose that her rectum was diseased.

But I assert that not only would I have been justified in using these suppositories, if each had contained double the quantity, if she had only suffered from painful piles, according to very good authority; but that her cross-examination discloses plainly, and points clearly to an existing disease in the rectum, and which may be seen by comparing her evidence with the symptoms in common with eleven different diseases of the rectum, as stated in any standard works on Morbid Anatomy.

The fact of the medical witnesses, almost as one man, asserting her symptoms to be clearly the effects of an over-dose of belladonna (of which she had none); none seeing in her statement anything which would lead them to suppose that her bowels were affected, or anything which would justify me in the administration of this the best of all pain-relieving drugs; but all being without the least experience of its exhibition in that way, all quoting doses pretty uniformly in themselves, but which none of the English Medical Works corroborates, and the fact of misleading the jury, by submitting to the Court a paragraph merely of one of the first authorities of the use of belladonna in minute doses as a preventive to scarlatina, which was quite irrelevant to the point in issue, and suppressing studiously of quoting of what would have sounded (in fact would have cleared me) strongly in favour of my plea by the same authority, throws such a light on that class of evidence as must shew anyone that they gave vent to their animosity, by which they were impelled, that it comes nothing short of conspiracy.

Did not Mrs. Brown plainly state, in answer to a juror's question, what the suppositories should have cured her from, that "Dr. Beer told her it would ease her" pain, and this in their hearing; and was not Dr. Macfarlane obliged to admit, in the cross-examination, that within his knowledge a dose of eight grains of the extract of belladonna was administered to a patient in the Sydney Infirmary? Do such revelations, and their almost daily administrations of large quantities of henbane, botanically, chemically, and in its effects identical with belladonna, lead anyone to believe that they were so ignorant of the properties of belladonna? Will anyone imagine that they did not look into a medical work before they appeared as witnesses on my trial, or having no experience themselves, did anything justify them to give their opinion contrary to all experience. Had they been speaking of the principle of belladonna (of atropia), their quotations, as to quantity, would have been more in harmony with the medical works, but not when speaking of the extract which is known to be two hundred times weaker than its effective principle, the atropia.

The fact that atropia has found its way into almost every druggist's shop in Sydney is a proof that the medical profession has since learnt to appreciate it so much so as to venture to apply this really powerful poison themselves.

Dealing with facts, the following may aptly find its place here too. It is this, that Judge Therry, who tried me, and on my trial was so much impressed with my guilt that in his charge to the jury he handed me over to them, so to speak, at upset price—(not one point in my favour he stated). After having received several memorials from me, and after an interview on the island, on the 10th February, 1853, was obliged to alter his opinion, and recommended me to lay my case before the Executive, admitting his conviction of the diseased state of Mrs. Brown, and consequently her perjury; he said he would report upon it when my petition would be referred to him, and that it would be sufficient for me to shew that the medicine was not so dangerous as represented, and subsequently, before his departure (I not having been allowed to comply with his permission, although entered in the minutes of that day, and before witnesses), he sent me a message, through the Visiting Magistrate (Mr. North) of the island, that he would try to obtain a remission of my sentence, or do something for me.

My connection with the Insurance Companies.

*Sheriff Brown.
†Mr. Ryall, Elizabeth-street.
‡The exact amount was, I believe, £193.

In 1854 I had the misfortune of experiencing heavy pecuniary losses, and besides that, had to pay the costs of a libel case, for which a writ was issued on the 24th of November, 1854, for my body as well as my goods; as I could not command the amount requisite I had to leave my house a fugitive, and to hide myself from the face of the Sheriff.* By the advice of a solicitor,† under whose roof I found shelter, I filed a schedule, and still was obliged, after I had been declared as a bankrupt, to procure about two hundred pounds,‡ for which Johnson and Johnson pursued me, before I dared shew my face publicly, as I was only afterwards informed by my solicitor that debts arising from libel could not take the benefit of the Insolvent Court, but must be paid or be imprisoned for it sine die, by an Act passed, of which he had been ignorant till then. Thus I was in the agreeable position, on the one hand, of being gazetted as an insolvent, and called upon to appear before my creditors at the Supreme Court; and on the other, to know that the Sheriff was on the look-out for me everywhere. Under these trying circumstances it was difficult to find a friend in need, and to obtain an advance of two hundred pounds, in order to evade imprisonment, while already declared bankrupt. After having been hidden for nine days on the premises of my legal adviser, who, by his ignorance, brought me into this trouble, and when no longer safe with him I removed to the house of the Browns, where I remained for several days. In the meantime Mr. Brown exerted himself with my friends, and at last, after having been a fugitive for eighteen days, he had brought together the requisite sum for my release, himself lending me twenty pounds, which was all the money he had. During my absence from home my property had been sold at the most ruinous loss, and I found my house perfectly empty; my practice however remained good, and observing the strictest economy, even sleeping on the floor of the bed-room, and without a mattress, I was enabled, in July, 1855, only seven months after my insolvency, to pay back the money lent to me on the occasion, to take up the writ with, and to pay in full all my creditors who had previously accepted two and sixpence in the pound as a compromise. In July, 1855, I acquainted my creditors, through the Sydney Morning Herald, to tender their claims, and paid every one IN FULL of all demands, except my own brother, who was my largest creditor, and to cover the claim of which I had not then sufficient money.

Now this is about the same time when it is alleged that my diabolical scheme commenced, ending in the intended murder of Mrs. Brown; I at the time paying away nearly six hundred pounds, more than the law could have compelled me to do, and leaving all the while my own brother unpaid. Could His Honor have been aware of this fact, when pointing out to the jury the hypocrisy practised with the Browns, whom I paid back at the time the twenty pounds they had lent me, and had given a blank receipt in acquittance of a large professional bill, from well founded feelings of gratitude in return to their kindness shewn to me; until all was paid I did not even allow myself the purchase of a proper bed, or any other household furniture however necessary. But in order to prevent my brother from being permanently at a heavy loss in case I should die, I insured my life in the Mutual Provident Society for one thousand pounds, and for life.

His Honor's remarks.

Mr. W. Dean preparing a will.

Upon

Upon receiving the policy from the Company, it was accompanied by a letter from its Secretary, Mr. Thompson, entreating me to persuade my friends or acquaintances to insure their lives; shewing this letter to the Browns, and giving any other explanation that I was able, they also applied for a policy for one thousand pounds on her life. (Nota Bene—not jointly). Mrs. Brown told me, that when seeing Mr. Thompson, he had said that my certificate as their medical man would only be accepted as one coming from a general acquaintance, as I was not a legally qualified member of the profession. (The Douglass Act not having passed.)

Mr. Thompson. The usual practice of this office.

Why did not the Browns insure their joint lives in this Office, or in the Church of England, if they wished to have done so?

Yet Mr. Thompson sent me the usual form for giving a medical certificate, but without the usual fee enclosed. Labouring already under a great disadvantage, compared to English practitioners, on account of my not being eligible as a medical witness on inquests, nor for the employment as medical referee to any Insurance Company; and finding that on that account the Company thought fit to offer me an insult, their Secretary even trying to injure me in the estimation of those who had confided in my professional skill, I felt very hurt; and Dr. Williams, a well known enemy to foreign practitioners, being their medical referee, I thought myself legally and morally fully justified in withholding a full bill of health, and to spare the Browns unnecessary exposure, to leave it to Dr. Williams, the paid medical referee of the Company, to find out the particulars of her state of health. I therefore simply stated in my certificate that she was suffering from whites, and in doing so gave not a clean bill of health—severely censured during and after the police examinations of having done—but simply the effects of a variety of diseases, while observing silence as to its cause. It was the unmistakable duty of the Company's paid medical referee to digest a hint thrown out, and to examine her professionally. The application for this policy was granted, but her life only accepted as a third class life. Shortly after the Browns effected this policy she became pregnant, to her a new source of suffering in the hip.

See the certificates.

At this period Mrs. Brown lived very unhappily with her husband, having detected him in bed with her servant girl (Grace Davis), which she told me herself; and shortly after this, hearing that he had been deceiving the niece of Mr. Dean, then residing in Market-street, Sydney, having represented himself as an unmarried man to her; but being found out by Mr. Dean to be otherwise, and having a family, that he had, in order to escape exposure, he had told him (Mr. Dean) and to the girl that his wife could not live long, and that upon her death he would come into a deal of money, and he would then marry her. She even expressed her determination to leave her husband, and was only prevented by me from doing so, on her own conditions.

Mr. W. Dean, draper, Windsor.

Left him once actually for about six weeks, and lived with Mrs. Wilson, mistress of the late American Consul, at the North Shore. George Russel is not Brown's son, as sworn to by him (see certificate of birth), nor are they married—Reynolds.

Mrs. Brown repeatedly expressed her fear that, if the case should be that she should die, that Mr. Brown would spend the money of the policy he held, and leave her children beggars. Believing the strictures on his character quite correct, I offered her to take myself out a policy on her life, and to make it over to her children, remarking that if she lived, by regaining her health I would gladly lose the premium, but if otherwise destined, she would have the satisfaction of knowing that her children were provided for; thereupon we made application to the Agent of the Monarch Insurance Office, with Mr. Brown's knowledge, and went together to see the agent, and in order to obtain the bona fide interest in the life which the declaration required the insurer to have in the party whose life was insured, it was agreed beforehand that I should insure my life for the same term (ten years), and make the policy legally over to her. I therefore did insure my life in the London and Liverpool Insurance Company, for the term of ten years, for one thousand pounds, but as I did not like to tell the agent (Mr. Beit) the exact truth, I told him that the Browns owed me that sum. He however declined accepting her life. The Browns however themselves were so anxious to have her life insured as high as possible, applied to the London and Liverpool and to the Church of England Insurance Office simultaneously, saying that if they did not succeed in the one they might in the other. When the London and Liverpool Company declined to accept their application, on the 12th December, 1855, and they had received an answer from the Church of England Insurance Office, accepting it, Mr. Brown hastened to secure the latter, by paying into the Office one quarter of a year's premium.

Mrs. Brown suffering so much more, as her pregnancy advanced, being at times quite crippled with it, and frequently fainting (overcome with pain), their mutual anxiety increased to obtain a further insurance on her life, which Mr. Brown, however, stated his means would not allow him to do. I then offered to lend to them the money wherewith to pay one year's premium, if he succeeded, upon the condition that it should be for the sole benefit of his children.

He made application to the Alliance Insurance Company, and paid at once the premium of forty pounds to the clerk of the agents, being told to come again in the afternoon with Mrs. Brown to the Office to receive the policy. They went, and were told by Mr. Pritchard, the agent, that they declined accepting her life, as Dr. O'Brien's report had been very unfavourable. Mr. Brown then asked for the return of the forty pounds premium paid in by him in his own name, but was only tendered back thirty-seven pounds, Mr. Pritchard saying he would deduct three pounds for his commission and medical fee; Mr. Brown remonstrating that he could not charge commission when he refused to transact business. Mr. Pritchard said his clerk had no right to receive the money in the first instance. Mr. Brown subsequently went twice more to Mr. Pritchard, to obtain back the full premium paid in, stating that it was money lent to him by me, and that he would have to make good any difference.

Brown's evidence.

However, his request not being complied with, Mr. Brown requested me, on the 7th February, 1856, to go to Mr. Pritchard, as my position in society would have more weight with them, and he would not dare to attempt such a swindle as to retain the three pounds for commission and medical fee, when her life had not been accepted. Mr. Brown gave me at the same time a written authority to receive the forty pounds. I at once repaired to Mr. Pritchard's office, when Mr. Pritchard, while admitting that his clerk had no authority to receive the forty pound premium, he still refused to refund the whole amount. I called him a swindler, and stated my intention of recovering the full amount through my solicitor, and to punish his clerk for obtaining money under false pretenses.

The order produced at the trial, authorising me to receive £40.

Mr. Williams, my solicitor, told me he would take steps to compel him to refund the whole premium paid in by Mr. Brown, and at the same time that Mr. Pritchard could not be compelled to issue a policy upon that receipt, he being only the agent himself, and not liable for the action of his clerk. This then was the reason why I stuck to the receipt, as his Honor stated to the jury, not with the slightest expectation of wrenching a policy from the Alliance Insurance Company, which, if granted, would not have benefited me one farthing, but with a view to prevent Mr. Pritchard from committing the swindle which he subsequently nevertheless committed. How can his (Pritchard's) story be true, when the negotiation of the policy had been refused weeks ago, when Mr. Brown himself had repeatedly applied for the return of the forty pounds, and gave me an order to receive the same, on the 7th February, 1856.

What would have made the premium upon Mrs. Brown's life amount to over one hundred pounds, as stated by Mr. Pritchard in evidence, when the receipt given by the clerk for the forty pounds declared it to be the full premium for one year on fifteen hundred pounds? Where was the prospect by which I could be benefited, as his Honor stated to be the case to the jury, and why attempt to murder Mrs. Brown on the 10th February, when, according to Mr. Pritchard's statement, I first called upon him between the 8th and 12th of the same month, in order to extort the policy from him, and had subsequently taken legal steps for that end, which, if ultimately realized, would still have only benefited Mrs. Brown? Was not that alone proof to any sane man that I could not have intended the murder of Mrs. Brown, when called in by her to attend her on the 10th, as by so doing I must necessarily have destroyed any prospective benefit accruing, if capable of planning and executing such a scheme? Does not the evidence on the part of the Insurance Company plainly prove that on the 10th of February I could not have any actual interest, while their evidence only shews that I endeavoured to obtain such? I again therefore ask, would not her untimely death have frustrated all those endeavours and hopes of ultimate success? The key being given to the true object in my calling on Mr. Pritchard, the evidence of Mr. Thompson also shows how pliable such persons are when required to act in concert; he states that when speaking to him about the receipt, that I stated the policy to be mine, while I mentioned to him that the money wherewith the premium was paid was mine, and merely asking him whether Mr. Pritchard could deduct a commission when he had refused the acceptance of Mrs. Brown's life? Thus matters stood when, on the 9th February, 1856, Mrs. Brown got wet, and I was called in to see her the next day without delay, when she suffered so much on one place of her body, thought the hand or foot of the child had lodged there, when she could neither sit or stand, and rolled about on the floor all night, when she expressed her belief that she was miscarrying, and thought she was in labour before my arrival, when I had to meet the circumstances as well as I could by prescribing this pain-relieving remedy, and caused it to be made up by the nearest chemist, when I thereby, instead of causing abortion as the means to an end, prevented such a result, and stopped the impending labour, which I stated to have been my intention (success crowning the same) already, when making a statement in answer to the Magistrate who committed me, and subsequently to His Excellency Sir William Denison, giving the rationale for my treatment long before its correctness was corroborated by Sir Benjamin Brodie's entered unmistakable terms.

He said he could not.

Would not the puncture of the amnion, if only by the prick of a pin for example, have brought about the result alleged to have been sought, if that had been my intention, without the patient being at all aware such had been brought on artificially, and without giving my medical opponents a chance of gratifying their animosity? In what then consists the felonious intent or act—is it by hastening to bring relief to a sufferer; or is it by advising her to keep quiet and in a recumbent position? Why not leave her upon some pretense without relieving her at all? Where is the motive for a crime, direct or prospective, to be found?

I have shown the reason why I took an interest in the Browns, and why I felt a degree of resentment towards the Insurance Companies, none of whom tendered me the customary fee when applying for her bill of health. The reasons why I did not give a full bill of health are obvious, while, by stating that she suffered from whites, can it be said that I gave a clean bill of health (she being in a very precarious condition), as complained of in the public papers after my committal.

Fearing me.

There remains yet to explain how it came about that Mr. Brown surrendered his policies, and what caused them boldly to suppress the truth, and to swear to falsehoods, in order to shew that there could not have been any secret understanding between Mr. Brown and myself, and a complicity in a design on Mrs. Brown's life.

The latter:—Their perjury finds its solution simply in the fact that they had been, throughout, the principals, as regards the dealings with the Insurance Companies; that they, who were legally bound to speak the truth, gave false certificates of their health themselves, and were very eager to insure her life, and her's only, as high as possible, which circumstances they had to conceal somehow or otherways, in order to evade evil consequences accruing to themselves. After the revelations of the Police Court examinations they were mere tools of the prosecuting Insurance Company, who possessed a good drill master in one of their directors, who even followed his function out when acting as Crown Prosecutor, when, through him, even the questions for cross-examination were put to her. He had his good reasons to object of having given in evidence the medical treatment she received, as entered in my ledger by Mr. Horner.

Mrs. Brown's evidence.

The former reason why Mr. Brown surrendered his policies is to be found in the circumstances that four days after the administration complained of was prescribed (viz.—14 February) I had occasion to go to Miller's Point, and, in doing so, went into the Argyle Stores to see Mr. Brown, whom I then attended professionally at his office for gonorrhoea. Complimenting him on the higher position and emolument he received in this, his recent promotion, as a locker than as a tide-waiter, he said that, although his position was higher, and the salary better, he still was not so well off as when a tide-waiter, in which position he could earn extras with samples of tobacco, spirits, wine, &c.; in fact, he said "I can hardly save just now from my salary the premium for the policies." I then said, "If he would make it over to his children I would pay the premium," when he quickly answered, "No, no, I have made arrangements at home, and will manage nicely, but you can send me your bill, and I will attend to it as soon as I can; and besides," said he, looking hard at me, "I will pay you handsomely if my wife should die." I asked him what he meant by that? he answered, "he meant what he said." I answered, "If I understand you rightly, you scoundrel, that is the way you would deal with your wife, whose cause the years of illness you have been; but although you have two policies, and although your wife may die, think not that while I live you will obtain the money, as I will now go to the Insurance Offices, and inform them about the certificates." I then abruptly left him, and never spoke another word to him. Out of self-regard I did not follow out my threat, but communicating with a friend of mine, he advised me to go and warn Mrs. Brown, as he meant no good towards her. With this intention I went, on the 19th of February, to see Mrs. Brown, in the absence of her husband; she asked me whether it was true that I had had a quarrel with Mr. Brown, and that I wanted to extort a policy from him, and in that case I could not attend her during her confinement. I replied, "what need she fear from me who had no interest in her death, but that it would be necessary for me to attend her during her confinement, or that she might not survive, and that I would be close at hand and watch over, whether her husband liked it or not; that, in consequence of the remarks she had made, I would not attend her any longer, but would advise her to send for her lodge doctor.*" Most probably, when her husband came home, she told him the substance of our conversation, and he seeing that, in the event of her death, I would cause him trouble and exposure, he resolved to surrender the policies, in order, as he stated to Mr. Robinson, "to take the whip hand first."

Mr. Kim.

Mrs. Brown states I saw her still professionally at this date.

Dr. Catlett reports on the state of her womb instead of that of her bowels, whose soundness had been questioned.
*Dr. Catlett.

Mrs. Brown never felt any inconvenience from the administration of belladonna, nor could she have done so; she never complained to me about it or to Dr. Catlett; not a word about the treatment was ever thought of or said about to anyone, there being no cause to do so until the Insurance Company instituted an inquiry, having Palmer's case fresh on their minds.

The Browns kept steadily their safety in view, and therefore crippled my plea of justification, and otherwise placed as much on my shoulders as they could, having had ample time to decide on their line of action. That the Insurance Companies which prosecuted, while describing Mrs. Brown as a healthy woman knew her to be otherwise, is proved by the complaint of the Crown Prosecutor about false certificates having been given, by Dr. O'Brien's certificate, by the fact that he was studiously left out to appear as a medical witness, and by the comments of the public press immediately after my committal.

However, the prosecutors had to secure a conviction, which they could not have done had I been able to bring forward my witnesses in support of my statement "that I would prove that the witness Brown was affected by disease in her bowels and totally unworthy of credit, and the whole affair a concoction;" but they gained their end, irrespective of the means; they succeeded to mislead the medical witnesses, so as to cause them to give their evidence on the false supposition that she was in good health, thereby causing the medical witnesses, as well as the jury and Court, to believe that I had no good reasons to administer this drug in the manner prescribed, while, at the same time, they deprived me of the means to substantiate my plea.

TUESDAY,

136. How long had you been attending Mrs. Brown before Dr. Beer administered the bella-donna to her? I do not know when he administered it. J. L. Saiter, M.D.

137. How long had you been attending her before Dr. Beer took the case? I cannot say distinctly, because I have no record of the transaction in my books, because the case was more properly Dr. Smith's than mine. I was only called in to consult, and I can therefore scarcely say how long I was attending her; but I think she was a patient during the twelve months that I was assisting Dr. Smith during his illness; but I have really forgotten the exact time. 26 Nov., 1861.

138. From what you saw of her, should you say that she was a person in good health? Well, she had not very good health.

139. If you had been called upon by an Insurance Company to certify as to her state of health, would you have said that she was a person in good health? No, I should not.

140. What answer would you have given to such a question at this, if it had been put to you—"Is there, then, within your knowledge, any circumstance connected with her present or general state of health, or with her conformation of body, or habits of life, or prevailing disposition, which, in your judgment, may tend to shorten her life, or with which, although not specifically referred to in any of these queries, the directors ought to be made acquainted"? The chief thing that I attended her for was a local disease; and how far the disorder of the bowels might tend to shorten her life it was impossible to know, as we had not found out precisely what the disorder was; neither was there any means of knowing whether her life would be likely to be shortened by the tumour; but the system was so diseased by it that it might have the effect of shortening her life.

141. You never knew satisfactorily what was the disorder of the bowels? No.

142. If Dr. Beer has stated in answer to this question I have read to you by stating there were none, would that in your opinion have been a correct statement? No.

143. You have certified to the state of health of persons on their making proposals for insurance? Yes; the Companies have all printed papers with questions to which answers have to be filled in.

144. There are certain specific questions addressed to the medical attendant of the party applying, and which he is required to answer? Yes.

145. Then suppose such a question as this had been addressed to you—"Is there, then, within your knowledge any circumstance connected with her present or her general state of health, or with her conformation of body, or habits of life, or prevailing disposition, which in your judgment may tend to shorten life, or with which, although not specifically referred to in any of these queries, the directors ought to be made acquainted"—would you have answered it, in the case of Mrs. Brown, by writing the word "None"? I think I would not, though this after all may be a matter of opinion. I should have answered that there was; that she had a disease which had a sort of tendency to shorten life.

146. By the Chairman: How would you have answered this question:—"Has the party whose life is to be assured had any of the following disorders, and when—Gout, rheumatic fever, or dysentery; stone, rupture, fistula, or stricture; apoplexy, paralysis, or insanity; fits or convulsions, since two years of age; spitting of blood, asthma, or disease of the lungs; dropsy, disease of the liver or heart; any other disease or disorder tending to shorten life; any serious accident?" That is a very general question. Mrs. Brown had none of those diseases there named.

147. But it expressly asks whether the person is afflicted with stricture? Mrs. Brown had none, to my knowledge.

148. Supposing you thought her to be afflicted with stricture, how would you have answered the question? I should have considered myself obliged to mention it if she had.

149. By Mr. Dick: Do you recollect the last occasion when you visited Mrs. Brown? I do not.

150. Immediately after you and Dr. Smith ceased to attend her was Dr. Beer called in? Dr. Smith did not attend her up to the time I did. He had died before I ceased to attend her.

151. What I wish to know is, whether Dr. Beer was the next medical attendant on Mrs. Brown after you? Yes, she told me that he was.

152. Did you ever attend her in a confinement? No; but Dr. Smith may have done so.

153. Had you examined her person yourself? Yes, frequently; both by myself and in company with Dr. Smith.

154. The parts were not in a healthy state? No, certainly not.

155. She had what is medically termed a scirrhus tumour of the vagina? Yes.

156. Was it of long standing? Yes; it appeared to me to be so. She gave me a history of it, and of Dr. Smith's attendance and mode of treatment, but I forget now what it was.

157. When you ceased to visit her she was not in a state of good health? No.

158. And you would not have certified, in regard to her, that she was affected by no disease whereby there would be a tendency to shorten life? No, I think not.

159. By the Chairman: Supposing that you were under the impression that she had a stricture of so serious a character that a crowquill could scarcely be introduced into the rectum, would you have certified that she had no such complaint? Certainly not.

160. By Mr. Markham: Would you administer belladonna for stricture of the rectum, or in a case of piles—Is it a medicine that you would administer as a suppository in such cases? I would not administer it in the shape of a suppository; there are various other ways of applying the drug to the rectum.

161. What would be the effect of belladonna so applied? The effect would be to relax the muscular fibre.

162. By the Chairman: What are the first apparent effects of an over-dose of belladonna taken

J. L. Salter,

taken by the mouth—though I would ask you whether you have ever seen a person suffering from an over-dose of belladonna taken that way? No, I have never seen any case of the kind.

163. What is the largest dose of belladonna you have ever known to be administered internally? By the mouth?

164. Yes? About three grains.

165. You do not know what the effects of an over-dose of belladonna would be? I know by the accounts given in the books, but I have never seen a person suffering those effects.

166. You do not know then, except from the accounts of others, what the effects are of an over-dose of belladonna taken internally by the mouth? Not certainly. I had a doubtful case of the kind some time back; there were some children who were suspected to have been poisoned by eating the berries of the nightshade.

167. How were they affected? They were affected in a manner very much like delirium tremens. It was supposed that they had been poisoned by eating the berries of the belladonna.

168. Have you ever known the belladonna used as a prophylactic in cases of fever? I am not aware of it.

169. Is it not an established fact that it is so employed? I have never known it to be so; on the contrary, I believe the notion is rather laughed at than otherwise by the profession.

170. By Mr. Markham: You have said that the largest dose of this drug that you have known to be used is three grains—did you ever administer that much yourself? No, never.

171. Did you ever yourself see three grains so administered? No.

172. By Mr. Dick: Do you ever prescribe it as a suppository? No.

173. How do you account for it that some of the leading medical men in Sydney say that it is a drug very little used, whilst you say that it is a great deal used, and that you have a large experience of it. Drs. Bennett, Nathan, and McKay all say that they have seldom seen it used? There are several medicines used more where I was trained than they are here. There are some medicines that I use now that are never thought of by some other practitioners in the city.

174. Then you consider that belladonna is more frequently used in American practice than it is in the British? Yes; and besides that, there is a great deal in the character of a climate, that causes some medicines to be used in one place more than in another. For instance, in India they use a class of medicines that are seldom employed in England.

175. By the Chairman: The effects of medicines on the constitution of a patient are different in different climates? Certainly.

176. By Mr. Markham: So that a moist or a warm climate would tend more to the secretion of medicine into the system, by absorption, than a cold or dry climate would? Yes, I think so.

177. In the case of a dose of belladonna being taken, is it your opinion that it would have to pass through the system of the mother before it would affect the fœtus? It must necessarily do so.

178. It would not pass directly to the fœtus, but must be first taken into the system of the mother? No. It would only affect the mother in the first instance, and would only reach the fœtus by absorption into the system of the mother.

179. By the Chairman: You have never witnessed the results of an over-dose of belladonna administered internally, so as to be able to speak of the external appearance presented by the patient? No, I have not, except in the case of the boys I have mentioned; and then we only surmised that they had eaten the belladonna berries.

180. How were they affected? As if they were intoxicated.

181. Was there any peculiar appearance on the surface of the skin? I do not remember.

182. Any redness or eruptive appearance of the skin? Well, I do not think there was.

183. The effect of belladonna is to cause an efflorescence on the surface of the skin, something similar to that which is thrown off in scarlatina. Was there anything of the kind in the case of the boys? I do not remember.

184. By the Chairman (at the suggestion of Dr. Beer): Would you have thought yourself justified in giving a private medical history of your patient if the Insurance Company told you beforehand that your certificate would have no more weight or value than that of a friend, you not being at the time a legally qualified medical practitioner? If my answer was of no value it would be of no use for me to give one, and I should decline to do so.

185. But supposing you gave an answer to all, would you have considered yourself warranted, under such circumstances, in giving an answer at variance with the truth? Whether I was legally qualified or not would not in any way alter the character of the answer I would give, if I gave any.

186. You would speak the truth? Most assuredly.

187. Would you in the case of a disease of a syphilitic character, occurring between a married couple, have considered yourself justified in making it known to a board of directors? I might have refused to answer in such a case; I might have withheld evidence that would have been of no value to them or to anybody else. I would not have answered incorrectly; the better way would be to withhold an answer altogether.

188. But if you gave any expression of opinion at all, you would speak the truth? I would.

189. By Mr. Markham: You would either decline to answer, or tell the truth? If I said anything I should have to tell the truth; if I answered I should say what I thought.

190. By the Chairman (at the suggestion of Dr. Beer): You will observe that the whites are mentioned in one of Dr. Beer's certificates—is not that a disorder likely to be caused by or to be the result of previous disease with which the patient has been affected? In this particular case?

191. Yes? I did not say anything about leucorrhœa when I described the matter.

192. Is leucorrhœa to be regarded as the result of previous disease? It may be, and it may not be.

193. By Mr. Markham: Is it necessarily the consequence of previous disease? Sometimes, and possibly in this particular case the irritation of the tumour may have caused a discharge somewhat analagous to leucorrhœa. J. L. Salter,
M.D.
26 Nov., 1861.
194. By Mr. Dick: It is not always the result of previous disease? Sometimes.
195. Does it not often arise from weakness, without the pre-existence of disease of any kind? Yes; it is a disease of itself.
196. By the Chairman (at the suggestion of Dr. Beer): By stating in your certificate that she had the whites, would you consider that you had informed the Board of Directors of all that was necessary for them to know, and that from this information the Board doctor would be able to find out all the rest;—would it, in your opinion, be a clue to the investigation of the case, and of everything connected with it? It would in a great measure be so. I suppose the Board doctor is more responsible to the Insurance Company than the private doctor is; but still answering in this way would not be telling all you know of the case. However, it would be a guide to the Board doctor, as it would cause suspicion, and lead him to make inquiries to satisfy himself.

THURSDAY, 28 NOVEMBER, 1861.

Present:—

MR. DICK,		MR. GRAY,
MR. FAUCETT,		MR. MARKHAM,
	MR. MORRICE.

MERION MORIARTY, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Present in the Room:—Dr. Beer, and his Solicitor, Mr. Deane.

George Alloway, Esquire, called in and examined:—

197. By the Chairman: You are a licentiate of medicine? Yes. George Alloway,
Esq.
26 Nov., 1861.
198. Of what College? Of Dublin College.
199. You practice medicine in Sydney? Yes.
200. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Have you ever used belladonna in any way in your practice? I have, both externally and internally, for many years; in fact, for the whole period of my professional career.
201. Which has extended over how many years? Twenty years.
202. Have you ever used it as a suppository? Yes, as a suppository; and in the form of ointment.
203. Would five grains of the extract be an over-dose, when introduced into a rectum affected with organic stricture, and irritated—would it be likely to procure abortion or poison the child in the womb? The question of over-dose would depend upon the idiosyncrasy of the individual to whom it was administered, which is common to many other medicines. Some persons might bear it very well; others might certainly be affected with the symptoms of poisoning from belladonna from such a dose; but these are accidents likely to arise with many other medicines. A single grain of calomel will salivate some individuals, but you do not, on that account, fear to give it to the generality of patients. It is just the same with belladonna. Five grains is a dose perhaps larger than I should use as a suppository; but I should not be disposed to condemn any one who did do so. I should perhaps have used half the quantity. Then, used as a suppository, the action of the drug is so very gradual on the rectum; it is not like an injection, where a large quantity comes into contact with the mucous membrane immediately; in a suppository of five grains only a very small portion, perhaps half a grain, would come in contact with the mucous membrane at once. However, were I ordering one myself I should order half the quantity.
204. Two grains and a half? Yes, two grains or two grains and a half. The symptoms of poisoning by a medicinal dose of belladonna set in so slowly that it is easy to counteract it before any danger can result, especially with a suppository.
205. What are the symptoms of an over-dose of belladonna? There are very different symptoms; there is generally a feeling of tightness in the throat, and it has an effect upon the sight; these are usually the first two symptoms, but not always, because very often belladonna will cause relaxation of the bowels amounting to diarrhœa, and in that case the symptoms I have mentioned would often be suppressed. In fact belladonna is used very often as an aperient, and a very valuable one it is. Where it has that effect the other symptoms are not so obvious, especially the feeling of tightness in the throat. Then next come on the more serious symptoms, delirium and coma, which is the last.
206. Would the administration of belladonna cause pain and agonies all over the body, or would it have a sedative effect? A sedative effect.
207. If the patient stated that she rolled about the floor in agony—? I should be inclined to give belladonna to relieve that, if belladonna were the sedative indicated in the case.
208. Supposing she were in great pain about the anus, bearing down pain, and could neither sit nor stand, would the belladonna extract be likely to give relief, or to make the pains greater all over the body? Decidedly belladonna by itself would not cause pain, but would remove it. Though it might not be the appropriate remedy in the case it would certainly have the effect, if any, of allaying pain.
209. Would you consider a medical practitioner justified in being guided by authorities like Pereira, Christieson, Thomson—? If he had no experience of his own.
210. It would not be criminal on his part to be guided by them? No, not criminal.

Julius

Julius Berncastle, Esq., M.D., called in and examined:—

Julius
Berncastle,
Esq., M.D.

28 Nov., 1861.

211. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Have you ever used belladonna in any way? Very frequently; both internally and externally.

212. Have you used it in the form of a suppository? I have used it occasionally as a suppository; but more frequently for application to the uterus in substance. I have seen it used frequently in hospitals, under my observation—at Guy's Hospital, and at Paris, in La Charité; it is more used there than in England even.

213. Do you consider a dose of five grains of the extract of belladonna, in the form of a suppository, introduced into a rectum irritated and affected with organic stricture, to be an over-dose that would kill the mother, procure abortion, or poison the child in the womb? I consider the dose too small to be of any use, very often; instead of an over-dose I consider double or three times the quantity more likely to be of benefit in disease of the rectum, because there is so small a quantity in communication with the absorbing surface; the larger portion is left inert; only the outer surface can be in contact. Belladonna is difficult to dissolve quickly, even in water, and it is far more difficult to dissolve in the rectum. With such a dose as you mention there would be very little absorbed—not enough to be useful. I have generally applied it without weighing it myself; I would take a piece as big as a nut; because if not applied in that way, in large quantities, no good is done by it.

214. Would it, in your opinion, be likely to be productive of destruction to the life of the mother, or of the child in utero? Not in the slightest.

215. Do you consider a medical practitioner justified in following the recommendations of authorities like Pereira, Christieson, Thomson, Blackett —? Yes, decidedly; these are the best authorities in medicine.

216. What would be the first effects of an over-dose of belladonna as a suppository? Many symptoms would come on at the same time; dryness in the mouth—very great dryness, and dilatation of the pupils of the eye. There would afterwards be symptoms of delirium—idiotic delirium, like madness, but not of a dangerous character, rather silliness; and an eruption would ultimately occur—a scarlet eruption on the body. The leading symptoms would be dilatation of the pupil, dryness of the throat, and delirium approaching to idiocy, followed by—if the symptoms were very urgent—convulsions, and perhaps death. If the patient recovered, he would have no recollection of any of the symptoms or of anything that had occurred; it would be like awaking from sleep, though he would not have been asleep. These symptoms are very striking and could not be mistaken, because no other poison produces the same symptoms.

217. What effect would it have upon the muscles of the body? I do not know of any peculiar effect that it would have upon the muscles. I have not seen so many cases, but I should fancy that at different stages of disease, it would have a different effect on the muscles; for instance, a person in a state of delirium would not be affected, but if the case were terminating fatally, and attended with convulsions, a tetanic state of the muscles would probably occur at a late period, but in the early period the muscles would not be particularly affected. Not having seen any cases of poisoning by belladonna, of course I am not in a position to speak positively of all its effects in every case.

218. You have not seen any cases of poisoning by it? No; and the effect upon the muscles is not a leading feature, as far as my observation from cases reported has gone. You can tell when a person has taken an overdose of belladonna, better than any other poison, by examining the pupil and finding it dilated; this dryness of the throat and eruption are the leading features, and they are all distinct and unconnected with the effects of any other drug.

219. Would a patient suffering from an overdose of belladonna be in great pain and roll about in agony? He would not be likely to do that, since the effect of the medicine is to produce a lively sort of delirium, approaching to folly.

220. Have you ever seen such a result from its use? I have never seen a person in great pain from the use of belladonna; quite the contrary. Very few cases have occurred of poisoning by extract of belladonna. The medicine is not so dangerous as it is thought. There are so few cases on record that many authors even have not seen cases having a fatal termination. It is more likely to be fatal to children from eating the berries, than in ordinary cases from the administration of the drug. There was a case in St. George's Hospital, under Brodie, of one man who took an ounce of the extract.

221. Have you ever read of such a small quantity as thirty grains, taken by mouth, having killed the person taking it? Never. There are cases on record of forty grains having been recovered from; and, as I said just now, one ounce has been taken internally, by mouth, and the person recovered.

222. Is it more powerful by the rectum than by mouth? No; the contrary. In the shape of a suppository it would have very little effect.

223. By Mr. Dick: In different poisons, sometimes when you give an over-dose, has it not an opposite effect to what it has in small quantities? You mean that it is not so injurious.

224. Yes? Some poisons taken by mouth in large quantities would not be so injurious, because they would be the cause of vomiting—a large quantity of arsenic, for instance, and many mineral poisons; but that is not the case with narcotic or narcotic acrid poisons.

225. It is not so with belladonna? No; quite the contrary. There are about a dozen poisons of that class, of which the more you take the worse the effect, because it stops vomiting, and is absorbed into the system—opium for instance, aconite, and others. There is no such thing with this class as an over-dose being less dangerous.

226. Is there no such thing as an over-dose of laudanum proving less dangerous? No; all narcotic poisons are more dangerous in proportion to the quantity taken.

227. Did you know anything of Mrs. Phillis Brown? No.

228. Were you in attendance at the time of the trial of Dr. Beer? No; I did not even know know Dr. Beer; he was quite a stranger to me. I know the circumstances of the case, and I wrote on it a letter in the Herald about five months after it occurred.

Julius
Berncastle,
Esq., M.D.

229. You have been some time in practice in Sydney? Six years. I have been in practice twenty years altogether.

230. I think I am correct in stating that your principal attention has been paid to diseases of the eye? Only lately; and in conjunction with general medical and surgical practice. All my life I have been in large general practice both at Home and abroad.

28 Nov., 1861.

231. Have you ever yourself administered belladonna in this Colony? Not in this Colony, not in the way it has been administered here. I never had any necessity for doing so; but I have in France and England, where I have practised. In both countries I have frequently had opportunities, in large hospitals, of observing the effects of belladonna. I have been surgeon to an hospital containing two hundred patients, where I have prescribed it.

232. You have prescribed it yourself? Yes.

233. But not in Sydney? Not to be taken per rectum, or as a medicine; I have applied it externally to the skin, but not given it internally, in Sydney.

234. I understood your evidence, as to its effects, to be founded upon what you had seen? Yes, I should any day not hesitate to give thirty grains, divided into six suppositories, to be administered every three or four hours, in one case; or I would give half, or if the case required it, the thirty grains in one dose. I consider that a proper dose to give, as a suppository, and I am supported by my own experience, by authorities in all countries, and by my knowledge of the harmless nature of that remedy applied as a suppository, where the absorbing surface is small, and where little of it is dissolved; if it be sought, it may be found next day weighing perhaps one quarter less than when introduced.

235. Would the fact of a woman being pregnant make any difference? If a woman were pregnant I would be rather more cautious in giving a large dose, because if it affected her injuriously it might affect the child. I have not been alluding to a person in the family-way; to such a person I would give ten grains instead of five, as a suppository.

236. Perhaps you are aware that at the time it was administered to Mrs. Brown, she was pregnant? Yes, consequently I consider the dose given a cautious dose. In the case of a person not so situated, the whole quantity I have stated might be given without the slightest danger.

237. Can you account for the fact of belladonna being but little used in this country by medical men? Yes; medical men generally follow the routine of remedies they have had experience of; and having used these remedies, such as henbane or opium, and found them beneficial, they do not care about going beyond them, and continue to give the same remedies. Even when they find it necessary to make a change some persons would be timid, fearing the remedy to be more dangerous than it really is, in cases where others, who know its effects by personal experience and constant practice, would give it in large quantity. For my own part I would take a piece as big as a nut and apply it to the rectum, and that would weigh perhaps sixty grains.*

238. What is the greatest dose you have seen given to be taken by mouth? By mouth it is very seldom given in any practice. I have seldom seen it given myself, but I should follow authorities, who state from one to five grains to be a proper dose—Pereira, Christisson, Royle, Thomson, and others, who all state that from one to five grains repeated three or four times a day is the proper dose. Dr. Bailey says he begins with three or four grains, reducing it from time to time.

239. In a liquid state? No, I am alluding to the extract. In the extract form Dr. Bailey advises—having given it in large quantities—three grains every four hours by mouth, gradually reducing the dose according to its effect. That is a very strong authority, shewing the innocuous nature of the drug to those who have experience of its action.

240. Did I understand you to say you wrote about this case? Yes, about five months after the trial. The day after the trial I read it in the paper, and I said at once it was the most infamous thing I knew of, and was in fact violent in my demonstrations. The German community, hearing of this through a Mr. Kirschbaum, a chemist, asked me why I did not write something about the case? I said, "No, I will not do that, but I will state to any public or private meeting what I say now." However, five months after, I wrote the letter I have alluded to.

241. Have you a copy of what you wrote with you? No; I have been looking for it in the Herald, but I have not been able to find it. It was signed "Justitia."

242. Whatever you wrote then under the name of "Justitia" you adhere to now? Yes.

243. You are aware of the ordinary questions that are asked of medical attendants when parties propose to insure their lives? Yes.

244. And I dare say you have answered them for the Liverpool and London Fire and Life Insurance Company? Yes.

245. Often? Not very often.

246. Several questions have been asked you in which the state of Mrs. Brown was mentioned? I recollect reading the report of the trial.

247. In asking questions Dr. Beer stated that she was suffering from certain diseases, and asked, supposing she had these, would you have thought five grains of belladonna too much. Now, supposing she was affected as he stated—supposing she was suffering from stricture—would you consider it a proper answer to an Insurance Company to say "None" to the following question:—"Is there then within your knowledge any circumstance connected " with her present or general state of health, or with her conformation of body, or habits " of life, or prevailing disposition, which in your judgment may tend to shorten her life, or " with

* Revised:—Thirty grains.

Bornecastle,
Esq., M.D.

"with which, although not specifically referred to in any of these queries, the directors "ought to be made acquainted"? Decidedly; because, assuming the disease not to be malignant, which means of a cancerous nature, there is nothing in stricture of the rectum calculated to shorten life, allowing the person to have the ordinary use of the rectum. I understood that the belladonna was given for spasmodic stricture of the rectum.

248. Perhaps you will read question number 9 as well—"Has the party whose life is to be assured had any of the following disorders, and when—* * *—stone, rupture, fistula, "or stricture"? The answer is "None"—is that a proper answer under the circumstances? The question is rather ambiguous. We generally mean, when speaking of stricture, stricture of the urethra. In speaking of stricture medical men do not take into consideration stricture of the rectum, which is not dangerous unless it be malignant; I should have understood that question to refer merely to stricture of the urethra, and have answered "No."

249. By the Chairman: When the person was a woman would that make no difference in your view of the case? The term "stricture" would apply to the urethra; if the other is meant it ought to be styled "disease of the rectum." I consider their printed form at fault.

250. By Mr. Faucett: When the word "stricture" is used generally, and you knew the person alluded to had stricture of the rectum, would you not mention that? If I knew she had stricture of the rectum I should probably say she had a harmless stricture of the rectum, unless, of course, it were malignant.

251. If you saw the word stricture there would you think of applying it to stricture of the rectum? No, I should always consider it as applying to stricture of the urethra. In speaking of stricture, without naming any organ, stricture of the urethra is implied.

252. By Mr. Dick: And therefore you think Dr. Beer made a proper answer? I should say so, supposing stricture of the urethra is meant by this. At the same time, if the party had stricture of the rectum, and the medical man knew it, he might answer that she had stricture of the rectum.

253. When these papers are submitted to medical men they are always considered to be in confidence? Yes.

254. And they are always expected to make a full and fair statement? Yes.

255. In answering such a question as this, you say you would have put stricture of the rectum? Well, some strictures are harmless. If the stricture consisted merely in the thickening of the parts, I should not have mentioned it.

256. Supposing there were a tumour of the vagina, would you consider that necessary to be mentioned? Yes.

257. Do you think it would be likely to shorten life? It might if it grew to any extent.

258. Supposing it were of some twelve months standing? It might be very harmless, or it might have a tendency to shorten life—according to circumstances.

259. Would you have stated that? Yes, if the question were asked generally had she any other disease.

260. You will find that at the end of the list—"Any other disease tending to shorten life?" If the tumour was tending to shorten life I should name it, but if it were merely a harmless one I should not. That would be in accordance with the form.

261. Supposing the woman to have a scirrhus tumour of the vagina, would you, as a medical man, have stated the fact in answer to that question? If the woman had a scirrhus tumour of the vagina, I should have so stated it, and said it was likely to shorten life—very likely indeed.

262. But you do not think stricture of the rectum in a pregnant woman likely to shorten life? No, her being pregnant would have nothing to do with it.

263. Nor would it have the slightest effect on the application of belladonna, nor influence you as to the dose you would give? In case of her being pregnant I should not give so strong a dose. When pregnant I would consider five grains a proper dose—a small dose; if not pregnant, from ten to thirty grains would not be an improper dose, because very little would be absorbed.

264. You are aware of the disease called "whites" to which women are subject? Yes.

265. Does it sometimes arise from previous disease? Generally speaking it arises from causes over which the females have no control, and is considered a harmless affair, something like a cold in the nose. About one quarter* of the female population throughout Europe have the "whites." It is not considered a disease; it is a normal state with many people.

266. Does it arise from weakness? Yes; from causes that produce debility.

267. It does not necessarily arise from disease? Not necessarily.

268. Is it frequently the consequence of disease? It would be a consequence sometimes of disease of the part.

269. Supposing a woman to have been suffering from the diseases we have mentioned—an ulcerated tumour of the vagina, and stricture of the rectum—would you consider, as a medical man, that you had given all the necessary information, when you simply stated that the woman had formerly had fluor albus or the so-called "whites"—would you think that answer would be sufficient to include the two diseases there mentioned? If she had a tumour of the vagina—a malignant scirrhus tumour—that would be the disease to name, and the other two to leave out.

270. Dr. Beer has stated in this document that Mrs. Brown formerly had fluor albus or so-called "whites"; now I ask you whether you think that answer would be sufficient to include the two diseases under which he admits she was suffering? The scirrhus tumour would be the proper disease to mention.

271. The "whites" does not include it? No. It would be hardly necessary to name fluor albus; it might be there one day and not the next; but scirrhus tumour comes under the head of disease likely to shorten life.

272. By Mr. Markham: If, under these circumstances, you had certified that the female had been affected with fluor albus, or whites, should you consider that would form an index to lead to a knowledge of the scirrhus tumour? No; because a large portion of females have it, and think nothing of it; it is looked upon like a cold in the nose would be.

273. Would it be a sufficient index to the medical officer of the Company to put him on his guard as to the presence of other diseases in connection with it? I think it would; because, in the case of a person having fluor albus, the medical officer might wish to ascertain the cause; it would be his business, being put on the scent, to find out what it arose from. I think it would be a very excellent indication to induce the medical officer of the Company to carry his investigation further.

274. By Mr. Faucett: I find the following in Mrs. Brown's deposition:—"Dr. Beer ordered me six pills, and told me to administer one every three hours; I was to introduce one as far as I could every three hours, and pass it into the bowels; before I put these into the bowels I felt the child move very strongly; it was moving when Dr. Beer was there; when I got the pills I introduced one into the bowels; it might have been between 7 and 8 o'clock when I inserted one; it altered the whole system of my body; my whole body was in pain; I felt in such pain that I tried to remove the pill from my body but I could not do it." Assuming that she has stated the truth, what was that pain caused by, in your opinion? It could not have been caused by the drug, unless by the extract becoming hardened, and so acting as a foreign substance, unconnected altogether with its medical effect. Belladonna is given to produce quite the contrary effect—to relieve pain.

275. Then you account for that only on mechanical causes? It must have been so, if caused by the pill at all.

276. Is it your opinion that the pains described in the extract I have just read, could not have been caused by the chemical effect of the drug as administered? Decidedly they could not, since it has quite the contrary effect, even in much larger quantities,—namely, to alleviate pain.

277. Do you speak from your own experience? Yes.

278. Recollecting that this woman was in a state of advanced pregnancy, is that your opinion? That has nothing to do with the question of the effect of the drug. My experience is, that it is impossible, positively impossible, for that drug to cause pain in that dose, or a larger dose, because its effect is to allay pain.

279. I will read a little further:—"All night I suffered; I had a heavy dull sensation; I felt sick." What did that arise from—of course, assuming, as before, that she spoke the truth? The women of this country, in that class of life, feel sick from so many causes, that it is scarcely possible to say. A woman in the family-way often feels sick from that cause alone.

280. When a pill of this kind had been applied, would she feel sick from that cause? She may have attributed it to that cause; but it probably arose from something else she had taken.

281. "My head was not then affected; in the morning, about 6 o'clock, I felt queer and heavy, and at 7 o'clock I introduced another, and then became sick in the stomach, and a heavy dead weight lay across the stomach, and there was no movement in the child." To what do you attribute those sensations? That bears the stamp of untruth upon it, because she says "there was no movement in the child," as if supposing the child to be dead; but the child was born alive. It is possible her sickness might have arisen from something she had eaten.

282. Do you attribute the sensations here described—supposing she spoke the truth—to something she might have taken, and not to the pill acting either mechanically or chemically? Decidedly.

283. By the Chairman: In point of fact, you think those symptoms had no reference whatever to the use of belladonna, as applied? Not the slightest; I do not believe it would produce those symptoms, given in any shape.

284. By Mr. Faucett: The deposition goes on again:—"I felt sick and giddy, and something like a skin came over my sight; this was almost immediately after taking the second pill." Are you still of opinion that the pills, either mechanically or chemically, had nothing whatever to do with these sensations;—do you say, as a medical man, that in your opinion these sensations were not in any way produced or caused by the application of these two pills, either by the mechanical or the chemical operation of the pills? I do not see that these two suppositories introduced in that way, could cause any symptoms arising from the excess of belladonna. She may have had sickness of the stomach, or any other symptoms accidentally, and it is unfair to attribute them to the belladonna because they were not otherwise accounted for. I do not believe so small a dose as five grains, in suppository, could produce any symptoms of poisoning by belladonna—which these are not, to begin with.

285. I will put the question again, and perhaps you will be kind enough to answer it as briefly as you can. Recollecting what I read before, what she says is this:—"I felt sick and giddy, and something like a skin came over my sight; this was almost immediately after taking the second pill." Now I ask you, as a medical man, is it your opinion that the sensations there described were in no way owing to the administration of the drug said to have been given, either chemically or mechanically? Without having seen the patient it is impossible to answer that question point blank. If I had seen whether the pupil was dilated by the belladonna, then I should have been able to give an opinion.

286. I will go on again:—"I was in bed at the time; my head was very much in pain; when I spoke it was with pain in the stomach and back; in the after part of Monday I vomited." I will just repeat again the same question. As a medical man, do you think the sensations here described were in any way owing to the administration of these two pills, either chemically or mechanically? I consider they had nothing to do with it.

287. "I had seen him in the meantime,"—I am reading still—"I cannot say whether he called on Monday or Tuesday; I did not vomit until he called; the vomit was a thick slimy matter, green and other colours, and afterwards blood." Is your answer the same? Yes, the same; understanding that she was expecting a miscarriage, these symptoms would be produced by the miscarriage.

288. "He told me to apply half a pill; that was applied; that made me become very sick, and I threw up blood." I ask again, is it your opinion that these sensations were in no way owing to the administration of these pills chemically or mechanically? They were quite unconnected with them.

289. "I had more pain still in the stomach, and when I spoke to the children it gave me much pain; I asked him how it could affect my head so much; he said I would miscarry; he said I ought to have applied them as he ordered; I said I could not." Assuming that that is a true account of what occurred between Mrs. Brown and Dr. Beer, would you say that intimated a knowledge on the part of Dr. Beer that he was applying an innocuous drug? I do not consider that those symptoms arose from the drug.

290. That is not an answer to my question. In your opinion, do the statements made by Dr. Beer—assuming that they were made—indicate on the part of Dr. Beer a knowledge that the drugs he was then applying were totally—I use the word totally—innocuous? You mean as given?

291. I mean as they had been applied up to that time. Do you think what is said to have occurred would indicate a knowledge on the part of Dr. Beer that the drugs applied up to that time had been innocuous? Yes, there was nothing to indicate that he was applying an improper dose, up to that time.

292. That is not the question? I do not understand your question then.

293. The question I ask is this:—Did the conduct of Dr. Beer, supposing that conduct to have taken place as stated here, indicate on the part of Dr. Beer a knowledge that the drugs up to that time applied were innocuous? Do you mean her statement that she had those symptoms?

294. Did his conduct, upon her statement, indicate on his part a knowledge that the drugs that had been applied by his directions up to this time had been innocuous? It did. He saw no reason to withdraw the drug, from what she stated, according to what you have read. These symptoms would arise from threatened abortion. There were no symptoms that the medicine was acting improperly. The vomiting was one of the symptoms of threatened abortion, which are very various and anomalous. Consequently he had a right to suppose that he was right in continuing his treatment, the medicine being given to stop the abortion.

295. Are you aware that she was threatened with abortion? I thought the belladonna was given to prevent the threatened abortion.

296. Was not the threatened abortion on his part? I understood he was sent for, on the part of the woman, to prescribe for threatened abortion.

297. "The sickness and vomiting continued until Wednesday; on that day I was in a dull heavy state, and perspired much; he sounded my stomach externally; he leant his ear on my stomach, and said the heart scarcely beat."—Still the symptoms, you think, were not owing in any way to the drug? Decidedly not. There were no symptoms of the drug having acted improperly. I consider these symptoms as not arising from the belladonna, but from the threatened abortion.

298. "He said I should miscarry; 'I will bring on a miscarriage, and will call to-morrow.'" Now I ask you does that statement of his, supposing this to have occurred, taken in connection with the symptoms she had described, indicate on his part a knowledge that the drugs had been innocuous, and had not been affecting her? I might doubt her veracity.

299. I am assuming her veracity—the jury decided that they believed her? I do not see for what reason he should alter his treatment, or whether it was necessary to say that the miscarriage would happen. He was called in to prevent a miscarriage, and I do not see the necessity for bringing one on.

300. Did that conduct of his intimate a knowledge on his part that the drugs had not produced some effect? It indicates a knowledge that the drug had not produced any evil effect. He had no reason to suppose, from that conversation, that the drug had produced any evil effect. He was giving, as I understood, the belladonna to prevent abortion.

301. Then why did he say he would bring it on? I cannot understand that. It may be error of print, or an untruth of the woman.

302. We assume its truth? Then it is contradictory. I assume that he would give belladonna to prevent abortion.

303. Might not his statement here, "I will bring on a miscarriage," shew that he believed the drug would bring it on? If he were to be considered as giving the drug to bring on a miscarriage, then that would be in accordance with the words he is stated to have used. We understood—at least I have always understood—that the drug was given to prevent miscarriage.

304. "I said, 'God forbid, let Providence take its course'; he said 'it must be done.'"—That does not shew that he was acting for the purpose of preventing a miscarriage? It is not worded so. It is a matter of the credibility of the witness.

305. We are assuming that she is the witness of truth? That is not a medical question.

Julius
Berncastle,
Esq., M.D.
28 Nov., 1861.

306. On the cross-examination of Mrs. Brown she said:—"I was then gone two or three months in the family-way; I said I was in the family-way; he said I was not." And again,—“It was after taking the second pill I felt the dizziness in the head; after taking the first I did not see Dr. Beer to ask him if I should take a second; all he did to me before I had these dull, heavy pains, always relieved me.” Do these statements at all alter your opinion? I see nothing there to shew that the dose of belladonna that he gave could have had any effect in bringing on abortion; consequently, whatever symptoms she may have felt, the dose could not have injured her health, as far as abortion was concerned. The medicine could not do that; it would prevent it.

307. Could it have had any other evil effect on the system? Not in that quantity.

308. What effect would it have? The effect of giving sleep, causing pain to disappear, the same as opium, only in a smaller degree; its effect is exactly the same as opium in that way. It is given throughout the continent of Europe, and particularly by the German physicians.

309. On some constitutions a very small quantity of opium will act, not as a sedative, but as an excitative, will it not? Yes.

310. Is it so with belladonna? In small doses belladonna would scarcely have any effect at all. If too small to do good, it would certainly not do any harm. It might actively hold the place perhaps of a remedy that would do good, and by not giving ease, of course it does harm in a negative manner; it would never do harm in the shape of poisoning the person. If given in double the quantity it might have done good, by giving her a good night's rest. Opium is much stronger than belladonna; you may take more liberties with belladonna than with opium. Dr. Beer ought to have given a larger dose to produce any effect.

311. Is that your opinion, that there was an error of judgment in giving too small a quantity? No; because a man cannot tell that it is too small until he sees the effect; it is progressive; he began with a fair dose to be followed up, but it was not followed up.

312. Why was it not followed up? I do not know. It appears he did not see her next day; so little did he think it dangerous that he did not see her next day. She had instructions to apply the suppository every three hours until the pain ceased, and if she had gone on applying more of them she would have found greater relief. The prima facie evidence of his writing a prescription shews that he had no evil intent. A man who has an evil design upon another does not write a prescription to be hawked about the town from one druggist to another, but he sends it from his own surgery slyly disguised. Here is a proof of the ingenuous manner in which Dr. Beer acted, that he wrote a proper prescription, and left her to take it where she would; and it did, in fact, so happen that she took it to a gentleman who was actually, I am told, not on good terms with Dr. Beer—I mean Mr. Elliott. It is a drug I would give myself under similar circumstances, most probably in much larger quantity. I should take it, in most cases, to apply as a suppository, without weighing it; I would take a piece as big as a nut.

313. Is it a drug used more by English physicians than by Continental physicians? It is rather more used by Continental physicians; they began with it and brought it into note, and now English physicians are using it; but some of the old practitioners keep to their old remedies, not liking to try those with which they are unacquainted. The Germans had given it long before we ever dreamt of doing so, and with great benefit. In that way nations borrow from one another. Belladonna has been overlooked by English surgeons, but its comparative harmlessness has been ascertained by all authors who have written upon it.

314. Do I understand you to say that the drug is harmless on all constitutions and under all circumstances? When I speak of the drug in that general way I do not, of course, include idiosyncracies which may affect particular individuals; as a general rule it is harmless in the doses I have alluded to and quoted from various authors.

315. By the Chairman: In these doses? In these doses.

316. By Mr. Faucett: That is, in the extremest dose given by Dr. Beer? Yes, it would be perfectly harmless in that manner.

317. It would produce no effect? No bad effect.

318. Except as a mere narcotic? Narcotic and anodyne. It would be perfectly harmless for that disease and in that manner.

319. By Mr. Markham: In the case of a woman in the family-way, belladonna administered as a suppository in the first instance, would have to be absorbed and circulated through the system before it could reach the fœtus? It must be absorbed. The woman would shew symptoms of its effect before the child could be affected.

320. Is tumour of the vagina a common disease? Not very.

321. Is it the reverse? It is rather rare.

322. The reason I ask is, that a medical man, with whom I was in conversation, said it was impossible, and that he had never heard of tumour of the vagina? Perhaps he had never seen one; I have seen perhaps a dozen. I have operated in this town on a lady for tumour of the vagina, of which, I have understood, she has since died—not in Sydney; I suppose it had grown again. It grew from the coats of the vagina.

323. It is not a common disease? It is not so common as in the uterus. In large hospitals it is seen frequently.

324. By Mr. Dick: Is it likely to shorten life? Not necessarily. If it were a malignant tumour, then it might be.

325. Scirrhus tumour we are speaking of? Scirrhus tumour is likely to shorten life; but many tumours are perfectly harmless.

326. I will just read you the statement that Dr. Beer makes on this point. (Statement read.) Supposing this to be a true representation of Mrs. Phillis Brown's complaint, do you think Dr. Beer made a fair and honest statement of her case to the Insurance Companies, in the answers he made to their inquiries? As I understood you, that took place in the early part of

Julius
Berncastle,
Esq., M.D.

28 Nov., 1861.

of his attendance on Mrs. Brown; and if they were cured by excision, which would prove them to be merely venereal and not dangerous to life, then there would be no necessity to talk about them in the proposal for life insurance.

327. I ask, having reference to his own statements of the state of her health, do you think he made a fair and honest reply to the Insurance Company? In pointing out merely the fluor albus, do you mean?

328. There is the reply, you will see what he says. I ask, taking the whole together, do you think he made a fair and honest statement to the Company as to the state of her health? I think, if she was cured at the time of this affection, which would shew it was merely venereal, then the answer was a proper one.

329. By Mr. Faucett: Perhaps you will be kind enough to refer to question 14, on page 15; referring more particularly to the past? Well, I do not know whether they require to be made acquainted with venereal complaints, which are not dangerous.

330. By Mr. Dick: I have read to you Dr. Beer's own statement, without any comment at all. Taking that to be a true statement of Mrs. Brown's health, I now ask you, putting these replies into your hand, whether he made in them a fair and honest statement to the Insurance Companies? Still you ought to furnish me with the date, to know when her health was in that state.

331. By Mr. Faucett: Assuming that a year had passed? Assuming that a year had passed, and she had had no relapse, I consider it a proper answer; if it were in the same year, I consider it an improper answer. I consider that if she had had venereal disease so recently as within the same year, on a policy being demanded, it should have been mentioned. But these condylomata would not shorten life, and I would not think it necessary to mention them; they are a perfectly accidental growth on the vagina, which is very unsightly, no doubt, but does not shorten life. If recent and recently removed, upon these questions coming in, I should say it should have been mentioned that she had been lately suffering from such a state of the vagina; because he would not then have the opportunity of knowing whether it would affect her health, which he would have had a year after.

332. I will assume this case to have occurred:—Suppose you find a person, either man or woman, suffering very severely from a syphilitic affection that you succeed in curing, as you believe permanently, and in twelve months afterwards you are asked your opinion, as medical referee, from a Company, and you find question 14 to be answered—would you, as a conscientious medical man, answer it in the way that question is answered at page 15 of these printed papers? I should think I would be rather inclined to mention it in the answer, to put them on the scent; I should say “better inquire as to venereal tendencies;” then the medical officer of the Company might fish it out. I should not do more; but of course that would be in the common course of things.

333. By Mr. Dick: At the time Dr. Beer gave these answers to the Company he was not what is termed a legally qualified medical practitioner, that is to say, he had not been passed by the Medical Board here;—supposing you were asked these questions, and you had not been a qualified practitioner under the Board here, would you have answered in the way Dr. Beer has answered—would the fact of your not being legally qualified have made any difference in your mode of giving answers to the Company; suppose the Company would not have acknowledged you as a legally qualified medical man, and had told you your certificate would only be accepted as that of an acquaintance of the party to be insured, would you have answered in a different manner? He could not change the form he was in; he was in the position of medical adviser, as far as the Insurance Office and the patient were concerned, and he was bound to answer truly—it should make no difference.

334. By the Chairman: Supposing that you were not recognized by the Medical Board, and supposing that the Company with which the insurance was about to be effected did not recognize you as a medical man, but simply appealed to you as an acquaintance, would that make any alteration in the mode in which you would give your evidence on the point? Decidedly not. As a medical practitioner, his honor is not altered by being passed by the Board; he had to give his answers according to his conscience; he made them in a medical capacity, and that could not affect them either way.

335. By Mr. Faucett: I suppose also that you, whether referred to as a friend or as a medical man, possessing the skill of a medical man, would give your answers in the same way? Such a thing could not have occurred. As a friend he would be asked different questions; if he was asked this printed medical form of questions, he must answer as a medical man.

TUESDAY, 3 DECEMBER, 1861.

Present:—

MR. FAUCETT,		MR. MARKHAM,
MR. GRAY,		MR. MORRICE.
MERION MORIARTY, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Dr. Beer present in the room.

Alexander M. Brown, Esq., M.D., called in and examined:—

A. M. Brown, 336. By the Chairman: You are a physician? I am.

Esq., M.D. 337. Practising your profession in Sydney? Yes.

338. How long have you been here? Seven years.

3 Dec., 1861. 339. Seven years in Sydney? Yes.

340.

340. You are, of course, what is called a qualified practitioner, passed by the Medical Board? Yes, I am legally qualified and a member of the Board. A. M. Brown,
Esq., M.D.
341. Have you been in the habit of using belladonna as a medicine? Very seldom.
342. Have you ever administered it? On two or three occasions. I have also taken it myself. 3 Dec., 1861.
343. Have you, in the practice of others, seen it administered? Very seldom; it is not a favourite remedy with English practitioners.
344. In what doses have you seen it administered or have you administered it yourself? I have given it, in the form of the extract, in quarter grain doses, only on two occasions, I think; and I have also prescribed it, as a prophylactic, to prevent the invasion of scarlatina, largely—to hundreds of inmates.
345. By Mr. Faucett: By largely, you mean to a large number of persons? Yes.
346. By the Chairman: What may be the number of persons to whom you have administered it as a prophylactic? I think as many as 270.
347. What was the extent of the dose administered in each case? From a forty-eighth to a twenty-fourth of a grain, in solution.
348. What was the age of the persons to whom it was administered? The inmates ranged from three to fifteen years of age, and some adults, officers connected with the institution, were supplied with the doses.
349. What was the largest proportion you gave to any adult, the twenty-fourth part of a grain? That was the largest proportion given to any inmate.
350. To any inmate? To any inmate, young or old.
351. Where was it? The Randwick Destitute Children's Asylum, of which I have been medical superintendent for some years.
352. Did you observe any results from the administration of these doses? I took particular notice, and in only one case did I observe the physiological effects, and that went no further than dilatation of the pupils, but it continued for, I think, a couple of days.
353. How often during the day was the dose administered? It was given twice a day, morning and evening, twice in the twenty-four hours, for a short time, and then it was given once a day.
354. Was there any efflorescence on the skin—did you push it to that extent? I think, in this particular case, there was slight dryness of the throat, but no alteration of the skin, so far as I remember. There was distinct dilatation of the pupil, and the throat was affected.
355. Have you ever used belladonna as a suppository, or in the form of an injection? Never, and I have not seen it used as such.
356. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Do you consider Pereira as a good authority in medicine? I should imagine he is a first class authority.
357. Is Christieson another good authority? We consider Christieson quite equal to Pereira as an authority.
358. If Christieson or Pereira have stated that the administration of belladonna to the extent of from one to five grains is a medium dose, would you consider that a justification to any medical practitioner to use it to that extent? Surely not as a medium dose. If the minute doses I have spoken of produced the physiological symptoms I mentioned, I should hesitate in giving doses of five grains, notwithstanding those authorities. I should hesitate in giving these so-called medium doses, even on the authority of Pereira, or Christieson, if they do say so.
359. Supposing Dr. Bailey had stated that it may be administered in doses of from one to five grains, would you consider his authority sufficient? Surely not, as a general practice; I should not be induced to do so, from what I have seen of it.
360. Not on the authority of Dr. Matthew Bailey? Not as a medium dose by the mouth.
361. If Bailey had asserted, as a matter of fact coming within his own personal experience, that belladonna may be given in doses of from one to five grains, you would not consider that a sufficient justification to any medical man to order the same prescription? There might be cases in which he would be justified in giving very large doses, but I could not look on from one to five grains as medium doses.
362. By Mr. Markham: Would there be any difference in the administration of belladonna by the mouth or as a suppository—would it have a different action? It would have a more powerful effect given by the stomach than in the form of injection or suppository by the rectum.
363. Given as a suppository by the rectum, would it be as likely to be taken up by the absorbents as by the mouth? Much less likely.
364. Is it difficult of solution or otherwise? It is easy of solution in water—very easily dissolved.
365. Would a suppository be likely to remain in the rectum for any time after being inserted? I think there is nothing that would cause the expulsion of a belladonna suppository or injection sooner than any other.
366. It would be likely to remain some time? It would be likely to remain.
367. Would it be probable that the whole of the belladonna contained in a suppository would come in contact with the tissue during the time it would remain in the rectum? It would become dissolved in course of time—an hour or two perhaps; every portion ought to come in contact with the mucous membrane of the rectum.
368. You are of opinion that it would become dissolved in an hour or two? It might not so completely as in water; but still, unless changed, the whole suppository must become dissolved.
369. There would be no probability of its remaining a day or two or three days in the rectum without becoming dissolved? It would be possible, if the rectum were very dry.

- A. M. Brown, Esq., M.D.
3 Dec., 1861.
370. And in that case the whole amount administered would not come in contact? It would not. We often see that with very hard pills.
371. By the Chairman: Supposing there were a scirrhus state of the rectum? I suppose in that case there would be a continual oozing of the discharge, which would encourage the solution of the suppository more rapidly.
372. In that case would not the natural tendency be to pass the suppository? A portion of it.
373. It would find its way out, not up? It might; we are speaking of the possibility of its being retained.
374. I am speaking of its being dissolved; you said that if there was any increased action of the mucous membrane that would tend to increase its solvent powers, and in that case would the effect be to pass outwardly, or into the system, up the rectum? A small portion might ooze away; but I think, as a rule, the bowels would not act entirely in expelling it, or any great part of it.
375. You have never used it as a suppository, and you will not undertake to say what its effects would be? I have never used it. I have seen similar cases, but never used belladonna in those cases.
376. What proportion ought to exist between a dose of any drug administered by suppository and a dose administered by mouth? I would only give four or five times the quantity in suppository.
377. By Mr. Markham: You would increase the quantity four or five times? Yes, that might be done with safety.
378. By the Chairman: Take opium for example—if you administered one grain of opium by mouth, you would administer five by suppository? Yes, or six.
379. By Mr. Markham: What effect would belladonna have upon the system—would it produce pain or allay it? It produces coma, and its continued action would produce death.
380. Has it a tendency to create pain or allay it? It would act as an anodyne to allay pain; it is administered to allay irritation.
381. In the case of a married woman in a state of pregnancy, would it have a tendency to produce abortion, or would it be likely to be applied to produce abortion? I should think not; I never heard of such a thing.
382. By the Chairman: You look upon belladonna as a direct sedative? As a direct sedative.
383. Narcotic and sedative? Yes, narcotic.
384. By Mr. Markham: Administered as a suppository, would it be necessary for the belladonna to become dissolved and taken up by the absorbents and passed through the system of the mother before it would affect the fetus in the womb? I should imagine its effects would prove fatal in that very mode; absorption would be necessary; it would affect the child through the mother.
385. It must first affect the mother before it could affect the child? Yes, unless it disagreed with the stomach; powerful vomiting, spasms, or anything of that kind, might produce abortion independently of the belladonna.
386. What I wished to ask was, whether, administered as a suppository, it could in any manner affect the child without passing through the system of the mother? I feel satisfied it would not.
387. I suppose you have been applied to as medical referee, in cases of applications for policies of insurance? Yes, frequently.
388. If you knew that a person whose life was to be insured had had a syphilitic tumour or a scirrhus tumour of the vagina, whose constitution had not been very good, and supposing you were not a member of the Sydney Medical Board, would it make any difference in the reply which you would give to the Insurance Company on the questions submitted to you—in fact, if you were told by the Insurance Company that your statement, not being in the case supplied that of a legally qualified medical practitioner, would be taken for what it was worth as that of a personal friend of the party concerned—would that make any difference in the report you would make? Not if the truth were to be told; I should think that ought to have no influence whatever.
389. By the Chairman: It would, in point of fact, make no difference with you, whether you were appealed to as referee or as an ordinary witness acquainted with the state of the party? It would not.
390. By Mr. Faucett: As a medical man, though not a member of the Medical Board, would you, in such a case, make your answers more full than you otherwise would do? It would be more satisfactory.
391. By Mr. Markham: If you knew this woman had had fluor albus, and you signified such to be the case, would you think that a sufficient index to the medical adviser of the Insurance Company to ascertain the existence of any other disease in the same region? I think not.
392. You would not think it sufficient merely to state that, had you known that any other diseases had been in existence; for instance, if the fluor albus arose from syphilitic disorder? If it were simply stated that the person had fluor albus, that would not be sufficient to point out any other disease; fluor albus is a very common disorder, and not necessarily connected with syphilis at all, and not arising from it.
393. Not necessarily, except by debilitating the system? Only in that way.
394. By Mr. Faucett: Not affecting the general health? Not producing perversion of the constitution.
395. By Mr. Markham: Then you are of opinion that it would not be a sufficient index where you knew other diseases existed? I state that simply as a fact, but it would be wrong wrong to attach any importance to it, if it did not depend upon some serious state of the system. A. M. Brown,

Esq., M.D.

396. If you knew that such a state of the system had existed, do you think you would be justified in stating it or withholding it? I think it would be necessary to mention it. We are told to furnish all the information which the questions require, and I presume in all cases we do when we are intrusted with the duty of filling up a certificate.

8 Dec., 1861.

397. By Mr. Faucett: May I ask of what College you are a member? Of the Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons, Glasgow.

398. By Mr. Markham: Suppose you were aware that this woman had had scirrhus tumour or syphilitic tumour, that this had been removed, and that she was otherwise affected—that she had evidently had an attack of syphilis—if asked this question:—“Is there then within your knowledge any circumstance connected with her present or general state of health, or with her conformation of body, or habits of life, or prevailing disposition, which, in your judgment, may tend to shorten her life, or with which, although not specifically referred to in any of these queries, the directors ought to be made acquainted?”—would you have answered “None”? We are bound to comply with the questions, and give full information, as far as lies in our power.

399. You would not have answered “None”? Certainly not.

400. By Mr. Faucett: Will you be good enough to recollect now that we are talking of a woman in a state of pregnancy, and that the suppositories administered contained five grains of belladonna each—we will begin with that: will you be kind enough to read this statement as made by the woman herself, and, assuming that she states what is true—that is, that she describes her sensations truly—will you be good enough to answer the question I shall ask you,—“I was to introduce one as far as I could every three hours, and pass it into the bowels; before I put this into the bowels I felt the child move very strongly; it was moving when Dr. Beer was there; when I got the pills I introduced one into the bowels; it might have been between seven and eight o'clock; when I inserted one it altered the whole system of my body; my whole body was in pain; I felt in such pain that I tried to remove the pill from my body but could not do it; all night I suffered; I had a heavy, dull sensation; I felt sick; my head was not then affected.” Now the question I wish to ask is this—To what, under the circumstances, would you attribute the sensations that are there stated? Am I to understand that she was not a sound person—that she was a patient suffering from malignant disease of the rectum?

401. I will read a former portion of her evidence? I merely wish to know whether she was a healthy or diseased person.

402. She has been described as delicate. However, I will read a former part of her evidence: “He felt it, and said I was with child; since June last, excepting my being in the family-way, my health has been better than with the last child; on Sunday, the 10th February last, I sent for Dr. Beer; he saw me professionally; I had been out on the Saturday night, 9th February, got wet, and had taken cold; on the Sunday I could scarcely sit or stand, and was very much alarmed; I did not know what it was; I thought I was very queer, and thought something was going wrong, Dr. Beer having told me I should miscarry; after I had gone 4 months he said I should ‘never go my time’; that was said past 4 months ago; I saw him about 4 or 5 o'clock on Sunday evening; when he came he said, ‘Is it in earnest?’ I said, ‘Yes, doctor, I am very ill’; I told him that I thought the hand or the foot of the child was going backwards; he sat down and began to write, and I said, ‘Do, doctor, see me before you write, for there is something wrong’; he examined me; he said, ‘If you wish it’; I went into the bed-room, and he saw me and made an examination of me; he gave me ease almost immediately; he did something with his hand; I gave two screams, and I then became easier; I asked him what it was; he said it was the piles; I was then close on eight months with child, or between seven and eight months; he said it was the piles; I said, ‘Is it only that?’ he said ‘That would be had enough if I only had them’; he came out and sat down at the table for a length of time, seeming to be in thought; I told him I had almost prayed for death, I had suffered so much; he said I should not get over it; Mr. Brown came in; the doctor said something to him, wrote a prescription, and then handed it to Mr. Brown; I had never suffered from piles and did not know what they were; he might have been at my place about half an hour; I felt easier immediately, and have not since had any return of what then occurred; my boy took this prescription to Mr. Elliott’s; Dr. Beer ordered me six pills, and told me to administer one every three hours”—and then follows what I read before; perhaps that will give you an idea of the state of the patient. Will you be good enough to state to what you would attribute the sensations the woman described in the portion I first read, assuming that they existed? She was then in an unsound state. Supposing she was not miscarrying, she was suffering from piles, I presume.

403. She says not? She said she was not suffering from piles?

404. So she says? Well, then, presuming she were in a perfectly healthy state at the time, the belladonna would very likely produce nausea and slight sickness.

405. I did not wish to put the question so directly, now I will put it directly:—Do you attribute the sensations that have been described, in any degree, to the administration of belladonna?

[The Chairman objected to the question. Witness requested to withdraw. Committee deliberated. Witness recalled.]

406. You have heard the symptoms described—to what do you attribute those sensations, supposing them to have been properly described? I could not say.

407. You will recollect she had taken one pill, and the state she was in, as described in the former part of the paragraph? I asked if she was suffering, and you were not prepared to say she was.

A. M. Brown,
Esq., M.D.

3 Dec., 1861.

408. I am only prepared to read what I have before me. Assuming that what I have read was stated by her on oath, and that she has stated the truth? If she was suffering from an attack of piles it is just possible enough that the piles occasioned this pain, but in a sound person, the administration of a single belladonna suppository of five grains would hardly do it. I could not give an opinion as to what was the cause of the pain.

409. "All night I suffered; I had a heavy dull sensation; I felt sick; my head was not then affected; in the morning about six o'clock I felt queer and heavy, and at seven o'clock I introduced another, and then became sick in the stomach, and a heavy dead weight lay across the stomach, and there was no movement in the child." To what do you attribute these symptoms? The dullness, heaviness, and nausea?

410. Yes? If she had taken one suppository of belladonna, and was otherwise sick, it is more than possible the belladonna assisted in producing the heaviness, and assisted in causing the sickness; but the pain I should be at a loss to account for, unless as a symptom of the disease she was suffering under, being piles.

411. I will read on still further:—"I felt sick and giddy, and something like a skin came over my sight; this was almost immediately after taking the second pill; I was in bed at the time; my head was very much in pain; when I spoke it was with pain in the stomach and back; in the after part of Monday I vomited." Now, taking all these things together, to what do you attribute the sensations described, supposing them to be described accurately? And in a healthy person?

412. I cannot say. I do not think she appears to have been a healthy person; the evidence rather appears to shew that she was not quite healthy? That makes a vast difference. If otherwise diseased, the belladonna might have assisted in producing nausea; it would not have produced the pain. Drowsiness, heaviness, and a film over the eyes, might certainly be present where belladonna was administered in quantity sufficient to affect the system. I attach no importance at all to the movement of the foetus ceasing—none whatever.

413. She continues—"I had seen him in the meantime; I can't say whether he called on Monday or Tuesday; I did not vomit until he called; the vomit was a thick, slimy matter, green and other colours, and afterwards blood; he told me to apply half a pill; that was applied; that made me become very sick, and I threw up blood; I had more pain still in the stomach, and when I spoke to the children it gave me much pain; I asked him how it could affect my head so much; he said I would miscarry." Without reference to what he stated, to what do you attribute the symptoms, assuming that they existed as described? The sickness and continued headache?

414. Yes? I have no doubt they depended on the administration of belladonna; but she could not have been healthy otherwise; she must have been miscarrying, suffering from irritation of the rectum, disease of the vagina, or other cause; but that gives you a confused idea of what would be the action of belladonna on a healthy person.

415. Then do you attribute these sensations of illness, sickness, and vomiting, in any degree to the administration of belladonna as described? I certainly should, to a certain extent. If she were weak and unhealthy at the time, and belladonna were given in these quantities, it would produce heaviness and nausea.

416. Will you tell me how a drug intended to produce abortion operates? Cathartics, (purgatives for instance), all medicines which disagree with the digestive system, and produce violent purging, spasms, pain, sickness, and excessive vomiting, will tend towards inducing abortion.

417. I imagine that what you have described would be producing abortion by mechanical means? By mechanical means.

418. That is, the action of the medicine operating upon the woman mechanically would affect the foetus? Yes; but none would go out of their way to give belladonna, because, though belladonna, like alcohol, will produce vomiting, it does not do so as a general rule.

419. Would belladonna affect life? Yes, as a poison.

420. Do you think the application of five grains, without any previous preparation by gradual doses, would affect life? How often repeated.

421. Six pills were ordered of five grains each, one every three hours; would these pills, in your opinion, as a medical man, affect life, if administered? I am of opinion that they would be injurious, given at such short intervals, but a suppository of five grains would not be injurious to life. What I mean to say is, that the quantity contained in one suppository is not extreme.

422. Would six pills, each pill containing five grains of belladonna, administered as a suppository, one every three hours, on such a subject as you have heard described, tend to affect life? Yes, I think that no practitioner would be justified in giving thirty grains of belladonna at such short intervals, without expecting that his patient would suffer.

423. Is it your opinion that the administration of six pills of five grains each, one every three hours, would or would not be dangerous to the life of the patient? I should certainly say, from what I know, and from what I have seen, that they would be dangerous to life if retained.

424. By the Chairman: Supposing they had not been given? Then, of course, they could do no harm.

425. And suppose they were ordered conditionally? I should imagine they must have been ordered conditionally.

426. Supposing, as a matter of fact, they were ordered conditionally, would the same answer apply to the state of the case then? Certainly not.

427. Assuming that the whole statement of the woman, as to her feelings, was a mere fiction; is there anything in the administration of the medicine spoken of to cause such symptoms as have been described? If she were a healthy individual I should not have looked for the class of symptoms she is said to have suffered from; if diseased and weak, things might have been precisely as she has stated there.

428. By Mr. Markham: Supposing the person to be suffering from stricture of the rectum or piles, do you think this would be a safe prescription—six suppositories of five grains each, one every three hours—taking all the circumstances into consideration? In a state accompanied with irritation or a painful condition of the rectum, English practitioners might, in many instances I believe, order suppositories containing the same amount of belladonna, but they would not, I apprehend, be justified in adding these instructions which I find accompanying the prescription—“One suppositorium is to be introduced when the pains are excessive, and repeated every three hours if required.” I imagine that means, that they may be more frequently introduced—more frequently than every three hours.
429. Would you consider the prescription a proper prescription? The quantity for each suppository is not too great, but the directions I apprehend no English practitioner would write; he would scarcely give doses of belladonna every three hours, or as this would seem to imply, more frequently if necessary.
430. We understand it to mean that the first was to be introduced when the pain was excessive, and that the others were to follow at intervals of three hours if they should be required? It does not read so.
431. By Mr. Gray: Do you consider three hours too short a time to intervene between the administration of the doses? Of these doses I think it is too short a time.
432. Without particular attention, I suppose you mean? With any amount of attention.

A. M. Brown,
Esq., M.D.
3 Dec., 1861.

Frederick Milford, Esq., M.D., called in and examined:—

433. By the Chairman: Have you been in the habit of using belladonna? I have used it.
434. In the form of the extract? In the form of the extract.
435. In what dose have you usually administered it to adults? Per vaginam, which is the only way I have used it internally, I have administered it in five-grain doses twice a day; but I had reason to suppose, from what the woman told me, in the case to which I allude, that some of it escaped.
436. Have you ever seen the evil effects of an over-dose of belladonna? Never.
437. You have never seen it administered internally? I have never seen the extract administered internally.
438. Any other form of it? Yes, I have seen the liquor belladonnæ of Batley used internally.
439. To what extent? I have administered it in cases of whooping cough to children; to a child six months old I administered a twelfth of a drop.
440. By Mr. Faucett: What relation has that to a grain? I cannot answer that.
441. It is a minute portion? Yes, very minute. All Batley's medicines are patent, and the secret of their preparation is only known to himself.
442. By the Chairman: With respect to the extract, have you ever seen the extract used except in the case you have referred to? I have seen it used, melted with lard, to make a plaster for external application for the purpose of relieving pain—neuralgic pain and other pains; but I have never given it internally.
443. You never saw any bad effects result from its application? No.
444. You never saw anything like poisoning as the effect of belladonna in any shape or way? No.
445. By Mr. Markham: When you administered the five grains per vaginam, did you notice any particular effects? No physiological effects, but I found that, although previous to the administration of the belladonna the woman had been suffering acute pain, which did not yield to all the ordinary modes of treatment, yet under that treatment the pain ceased and left her.
446. Is it your opinion that belladonna would be likely to produce pain or to relieve it? It relieves pain, decidedly; in no way does it produce pain.
447. By the Chairman: The application of the remedy in the case you allude to was with the view of allaying pain in the uterus? Yes, that is all, in scirrhus disease.
448. By Mr. Markham: You did not notice any effect on the pupil of the eye? No, no physiological effect. I should say that I have used belladonna also for the purpose of dilating the pupil, constantly, in the form of the preparation of the salts of belladonna, for dropping into the eye.
449. Do you consider Pereira a good authority on poisons? I should say he is as good an authority as there is in the medical literature of England.
450. Thompson? Yes, and Taylor.
451. Would you hesitate to act on the suggestions of either of these authorities, in the administration of belladonna or any drug? I would not think that because one of those books recommended it I should be altogether justified in using large doses of any particular drug of a very potent character.
452. By the Chairman: If there was any adverse testimony against it? Just so.
453. Supposing the late Dr. Matthew Bayly—? He is a very good authority.
454. Supposing Dr. Bayly had said that the extract of belladonna, in given doses, was safe and proper, what would be your opinion as to that as an authority? If I wanted to use it myself, and somebody else had told me it was not right and proper, I would commence to use it in small doses and go on gradually to larger, because there are certain idiosyncracies in which some drugs act much more powerfully.
455. What is the ordinary dose of the tincture of opium to an adult? Twenty-five drops.
456. Supposing a physician should say, “give her six hundred drops meo periculo,” what should you say? I should say “good morning”; I would have nothing to do with it.

F. Milford,
Esq., M.D.
3 Dec., 1861.

F. Milford,
Esq., M.D.

3 Dec., 1861.

457. Supposing you saw those six hundred drops administered on the spot, and another six hundred drops repeated on the same authority? I should say in that case, that the patient's constitution had become used to the medicine, having had the drug administered for some time previously, so that the system had become used to it. Six hundred drops would kill anyone in ordinary circumstances.

458. By Mr. Faucett: Take the case of a woman seven or eight months gone with child;—she complains of illness; the doctor is called in; he examines her, and says it is the piles, and he prescribes for her. This is her evidence:—"Dr. Beer ordered me six pills, and told me to administer one every three hours; I was to introduce one as far as I could every three hours and pass it into the bowels; before I put these into the bowels I felt the child move very strongly; it was moving when Dr. Beer was there; when I got the pills I introduced one into the bowels; it might have been between seven and eight o'clock when I inserted one; it altered the whole system of my body; my whole body was in pain; I felt in such pain that I tried to remove the pill from my body; all night I suffered; I had a heavy, dull sensation; I felt sick, my head was not then affected; in the morning, about six o'clock, I felt queer and heavy, and at seven o'clock I introduced another, and then became sick in the stomach, and a heavy, dead weight lay across the stomach, and there was no movement in the child; I felt sick and giddy, and something like a skin came over my sight; this was almost immediately after taking the second pill; I was in bed at the time; my head was very much in pain; when I spoke, it was with pain in the stomach and back; in the after part of Monday I vomited; I had seen him in the meantime; I can't say whether he called on Monday or Tuesday; I did not vomit until he called; the vomit was a thick, slimy matter, green and other colours, and afterwards blood; he told me to apply half a pill; that was applied; that made me become very sick, and I threw up blood; I had more pain still in the stomach, and when I spoke to the children it gave me much pain; I asked him how it could affect my head so much; he said "I should miscarry." Now, having heard these symptoms described, supposing the person describing them to be speaking the truth, to what would you attribute the sensations so described. These pills or suppositories, we are told, contained each five grains of belladonna? "My whole body was in pain." Certainly it would not cause the whole body to be in pain. "I felt in such pain that I tried to remove the pill from my body." It would not produce any pain about the rectum certainly. "I had a heavy, dull sensation." That is the peculiar sensation produced by belladonna, no doubt; and any large dose of a narcotic might produce sickness, but it would also, in causing sickness, produce an effect upon the head, and she says here "my head was not then affected." She says "I felt sick and giddy, and something like a skin came over my sight." I do not know what she meant by that, but the sickness and giddiness might have been produced by belladonna, or they might have been produced by some other cause. Some of these symptoms might have been produced by belladonna, and some could not have been produced by it.

459. The symptoms of pain could not? No, they could not.

460. The other symptoms? I do not think she would feel sick at the stomach, from the administration of belladonna, without feeling her head at the same time affected; so that I do not think the sickness there was produced by it. I should say that this dull, heavy state, with sickness and vomiting, might have been produced by it or might have proceeded from other causes.

461. Could the symptoms you have read, assuming that they did exist, have had any effect in producing abortion, or could they in any way tend towards producing abortion? I do not think that abortion could be produced in that way; I rather think not. It might be produced by exciting the uterus.

462. I ask with reference to these symptoms—could they, supposing they actually existed, have tended to produce abortion? Any illness might have a tendency towards producing abortion, but I do not think the illness described here would have that tendency more than any ordinary illness.

463. Would these symptoms at all tend to affect life? Yes, they would have a tendency towards affecting life in a woman in that peculiar state—sickness and throwing up blood.

464. By the Chairman: Do you connect these symptoms in any way with the administration of the drug? I have never seen any bad effects from the administration of the drug, and therefore I am unable to say anything more than what I have learnt from studying medical works.

465. Supposing you wanted to procure abortion, would it ever occur to you to adopt that method of effecting the object? No, I should not, in a legitimate mode.

466. Supposing your object was to produce abortion, no matter with what intention, would it ever occur to you to adopt that means of effecting your object? Certainly not.

467. By Mr. Markham: This woman states in her evidence, "my whole body was in pain," and immediately afterwards that her head was not then affected; would it be possible for belladonna to cause the whole body to be in pain and at the same time not affect her head? No, I think the head would be first affected. I do not think belladonna under any circumstances would produce pain. I think it would first act upon the nervous centres before affecting the body at all, and particularly upon the brain.

468. Then, in your opinion, her statement is inconsistent with the action of belladonna? Yes, without she had been suffering acute pain before, and she refers to that. It would certainly not produce pain.

Charles Ferdinand Eichler, Esq., M.D., called in and examined:—

469. By the Chairman: You are a member of the medical profession? Yes, a Doctor of Medicine from Heidelberg, and a Member of the College of Surgeons of London.
470. How long have you been a member of the London College? Four years.
471. How long is it since you graduated? That was a month before.
472. Where did you study medicine? At Marburg and Heidelberg.
473. Were you an attendant on the hospitals of London? No, I visited them.
474. You did not attend regularly as a pupil? No.
475. Have you been in the habit of seeing belladonna applied? I have; I was surgeon to an hospital in Germany three years before I came here.
476. In what part of Germany? Fulda.
477. What number of patients were there as a general average? 120 to 150.
478. You have seen belladonna frequently administered? Yes.
479. In what particular cases? To allay pain—principally externally. I have given it internally in whooping cough to children, and sometimes as a prophylactic for scarlatina.
480. Have you seen any particular result from it when used in that way? I believe it has some effect as a prophylactic.
481. Did it produce any efflorescence on the skin? No, I have not seen that; scarlatina had not actually set in; when it did I have known it run very mild, and sometimes it did not set in at all with some children.
482. Have you ever seen it used internally, except as a prophylactic? In whooping cough I have given it myself.
483. By Mr. Faucett: In what proportion? In powder of the root, from a quarter of a grain to two grains; and in infusion of the leaves, six or eight grains.
484. By the Chairman: Have you ever seen it used in the form of extract? Yes, the extract is frequently used in Germany, principally in ointment for dilatation of the mouth of the womb in labour; the extract is mixed with lard in the form of ointment and introduced. Besides that, I have seen it used and used it myself in stricture of the anus, and in painful fissures, particularly in spasmodic strictures; in the form of bougies in strictures, but in fissures I have used it and seen it used in the form of ointment; also in cases of piles.
485. By Mr. Faucett: How have you seen it applied in cases of piles? As ointment.
486. What would you consider a sufficient dose, in the form of suppository, with a view to allay irritation of the rectum and uterus? I should say from two to five grains.
487. Would you consider it improper to repeat a dose of that kind after the lapse of twelve hours? No; but if I gave it in large doses of five grains, I would watch the effect, and I would not like to repeat it before six hours. Narcotics are seldom given more frequently than at intervals of four or six hours.
488. It is the usual practice among medical men to watch the effects of large doses of powerful medicines of this kind? Yes.
489. Suppose five grains, which you say you consider a large dose, in suppository—? Yes.
490. Suppose a patient were ordered six pills, to be applied as suppositories in that form, each containing five grains, one to be introduced when the pains were excessive, and repeated every three hours if necessary—how long would you think it safe to leave the patient without seeing her—the patient being a woman in the seventh or eighth month of her pregnancy? I certainly would only let her have perhaps two doses without seeing her.
491. How many hours would you leave her? I would see her if possible after the first dose had been given some hours, perhaps after four or six hours. I would not have ordered it every three hours—perhaps every six hours.
492. Be good enough to look at that prescription (prescription as printed); there is a mistake as to the quantity of belladonna, it should be five grains for every suppository; five grains is admitted to be contained in each. The patient, you will understand, is seven or eight months in pregnancy, she is complaining of illness, and that is ordered her by the physician who has seen her; how long would you consider it safe to leave her after having ordered such a prescription as that? I should certainly have seen her after the second dose was given.
493. After about how many hours? About six hours; that would be the longest.
494. How soon would you consider it your duty, as a medical man, to call, after ordering that prescription? I would consider it my duty to see her after the first dose, to see the effect of the first dose.
495. About how many hours after she had taken the first dose? A few hours—a couple of hours.
496. Supposing the six pills you see described there were taken, one every three hours, would you consider that they would have any tendency whatever, one way or the other, towards affecting the patient's life? Yes, they might.
497. How so, would they be dangerous or would they not be? If she had taken the six, I think it would be most dangerous.
498. If the six pills were to be taken, as described in that prescription, do you think they would have any effect, one way or the other, on the life of the fœtus? They might have killed the fœtus as well as the mother; but I do not think they would have produced miscarriage. The mother would have died perhaps before the child, or both together.
499. By Mr. Markham: Do you consider belladonna difficult or easy of solution? Yes.
500. How long would it be probable for the suppository to remain in the rectum without being dissolved? It might last a couple of hours; it depends upon the suppository itself, how it is made up; that would not dissolve so readily, sapo medicatus, as when mixed with oil or lard. If the extract were injected, dissolved in water, it would be absorbed much quicker than when made into pills; this sometimes gets quite hard and dry.

- C. F. Eichler, Esq., M.D.
3 Dec., 1861.
501. Formed as it is there? It may last a couple of hours before it dissolves.
502. Is it your opinion that the whole of the belladonna contained in one of those suppositories would come in contact with the tissue? Yes, I think it would come in contact with the tissue, but I do not think it would be all absorbed.
503. What is the action of belladonna on the human system—is it calculated to produce pain or to allay it? To allay pain; it acts with a stupifying effect.
504. Did you ever see the case of an over-dose? No, but I have heard often of it. It acts on the brain, on the eyes particularly.
505. If a person were to state that it had produced very great pain in the system, and yet had not affected the head, would you think that a consistent statement? No.
506. In the case of a woman pregnant, would it be necessary for the belladonna contained in the suppository to be first absorbed and pass through the system of the woman before it could reach the fetus? It would be necessary that it should first be absorbed.
507. Would it, as a natural consequence, affect the mother before affecting the child? Yes.
508. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Do you know this German medical work (producing the volume) by Oesterlin? Yes.
509. Would you think it right to be guided by it? Yes.
510. Do you know this also, by Martin Wilhelm Plagge, printed in 1847? I know it by name, but I have never studied it.
511. By the Chairman: You know the character of the work? No, I never studied it.
512. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): If Plagge states that in painful piles, suppositories of belladonna of ten grains each may be used, would you think it right to follow him? I know that a French doctor recommends, for spasmodic stricture of the rectum, half an ounce of cerate and one drachm of belladonna in ointment; and some other French authority says he took twenty grains, and repeated it every two hours, and though he certainly felt a strong effect from the belladonna, it did not kill him. Another took nine grains and three quarters, and felt a deadly feeling in the urinary and genital parts, and had all the effects of narcotics, in want of strength, great enlargement of the pupil, and so on. It has been given in drachm doses, but you cannot depend upon the strength of the doses exactly. Oesterlin states that a drachm has been swallowed, but it did not produce any other symptoms but a film over the eyes.
513. Do you consider Trousseau, Labordette, Leclere, Lebreton, Blakett, Plagge, and Oesterlin, good authorities? Yes; they are well known authorities.
514. By Mr. Faucett: Does the climate here make any difference in the application of the drug? No, unless that the extract is very seldom long good; it gets sooner spoiled.
515. It loses its poignancy, and therefore becomes less dangerous? Yes. I do not think five grains too large a dose—I do not think that at all; but it is a large dose, and I certainly would have watched the effect. English doctors have very often given large doses in cases of tetanus. Hutchinson has given five-grain doses with benefit. It has been given in hydrophobia, in English hospitals; they have given twenty grains.
516. Is not giving so large a dose as that in hydrophobia a mere experiment? I think so.

William John Anderson, Esq., F.R.C.S., called in and examined:—

- W. J. Anderson, Esq., F.R.C.S.
3 Dec., 1861.
517. By the Chairman: You are a very old practitioner in medicine? I have not been out here very long—five years, nearly, almost to a day.
518. But you have been practising for a considerable number of years? Yes; I practised in London for many years.
519. You are a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, London? Yes.
520. Have you been in the habit of using belladonna in your practice? Yes.
521. Internally as well as externally? Yes.
522. Have you ever used the extract? Yes.
523. May I take the liberty of asking in what cases? I have used it as a suppository in cases of spasmodic constriction of the sphincter ani, and I have used it internally in chorea.
524. In what doses have you administered it in the case of its application to the sphincter ani? Five to ten grains, carefully watching the effect.
525. In what way? As suppository.
526. Have you administered that at once to any person? I commenced with five grains, and increased it gradually.
527. Have you used it on more than one individual? Yes, in more than one case, but not out here.
528. You have used it in England? Yes.
529. Did you ever see any evil result from its application in that way? No.
530. What evil effects would you anticipate? If anything had occurred, there would have been the usual symptoms of an over-dose of belladonna.
531. Which are? Dilatation of the pupil, dryness of the throat, eruption of the skin, delirium, and so forth; but I did not at all apprehend that from what I was giving.
532. Had you seen the medicine prescribed by others previous to using it yourself? Yes.
533. It was from having seen it used that you were induced to use it? Yes, and from reading as well.
534. You have used it yourself in more than one case—applied externally to the rectum—in larger doses than five grains? Yes.

535. On more than one individual? Yes; and I believe a larger dose than that might be used; still I do not know that I should like to push it further.
536. What was the largest dose you ever saw administered in that way? I do not know that I can exactly recollect; I would hardly like to state positively what I have seen.
537. Have you seen it used by others in more than one instance? Yes.
538. How many instances do you think you could bring to mind in which you have seen the medicine applied? I have seen it several times used in Paris.
539. At the public hospital there? Yes, at the Hôtel Dieu and La Charité and La Pitié. It certainly is not a new remedy to use; here is a book (*producing a volume) published 275 years ago, in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, in which it is recommended as a suppository for the purpose of staying the "inordinate course of women's issues;" therefore it is not a new remedy, even in England.
540. Do you think that belladonna, supposing it to produce its injurious effects upon the system, in any given case of a woman with child, would be likely to kill the child before it would affect the mother? Certainly not; I do not see how it could by any possibility.
541. You attach no importance to the idea that belladonna, administered with a view of procuring abortion, could do it otherwise than through the mother? I do not see how it could possibly do it in any other way.
542. Would the use of belladonna suggest itself to you as a mode of procuring abortion in any case? I would never dream of it at all; in fact I think it would have rather a contrary effect, being a powerful sedative.
543. The effects of belladonna are directly sedative in your opinion? It is used in cases of protracted labour, with the view of dilating the os uteri after labour has commenced.
544. With no effect upon the child? Not the least.
545. Do you think it has ever been used for that purpose by any man who understood his profession? Decidedly; but not for procuring abortion.
546. Do you think any man who understood his profession would use it to dilate the uterus? Yes; Dr. Conquest uses it, for one.
547. Was that done only with the view of teaching his class, or with any idea that it would produce the effect? I suppose he thought it would have that effect. I should not have any faith in it myself. It is used in very large doses. In the cases I speak of they used depletion as well, which I should think would be more likely to produce the effect.
548. By Mr. Markham: You say you have administered from five to ten grains? Yes.
549. Was ten grains the highest? Yes.
550. And you have never seen any bad effect? No. I do not believe there was anything like that quantity absorbed; it is a hard substance, and requires some little time to be dissolved; I do not think, if the pill were removed, you would find two grains gone the next day.
551. Is it easy of solution? No, it is not very easy of solution; it requires some little trouble to grind it up in a mortar.
552. There is a prescription (prescription as printed); is it easy of solution in that form? No, I should say not particularly.
553. How long, in the ordinary course of events, would a suppository remain in the rectum after being inserted? You mean such a one as this.
554. Yes? Well, I should doubt, supposing the bowels acted next day—in fact I do not believe the whole of it would be absorbed.
555. Consequently a portion of it would pass away? I believe a portion of it would pass away.
556. Would it be probable that, under these circumstances, the whole dose of belladonna contained in one suppository would come in contact with the membrane? No, I do not think it would, because I say I do not believe the whole of it could be absorbed.
557. Supposing it all became absorbed, do you think it would prove too large a dose—that it would have a bad effect upon the patient? May I ask in what way you mean?
558. I mean the five grains? No, I do not think it would at all.
559. You state that you have administered five to ten grains—would it make any difference whether the patient were male or female—would you give a woman as large a dose as a man? Yes, I should.
560. If a woman were pregnant, do you think the administration of such a dose as that—five grains—as a suppository, would be injurious, likely to produce a bad effect? I am always cautious myself as to what I give a woman when she is in that state, but I do not see that it would do any serious harm, though I should not be disposed to give it myself.
561. Would it be likely to produce pain or allay pain? Allay pain, decidedly.
562. If a person were to state that her whole body was in pain—would it be possible for that pain to arise from the use of belladonna, without her head being at the same time affected? I do not think so at all.
563. By Mr. Faucett: You have read this prescription (prescription as printed)? Yes.
564. By the Chairman: You are to understand that it is half a drachm, not a drachm and a half as printed? Yes, I see that.
565. By Mr. Faucett: Suppose for a moment that the six pills had been taken as directed by that prescription, by a woman who was seven or eight months advanced in pregnancy, would you consider it safe? I think, under the circumstances, it is more than I should give, but I should suppose it was watched, from the nature of the prescription.
566. What would you call watching? Seeing the patient.

567. How often? I should think, giving a remedy in that way, and she being in that state, from two to three times a day at least.

568. Be good enough to turn to the deposition of Mrs. Brown, and read the passages marked describing her symptoms. (The witness read the passages quoted in the evidence of previous witnesses.) Is it your opinion that the symptoms there described are attributable in any way —? I do not think they are attributable to the suppositories.

569. You observe that the appearances are dulness, sickness, and these other matters? You see she begins to complain of pain the moment the pill was introduced, before it could by any possibility have acted.

570. By the Chairman: Except as an irritant? Except as an irritant; but still I doubt whether so small a thing as that could have done it.

571. By Mr. Faucett: Could these pills have produced these effects by acting in any way mechanically? I do not see how they could.

572. Assuming that they were not dissolved, could they have acted mechanically so as to produce these pains? I do not, because they could not have been very large things.

573. You do not think the symptoms described as following the administration of the first pill could have been caused by it? No, I do not think so. To a very great extent, as far as I can see, it looks very much like a sort of nervous feeling she had about it, possibly knowing what the pills were. Then again, it is immediately after the introduction of the second suppository that she speaks of her symptoms; there could have been none of that absorbed, any more than there could have been in the first instance with the first one. There must be time for absorption; even taking a pill into the stomach requires some little time for absorption. Nor do I see how they could produce the miscarriage spoken of. The symptoms are said to come on too quickly to admit of their proceeding from the use of the suppositories, taking that alone.

574. Is there not some little difference between the application of the medicine with medical soap and its application with lard. Is that the usual form in which belladonna is supplied? There is nothing uncommon in it.

575. By the Chairman: You do not attach any importance to that? No.

576. By Mr. Faucett: Assuming it to be true, as stated in the deposition, that she took the first pill between 7 and 8 o'clock on Monday evening, and the second on Monday morning at 7, and that the doctor called on Monday or Tuesday—was that careful and proper watching? I certainly should myself have called more frequently, but I cannot answer for what anybody else would think right on the subject.

577. By the Chairman: Supposing you had given general directions to be informed if any change occurred, and had received no intimation that any change had occurred, might that have induced you, if particularly occupied, to assume that things were going on all right? Yes, I should certainly assume that everything was going on right.

578. By Mr. Faucett: It was 4 or 5 o'clock on the Sunday when he saw her; she takes the first pill at 7 or 8 o'clock on the Sunday evening, and the next at 7 o'clock next morning; that is, fifteen hours from the time he saw her, and twelve hours from the time of her taking the first pill? That would give her four pills.

579. By possibility, following his directions, she might have taken four pills —? Well, I do not think they would have killed her.

580. Would they tend to endanger her life? I do not think they would. Mind you, I should not leave her myself so long.

581. Would you think it dangerous? I should not like to risk it; still I do not think they would kill her.

582. By the Chairman: Supposing she took the whole half-drachm, in six suppositories, one every third hour, until the whole were introduced, would that have a tendency, in your opinion, to kill the patient? I do not think it necessarily follows that the patient would be killed with it at all.

583. Would it necessarily follow that she would be in any danger? I will not say that. It is more than I should like to give altogether, without watching exceedingly carefully.

584. The directions being that they were only to be repeated if required, it does not necessarily follow that all would be used? No.

585. By Mr. Faucett: Assuming that you had ordered this prescription, how often would you have considered it your duty to attend—at what periods—the woman, mind, being seven or eight months in pregnancy? This was ordered at night; I think under the circumstances of its being night, I should tell them to send for me if there was the least change, and I should see her the very first thing in the morning. I should also explain a thing of that kind to a patient—the thing explains itself to a certain extent—that though directed every three hours, they were not to be taken unless required.

586. By the Chairman: Have you ever ordered one prescription with so large a quantity of belladonna? No.

587. By Dr. Beer: Assuming that these suppositories were sufficiently strong to cause the symptoms of an overdose of belladonna—say dryness in the throat, thirst, excitement and hilarity, or drunkenness as if from alcohol—would those symptoms be immediately dangerous? No, I do not think they would, because you would then stop the remedy at once.

588. Supposing they had been prescribed to be used every three hours, would she have been able to continue applying them herself after the symptoms of over-dose had set in—would she not have forgotten it in the delirium or drunkenness? I do not see, from what I read, that she had any head symptoms.

589. By the Chairman: Supposing she had become delirious, could she have continued the use of them? Probably not.

590. But would not some person there have done it for her? Very possibly.
 591. By Mr. Faucett: Do you think it was right for a medical man to leave a prescription of that kind under the control of a woman under such circumstances? I do not think there was any harm in it.
 592. Of course with your own watching? With my own watching I do not see that there would be any harm in it.

ADDENDUM.

In addition to this I may state that I have written some medical works connected with these subjects, viz.:—"The Diseases of Pregnancy"; "Hysterical and Nervous Affections of Women"; "Hysterical, Hypochondriacal, Epileptic, and other Nervous Affections"; in which I have recommended the use of belladonna.

FRIDAY, 6 DECEMBER, 1861.

Present:—

MR. FAUCETT, | MR. MARKHAM,
MR. MORRICE.

MERION MORIARTY, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Dr. Beer, and his Solicitor, Mr. Deane, present in the room.

Andrew Moffitt, Esq., M.D., called in and examined:—

593. By the Chairman: How long have you been in the medical profession? Twenty-five years.
 594. You are a physician? Yes, of London College.
 595. Of what standing? Five years.
 596. You are a surgeon? Yes, a surgeon of 1838.
 597. Of what College? The London College of Surgeons.
 598. Have you ever been in the habit of using belladonna? I have used it externally.
 599. In what form—as a plaster? A plaster, and also to enlarge the pupil.
 600. You have never used it internally? No.
 601. Therefore you are not in a position to state, from personal experience, what the effects of the internal administration of that drug would be? No, I have always had a feeling of dislike to the drug; I cannot tell why, but I have always disliked giving it internally. I have looked upon it as one of those narcotic medicines that should be used with caution, and having so many other things to fall back upon I did not care to use it; but I have used it externally when necessary.
 602. What have been the results when you have used it externally? To allay pain, in neuralgic affections, and also to extend the pupil when I have wanted to do anything on the eye.
 603. By Mr. Markham: I suppose you have studied works on poisons? Yes.
 604. Do you consider Pereira a good authority? Yes.
 605. Christieson? Yes.
 606. Thompson? Yes.
 607. They are all good authorities? Yes.
 608. By the Chairman: Is not Christieson's book on poisons simply his revision of Dr. Duncan's Materia Medica? Yes, I would not go all the way with Pereira. He mentions its being applied in very large doses, especially to the mouth of the womb. I must confess I opened my eyes when I saw it. He commenced by applying a drachm, for instance.
 609. We have evidence before us that medical men in Sydney have used it in application to the os uteri? I think with chloroform it is quite unnecessary.
 610. That is not the question. The question is, whether applied in that way it would produce injurious effects? I should expect very violent effects from it in that large quantity.
 611. By Mr. Markham: Have you ever used belladonna as a suppository? No, but I would do so if I had occasion, in a case of scirrhus of the rectum.
 612. In what dose? I think perhaps two grains; I would not venture beyond that, as a suppository.
 613. What would be the first symptoms that you would expect as the action of an over-dose? It manifests itself very soon in constriction of the throat, dryness of the mouth—
 614. Does it affect the pupil? Yes; that would be the first thing you would observe, then dryness of the throat and difficulty of deglutition.
 615. By the Chairman: Have you ever seen those results follow? I cannot say I have.
 616. Then what you say is founded on mere theory? Those are the results I would expect.
 617. Supposing a medical man who had used the drug were to tell you those were not the symptoms? I could not contradict him from my experience.
 618. By Mr. Markham: You would be disposed to doubt the fact? Yes, I would like to try the thing myself before I believed it.
 619. Might there not be some peculiarity in the constitution of individuals that would produce different results under the same circumstances? Very likely.

A. Moffitt,
Esq., M.D.

6 Dec., 1861.

Miles Egan, Esq., called in and examined:—

- Miles Egan,
Esq.
6 Dec., 1861.
620. By the Chairman: You are a Member of the College of Surgeons? Yes.
621. How long have you been engaged in the practice of the profession? About eleven years.
622. Have you ever used belladonna in your practice? Yes; often in this country.
623. In what way? Internally by the mouth, even now to a patient belonging to the Dispensary.
624. Have you ever used it as a suppository? No, I have not.
625. In what doses are you giving belladonna now? Grain doses, three times a day.
626. Three grains a day? Yes.
627. How long have you continued that treatment? Three or four days. I first commenced with half a grain.
628. Have you used it in many cases before? Perhaps a dozen altogether within the last two or three years. I very often give it for neuralgia of the head and face, combined with quinine, which is the way I generally give it; in fact I never give it for anything else except neuralgia.
629. Have you ever seen any bad results from the use of belladonna? None.
630. Are there any peculiar symptoms in the case you speak of? No; the only thing he complained of was slight dimness of vision, but that was merely transient, and there was no dilatation of the pupil.
631. Have you ever noticed any efflorescence on the skin from the use of belladonna? No.
632. Then if you are in the habit of using grain doses three times a day —? I am not in the habit of using it in that quantity; I never used so large a dose before.
633. What is your opinion of the proper dose to administer as a suppository in a case of scirrhus of the rectum or diseased rectum? I have never used it myself in that way, but it is generally allowed with medicines of this sort that three or four times the quantity may be used.
634. You would not hesitate to use such a quantity? No, I would not hesitate to use, in that way, three times the quantity I would give internally. I have often given a grain for a single dose, but never three times a day before.
635. A grain of what? The extract of belladonna, at night, very often combining it with an aperient medicine.
636. It produces aperient effects itself? It is said so.
637. What has been your observation on the point? Generally, when I have given it as an aperient, it has been combined with other aperients, so that I could not judge of its effects in that respect. Of course I merely combined it on account of the pain.
638. You gave it as an anodyne? Yes; I have given it, too, in lead poisoning, in that dose.
639. Then, on the whole, what would be your opinion of the administration of five grains in the form of a suppository, to be repeated at the end of three hours, if necessary? I should say a great deal would depend upon circumstances. Some people are much more susceptible to the medicine than others, as you find in the case of every medicine. On some people I have no doubt it would act violently; others it might not affect so much. I have given it to the patient I have now under treatment for spasmodic movements attended with pain.
640. By Mr. Faucett: Will you oblige me by reading the passages marked in that deposition. (Witness read the passages previously quoted in the evidence of other witnesses.) Now, assuming that the woman has been speaking truly, that she has described the symptoms she experienced as fairly as we could expect a woman to do, to what would you attribute the sensations there described? Very likely to whatever was introduced—the suppository.
641. We are told the suppository contained five grains of belladonna? Very likely to that, and that alone, because she describes the symptoms as occurring at about the period the belladonna would begin to act, and we know belladonna is very injurious to some people; some people can stand very little of it.
642. It is your opinion that the effects there described might be attributable to the belladonna? Decidedly, because on looking over this evidence I see a good many of the symptoms generally produced by belladonna; she felt queer, she says, sick, and giddy, and a slight skin came over her eyes.
643. What other people would call a film? Yes, I suppose so; dimness of vision. There are two or three symptoms there that are generally produced by belladonna. I do not mean to say all the symptoms might be caused by it.
644. You think the sickness, heaviness, and those other symptoms, may be attributable to belladonna? Yes, they may be, no doubt.
645. In that instance would you say they were? It is just possible with her, that any foreign body introduced into the rectum, in the state she was in, might have caused irritation, more or less, about the same.
646. Assuming, as you think they might be, that they were attributable to the application of these pills, in your opinion were those symptoms in any way caused by the mechanical or chemical operation of the pills? It might be so. They might have been caused without any reference to the physiological effect of the medicine at all, if it was a large affair, especially if she had the piles. It does not say the exact quantity of the mass of the suppository.
647. Will you look at the prescription (prescription as printed.) There is a mistake about the quantity of belladonna; it was half a drachm instead of a drachm and a half, that is, five grains to each pill? This would give 25 grains in the mass of each pill, of which five are of belladonna. That is a very large mass to be introduced up the rectum.
648. Will you read the direction. Is that a large quantity to apply in that way? You mean to be given so frequently?

649. Yes? Yes, I should say it was. I would not give so large a quantity myself, but I believe the German medical men are in the habit of using it largely.
650. Have you in your experience seen one prescription containing so large a quantity as that? Never.
651. By the Chairman: You have never seen a prescription of that nature at all, have you? I am not aware that I have ever seen it used as a suppository.
652. By Mr. Faucett: According to that prescription you perceive it is possible, taking the prescription in the most favourable way—I mean of course, most favourable to the medical gentleman who directed it—it is possible that the patient might administer a pill every three hours. Would that require, in your opinion, any particular care on the part of the medical attendant? Yes, I should say a medical man ought to be very careful administering it in that way, and pay occasional visits.
653. What would you call being very careful? If I had ordered that medicine in that particular way—I am sure I would not have ordered it all—but supposing I had ordered it, after administering the first pill I would see the patient before applying the second, to see the effects; and if I did not see any bad effects I would use the second, and then I certainly would not use the third without going again.
654. You would not leave it entirely to her own control? No.
655. Why? I would be afraid of dangerous symptoms setting in.
656. What dangerous symptoms would you expect? Symptoms of poisoning by the use of it.
657. What symptoms—such symptoms as she has described? They might, a good deal of them, I should say; but there do not seem to be any violent symptoms of poisoning given in her evidence, and no peculiar characteristic effects of belladonna—at least they are so connected with other symptoms that it is not easy to define whether they were caused by the belladonna.
658. Do you think the belladonna in either of the two pills and a half she took had time to operate chemically or physiologically? Yes, it is liable to act in half an hour, given in a dose like that—in from half an hour to two or three hours the physiological effects ought to be produced, more or less, in different persons. Some people are very susceptible to it; I have given a quarter of a grain to one person, and had to knock off at once; it made him quite tremble and faint.
659. By the Chairman: Peculiar idiosyncrasies are affected in a way different from the ordinary application of the drug? Yes; just the same as with many other medicines, opium for instance.
660. By Mr. Faucett: Is there any medical method of producing abortion by the application of drugs of any kind—that is considered likely to produce abortion without injuring the mother? If there is violent action of any drug it must, more or less, affect the mother. If the violent action of the drug causes the expulsion of the child, it must be attended with effects upon the mother.
661. Is there any means known to medical men by which there is a probability of producing abortion without danger of affecting the mother? There is always, no doubt, a certain danger to the mother, I will not say to her life, but of severe illness. I would not be afraid myself of the death of the mother, if I tried to procure abortion.
662. By the Chairman: It is by no means a necessary consequence of procuring abortion that death should follow to the mother? Certainly not.
663. By Mr. Faucett: Are you of opinion that that medicine would be likely at all to produce abortion without dangerously affecting the mother in the first place? As far as I know belladonna, from all I have heard and read of it, it is not given as a drug calculated to procure abortion. I have heard lately, but it is not a well authenticated case, that it has been given in this town to procure abortion, and had the desired effect; but I do not know anything about that.
664. By Mr. Markham: Is the extract of belladonna easily dissolved? Yes, water dissolves it readily.
665. You have seen that prescription, that formula—would that suppository be soon dissolved in your opinion; I think you stated from one hour to three hours? I do not mean to say the whole of it would be dissolved, because it is mixed with a mass of things; it is impossible to say how soon that large mass would be dissolved.
666. Would the whole of the belladonna come in contact with the tissue? Certainly not. It all depends upon the time in which it is dissolved, because the belladonna is so intimately connected with the mass that it cannot come in contact until it is all dissolved.
667. You have read the statement of the woman, where she says—“When I inserted one, it altered the whole system of my body; my whole body was in pain; I felt in such pain that I tried to remove the pill from my body.” It is quite evident it was not all dissolved at that time? No.
668. Are these symptoms such as belladonna would be likely to produce under the circumstances of inserting it immediately before they appeared? I do not think so, any more than any other thing of the same size, a pill of bread for instance—if she had piles particularly.
669. If it were possible for the other symptoms to proceed from the action of the belladonna, would it be possible at the same time for her not to be affected? Yes, she might only have a few symptoms and not all; you often see the eyes affected and the head quite clear, or even dimness of sight when there is no alteration of the pupil.
670. Is it likely that the eyes would be affected as soon as any other portion of the body? Yes.
671. What are the first symptoms? Dryness in the throat; that is the first thing given by all authors. My personal experience is that it is quite an uncertainty.

Miles Egan,
Esq.

6 Dec., 1861.

672. By the Chairman: What is your opinion of medical men who write dispensaries? As a general rule they relate all the facts they can get hold of.

673. They give a collection of facts from the experience of others? Yes.

674. In point of fact, such men are not generally practical authorities? That I will not say anything about; but I should say the opinion of any other medical man in practice for any length of time would be as good.

675. By Mr. Markham: Is belladonna a drug likely to be resorted to to produce abortion? I think not. I never heard it until lately. It has no specific effect on the womb, and that is the reason it is not given for that purpose.

676. By the Chairman: We have it in evidence that it has been applied to the os uteri to dilate it? That is a sort of mechanical action, an action different from its absorbent effects.

677. By Mr. Faucett: Suppose it were intended to act on the os uteri for the purpose of dilatation, how could that be a mechanical action? Being a strong sedative it might assist the womb, if it was at all irritable, by assuaging irritation, and in a direct way cause relaxation of the muscular fibres; but I do not see that it would have any other particular effect.

678. By the Chairman: Supposing you contemplated producing abortion, would it ever occur to you to use belladonna for that object? It would never occur to me.

679. By Mr. Markham: In the case of a suppository would it be possible for belladonna to affect the fœtus in the first instance, without being absorbed in the system of the woman and passing through her system? It must reach the child through the action of the absorbents, and therefore must be carried through the system of the mother.

680. It would affect the mother before it could affect the child? Yes.

681. Have you ever been applied to to sign certificates for Insurance Companies? Often.

682. Suppose a person had been affected with a syphilitic disorder, and subsequently was suffering from fluor albus, or whites, would you think it merely necessary, when applied to, to state that the party had fluor albus, without referring to any previous complaint? It would depend upon whether she was perfectly well from the syphilis.

683. If she had had syphilis in the first instance? If she had got well of it I do not think I would mention it.

684. Do you think it would be a sufficient index to the medical officer of the Company, to mention merely the fluor albus? If the woman was perfectly well at the time, with the exception of fluor albus, I do not see that there would be any necessity to mention the syphilis.

685. By Mr. Faucett: Fluor albus is not necessarily a consequence of syphilis? No; I do not know that I have ever seen fluor albus as a consequence of venereal disease.

686. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): When a patient is complaining of great torture and agony, and thinking herself in premature labour pains, is it an uncommon thing to find them sick in the stomach and faintish? No, not at all an uncommon symptom.

687. Then it is not absolutely necessary that the fainting in this special case, the sickness, and the film over the eye, were consequent upon the suppository introduced? Certainly not.

688. It may be as well the consequence of the illness which caused her to call in the medical man, as from the administration of the suppository? That I will not say; but no doubt all these symptoms might occur if the suppository were never given at all.

689. Do you know that Thompson and other authorities state that strong emetics have no effect upon a patient suffering from an over-dose of belladonna? No, I am not aware of it.

690. If the patient had been accustomed to have the same drug applied as a plaster to the extent of ten grains at each application, would that belladonna suppository of five grains in the rectum, affected with constriction and scirrhus, then be an over-dose? Well, it is impossible to answer that question, because the symptoms are so very various. As I said before, a person might be affected with very small quantities.

691. If she had had ten grains applied to the skin, it would shew how it acted upon her, would it not? Well, generally speaking; but in certain states of the system there must be, more or less, different times at which the drug would act more strongly than others. At the same time I think that it would be very likely not to have an injurious effect in small quantities.

692. Is your experience in the matter so strong that you would express yourself contrary to authorities who have had more opportunity of judging, and have applied more in one week than an ordinary practitioner in a year? Certainly not.

693. For example, if Trousseau, who had an enormous private practice, published instances of his brilliant success with belladonna, would you be in a position to contradict him? Certainly not. I can only speak of my own experience.

694. Would you attach any peculiar degree of respect to such a recommendation? Decidedly I would. I would believe all he stated upon his own experience to be the fact.

695. And Sir Benjamin Brodie's opinion would be of equal weight in your judgment? Yes.

696. By Mr. Faucett: You would look upon him as a man of very great eminence in his profession, and that his opinion would be entitled to very great weight? Yes.

697. At the same time, if you found a man of equal eminence stating that his experience had not been the same —? I could not contradict him either. I might think that, perhaps, the difference arose from their looking at it from different points.

698. By the Chairman: That would be merely negative testimony; if one man gives positive evidence that he has used the drug to a great extent, for a series of years, and has found certain results—that man occupying the first position in his profession—the fact of another stating that it had not with him produced the same results, would not go to disprove the fact? Decidedly not.

699. But supposing there was another person not of equal authority, or anything approaching it, who had given an adverse opinion on mere theoretical grounds, would you attach any value to that opinion? None at all, if it were merely on theoretical grounds. Unfortunately medicines act very peculiarly sometimes, and do not shew equal advantages to everybody.

Miles Egan,
Esq.
6 Dec., 1861.

700. Will you do me the favour to look at that question, No. 9, page 14:—Supposing you were aware that any person had laboured under a stricture within your knowledge, and had been treated by you for it, would you, under such circumstances, give that answer, if you were asked to sign that document? Of course, if I had been treating a person for stricture, I would not say she had not had it; I would mention it, of course.

701. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Would it make any difference to you in giving that certificate, if you were not a legally qualified medical man, and not recognized by the Companies as such, and supposing it to be stricture arising from gonorrhœa, and necessarily involving unnatural conduct, would you think it right to give the secret of the family you attended to the Insurance Company, when you were not legally bound to do so—suppose you were merely looked upon as a friend? If I was applied to as a friend I would not give any evidence at all.

702. By Mr. Faucett: Suppose you did answer it, knowing the facts now stated, but not being passed by the Medical Board here, would you answer it as it is answered there? No, I would not say "none." If the woman had any disease, and I did answer the questions, I would certainly mention the disease. If a person gives an answer at all he should give a full answer.

703. By Mr. Markham: You would give a truthful reply, if you gave any at all? Certainly.

James Charles Cox, Esq., M.D., called in and examined:—

704. By the Chairman: You are a physician? Yes.

705. And a Fellow of the College of Surgeons of Edinburgh? Yes.

706. Have you been in the habit of using in your practice the extract of belladonna? I have.

J. C. Cox,
Esq., M.D.
Dec., 1861.

707. In what doses have you given it—have you used it internally? Internally, in whooping cough, frequently, in children.

708. Have you used it in the case of adults? I would use it with adults; but it is very seldom you see whooping cough in adults.

709. Have you never used it in other cases besides whooping cough? I have used it in other cases; as, for instance, neuralgia.

710. You would not confine your use of belladonna to pertussis? No, I consider it a valuable remedy judiciously used.

711. To what extent would you use, internally, the extract of belladonna? I never begin with more than a quarter of a grain to half a grain; I never prescribe more than that without knowing the peculiar physiological effects of the drug on the special patient.

712. Having ascertained that —? I would have no hesitation in increasing the dose if I found it produced beneficial results.

713. You would be guided by what? By the effects produced, and the relief obtained.

714. In the extent to which you would give the drug? Exactly. I would not go beyond five grains.

715. Internally? Yes.

716. Under cautious observances you would go to the extent of giving five grains? I would.

717. You would not consider that an extreme dose under peculiar circumstances? No, I would not.

718. Supposing you found it necessary to use it as a suppository, what would you consider a fair dose to begin with? I would begin with two grains; I usually do so.

719. You have used it in that form? Yes, I frequently use it in that form, and as medicated pessaries, particularly in cases of cancer of the uterus. I was led to a knowledge of its good effects in that way by being taught by Professor Simpson, of Edinburgh, to use it so. He applies it in the form of a medicated pessary, and in his Memoirs he gives a definite prescription for using it. He used it usually in quantities of ten grains.

720. Applied internally to the mouth of the womb? Yes, up to the mouth of the womb. The way in which he uses it is this; he prescribes two scruples of the extract of belladonna, drachm and a half of wax, and six drachms of lard; that is divided into four parts.

721. That would be administering ten grains in each? Yes, in each medicated pessary, as he calls them.

722. Then, if you would use ten grains in that way, what would you consider a dangerous dose, using it as a suppository in the rectum? I should not introduce more than two grains into the rectum.

723. Why? Because it is more easily absorbed from the mucous membrane of the rectum.

724. I understood you to say you would give five grains by mouth? I would, very gradually. I would not begin with more than two grains when using it by the rectum or vagina.

725. And yet you would begin with ten grains in using these medicated pessaries? I would not begin with ten grains.

726. You would begin with two grains in suppository? I would.

727. How often would you repeat it? Twice a day, or every night, according to the effect produced and the urgency of the symptoms.

728. Have you ever used it in that way? I have. I used it last week in that way.

729. With what result? A very good result indeed.

J. C. Cox,
Esq., M.D.

6 Dec., 1861.

730. Were there any constitutional symptoms—any of the ordinary symptoms attributed to the use of belladonna? No, not of any consequence; the pupils were a little dilated, but there were no unpleasant effects. The woman received considerable relief. It was a case of cancer of the uterus.

731. By Mr. Faucett: What quantity would you use? Up to ten grains; smaller quantities at first, to try the effect of it.

732. By the Chairman: Would it not be possible, in your opinion, that, when applied to a diseased surface, like scirrhus of the womb, it might be absorbed? I think it becomes absorbed.

733. From a diseased surface? Yes; I have no doubt about it.

734. If the skin is abraded, it is more likely to be absorbed than if it was not so? Yes.

735. Therefore, giving it in so large a dose as that, it ought to be watched with a greater degree of caution than if simply applied to the external surface? Exactly.

736. And yet, under these circumstances, you would not hesitate to introduce into the vagina ten grains in this medicated pessary, to a diseased surface? Not having tried a small dose first?

737. Having tried that? I would go on if I found I could do it safely. I would commence with a small dose first.

738. By Mr. Faucett: Will you be good enough to look at Mrs. Brown's deposition, and read the passages marked. (The witness read the passages quoted in the evidence of previous witnesses.) Assuming that the woman has stated the truth, to what do you attribute the symptoms there described? They may have been the effects of the medicine, or possibly of the loss of blood or internal disease.

739. Is there anything there to indicate loss of blood? That sensation of the "skin" coming over her eyes, as she expresses it, would seem to say she was fainting or something of that sort.

740. Would you attribute those symptoms at all to the administration of the belladonna as she describes herself to have administered it? How much was given her?

741. Five grains in each pill. There is the prescription, but there is a mistake in it as printed; it should be half a drachm instead of a drachm and a half, or five grains to each suppository. One was introduced on the Sunday evening, you observe, and one on Monday morning at seven o'clock? That would produce the sensations she suffered from—some of them—not all of them; I do not believe it would produce any great amount of sickness; belladonna produces an attempt at vomiting, but never makes people vomit, or very seldom. The dizziness and dimness of sight would be the effects of belladonna, but a very small dose will produce that effect; I saw it produced severely the other day by a quarter of a grain.

742. Had the belladonna, in this instance, these two suppositories, time to operate, so as to produce the effects mentioned? Yes, I think so.

743. Would you attribute these sensations to the mechanical operation of these suppositories, instead of to the chemical or physiological operation of it? No; I do not think mechanically it would produce that amount of irritation.

744. Will you be good enough to turn again to the prescription, and read the direction at the bottom. Assuming that there was no belladonna applied before the prescription, that that was the first administration of it—would you think it safe to leave such a prescription in the hands of the patient in that way? No; I should not do it myself.

745. Why would you not do it? Because one pill may not have an effect, or the anodyne effect may not be produced for a time; then a second pill might be introduced, and when the two came to act together, they might act too severely.

746. As I read that prescription, and reading it in the most favourable way, it seems to leave a possibility—I use no stronger word—a possibility of the patient applying one of these suppositories every three hours? Yes.

747. Would you consider that safe to be left to the administration of the patient alone? No, I would not do it myself.

748. What danger would you expect? I would expect, if all of them were introduced, very severe effects of belladonna.

749. What would the ultimate effect be? Poisoning by belladonna in all its symptoms. I do not think that quantity would kill the woman—that half drachm.

750. Supposing the six pills had been applied—supposing that prescription had been fully carried out by the patient, what might the possible consequences have been? There would be severe physiological effects of the drug, but I do not believe there would have been death; I do not believe it at all.

751. Severe injury, but not death? I do not believe it would kill the woman, given every three hours to that extent.

752. Would it have any effect upon the fœtus? Well, it is impossible to tell; it is a thing we do not know.

753. We are told it acts by absorption—assuming the six pills had been taken and absorbed into the system, would it have any effect upon the fœtus? Yes, I believe it would injure the fœtus.

754. Would it endanger the life of the fœtus? Well, I do not know; I have not had sufficient experience of it.

755. By the Chairman: Supposing it killed the child—take a proposition at variance with all probability, in fact an utter absurdity in itself—supposing it did kill the child, does that necessarily involve death to the mother, or abortion being produced at that period? No.

756. And therefore if you wanted to produce abortion you would never resort to such means to attain that object? Certainly not.

757. You do not believe any sane man, wishing to produce abortion, would resort to the extract of belladonna, in the form of a suppository, to attain that object? I do not think he could do it. He would paralyse the action of the womb first, and the womb could not expel the child.

J. C. Cox,
Esq., M. D.
6 Dec., 1861.

758. Have you never known the case of a woman carrying a dead child in utero for a considerable period of time? I have, for a very long time.

759. Speaking about the train of symptoms as suggestive of being produced by belladonna, does it ever occur to you to entertain doubts about the statements of your patients, and to attribute to some other causes than those they describe the effects they declare they labour under—do you not sometimes disbelieve altogether the statements they make as to their symptoms having been the result of any particular thing they ascribe them to? Yes; I think that very often their symptoms do not arise from the causes which they attribute them to; every medical man must know that and see it.

760. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Do you consider Pereira, Christieson, Thompson, and Taylor, good English medical authorities? Yes.

761. If a medical man were to be guided by what they state he could not make much mistake? They are all excellent authorities.

762. Supposing these six suppositories had been introduced every three hours, or all at once, and they caused the physiological effects of belladonna in a high degree—intoxication or even delirium, or anything short of coma—would that have been followed by any serious consequences to the mother? I do not think it would be good practice to introduce the thirty grains at once, or as directed, more especially without watching its effects on the system.

763. Would it necessarily be fatal, if the highest physiological effects of belladonna were attained, short of coma? It would not necessarily be fatal.

764. By Mr. Faucett: What quantity of belladonna would necessarily be fatal? That I do not know, and nobody does know. It would act more severely in some cases than others.

765. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Do you know of any quantity less than thirty grains having killed the patient? No, I do not. There is a case recorded of a number of soldiers—a hundred and sixty, I think—having been killed in the French army by belladonna, but by a much larger dose than thirty grains.

766. By Mr. Faucett: Do you know what quantity is extracted from the ordinary sized berry? No. The matter of the berry is very dangerous; many children are poisoned in London, from eating berries sold of that kind.

George West, Esq., M.D., called in and examined:—

767. By the Chairman: Have you been in the habit of using belladonna? Not internally.

768. Have you ever seen it used by others? I have very seldom. I saw Dr. Kirby, of Dublin, using it.

769. In what way? In a case of tetanus.

770. In what doses? Very large doses.

771. What do you call large doses? As much as ten grains as a dose of the extract.

772. Internally? Internally.

773. And repeating it how often? I do not think he repeated it more than twice; the man died of tetanus.

774. Not of the belladonna? Not of the belladonna.

775. Do you think the fact of Dr. Kirby giving it in that way is a sufficient justification for its use in other cases? I never saw it tried in tetanus but that once, and he drew our attention to the enormous doses of belladonna and the want of constitutional symptoms; no doubt they were controlled by the great nervous excitement.

776. Is that the only case where you have seen it used internally? Yes.

777. Have you ever used it externally? Yes.

778. Have you used it as a suppository? Never.

779. Or injected into the anus? No, only as a plaster or liniment, and those external forms. I never gave it internally. Of course I look upon injection as an internal application.

780. Therefore, from personal knowledge, you can give us no information? No.

George West,
Esq., M.D.
6 Dec., 1861.

Sprott Boyd, Esq., M.D., called in and examined:—

781. By the Chairman: You are a physician? I am.

782. You have been a good many years engaged in the practice of the profession? Since 1839. Twenty-two years.

783. Have you ever in the course of your practice used belladonna? I have.

784. In what doses are you in the habit of using it internally? Generally I begin with a quarter of a grain, or half a grain.

785. To what extent do you increase it? I never give more than half a grain in four hours, or three grains in the twenty-four hours. I have always found that to produce sufficient symptoms of the action of the drug to induce me not to go beyond that.

786. What quantity would you administer as a suppository? In the form of a suppository one might give a double dose, but I have never repeated it in that form.

787. Have you ever used it in that way? I have given it frequently in the form of a single suppository at bed-time.

788. In small doses? A grain I should say.

789. Did you observe any result? A beneficial result.

790. What were the results? The relief of pain—soothing the system.

Sprott Boyd,
Esq., M.D.

- Sprott Boyd, Esq., M.D.
6 Dec., 1861.
791. Somewhat similar to the effects of a dose of conium, henbane, or hyoseyamus? Yes, akin to that.
792. Have you seen, in the practice of others, large doses administered? I have not.
793. In medical schools, you are aware, in clinical schools, medicines are frequently pushed to the full extent, to demonstrate to the attending pupils what the nature of the remedies is, and their application to the treatment of disease—did you ever during your clinical studies see medicine used in that way? I cannot say I have. I do not believe that is done in English schools of medicine. It is done in the French schools, where they are more anxious for the advancement of science than for the welfare of the patient.
794. I meant, of course, with due caution? I believe in the French schools it is done to a certain extent; the life of the patient with many is not thought so much an object as the proving of a particular theory. I have not seen belladonna much used by others, though I have used it frequently in my own practice.
795. Do you think belladonna is a medicine, given in suppositories, that would be likely to produce abortion? No, I do not.
796. Would the effect of it be, in your opinion, to allay irritation? Yes.
797. With that view, I presume, you have always administered it? Always.
798. Supposing that high medical authorities—Christieson, Pereira, Brodie—said it might be given in very much larger doses than you mention, would you consider it a safe thing to rely upon their testimony. Supposing you were in the country, where you had only books to guide you, would you consider it warrantable to be guided by their experience and authority? No doubt one would; but in using a powerful medicine like belladonna, one ought to compare these men one with another, and very often to compare them with themselves. Some of Pereira's statements, for instance, are notably contradictory; and even Sir Benjamin Brodie, who speaks of using it as a suppository, is quoted as using a single grain; and in a work devoted to diseases of the rectum, by Mr. Ashton, he says that Brodie very seldom prescribes it now, on account of the affection of the head which is apt to supervene. In almost all these works on Materia Medica, one finds a great deal of contradiction, even when written by men like Pereira, who are practitioners as well.
799. By Mr. Faucett: Will you be good enough to look at that prescription which is before you, bearing in mind that the six suppositories are to include thirty grains of belladonna. Suppose those six suppositories had been applied, as there is a possibility of applying them according to that prescription, one every three hours—suppose they had been all applied in that way—what would have been the probable result upon the patient, the patient being seven or eight months advanced in pregnancy? I do not know how far the advance in pregnancy would make any difference in the symptoms. This would produce all the symptoms of poisoning by belladonna, if the thirty grains were administered.
800. By the Chairman: Supposing five grains were administered to-day and another to-morrow? That would produce the symptoms in a very mild form, but I suppose the symptoms of the first five grains would have passed off before the second was given.
801. By Mr. Faucett: Would it operate in three hours? No doubt it would.
802. Would it be all absorbed in three hours? No, I do not believe it would be all absorbed in three hours.
803. Supposing the six had been taken, one every three hours, and that appears to be possible under the prescription—would it have had any effect dangerous to life? I think it would; it certainly might.
804. Would it be at all likely to endanger the fœtus? I think no doubt it might through the mother.
805. Would you be kind enough to turn to that part of Mrs. Brown's deposition in which her state and symptoms are described. You see there that two of these suppositories were taken, and a half a third; now assuming that she describes her symptoms aright, no matter whether she is correct in attributing them to the proper cause or not, to what would you attribute the symptoms there described? I would ascribe these symptoms to the belladonna; they are such symptoms as belladonna would induce.
806. Can you form any opinion as to the quantity of belladonna that would be fatal? The fact is that instances of fatal poisoning by belladonna are very rare, and with few exceptions they are occasioned by eating the berries. There are very few cases on record, of using the drug for a criminal purpose. Some time ago I read of a case where a person put on a belladonna plaster, say nine inches by six, in which there is of course a considerable quantity of belladonna; he took that off—it produced a few pustules; and he applied a second, and the application of the second one was followed by symptoms of active poisoning, which required medical treatment.
807. By the Chairman: The skin in that case was an abraded surface? There were a few abrasions; still the quantity absorbed could not have been very great.
808. By Mr. Faucett: Do you think that a large dose, as prescribed by the formula before you? It is unquestionably a large dose; I should say a dangerous dose. I should not say it would be likely to prove fatal, but it would be likely to produce serious illness.
809. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Would it be a dangerous dose, supposing the bowels were contracted and scirrhus in the lowest quarter of the rectum, where the area of absorption is very small—one-eighth of its usual size—would then the quantity be too large? It is just possible a morbid surface might bear a larger quantity; the absorption would not be so great as in a healthy one.
810. Would not a contracted rectum, irritated and in great pain, make a difference in the area of absorption, and consequently in the quantity absorbed? I am not very sure how far the state you speak of would reduce the area of absorption, because a pill like that introduced becomes dissolved and spreads over the surface.

811. What would dissolve it? The fluids.

812. There are no fluids within the sphincter? Yes, there is always mucus there; and especially if there is any scirrhus surface, there is generally a freer secretion than from a healthy one.

Sprott Boyd,
Esq., M.D.
6 Dec., 1861.

813. The result of which would be to carry away any matter presented to it? If it were increased to such an extent as to produce action of the bowels, but not if the fluids were merely increased without passing outside the sphincter.

814. Would not the effect of the belladonna be to produce relaxation of the sphincter? I cannot say it would produce it to that extent. The relaxation of the sphincter, produced by the belladonna, would not be such as to cause its passing away.

TUESDAY, 10 DECEMBER, 1861.

Present:—

MR. MARKHAM, | MR. MORRICE.
MERION MORIARTY, ESQ., IN THE CHAIR.

Dr. Beer and his Solicitor, Mr. Deane, present in the room.

Mr. Thomas Dent, Apothecary, called in and examined:—

815. By the Chairman, (at the request of Dr. Beer): Were you present during the trial of Dr. Beer? Yes, the whole time.

816. Were you subpoenaed on that occasion to give evidence as a witness? Yes.

817. Did you give evidence as a witness? No.

818. Why did you not? Because the case had been closed. Dr. Beer's counsel closed the case, and afterwards Dr. Beer wished to call witnesses, of whom I was one; and the Judge said as his counsel had closed the case he could not have the time of the Court taken up, the trial having already lasted a number of days, and therefore he could not receive any further evidence.

819. Then in point of fact the Judge did object to hearing you at all, although your evidence was tendered on that occasion? Yes.

820. You were in Court and heard what passed? Yes, I expected to be called every instant. I attended with my books and everything from day to day.

821. Did you hear the Judge interrupt Dr. Beer in his cross-examination of Mrs. Brown? Yes.

822. Why? He said the questions were quite irrelevant to the case.

823. Have you any recollection what the questions were? He wished to prove that Mrs. Brown was suffering under certain diseases, and that he had attended her and made examinations and so on, and the Judge would not allow the questions to be put; he said it was quite impossible for Dr. Beer to get on with his case; he must employ counsel; that there were several legal points which would arise during the course of the trial, and that Dr. Beer would not be able to manage with them.

824. I take that to be a friendly admonition on the part of the Judge to Dr. Beer to employ counsel? Yes.

825. Did you hear Dr. Beer attempt to prove that Mrs. Brown was unworthy of belief? Yes, and he was prevented by the Judge, who said that the character of the individual in question had nothing at all to do with the case—that, in fact, it would only injure Dr. Beer, for the worse her character was the worse the case would go against him.

826. Have you made up any prescriptions of belladonna on the order of Dr. Beer for other persons? Yes.

827. In what doses was it to be administered? I have made up suppositories for other patients stronger than those that were administered to Mrs. Brown.

828. Have you made up many suppositories of the kind? Yes.

829. To what extent—how much stronger? Two scruples, that is 40 grains, into four suppositories.

830. Ten grains in each suppository? Yes.

831. Were these applied? Yes.

832. You are aware of that? Yes.

833. With what results—did you see the patient? Yes, afterwards.

834. What were the results? Beneficial results.

835. You saw at any time no inconvenience resulting from the use of the medicine to that extent, in these cases you have alluded to? No.

836. Was it applied in more than one case? In several cases.

837. Then it would appear to be a very common prescription of Dr. Beer's? Very common.

838. Have you seen belladonna used by other medical men? Yes.

839. By whom? By Dr. Alloway. Even last night I made up a plaster containing two drachms of extract of opium, and two of belladonna, for Dr. Moon, for his wife.

840. Have you made up any prescriptions for taking belladonna internally, directed by Dr. Beer? Yes, several.

841.

- Mr. Thomas Dent. 841. In what form—what doses? (The witness referred to a prescription book he had brought with him.) Here is a prescription for Captain Henry, living in Cumberland-street, made up on the 18th December, 1855:—"12 grains of muriate of morphia, 18 grains of extract of belladonna, a scruple of resin of jalap, and extract of colocynth sufficient to make twelve pills. One pill to be taken every half-hour until composed."
- 10 Dec., 1861. 842. That is, a grain of morphia and a grain and a half of belladonna every half-hour? Yes.
843. Have you any idea what this case was? No.
844. Did not that strike you as an extraordinary prescription? It did; I asked Dr. Beer about it, and he said it was correct.
845. Was it repeated? It was repeated on the 4th of January, 1856.
846. How many of these pills did he take? I cannot say; I only know I dispensed the prescription, labelled the box, and sent it out.
847. Did you mark anything particular on the box? Only, "Take one pill every half-hour until composed," which was the direction.
848. Was there another medical man concerned in that prescription? No.
849. On any other occasion did you dispense belladonna by the order of Dr. Beer? On the 3rd April, 1856, a prescription for Mrs. Miller, Castlereagh-street:—"Extract of belladonna, 24 grains; sarsaparilla powder, 2 scruples; citrate of iron and quinine, half a drachm, with extract of teraxicum sufficient to make 24 pills;—take morning and evening, one pill, and rise every six days one pill."
850. Increase by one pill every six days? Yes. 11th August, 1855, a prescription for Mrs. Clymos' daughter:—"24 drops of tincture of opium; 2 grains of extract of belladonna; a fluid drachm of syrup; a fluid ounce of water;—a teaspoonful to be taken every hour." 16th November, 1855, for Mr. Pine:—"Diacetate of lead, half drachm; extract of belladonna, a drachm; powdered gum arabic sufficient to make six suppositories, to be used as directed."
851. What were the directions? That I cannot say; Dr. Beer gave the patient directions.
852. Did you dispense any belladonna dressings for blisters for Dr. Beer? Yes, almost daily.
853. What was the usual quantity of the extract of belladonna for a dressing? I could not say; it is so long ago it has escaped my memory.
854. But it is the fact that you did so? Yes; perhaps about ten grains of the extract of belladonna at a time, applied on lint.
855. To the skin or to a raw surface? To the skin after a blister.
856. To the ulcerated skin a dressing of that quantity of belladonna between two pieces of lint? Yes.
857. Have you ever applied belladonna dressings to blisters yourself? Yes.
858. To acquaintances of yours? Yes.
859. With what result? With beneficial results; in cases of neuralgia.
860. What was the beneficial result? It relieved the pain.
861. By Mr. Markham: Have you had frequent opportunities of witnessing the action of belladonna on the human system, or has your experience of it been merely confined to prescriptions? Merely confined to prescriptions.
862. You have not seen the action of it in any instance? Nothing more than that I have asked patients what benefit they have derived, how they felt, and so on, and they have said they felt relieved greatly.
863. You spoke of a case where ten grains was used in suppository? Yes.
864. Did you see the patient after the administration in that case? I did.
865. You say the result was beneficial then? Yes.
866. Is belladonna likely to produce irritation or to allay pain—what is the action of it? To allay pain.
867. Do you know anything about the symptoms of poisoning from an over-dose? Yes.
868. What would be the first symptoms you would apprehend in the case of an over-dose? Dryness of the fauces, and discolouration of the skin.
869. Would it affect the eye at all? The eyes would be dilated.
870. Did you notice any one of these symptoms on the patient that had one of those ten grain suppositories administered? No.
871. Did you examine the patient to ascertain if any of these symptoms existed? I saw the man.
872. And you say he had none of these symptoms? Not the slightest.
873. If such symptoms had occurred you would have been aware of it? Yes.
874. What was he suffering from? Disease of the anus.
875. Could you give it any particular name? I think it was internal piles.
876. Were the whole of the suppositories administered in that case? Yes, and he had them repeated.
877. Did you see him in a reasonable time after each? I did.
878. And on none of those occasions did you witness any symptoms of poisoning? No. He was living in Sydney, and he went into the country after he got cured.
879. Is the extract of belladonna easily dissolved? Yes, very easily.
880. In the form of a suppository inserted in the rectum, how long do you suppose it would be likely to remain in the rectum before it would be dissolved under ordinary circumstances? That I could not say.
881. You see that formula there (prescription printed)—How long do you suppose, as near as you can guess, would one of those suppositories remain in the rectum without being entirely dissolved? I should think about four hours.
882. Would it be possible, within the space of four hours, for all the belladonna contained

- in one of those suppositories to come in contact with the tissue, so as to be absorbed, before the whole suppository was dissolved—Must the whole of the suppository be first dissolved? Of course.
883. You said that belladonna has a tendency to allay pain, rather than to produce it? Yes.
884. Suppose a person, after having inserted one of those suppositories, were to make use of the following words:—"When I inserted one it altered the whole system of my body; my whole body was in pain"—(you must take into consideration that the suppository was only just inserted)—do you think it would probably be the cause of pain in that instance? No.
885. If it were a hard substance it might produce some effect as a foreign body? It might.
886. "I felt in such pain that I tried to remove the pill from my body, but I could not do it; all night I suffered; I had a heavy dull sensation; I felt sick; my head was not then affected."—Would it be possible, in your opinion, for any one of these symptoms to have arisen from the action of the belladonna, without the head being affected? It could not, within the time.
887. Are you of opinion that any of these symptoms could have arisen without the symptoms you described just now—dryness of the throat and dilatation of the pupil—first making their appearance,—Would the pupil first be dilated and dryness of the throat appear, before the other symptoms would set in? Yes.
888. Then if a person were to make such a statement as that I have read, would you attribute the symptoms to the action of belladonna, under the circumstances? No, not in the time.
889. If such a party did really experience these symptoms that I have read, do you think they would be more likely to arise from supposition or apprehension, than from the actual operation of the medicine, under the circumstances? I should think so.
890. Which do you think? From supposition, I should say—apprehension.
891. And not from the actual action of the medicine? Not from the actual action of the medicine; it is impossible, because there could not be time; the suppository would not have time to have acted.
892. By the Chairman: Except as a foreign body? Except as a foreign body.

Mr. Thomas
Dent.

10 Dec., 1861.

Isaac Aaron, Esq., called in and examined:—

893. By the Chairman: You are a surgeon? A surgeon and apothecary; a Member of the College of Surgeons, and Licentiate of the Apothecaries Company.
894. You have been many years practising your profession in this city? I have been in the Colony twenty-three years.
895. And you were engaged in the practice of your profession before you came here? Thirteen years.
896. For a great many years you have been Surgeon to the Dispensary? Between eleven and twelve years.
897. And during that time you have had abundant opportunity of witnessing disease in various shapes? I have.
898. Have you been in the habit of using belladonna in any shape? Not much.
899. Have you used it at all? I have; I have used it more, recently, than I ever did before. Perhaps you will allow me to explain why I have not hitherto used it much. Up to a comparatively recent period the vegetable extracts were very imperfectly prepared, and were consequently very uncertain in their operation; and English practitioners did not use them much, principally on that account, I believe.
900. That was the reason that operated with you? That was the reason that operated with me.
901. Not that you had any objection to the use of the drug founded on its noxious qualities? No; on account of the vegetable extracts generally being uncertain in their operation, from the imperfect manner in which they were prepared. Of late years the matter has been different; they have been carefully manipulated and prepared, and are much more certain in their operation.
902. The medicines you are in the habit of using in connection with the Dispensary are almost all obtained from Apothecaries Hall? Yes.
903. And you can rely upon them with some confidence? Yes; but I do not use powerful preparations like the extract of belladonna, with pauper patients, because I cannot altogether depend upon their attending to the directions I give them.
904. Then you have only used it occasionally? Only occasionally.
905. Not by any means frequently? Not by any means frequently.
906. Rather infrequently? Rather infrequently.
907. In what diseases have you prescribed it? I have prescribed it recently in cases of whooping cough, according to the recommendation of a medical man in England who has tried it very extensively. I have used it with infants, beginning with quarter grain doses three times a day, the dose doubled every three days, for some days.
908. Have you administered it to adults? Not very often. A good deal of each individual medical man's practice depends upon his peculiar ideas with regard to certain preparations; and as I generally prefer other preparations to that, I have not used it much.
909. To what extent have you administered it to adults in any case? I do not exactly remember just now, but I think I have given it, beginning with quarter grain doses, and extending it to as much as two or three grains a day.
910. Internally? Internally, by the stomach.
911. Of the extract? Of the extract.
912. Did you ever see any bad results from that? Never.

Isaac Aaron,
Esq.

10 Dec., 1861.

Isaac Aaron, Esq. 913. You never saw the peculiar effects of belladonna on the system when acting as a narcotic poison? No, not at all.

10 Dec., 1861. 914. Have you administered it in the form of a suppository, or as an injection in any case? No.

915. By Mr. Markham: If you give a quarter of a grain to a child, would you increase the dose to an adult in proportion to age? Not in proportion to age if you take the mere arithmetical proportion, because we find infants are generally more tolerant of medicines of that description than even adults are. I would have no hesitation in beginning with giving to an adult half grain doses, especially with convulsive disease like whooping cough.

916. I suppose you are aware of the symptoms of poisoning by belladonna? I am.

917. What are they? The first are, generally speaking, constriction of the throat, with ineffectual attempts to vomit, great dilatation of the pupil, and dryness of the throat, generally followed by coma and death.

918. Is the skin affected before that? I should mention the delirium, which is one of the first symptoms.

919. Something like intoxication? It is delirium of rather a pleasant character.

920. By the Chairman: Have you witnessed that? No, I have not seen it.

921. Then any evidence you may give on that point will be merely from what you have read? Yes; I have never happened to meet with a case where belladonna has been taken to that extent.

922. By Mr. Markham: Has belladonna a tendency to create or to alleviate pain? Decidedly to alleviate pain.

923. Is it a medicine that you think would be generally used to produce abortion? Certainly not, to my mind; one of the very last.

924. Will you have the goodness to look at that prescription—would you consider that an over-dose or otherwise? Certainly not.

925. Would that be likely to produce abortion? Decidedly not.

926. Would it be likely to produce the death of the mother? No. You will observe the directions given—I conclude it was administered according to the directions given—"One suppository to be introduced when the pains are excessive, and to be repeated every three hours if required." Of course I conclude the probability would be that the first suppository being absorbed would relieve the pain, and therefore there would be no necessity for its repetition for some hours, possibly much more than three hours. If the pains were not relieved in three hours I should think it quite fair to repeat it, waiting three hours more for its absorption.

927. How long do you think it would take to dissolve one of these suppositories in the rectum? It might take from two to three hours.

928. The whole of the five grains of belladonna could not be absorbed until the suppository was dissolved in the rectum? Certainly not, nor even for some time afterwards. Supposing it all to be softened thoroughly through, by the mucous discharge from the rectum, still it would be a considerable time before it would all be absorbed; but in the meantime if only a portion were absorbed the pain would be relieved.

929. As a natural consequence, the whole of the belladonna could not come in contact until it was dissolved? Certainly not.

930. Is there a possibility of its affecting the fœtus in the womb, without being absorbed and passing through the system of the mother? I should say not.

931. The mother must be first affected? It must be absorbed in the mother's circulation before it could reach the fœtus in any way.

932. I will read you the evidence of the person to whom some of these suppositories were administered—"I inserted one; it altered the whole system of my body; my whole body was in pain; I felt in such pain that I tried to remove the pill from my body, but I could not do it."

933. Considering that the pill was still in the body and undissolved, are you of opinion that the suppository, made up according to the prescription I have just shewn you, could produce these effects? I heard that evidence. As I stated at the trial it could merely be as a mechanical irritant.

934. As a foreign body? As a foreign body.

935. By the Chairman: You were examined at the Police Office first? Yes; and afterwards at the trial.

936. By Mr. Markham: Supposing the belladonna were to produce any of the other symptoms which might be produced by the action of belladonna, would it be possible for them to appear without the head participating to a certain extent? I should say not.

937. You are of opinion that the head would be likely to be first affected? One of the first affections would be in the head.

938. Are you in the habit of signing certificates for Insurance Companies? I have done so, frequently.

939. Will you have the goodness to read that 9th question, on page 14; suppose you were aware that a party had, at some previous time, suffered from a scirrhus tumour of the vagina, or syphilitic tumour, or from stricture of the rectum, would you feel yourself justified in answering that question as the answer has been given in that instance? Certainly not.

940. Suppose you were aware at the time that the woman was suffering from fluor albus, would you consider that, in stating that circumstance, you were giving the medical officer of the Company a sufficient index to find out the other? Supposing the leucorrhœa depended on any other organic disease, I should say certainly not.

941. Supposing you were not a legally qualified medical man, and you were informed by the Insurance Company that your recommendation would be only received for what it was worth worth, as the recommendation of a friend, and not as that of a medical man—would that Isaac Aaron, Esq. make any difference in your reply? Not to me.

942. Under any circumstances, you would have given a correct answer or none at all? Certainly. 10 Dec., 1861.

943. By the Chairman: You would have told the whole truth? Yes.

The Rev. P. P. Agnew, Chaplain to the Gaol at Darlinghurst, and the Penal Establishment, Cockatoo Island, called in and examined:—

944. By the Chairman: Have you ever seen Dr. Beer at Cockatoo Island? Frequently.

945. Were you ever present at Cockatoo Island when Judge Therry had a conversation with Dr. Beer? I was present on that occasion. Rev. P. P. Agnew.

946. Had he never more than one? I know almost everything that takes place at the Island, and I do not remember Judge Therry visiting it but once. 10 Dec., 1861.

947. Do you remember what the nature of the conversation between Judge Therry and Dr. Beer was? Something with reference to the case now under consideration, and with reference to petitioning the Governor; and I believe the opinion of Sir Benjamin Brodie was mentioned with reference to the effect of the medicine. It is my impression that Judge Therry spoke favourably of the case, and gave Dr. Beer hope of the mitigation of his sentence, I believe partly through information that had transpired after the trial, and partly on the opinion expressed by Sir Benjamin Brodie.

948. Did Judge Therry say that he had altered his opinion regarding Dr. Beer's guilt? Well, I cannot say exactly. I have only impressions of the conversation, because nothing transpired till lately to bring it back to my recollection; but I am very certain Judge Therry spoke favourably of the matter, and gave Dr. Beer great hope.

949. You do not remember whether he stated that he had altered his opinion? No, I cannot say. It does not seem to me to be a thing a Judge would mention, even if it were the case. I remember very well that, from what I heard, I had great expectation of something being done immediately for Dr. Beer. The Judge might have said that without my knowing it. I heard the Judge's conversation afterwards; he returned in the boat with us; and he was speaking openly on the subject, and reviewing the whole case, and it seemed that many harsh impressions had been taken from his mind, from after-consideration. Indeed I was in hope that something would have been done immediately; but the Judge's mind would seem to have been occupied with his departure, which happened soon after.

950. If the Judge's departure from the Colony had not taken place so soon after that conversation, you think it probable Dr. Beer's case would have been favourably entertained? Yes. I even went to his house, on the last day before he went, to learn the result of his inquiry, but he was either not at home or he could not be seen, so that I had no opportunity of speaking to him on the subject.

951. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Are you aware that Judge Therry, immediately before his departure, sent Dr. Beer a message by the Visiting Magistrate, Captain North, to the effect that he would try to do something for him? I heard that he had done so.

952. Did you hear the message delivered? No; I only heard it by report.

953. Do you recollect that the result of Dr. Beer's interview with Judge Therry was that he directed him to petition His Excellency the Governor? Yes, that was my impression.

Duncan McPhee, Esq., called in and examined:—

954. By the Chairman: You are a surgeon? Yes.

955. How long have you been engaged in the practice of your profession? About twenty years. D. McPhee, Esq.

956. Are you a member of the Edinburgh College? Yes.

957. And I presume you studied surgery in Edinburgh? Yes.

958. Where have you been principally occupied since? In Sydney. 10 Dec., 1861.

959. How many years have you been in this Colony? About seventeen.

960. Have you been engaged in the practice of your profession in the Colony during that time? The whole of that time.

961. Where? In Sydney, with the exception of about twelve months in the country.

962. Have you been in the habit of using the extract of belladonna in any case? I never administered it.

963. Did you ever see it administered by anyone else? I did.

964. Where? In Sydney.

965. By whom? I have seen it often used by Dr. Berncastle.

966. In consultation he has suggested it, and you have assented? Yes; for diseases of the eye, particularly.

967. Have you seen it used internally? No, I never did. I never used it, or administered it, in my own practice.

968. Nor did you see it in the practice of Dr. Berncastle? No further than using it externally.

969. To produce dilatation of the pupil, I suppose? To produce dilatation of the pupil, principally.

D. M'Phee,
Esq.

10 Dec., 1861.

970. You have not seen it used as a suppository? No.
971. Then, not having seen the medicine used, either in your own practice or in that of anyone else, you are not in a position to state what its effects would be on the human frame? Not from my experience. I could merely speak of what I was taught, and what authorities allege on the subject.
972. I presume that, as you studied your profession as a surgeon, in Edinburgh, you also attended the Colleges of the University there? I have.
973. I believe that was a necessary part of your education? Yes.
974. Under such circumstances, you probably have attended the lectures of Professor Christieson, or Dr. Duncan, junior? I have, both; and Dr. Hope also.
975. Did you ever hear Dr. Duncan, in his lectures on materia medica, allude to the use of belladonna? I have.
976. Do you recollect what the impression was that he conveyed to you, as to its probable effects upon the human frame? Favourable.
977. In what way? As a narcotic.
978. Do you remember whether Dr. Duncan ever stated that he had used it in clinical practice himself? He often stated so in his clinical lectures.
979. You have attended his clinical lectures, as well as those on materia medica? I have, for two seasons.
980. Have you any recollection of the extent of the dose that Dr. Duncan suggested as a prudent one in the administration of belladonna? He generally advised to be guided by circumstances as to the individual case, but from one to five grains was considered by him as a moderate dose of the extract.
981. Dr. Duncan was a man of great practical experience as a physician? He was.
982. He had been a great many years a Professor in the University of Edinburgh? Yes.
983. And the practice is for the Professors to give clinical lectures alternately? Yes.
984. Therefore it must have come to Dr. Duncan's turn to give clinical lectures nearly every year or eighteen months? Yes, in routine.
985. And that, for the twenty-five years he had been a Professor, must have given him immense experience? Very considerable. He was allowed to be probably not inferior to any other physician, in my time, in Edinburgh.
986. Was Dr. Duncan a man of speculative character, who used to try medicines for the information of his pupils, watching carefully their effect? He was; that was the general character given of him by the students.
987. Was that the opinion you formed? Yes.
988. Was he in the habit of going right through all the narcotic class of medicines, such as opium, henbane, hyoseyamus, belladonna, digitalis, and so forth? He was.
989. Then the opinions you would, under such circumstances, hear given by Dr. Duncan, would form a rational ground of practice, in your estimation, for the remainder of your life? It would.
990. And you would consider yourself fully warranted in adopting, in any particular case, the course of treatment suggested by him in similar cases? I would; I would take him as my guide.
991. Is it your opinion that the position of a clinical Professor is one more likely to make a sound physician than any other position in the world? It is, from his experience.
992. From the opportunity afforded of testing his opinions? Yes; no other physician, probably, has the same opportunities as one in a public hospital.
993. May I ask whether you attended the clinical lectures of Christieson? I did.
994. Was he a man who followed out the same course of conduct observed by Dr. Duncan, or was he rather a more careful routine practitioner? I should say he was considered—and I formed that opinion—a more routine practitioner than Dr. Duncan, junior.
995. Was it your opinion that, in point of intellect or acquired information, he was Dr. Duncan's equal? The general opinion was that he stood not inferior to Dr. Duncan, junior.
996. Dr. Duncan was a long time the Editor of the Edinburgh Medical and Surgical Journal? He was.
997. And in that position it was his duty to review all medical works? Yes.
998. And he therefore necessarily became acquainted with the opinions of any man who published on any given disease at that period? Yes.
999. By Mr. Markham: Your knowledge of belladonna is principally an extraneous knowledge—not derived from your own experience? Not from my own experience?
1000. Have you studied any works with regard to poisons generally? Yes.
1001. Do you consider Sir Benjamin Brodie a good authority? Among the very highest.
1002. Do you consider Christieson a good authority in his Materia Medica? I do, first-rate.
1003. Do you think Pereira a good authority? Yes, Pereira may probably be considered the foremost.
1004. Thompson also? I think highly of him.
1005. You would not hesitate to act on the suggestions of these authors? I would not. The first three stand probably the highest authorities in England.

Present:—

MR. MARKHAM, | MR. MORRICE.

MERION MORIARTY, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Dr. Beer, and his solicitor, Mr. Deane, present in the room.

Samuel North, Esq., Water Police Magistrate, called in and examined:—

1006. By the Chairman: Are you aware whether Judge Therry, immediately before his departure, sent Dr. Beer a message to the effect that he would try to do something for him? I am not.

S. North,
Esq., W.P.M.

16 Dec., 1861.

1007. Did you hear such a message delivered, or did you deliver a message of that nature yourself? I think not. I have no recollection of ever having had such a message from Judge Therry.

1008. Do you recollect that, in the interview of Dr. Beer with Judge Therry, Judge Therry directed him to petition His Excellency the Governor? I remember Judge Therry recommending that course as the only course he could pursue.

1009. You are not in a position to state whether Judge Therry expressed an opinion favourable to him or not? I am not. I rather think not. I met Dr. Beer since he came to town, and, at his request, I have been trying to refresh my memory by looking up my papers, but I cannot recall to mind anything of the kind. Those papers I have been able to look up are rather adverse—Judge Therry's minutes.

1010. Have you any minutes of Judge Therry's on the subject? I have.

1011. Subsequent to that period? I do not know whether it was previous or subsequent to the message you allude to. I know the dates of Judge Therry's minutes, but as to the message that he might petition the Governor, I really do not know when that was. I have a petition that Dr. Beer forwarded to Judge Therry, and Judge Therry's remarks upon it, when it was returned to the island.

1012. Was that subsequent to the information obtained from Sir Benjamin Brodie? The petition was. The petition to Judge Therry was subsequent to that, because it is alluded to in the petition, and Judge Therry's remarks also allude to it. The petition to the Judge was dated 23rd August, 1857, but I believe it was not sent to me for probably a month after that; and Judge Therry's minutes are dated 16th and 17th February, 1858. The Judge accounts for the delay, in some measure, by his having to make reference to the different medical men examined at the trial. His remarks were not favourable to Dr. Beer's view of the case, and as to what was said respecting the opinion of Sir Benjamin Brodie, the Judge said he did not know what sort of a statement had been laid before Sir Benjamin, and therefore he could not give any opinion upon his letter. I have obtained the documents from the island, and if you wish, I can leave them for the Committee to look over, and you will probably return them to me again. The last communication I received from Judge Therry, on the subject, was dated 17th February, 1858.

1013. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Were you present when Judge Therry had an interview with Dr. Beer? No, I think they were alone.

1014. Were you not walking with some ladies, shewing them the island? Yes.

1015. Do you remember Dr. Beer addressing a letter to you, applying for permission to petition the Executive, as he said, in accordance with the Judge's directions, on which an answer was returned by you, written by your own hand, to the effect that he could not be allowed to do so, because his case did not come under the new regulations (Letter alluded to handed in by Dr. Beer, and submitted to the witness. Vide Appendix)? I have not the third clause of the new regulations referred to here with me, and I do not remember what is the effect of that clause of the regulations. This letter is dated 20th June, 1858, and Judge Therry's minutes on the petition, returned to me in the February preceding, were so adverse to anything of the kind, that that might have had some influence with me in refusing to allow him to petition again.

1016. Now that you have that letter before you—do you recollect that you told Dr. Beer that you had sent that letter to the Colonial Secretary before the letter was returned to him? No; I do not remember that. I have no books or papers belonging to the island now to refer to, to refresh my memory; they are in the hands of the present Visiting Magistrate.

APPENDIX.

Cockatoo Island, 20 June, 1858.

Worshipful Sir,

In accordance with your permission, I respectfully beg to address you, shewing the grounds on which I am desirous of petitioning His Excellency the Governor General:—

1st—Because His Honor Mr. Justice Therry, on my interview with him, on the 10th instant, stated to me, that after the verdict of the Jury the case was out of his hands, but told me to petition the Executive, and bring before it the opinion of Sir Benjamin Colin Brodie, which His Honor admitted to be genuine, and which threw a new feature on the whole case. His Honor, at the same time, intimated to me that I should shew to the Executive that the medicine (belladonna) as prescribed was not dangerous, which I am prepared to do, if permitted.

2nd—That ten of my witnesses who had been duly subpoenaed to give evidence on my trial were not called and examined by Mr. Black, notwithstanding it was my wish they should have been, as their evidence would have acquitted me.

3rd—

S. North,
Esq., W.P.M.

16 Dec., 1861.

3rd—I can prove by my assistant, Mr. Horner, that Mrs. Brown, who gave evidence against me was the identical with the Mrs. Brown for whom I formerly prescribed belladonna in equally large quantities, although by a legal ingenuity on the part of the prosecution, I failed in proving so on my trial; and the same witness can prove that I was in the habit, in my practice, of prescribing to my patients, suppositories containing the same medicine, in the same quantity, as well as the use of extract of belladonna, by mouth, and upon blisters, and in larger doses, comparatively speaking, amongst whom is one Mr. Roberts, one of the gentlemen who sat as jurors in my case.

4th—That Drs. Redhead and Williams, junior, who have since attended Mrs. Brown, will prove that she was, at that time and is now labouring under that particular diseased state of her rectum which I mentioned at my trial, which led the medical witnesses to give evidence on a false supposition, viz., that she was in good health.

5th—That I am prepared to prove that the medicine prescribed by me, in that quantity and method of application, was not a dangerous medicine, and would not have produced the effects which the medical testimony for the prosecution attributed to it.

I have learned, and can prove by Dr. Wilmot, of Penrith, that he uses suppositories containing (each) double the quantity of the same medicine than those I prescribed, which is the dose recommended, when used per anum, by many most eminent physicians in Europe.

Lastly, I have learned and can prove that Mrs. Brown and "Caroline Smith," by the convict ship "Anson," to Hobart Town, in 1844, are identical, and that she subsequently kept a brothel, in Flinders-lane, in Melbourne. Under these new circumstances which have not transpired at my trial, particularly the opinion of Sir Benjamin Brodie, given after an investigation of the whole case, I respectfully solicit your permission to petition the Governor and the Executive Council, in accordance with the directions of Mr. Justice Terry, who told me on the 10th instant, that such a petition would be referred to him, and he would report upon it, remarking at the same time, that it was not necessary to prove the diseased state of Mrs. Brown's bowels.

I have, &c.,

FREDERICK BEER, M.D.

S. North, Esq.,
Visiting Magistrate of Cockatoo Island.

Fredk. Beer—20 June, 1858. Recd., 25th.

The Superintendent will be pleased to inform Fredk. Beer, that his case is not one of those coming under the 3rd clause of the new Regulations, and he therefore cannot be allowed to petition the Governor General.—S.N., 14 July, 1858.

WEDNESDAY, 18 DECEMBER, 1861.

Present:—

MR. MARKHAM,

MR. MORRICE.

MERION MORIARTY, Esq., IN THE CHAIR.

Dr. Beer, and his solicitor, Mr. Deane, present in the room.

Charles McKay, Esq., M.D., called in and examined:—

C. McKay,
Esq., M.D.

18 Dec., 1861.

1017. By the Chairman: This Committee has been appointed to consider a Petition, in favour of Dr. Beer, presented by the inhabitants of the district he resides in at present; as they are of opinion that some circumstances have transpired since his conviction, which, if known at the time he was tried, might have led to a different result. We have requested your attendance here to-day, not with the view of obtaining any evidence from you, further than you may yourself wish to present to us—I believe you were examined at the trial? I was.

1018. Is there anything you wish to add or to modify, with reference to the opinions you expressed then? Nothing more than that I am still more confirmed in the opinion I gave then, that no man could administer five grains of good English made extract of belladonna with safety. I am in the habit of using it very frequently, and I have never been able to give at the outside more than half a grain in a dose; I generally commence with from a twelfth to a sixth, and by the time the patient has taken two grains, symptoms of poisoning set in.

1019. Taken internally? Yes.

1020. Not in the form of suppository? No, I have not given it as a suppository; but I have no hesitation in believing that five grains in suppository would produce symptoms of incipient poisoning, and the next dose would increase them.

1021. But you have never used it in that way? I have never seen it used as a suppository.

1022. Then it is a mere theoretical opinion of yours? I have used atropia in injections into the bladder; I commenced with the sixtieth of a grain, and by the time I came down to the eleventh of a grain I had to leave it off; so, arguing from analogy, if from a twentieth to an eleventh of a grain of atropia will produce symptoms of poisoning, when injected into the bladder, I would expect five grains of extract of belladonna to be a dangerous dose administered by the rectum.

1023. That was in a state of solution? Yes. I am speaking of course of good extract—well made English extract of belladonna. I have caused ounces and ounces of the extract of belladonna to be destroyed, of which, I daresay, a man might have taken a whole ounce or half-a-pound, and it would not have done him any harm.

1024. Have you had experience of the use of the drug since the trial? Yes.

1025. We have summoned you, not to go over your evidence in chief, because that is on record, and we have it before us; but we thought it fair to afford you an opportunity of making making any further statement, if more recent experience had induced you to alter your opinion in any respect? No. I have used it since the trial, in medicated pessaries, after Dr. Simpson's plan, mixing it with wax and a little lard; but I found they were not retained in the vagina, and did not do much good. I think the quantity was one grain of the extract and two drachms of wax and lard, but a great deal of that would be expelled, so that only a portion of a grain would be absorbed.

C. McKay,
Esq., M.D.

18 Dec., 1861.

1026. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Do you recollect that you lent Dr. Beer Christieson's work at the time of the trial—did you ask Dr. Beer during the trial whether he would like to have some medical works for his defence, and on his saying he would, did you supply him with Christieson? No, I never had a copy of Christieson's work of my own, but I lent Dr. Beer, Pereira.

1027. Did not Mr. Thomas Dent bring it from you, or from Dr. McKellar, or the firm? I do not know what Mr. Dent may have done; but I lent Dr. Beer the volume of Pereira that belladonna is mentioned in. I certainly could not have lent him Christieson, because I never had it.

1028. Do you recollect having advised Dr. Beer to subpoena Dr. Wilmot, of Penrith, because he had used suppositories of ten grains? Yes; Dr. Wilmot and I were talking over the case, and Dr. Wilmot said he had been in the habit of applying belladonna in much larger doses of the extract, I think to the os uteri, than Dr. Beer had administered to the rectum; and I told Dr. Beer this, in order that he might take advantage of it in his defence.

1029. Do you recollect whether you said that Dr. Wilmot was in the habit of using suppositories containing ten grains each? I think, as far as I can recollect, it was to the os uteri; I will not say positively, because it is so long ago, and the subject has never since, until now, been recalled to my recollection.

1030. Do you recollect that, at the examination at the Police Court, you said, "that dose of belladonna could only have been given with criminal intent"; and are you still of the same opinion? I think if a man knew the effect of good English extract of belladonna he would only administer five grains for a dose with a criminal intent. I am perfectly convinced of that—that if he knew the effect of belladonna as well as I do, and were using the same kind, it could only be with criminal intent that he would use such a dose; because I never could think of such a thing, after large experience of it, and watching it.

1031. Supposing Christieson, who is acknowledged to be a good authority, said that one to five grains was probably a medium dose of good extract? I dare say Christieson says what he thinks right; but I am speaking of absolute practice—what I know myself.

1032. By the Chairman: Of course a great deal must depend on the state of the patient—what would be safe under some circumstances would be highly dangerous in others? I have used belladonna in delirium tremens, in excess of secretion of milk, and sometimes in epilepsy, and in mercurial ptyalism; and I never could do more than give half a grain at the outside for a dose, and that by approaching it cautiously.

1033. What are the first symptoms of poisoning by belladonna? The first symptoms are dryness of the mouth and throat—

1034. Constriction of the fauces? Constriction of the fauces—dilatation of the pupil—

1035. Have you seen efflorescence on the skin? Very often; but that does not shew itself so soon as the others; double vision commences before that. Latterly, Dr. Garrard, of London, has introduced a practice that at first sight seems startling; he gives belladonna in the cure of whooping-cough, commencing, with children, with from the sixth to the fourth of a grain, and goes on increasing till he can give ten grains; but he says it entirely depends upon the idiosyncracies of the child's constitution, and a tolerance of the drug that an adult would not have.

1036. That is rather at variance with the general impression—you do not administer drugs to children with the idea that they can bear more than adults? Dr. Garrard you may call an authority, because he is Professor of Materia Medica in the University of London, and he has experimented largely, and recommends it.

1037. In your own practice you would not do it without great caution? I would not like to give so large a dose; but if he has found that a tolerance of the drug is produced in children, I dare say others would find it to be the same. I believe some medical men in Sydney have employed it in the same manner as Dr. Garrard, but whether the nervous system at the age of childhood is really susceptible of a greater tolerance of the drug than would be the case in adult life I cannot pretend to say; I have not had sufficient opportunity of experiment.

1038. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): Supposing the bowels of the patient were affected with a callous stricture or contraction, would a larger dose of the drug be admissible than if they were sound—If you exhibit the drug in the form of suppositories in a rectum affected with callous stricture without any ulceration, would a larger quantity be allowed to be given? I would say that where there is a callous stricture, without ulceration, you might use a large dose as a suppository, but having had no experience in that way I cannot positively say.

1039. But that is a sound pathological opinion? Yes.

Mr. William Bauer called in and examined:—

1040. By the Chairman (at the request of Dr. Beer): What countryman are you? A Mr. William German, from Bavaria.

Mr. William Bauer.

1041. You have translated the extracts you now hand in, from the following German medical authorities:—Plagge, Oesterlin, and Bock; and you believe the translations to be correct? Yes. (The witness handed in the same. Vide Appendix.)

18 Dec., 1861.

APPENDIX.

TRANSLATION and Extracts from Plagge, Pharmakodynamik, for Physicians, Surgeons, &c., compiled according to the most recent experience of the civilized world, and criticisingly treated; page 286.

The following are the diseases in which belladonna is used:—

(1.) Hydrophobia:—Sauter has used it recently in several cases with a happy result, in doses of 8 to 12 grains, three times after each other, and shortly before the paroxysm.

(2.) In disorders of the mind and against epilepsy:—It has been frequently tried by Evers, John Stark, Greding, Leuret, and Ricard, but without effecting permanent cure, although with remarkable improvement.

(3.) Neuralgies, particularly doler faciei:—In these cases it is given inwardly, in increasing doses, till giddiness appears, whereupon it is to be discontinued, but the next day recommenced, even if delirium appears (to be avoided if possible); it has no further evil consequences; but if the seat of the pain is superficial, the local application of belladonna is far to be preferred. But as the method of local application did not give relief in deep seated neuralgia, Trousseau tried the effect of belladonna upon an abraded skin, (on dermical application), and the trial was crowned with the most brilliant result, as several ischiatic neuralgies were cured in this way in a few days. When the neuralgia had been of several months standing, the pains were not quite removed, and Trousseau took refuge in the following method:—He makes a wound through the skin till upon the fat, and inserts in the wound little balls containing 1 to 10 grains of powder of belladonna, and at least equally as much of the extract. The quantity of the extract of belladonna when applied to the abraded skin (or blister) should not be more than 12 grains, and we should even commence with smaller quantities, or otherwise delirium or other symptoms of poisoning might appear. Further, Trousseau remarks that as the bare extract applied to the abraded skin (or blister) causes smarting, he applies a piece of fine linen betwixt the belladonna dressing and the blister. In this manner the extract dissolves slower, and gets gradually absorbed through the lint, and causes no pain at all.

(4.) In pains, Trousseau considers belladonna, endormically applied, as the best anodyne remedy, and justly draws attention to the circumstance that in many diseases, if we only can succeed in removing the pain the other symptoms disappear of themselves. Thus he applies the belladonna extract very frequently to the fissura ani and to painful piles, and uses one drachm of extract to two drachms of lard; but if one would bring the extract of belladonna on bougies into the bowels, the quantity must be smaller, as otherwise poisonous symptoms might appear. By pains in the womb, which so frequently accompany the menstruation and the chronic inflammation of the womb, Trousseau uses, with great advantage, injections, consisting of decoction of one to two ounces belladonna to two pounds of water (for several injections), which injection must be frequently repeated. Dr. Leclerc made also suppositories from extract of belladonna, gum, sugar, and jelly, which he not only brings into the rectum but also in the womb. In acute gout, when located in the joint, Trousseau has removed the most violent pains with a poultice containing belladonna and opium. In pains in the ears, Trousseau makes an injection of a decoction of belladonna; and toothache he removes quickly with a grain of belladonna extract applied in the tooth, and the tincture of belladonna is a very effective remedy to remove the pain caused by a mustard poultice. In painful piles, Labordette uses suppositories consisting of one part (ten grains each) extract belladonna, eight parts of a cerate, and three parts wax.

(5.) In acute rheumatism or rheumatic fever, already Munich and Ziegler, had recommended belladonna in strong doses against the disease, but the physicians had again left the method; till very recently Lebreton, at Paris, applied the same again, and with very good effect. Trousseau has also used this method in the hospital, and in his private practice, with good effect, and in the following manner:—The first day he gives eight grains of extract of belladonna, in eight pills, in the course of twenty-four hours; each day he increases the dose till a little delirium appears, when he remains at the same dose three or four days, and again gradually decreases it.

(6.) In diseases of the eye.

(7.) Spasms.—In spasmodic strictures of the rectum, clysters, consisting in an infusion of belladonna (30 to 60 grains) have proved themselves useful, according to Blackett.

(8.) Against indurations, scirrhus, and carcinoma, Drs. Brummen, Murray, Yunker, and Spaeth are its first recommenders. At a later period Michael Alberti wrote a dissertation on belladonna as a specific against cancer; however, experience has taught us that belladonna can well diminish the most violent pains arising from cancer, but cannot cure it. One has found the internal application of belladonna to be particularly useful in the reduction of tumours in the breast, womb, (uterus), and swelling of the womb, against which belladonna acts specifically, according to Evers. In cases of obstinate vomiting belladonna has yet effected a cure, as also in swellings of the liver and in jaundice.

(9.) In whooping cough it was first introduced by Buchhare, and has been used often with undoubted benefit; but on the other hand it has often had disadvantage to the children, from a congesting of the blood to the head, and by the prevention of sleep which it causes; on that account Trousseau combines opium with it: out of four grains of belladonna, and four grains of extract of opium, and thirty grains extract valerian, he forms six pills and administers one to four pills.

(10.) In cases of consumption and asthma.—As regards the dose, the leaves can be given half as strong again as the powder or the root. One begins with children, from $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 grains; with adults, from 2 to 4 grains for a dose, and increases with the latter, in most cases, till a film arises before the eyes, dryness in the throat and thirst, or even till (according to Lebreton and Trousseau) a slight delirium appears. To a clyster, one should not take more than 20 to 30, the highest 60 grains, and not to repeat it too soon; and if one uses the extract of belladonna to clysters and suppositories, one should be more cautious yet. The extract of belladonna is inwardly, as well as outwardly, the most frequently used; for inward use, the dose is somewhat uncertain, as the strength of the extract is not always the same, but one reckons the same, or a somewhat larger dose than of the powder. If one will use the extract for dressing upon blisters, it must be spread upon a piece of thin linen and laid with the clean side of the linen upon the abraded skin. Shotten in his dissertation (de Atropia, Marburgi, 1843) maintains, that one part of the atropia (the principle of belladonna, henbane and stramonium) is equal in strength to 200 parts of the extract (page 296.) Henbane contains also an alkaloid, and which differs from that of belladonna and stramonium by its greater solubility in water; but we may justly consider that all three plants, in a botanical view so closely related, contain also the same principle (as to its identity chemically, see Gregory's Chemistry.) The effects of henbane too, agree so much with that of belladonna, that we may use the one as a substitute for the other, only henbane is much weaker. As an anti-spasmodic remedy, henbane, as well as belladonna and stramonium, are preferable to opium, and as a pain-relieving remedy, it may be preferable to opium too.

Page 286.—Belladonna is, like stramonium, placed with the narcotic remedies, but affects in no way primary, like the opium, the sensorium, and produces no sleep, but its effects are first upon the circulation and respiration. The primary effects of belladonna become apparent upon the mucous membrane of the guts, by an uncommon disagreeable dryness of the mouth, in which the patient has at the same time a constricting feeling which reaches down to the stomach, further arises nausea and sometimes vomiting. The disturbed function of the circulation which appears after the absorption of the drug is seen by a quick full pulse, quick short breathing, scarlet face and blue lips, bloodshot eyes, and frequently a scarlet eruption upon the whole skin, particularly round the joints. The senses are clouded, heaviness in the head, staggering and a state of drunkenness combined with long dilated pupil, dizziness before the eyes, and not seldom almost complete blindness, with a great rushing in the ears, difficulty of speech. In the highest degree of the effect, the symptoms are yet increasing, delirium appears, which soon goes over in the state of depression or collapse, whereupon the abdomen is blown up, and all over the skin blue-coloured patches appear; before the mouth there is a bloody scum, and there is hemorrhage of black blood from other parts, and death ensues under the highest degree of exhaustion.

Symptoms of poisoning by belladonna, henbane, stramonium, and tobacco:—Sensation of painful dryness and constriction of the throat, difficulty of swallowing, and sometimes diarrhoea, headache, giddiness, extreme dilatation of the pupil and immobility of the same, blindness or imperfect vision, distortion of the face, numbness, talkativeness, delirium (gay joyous delirium). In a higher degree speechlessness, collapse, and even fainting.

Page 831.—In a certain view we can expect from belladonna only such services which an effective stupifying remedy is able to render; it has been employed in neuralgies of all kinds, spasmodic affection, epilepsy, tetanus, hydrophobia, chorea, asthma, and whooping cough, in mania, melancholy, &c.; against hydrophobia it has been frequently enough used, but always without effect, although it was given in very large doses. In England it has been administered up to 18 grains and a drachm in a day. Hutchinson relates, in the Lancet, 1844, two cases of recovery from hydrophobia, upon applications of doses of 5 grains. On account of its pain-relieving and antispasmodic effect, belladonna renders often good services in a variety of ailments and circumstances, as soon as the same are accompanied with violent pains or with spasms of contractile or fleshy parts, as such in spasms of the different sphincters. As with all narcotics, it is also here important to give rather a larger single dose and less frequent, than smaller and more frequent. The extract may be applied by itself to the mouth of the womb, into the bowels, or to painful places, or may be brought upon bougies or catheters in the urethra or the rectum, and in form of pills into painful diseased teeth. Of the extract of belladonna 6 to 12 grains may be added to a mixture to be taken during a day, and to an abraded skin (endermically) from 3 to 6 grains is applied.

Diseases of the rectum are accompanied by peculiar kinds of pain, itching and tenesmus, want of evacuation, bearing-down pain, involuntary passage of blood, mucous matter, and accumulated winds. As those diseases of the rectum frequently create also pains in the small of the back, pains in the bladder, piles and prolapse of the guts, they are not unfrequently all set down, or declared as proceeding merely from piles, and remain unexamined; but every proper physician will undertake an examination of the rectum with his finger, in any complaint about the anus. (Page 334.) The ulcer of the rectum from gonorrhoea (or venereal contagion) has its seat only in the lowest parts of the bowels, immediately above the internal sphincter of the anus. It is (according to Rokitansky) in the form of a ring with swollen borders and a contracting base.

I, John Williams, of Sydney, in New South Wales, broker, do solemnly and sincerely declare that I was subpoenaed as a juryman, at the time of Dr. Beer's trial, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six; that I saw Dr. Beer conducting his own defence; subsequently I saw Mr. Blake acting as his Counsel, but the last day of his trial I saw him again without Counsel; that the said Dr. Beer, on the said last day of his trial, said to Judge Therry, who was the Judge trying him, that he was undefended, and asked for some person or persons to be called—but I don't remember whom—to give evidence; that Mr. Holroyd, who was prosecuting, by permission, on behalf of the Crown, objected; and that His Honor Judge Therry, in reply to Dr. Beer's application to call evidence, said that he could not allow further evidence to be called, as the prisoner's (meaning Dr. Beer's) Counsel had closed his case the day preceding; besides which, that his (meaning Dr. Beer's) trial had already lasted four days: And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the provisions of an Act made and passed in the ninth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled, "An Act for the more effectual abolition of Oaths and Affidavits taken and made in various Departments of the Government of New South Wales, and to substitute Declarations in lieu thereof, and for the suppression of voluntary and extra-judicial Oaths and Affidavits."

Sir,

In reply to your letter of the 3rd instant, requesting to be furnished with a copy of the Regulations in force at Cockatoo Island, with reference to petitions from prisoners, I beg to inform you, that in the late code of Regulations fixing the period of probation for indulgencies to men on the Island, there is no rule with respect to petitions.

I annex, however, an Extract from a Government Order published in the Gazette of the 1st June, 1858, prohibiting petitions being forwarded from prisoners at penal establishments, unless under certain circumstances.

"3. Visiting Magistrates and Superintendents of Gaols or other Penal Establishments, are not in future to forward to the Government, petitions or applications from prisoners, unless some fact be alleged which was not produced at their trial, or some special circumstances shall have arisen, unconnected with their conduct, subsequently to conviction."

Glasgow, September 2, 1857.

Sir,

Your letter of the 28th of August has been forwarded to me at this place.

If I understand your statement rightly, the circumstances of the case on which you wish to have my opinion are essentially as follows:—

1.—Your brother, Dr. Frederick Beer, was consulted by Mrs. Brown, that lady being then in the state of pregnancy.

2.—Mrs. Brown was in a very delicate state of health, having previously suffered from syphilis. It was your brother's opinion also that she laboured under disorganization of the bowels, but it is not very clearly stated what was the exact nature of the disease of the bowels which that term is intended to express.

3.—On the 10th of February, 1856, your brother was called to see Mrs. Brown, who was then labouring under slight labour pains, great irritation of the rectum, and what your brother supposed to be some kind of stricture of the rectum, preventing the passage of either air or feces.

4.—Your brother, under these circumstances (being apprehensive of labour coming on prematurely), prescribed a course of suppositories, each consisting of five grains of belladonna, to be introduced into the rectum. It is not stated whether only one or several of these suppositories were had recourse to, nor in what form the belladonna was employed, but I suppose that it was in that of extract.

5.—Under this treatment Mrs. Brown obtained relief from the symptoms, and the premature labour which Dr. Beer had apprehended, was prevented.

6.—Dr. Beer continued to attend Mrs. Brown until the 15th of February, and on the 19th of the same month criminal proceedings were instituted against him, on the ground of his having administered the suppositories of belladonna with a view to procure abortion, upon which charge the Jury brought in a verdict of Guilty.

Now, concluding that the main facts of the case are such as have been just stated, I cannot have the smallest hesitation in saying that both the charge and the verdict are utterly absurd. I can understand that Dr. Beer might have prescribed the use of belladonna with a view to prevent premature labour, but I cannot suppose that either he or anyone else would dream of prescribing it for the purpose of procuring abortion.

But I ought to add, that if the suppositories were made of the extract of belladonna, that remedy was administered in much larger doses than I should think it prudent to prescribe, if it had been prepared by one of the best London chemists. This, however, as well as many other extracts, is often very imperfectly prepared, and it is very probable that that which was to be procured at Sydney was not of the very best quality. At any rate it does not appear from the account which you have sent me that Mrs. Brown suffered from any of the peculiar symptoms which an overdose of belladonna is liable to produce.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient Servant,
B. C. BRODIE.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

ABORIGINAL BLACK BOYS—"ARCHY" AND "TOMMY."
(PETITION.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 20 January, 1862.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of Alexander Keith Collins, of Paddington, near the City of Sydney, in the Colony of New South Wales, Esquire,—

SHEWETH :—

That about six years ago a boy named Archie, an aboriginal native of this Colony (whose father had died about two years previously) was given into and placed in your Petitioner's possession and charge by his mother, of her own free will and consent, and for the purpose of being brought up by your Petitioner.

That the said mother of the said Archie died about eighteen months or two years ago.

That the said Archie was so given and came into your Petitioner's possession and charge as aforesaid, of his own free will and consent, for the purpose aforesaid.

That the said Archie was so given into your Petitioner's possession as aforesaid at your Petitioner's station called Kimo, in the Lachlan District, in this Colony.

That the said Archie ever since remained in your Petitioner's possession and charge, and of his own free will and consent, up to the time when he was taken away as hereinafter mentioned, and your Petitioner has fed, clothed, and maintained him, and provided him with all necessaries, and acted in all respects as his protector.

That on the eighteenth December now last, the said Archie was taken out of your Petitioner's possession, by some person whose name is unknown to your Petitioner, but who was acting, as your Petitioner believes, under an Order of the Supreme Court, whereby it was ordered that a certain other aboriginal native boy named Tommy should be forthwith delivered up to the custody of the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, to be by him maintained, kept, and disposed of, as to him should appear fit and proper.

That the said Archie was so taken out of your Petitioner's possession by the aforesaid person, by and under the order and direction of His Honor the Chief Justice, Sir Alfred Stephen.

That the said Archie was thereupon taken with the said boy Tommy to the building in Sydney aforesaid known as the Immigration Barracks.

That early on the following morning the said Archie and the said Tommy came together to your Petitioner, at your Petitioner's residence at Paddington aforesaid, having escaped from the said Immigration Barracks.

That shortly afterwards a constable, whose name is unknown to your Petitioner, came to your Petitioner's residence, to take both the said boys back to the said Barracks, whereupon they ran away, but at the instance of your Petitioner came back, and the said constable attempted to force them to go back with him, which attempts they violently resisted; but at length, at the instance of your Petitioner, they consented to go back with the said constable, although with great reluctance, crying and sobbing bitterly.

That the said constable then tied both the said boys together by their wrists, with a ribbon, whereupon they both renewed their resistance to the said constable, and continued crying; and your Petitioner thereupon desired the said constable to untie their wrists, which he then did upon your Petitioner assuring him that he would be answerable for the boys going with him, and your Petitioner thereupon told the said boys to go with the said constable, and they thereupon, in consequence of your Petitioner so telling them, did so, and the said constable then took them both back to the said Barracks.

That your Petitioner so, as aforesaid, interfered to induce the said boys to go back to the said Barracks with the said constable, simply out of humanity, and to prevent the said constable from further ill-using them.

2 ABORIGINAL BLACK BOYS—"ARCHY" AND "TOMMY."—PETITION.

That your Petitioner afterwards went to the said Barracks and saw Mrs. Lucy Applewaite, the Matron or person in charge of the children in the said Barracks, and asked her to allow him to see the said Archie and the said Tommy, but she said she could not allow your Petitioner to see them without an order, although she was, as she stated, very anxious that your Petitioner should see them, as they were always talking about your Petitioner, and wanted to see him; and your Petitioner, upon the suggestion of the said Matron or some other person at the said Barracks, went to the Office of the Secretary for Lands, and there saw the Honorable John Robertson, the Secretary for Lands, on the subject, and explained the matter to him, and he immediately went with your Petitioner to the said Barracks, and thereupon your Petitioner was allowed to see, and he there saw, both the said boys, who on his leaving cried bitterly at being left by your Petitioner.

That on Saturday the twenty-first day of December last, your Petitioner went to the Office of the said Secretary for Lands, to get an order to see the said boys, but was unable to get such an order, by reason of the Office being closed, and your Petitioner then went to the said Barracks and saw the said Matron, and requested of her to be allowed to see the said Archie and the said Tommy, but she replied that your Petitioner could not be allowed to see either of them without an order, which your Petitioner understood to mean an order from the said Secretary for Lands. Your Petitioner then demanded that the said Archie should be produced and given over to your Petitioner; but she replied that she could not give the said Archie over to your Petitioner, or allow him to see the said Archie. Your Petitioner then asked her who detained the said Archie, and by whose authority he was detained, and she replied, "Indeed, sir, I dare not tell you." She also said she was very anxious to get rid of both the said boys, as they quite upset her by their crying and always asking to get back to your Petitioner. Your Petitioner was unable to obtain access to the said Archie or to see him or the said Tommy.

That your Petitioner being anxious that the said boy Archie should be restored to his liberty, thereupon on his behalf, and on behalf of your Petitioner, applied for a writ of habeas corpus, in order that the said Archie might be brought up and dealt with according to law; which writ, on production of an affidavit of your Petitioner, was granted by His Honor the said Chief Justice, directed to the said Matron, but before the same was served both the said boys were discharged from the said Barracks, and returned to your Petitioner of their own accord, and have ever since remained with him.

That the said Matron duly made a return to the said writ of habeas corpus to the effect that the said Archie had been discharged from the said Barracks before she was served therewith, in consequence of which return, and of no right or justification being set up to detain the said Archie, no further proceedings were taken under the said writ of habeas corpus.

That the said Archie was so taken from the possession of your Petitioner, and conveyed to the said Barracks as aforesaid, by the said order of His Honor the Chief Justice, and was afterwards kept there and otherwise dealt with as herein appears, without any warrant or colour of law whatsoever.

That the said boys Archie and Tommy both suffered greatly by the treatment received by them as herein set forth, and are both now still suffering from the effects thereof.

That your Petitioner has been put to considerable expense in obtaining the said writ of habeas corpus for the liberation of the said Archie, and otherwise in relation to the matters aforesaid.

Your Petitioner therefore humbly prays your Honorable House to take the premises into consideration, to adopt such measures for the vindication of the gross infraction of the law herein set forth, and otherwise in relation to the premises, as your Honorable House in its wisdom shall deem meet and just.

And your Petitioner will ever pray, &c.

MISS ISABELLA MARY KELLY.

(CERTAIN INHABITANTS, MANNING RIVER.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 26 November, 1861.

Unto the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales, the Petition of the undersigned Inhabitants of the Manning River and vicinity,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That whereas on the 6th day of April, 1855, in the Central Criminal Court, Sydney, Charles Skerrett was convicted of cattle stealing from Isabella Mary Kelly, and was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude, the Judge regretting at the time that he could not give him a longer sentence; and whereas, in 1859, Skerrett was liberated from Cockatoo, on the recommendation of the Chief Justice—the grounds of said recommendation having never transpired; and whereas Isabella Mary Kelly was convicted of perjury, in August or October, 1859, the alleged perjury being her oath that the signatures to certain documents produced on Skerrett's trial were forgeries; but was afterwards—on the 15th March, 1860—pardoned and liberated, owing to the recommendation of His Honor the Acting Chief Justice, who tried the case, and who had made himself acquainted with circumstances that warranted this interference; and whereas Isabella Mary Kelly has been subjected to much injury and annoyance—pecuniary and otherwise—through loss of property, false imprisonment, and loss of character;—

Your Petitioners humbly implore that your Honorable House will cause an inquiry to be made into this case, to the end that the ownership of the property may be finally settled, and if it be found that the said Isabella Mary Kelly is the rightful possessor, that a sufficient recompense may be made to her for the injuries she has sustained by loss of property, character, and false imprisonment, and by which she has been reduced to penury.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will every pray, &c.

Grades to merge into 1st and 2nd class Sergeants, 128.

From the foregoing statement it will be seen that the number of persons placed on the Estimates for Police employment in 1862, is less by 77 than the number employed under existing Police arrangements; and that the number of Sergeants estimated for is 18 below the number of the various grades proposed under the Police Bill to merge into that rank.

This number of Sergeants no doubt appears large when compared with the number of constables on the Estimates, but when the large extent of territory over which the Police are employed (embracing within it no less than 106 places where Courts of Petty Sessions are held) is considered, it will be found, after allowing for Sydney and other Towns of the Colony, where more Sergeants than one will necessarily be required to carry out the Police duties, that the number of Sergeants then available will be less than one for each Court of Petty Sessions throughout the Colony—a deficiency it is intended to meet by appointing the most active and intelligent senior constables to perform the duty of Sergeant at the least important Courts.

The amount inserted in the Estimates for Police Contingencies, for 1862, is less by £6,694 than the gross amount voted for the same service for the several branches of Police for 1861; and this amount will be further reduced in future years, by the circumstance that this expenditure will be confined to paid officers responsible to the Government, and under the immediate control of the department to which the accounts are rendered; at present the expenditure is in the hands of the Benches of Magistrates, over whose acts the Inspector General of Police has no real control, and many items are therefore charged as Police Contingencies which would not, but for this fact, be admitted.

The amount put down in the Estimates for forage may also be reduced in succeeding years. In 1862 full forage is calculated for, but after Police stations have been formed, and paddocks enclosed, it will be possible at many stations to reduce the ration of forage to each to half allowance throughout the year.

The sum of £5,000 for re-mount horses is required for 1862, to supply the additional mounted constables throughout the Colony with horses; but in succeeding years, the vote required under this head will only be such an amount as may be necessary to replace horses dying or being cast as unserviceable during the year.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to state, that information in which I place reliance has been furnished to me to this effect:—

That Heyward Atkins, Esq., as Police Magistrate of this place, has sent in his resignation to the Government.

That he has left Albury is within my own knowledge, and I am credibly informed there is no likelihood of his returning to assume his duties.

Under these circumstances, I consider it my duty to point out to you the desirability, and the actual necessity which exists, of the appointing some other gentleman to fulfil his duties.

Since the departure of Mr. Atkins, I may state his duties have devolved principally upon myself, but finding them to be of a more onerous nature than I could think of performing for any length of time, I deem it necessary to report to you that, unless some one is at once sent here to replace Mr. Atkins, the Police proceedings are likely to get into a state of confusion.

Trusting that whoever may be appointed will obtain the amount of confidence and public approval which Mr. Atkins, during his long tenure of office here, has so fully succeeded in doing,—

No. 1.

COLONEL KEMPT to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Victoria Barracks,
27 September, 1861.

MY DEAR MR. COWPER,

By note from Captain Wilkie, commanding Detachment at Lambing Flat, I am informed that the diggers have marked claims very near to the Military Camp, which I think it my duty to bring to your notice, that steps may be taken to secure a sufficient Reserve round the Camp, for its protection. If the diggers are permitted to close up as near as I understand they are, in the event of a very sudden rush it would be impossible, with the present force, to hold the position; and the strength of the Detachment will not afford a sufficient number of sentries as would be required for the constant watch that would be necessary to be kept; and it would also be difficult to maintain discipline with such free and easy intercourse between the military and the diggers—at speaking distance from each other.

Before leaving Burrangong, I understood it to have been arranged that the diggers were not to be allowed within the swamp at left of Camp, or nearer than the road at front.

The road at right should also be kept clear.

Faithfully your's,

JOHN FRAS. KEMPT.

SIR,

It has been represented by the Military Authorities that the diggers have marked claims too near to the Military Camp at Burrangong;—that if the diggers are permitted to close up as near as it is understood they are, in the event of any sudden rush it would be impossible to hold the position with the present force; that the strength of the Detachment will not afford such number of sentries as would be required for the constant watch that would be necessary to be kept; also, that it would be difficult to maintain discipline with such free and easy intercourse between the military and the diggers.

2. In fulfilment of an assurance given to the Brigade Major that something would be done at once to put a stop to the inconvenience complained of, a telegram has been sent to the local Commissioner, instructing him to take immediate steps to secure a sufficient Reserve round the Camp for its protection, and intimating that further instructions would be given by you shortly.

3. Before leaving Burrangong, the Colonel understood it to have been arranged that the diggers were not to be allowed within the swamp at left of Camp, or nearer than the road at front; the road at right also to be kept clear. SIR,

With reference to the complaint made by the Military Authorities at Burrangong, of an insufficient Reserve round the Camp, I do myself the honor to inform you that, on hearing about three weeks ago (I think from Mr. Sub-Commissioner Clarke), that the diggings were approaching the Camp, I telegraphed to Mr. Lynch, A. G. C., at once to secure a sufficient Reserve, and on no account to allow digging on it. I now enclose a copy of a letter from that gentleman, by which you will perceive that the Military Authorities are satisfied with what has been done.

I have &c.,
P. L. CLOETE,
Commissioner in charge, Southern Gold Fields.

[Enclosure in No. 5.]

Young, 4 October, 1861.*

SIR,

I do myself the honor to forward the enclosed telegram, received here yesterday from the Under Secretary for Lands.

2. The Reserve referred to was made as soon as the rush near to the Camp took place; I defined the boundary by marking the trees and posting notices all round; no encroachment whatever has taken place.

3. The Officer commanding the Troops stationed here expressed his satisfaction at the arrangements I made, and pronounced the Reserve quite large enough for all purposes of defence.

Commissioner in charge, Southern Gold Fields;

SIR,

Adverting to my letter of the 30th ultimo, relative to the representation made by the Colonel commanding the Troops, that the diggers were taking up claims too near to the Military Camp at Lambing Flat, I am directed to inform you that it appears, by a report from the Officer in charge of the Burrangong Gold Fields (an extract from which is annexed), that the necessary steps have been taken for the prevention of any encroachment by the miners, on the land reserved round the Camp.

I have, &c.,

POLICE RESERVE, LAMBING FLAT.

No. 7.

MR. E. A. BAKER AND OTHERS to SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Lambing Flat, 19 October, 1861.

SIR,

We have the honor to inform you, that at a Public Meeting consisting of the miners and traders of Lambing Flat, held on Monday, the 15th instant, we were appointed a Committee to respectfully ask your attention to a matter which is considered to be of great public interest to the inhabitants of the Burrangong Gold Fields.

On Saturday last, some miners sunk a hole on a piece of ground which lies between the Camp and the Creek running near the Town, and found that it contained gold, and therefore that it would be highly remunerative for them to dig there. A number of men, on Monday morning, accordingly, endeavoured to work on this land, but the Gold Commissioner intimated that it was reserved by the Government for the Camp, and that they could not be allowed to continue working there.

The ground which the Commissioner refuses to be worked by the miners, extends from the Camp about three hundred and fifty yards to the Creek. It is not used for any purpose or enclosed, and the miners and traders would represent to the Government the great hardship and injury inflicted by so large a portion of ground being kept from them; especially as the Government do not make any use of it themselves.

We would ask you, sir, to give the matter your most favourable consideration. The ground would give employment to from 500 to 1,000 men, and we trust that the Government will consider that, even if a large portion of land adjoining the Camp fence be required, some other portion might be as advantageously used as that particular part where gold has been proved to exist.

We would therefore ask you to allow the miners to work the ground mentioned as above, or such part as the Government may not absolutely require for their use.

We are, &c.,

E. A. BAKER,
JOHN CAMPBELL,
CHARLES CLARKE,
JOHN BEBRO.

J. B. WILSON, ESQ., M.L.A., to SECRETARY FOR LANDS.

Sydney, 23 October, 1861.

SIR,

I have been requested to draw your attention to the matter of the Reserve before the Police Camp, Lambing Flat.

It appears that gold in paying quantities having been discovered in front of the Police Camp, the diggers on proceeding to work the ground were turned off, and informed that it had been reserved by the Commissioner for Government purposes.

This Reserve is 350 yards wide, and much larger than is necessary for public requirements; so that without entering into the question of the advisability of the Government declaring Reserves in the centre of Gold Fields, I beg to submit that, if in this case, the Government retained 100 yards in front of the Camp and give up for the use of the miners the other 250, they would then have ample share reserved for the protection of the Camp.

This ground is in the immediate neighbourhood of the town of Young, where the land has been purchased at a very high figure; and I am informed that the ground in question would give occupation to one thousand men. If the Commissioners intended to keep the whole of the Reserve from the miners, I think they acted imprudently in allowing it to be prospected.

I hope you will be able to give the subject your early attention, as it has caused considerable excitement on this Gold Field.

SIR,

With reference to your letter of the 26th ultimo, enclosing communications complaining of the extent of ground reserved round the Police Camp at Burrangong,—I do myself the honor to inform you that, when last at Burrangong, in company with Captain Wilkie, the Officer commanding the Troops, I again marked out the Reserve—the previous lines having been encroached on—and have now slightly lessened the reserved area.

2. A considerable open space around the Camp is absolutely required; and although I should be sorry to think that any further disturbances would occur at Burrangong, yet, should they again happen, a reserve line of 100 yards, as suggested by Mr. Wilson, would have the effect of surrounding the Camp with rifle pits. I am decidedly of opinion that the present Reserve should not be interfered with.

I am to add, however, that as a considerable space around the Camp is absolutely necessary, the Secretary for Lands considers that the Reserve should not be further interfered with.

SIR,

I do myself the honor to submit for the favourable consideration of the Chief Secretary, the accompanying letter from Mr. Superintendent Zouch, urging the necessity of reserving and fencing in about twelve acres of land at Burrangong, for the purpose of a Police Paddock, and also the securing a supply of water for the Camp by protecting the dam.

2. As the results to be derived from the measure are, a saving of forage and the health and comfort of the Police, I beg to support Mr. Zouch's application, and to request the Minister for Lands may be moved to sanction the reservation of the land required; and that authority be given me to cause the necessary fencing to be erected, at a rate as reasonable as the peculiar circumstances affecting labour at a Gold Field will admit; the expense to be charged upon the Gold Contingent Vote for 1861.

Sir,

I have the honor to suggest and recommend, that an authority be granted for fencing about twelve acres of land at Burrangong as a Paddock for the Patrol, but mainly for the purpose of securing the supply of water for the Camp by protecting the Dam.

This work is absolutely necessary, as without such enclosure no water supply can be kept, and the advantage of a paddock, as well as the saving thereby in forage, is too apparent to need further comment.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

ALFRED WITTS.

(PETITION OF.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 7 January, 1862.

To the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales.

May it please your Honors, The humble Petition of Alfred Witts, late Chief Constable of Bombala,—

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH:—

That your Petitioner, by resenting an illegal arrest of his daughter, by George Hebden, Esq., J.P., was suspended from office by the Bench of Justices at Bombala, and continued so suspended till a letter from the Honorable the Colonial Secretary, dated 30th of August, 1859, informed your Petitioner that the suspension of your Petitioner was confirmed. That your Petitioner entered an action against the said George Hebden, Esq., J.P., which cause was tried by Judge Cary, and obtained (£25) twenty-five pounds damages for the said illegal arrest.

Your Petitioner laid his grievances before your Honorable House last Session, through the kindness of the Honble. Henry Parkes, Esq., Member of the Legislative Assembly, but since that time your Petitioner has not heard of any further inquiries into the matter of the said Petition.

Your Petitioner therefore humbly prays that your Honorable House will be pleased to revive the inquiry of last Session, so that your Petitioner may have justice done him.

Your Petitioner was kept out of employment nearly five months;—knowing that he had not committed any offence, and daily expecting to be reinstated in his office, the confirmation of the suspension has been your Petitioner's utter ruin, the prime of his life having been spent in the Public Service, to wit:—

In the London Police	5 years
Chief Constable at Queanbeyan.....	13 „
Chief Constable at Bombala	5 „
Total.....	23 years.

Should there be any informality in the drawing up of this Petition, your Petitioner earnestly prays your Honorable House to overlook it, and ascribe it to Petitioner's ignorance of the precise forms necessary to address your Honorable House.

And your Petitioner will, as in duty bound, ever pray.

ALFRED WITTS,
 Late Chief Constable of Bombala.

WILLIAM LANE.

(PETITION FROM.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 25 October, 1861.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of William Lane, of Windsor, formerly sergeant of the Mounted Police,—

SHWETH :—

That your Petitioner arrived in the Colony in the year 1826, a corporal in the 39th regiment of infantry, having then been in the army 14 years.

That in the year 1827 Petitioner was sent to Wollongong, and was thereafter at Shoalhaven and Wollongong, employed as a police constable, during which time he took, and assisted in taking, several bushrangers and cattle-stealers, with which the country was then much infested; one of whom being a desperate and notorious character, named Burke, in whose capture your Petitioner received two bayonet wounds in the hand.

That afterwards your Petitioner was placed in the Mounted Police Corps, and served as sergeant for 17 years and 225 days, during which time your Petitioner was engaged in many hazardous cases, taking bushrangers and cattle-stealers; after which, to wit, in December, 1849, your Petitioner was discharged from the service, with certificates of character from Colonel Bloomfield, of the 11th regiment, and Commandant Nicholson, of the Mounted Police, both of which stated Petitioner's character to be very good.

That during the whole of the time your Petitioner was employed on police duty he merely received the ordinary police pay, and, although he commenced paying into the Police Superannuation Fund, he was, in consequence of the sudden disbandment of the Mounted Police Force, debarred from being enabled to participate in any claims upon that fund.

Your Petitioner was, therefore, about 22 years in Colonial police service, for which he has never received any gratuity or annual allowance, further than his ordinary pay during the time of service.

Your Petitioner would also mention that, after leaving the Mounted Police, at the disbanding of the corps, he was employed for about 14 months in the gold escort as sergeant, and was in charge of the first escort of gold which came into Sydney.

That your Petitioner, conceiving that his case was deserving of some acknowledgment on the part of the Government, petitioned accordingly for relief, but was refused any.

Your Petitioner, therefore, humbly prays that your Honorable House will take the premises into your favourable consideration, and grant your Petitioner, who is now old and feeble, such relief as to your Honorable House shall seem meet; and your Petitioner will ever pray, &c.

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 22 October, 1861.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, now in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of Mary Brown, Widow of the late Jeremiah Brown, formerly Assistant Superintendent of the Penal Establishment at Cockatoo Island,—

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioner's husband, in consequence of ill health, arising from constant anxiety in carrying out his onerous duties, became incapacitated from further service, and was allowed to retire on a pension of £65 10s., payable from Colonial funds, commencing on the 30th June, 1860.

That on the 19th December, 1860, your Petitioner's husband expired, from a general decay of mental and bodily faculties, leaving your Petitioner with a family of twelve children, in very straitened circumstances.

That, from the long and faithful services of your Petitioner's husband under the Government, extending over a period of twenty-three years, she very respectfully approaches your Honorable House, praying that, in consideration of her large family and her helpless condition, your Honorable House will be pleased to take her case into favorable consideration, she being at present dependent solely on the exertion of the elder members of her family for the means of existence.

And your Petitioner will ever pray.

PARRAMATTA GAOL.
(IRREGULARITIES IN.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 11 December, 1861.

RETURN to an Address of the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, dated 26 November, 1861, praying that His Excellency the Governor would be pleased to cause to be laid upon the Table of this House,—

“ A copy of the Report of the Board appointed on the 13th “ December, 1859, to inquire into certain Irregularities in “ the conduct of Her Majesty’s Gaol at Parramatta.”

(Mr. Lackey.)

PARRAMATTA GAOL.

REPORT of the Board appointed to investigate certain alleged Irregularities in the Gaol at Parramatta.

IN pursuance of the authority conveyed in a letter addressed to the Registrar General, by the Principal Under Secretary, bearing date the 13th December, 1859, appointing a Commission, consisting of C. Rolleston, Esq., Edward S. Hill, Esq., and John Blaxland, Esq., to inquire into and report upon,—

1. The general state of the Gaol at Parramatta;
2. The conduct of the Gaoler and other officers;
3. The character of the discipline maintained therein; and—
4. The practice which appears to have prevailed, of allowing the confines to work for the officers of the establishment;—

those gentlemen formed themselves into a Board; and have just concluded a minute and rigid inquiry, the result of which it is now their duty to lay before the Government.

The Board, in the prosecution of their duty, having carefully perused the evidence and reports which have been sent in to the Government, as the results of former inquiries, proceeded to the investigation of the circumstances which led to their appointment,—during the course of which they have examined no less than forty-two witnesses; and the gist of the evidence taken during the examination of each witness having been committed to writing, read over to, revised, and signed by each person in his turn, is appended to this Report, for the information of the Government, and in support of the conclusions at which the Board has arrived. It may here be proper to say that a question of expense stood in the way of the Board obtaining the services of a short-hand writer, and that the inquiry was, in consequence, more tedious in its progress than it otherwise might have been; at the same time the evidence has the advantage of greater conciseness, and of being attested by the signature of each witness.

The examination of each witness was, in accordance with instructions, conducted separately and alone, in order that no one might be biassed, either by fear or the expectation of favour.

GENERAL STATE OF THE GAOL.

2. With regard to the first subject of inquiry commended to their attention, namely, the general state of the Gaol, the Board have the satisfaction of stating that it presented an appearance of order, regularity, and cleanliness, creditable alike to the Gaoler and his officers.

In the labour yards, however, there seemed to be too much crowding together, and the want of sufficient space was commented on by several of the witnesses, as productive of much inconvenience, and preventive of a proper classification of the prisoners; the presence, moreover, of a large accumulation of sweepings and rubbish mixed with bones and night-soil, in a heap within the walls of the Gaol, was noticed as likely to prove prejudicial to the sanitary condition of the inmates.

This was pointed out to the Visiting Justice and Gaoler, who explained its cause. Its removal was immediately ordered, and directions given that no such accumulation should be permitted again.

Before passing from the sanitary aspect of the establishment, the Board desire to call special attention to the evidence of Messrs. Bassett, Greenup, and Langley, by which it will be seen that the health of the confines is endangered, for the want of a proper system of drainage.

It seems that, at certain times and in certain states of the atmosphere, the stench from the overflowing cesspools is abominable—so much so as to impregnate and poison the air for a considerable distance outside the walls of the Gaol.

The attention of the Government has been directed to this increasing nuisance, by the Sheriff and Visiting Surgeon; but the Board feel bound to add the weight of their recommendation for the abatement of the evil, before it engenders some fatal epidemic which may extend far beyond the walls of the Gaol.

CONDUCT OF THE GAOLER AND OTHER OFFICERS.

The next point to which the attention of the Board was directed was, the conduct of the Gaoler and other officers of the establishment, and on this head they instituted the most searching inquiries.

The Gaoler (Mr. Allen) has had charge of the Gaol since it was built—a period of eighteen years; and, until within the last three or four years, he conducted the duties with the utmost satisfaction to his superiors, and without any cause of inquiry into his conduct or management having presented itself.

The

The Board looked upon this fact, corroborated as it was by the most reliable testimony, as prima facie evidence of his capacity and trustworthiness; and, therefore, directed their inquiries to ascertain the causes which have led to the complaints against Mr. Allen, and to the irregularities brought under the notice of the Government within a comparatively recent date.

It would seem, by the papers submitted to the Board, that, since the year 1856, no fewer than four or five inquiries have been instituted by the Government, all more or less affecting the conduct and discipline of the Gaoler; but, out of them all, he has escaped without any slur upon his conduct, or any impeachment of his discipline.

His morality has been impugned on one occasion; but the inquiry resulted in his complete acquittal, and in an imputation of conspiracy against his accusers. Judging from the evidence taken by the Board, his failing would seem to be rather on the side of severity than of laxity. A reference to the evidence of Messrs. Forbes, Darvall, Byrnes, Coulter, and others, will fully confirm the opinion here stated; and the Board are aware of no testimony that could be brought forward of a more impartial or reliable character.

It is a fact worthy of notice that, whilst all the evidence was sought by the Board, of a character supposed to be unfriendly to Mr. Allen, yet that, with the exception of imputations of partiality by turnkeys who had been dismissed, suspended, or otherwise punished, nothing was adduced against him prejudicial to his discipline, or to the management of the establishment under his charge.

The evidence of Knipe and his wife is not only unsubstantiated, but conflicting in some points, and disproved in many of its main features by the testimony of other reliable witnesses, whilst the evidence of Mr. Clennon (formerly a turnkey in the Gaol, dismissed for drunkenness and insubordination) is condemned as utterly unworthy of credit. The supplementary evidence of Grayson, voluntarily offered, fully justifies the severity of this remark.

Nor can the Board regard the unfavourable testimony of the Sheriff as in any degree conclusive against the Gaoler, when opposed to the united testimony of so many witnesses, whose opportunities of judging have perhaps far exceeded those of the Sheriff himself.

4. To account in some measure for the irregularities disclosed during the late inquiries, the Board considered it their duty to scrutinize closely the character and conduct of the subordinate officers of the Gaol. The evidence on this head has led the Board to the conclusion, that the selection of persons to fill the important office of chief turnkey has been most unfortunate. Five, within the last two years, have been dismissed for drunkenness and insubordination; and, with regard to the last chief turnkey (Dudgeon), who was permitted to resign his appointment, there are grave grounds of suspicion that he connived at the irregularities exposed on the late trial "Regina versus Knipe."

The Board are of opinion that preferment to the office of chief turnkey should be held out as the reward of faithful and efficient services, and not conferred upon strangers to the duties as well as to the authority with whom the appointment rests; and they feel compelled to give it as their conscientious conviction from the evidence before them, that much of the supposed absence of discipline in the establishment is traceable to the system under which all the appointments are made, and not to the incapacity of the Gaoler.

5. With reference to the ordinary turnkeys, it would seem that within the last four years more frequent changes have taken place than formerly, and more frequent instances of drunkenness and insubordination have exhibited themselves. These evils are attributed to the absence, in some instances, of previous good character, and traceable in others to sectarian prejudices. It is stated that persons who have been dismissed from other offices in the public service have been appointed as turnkeys to the Gaol; and there are grounds for believing that sectarian animosities have exhibited themselves in others, to the subversion of all proper subordination and discipline.

The Board, without wishing to cast any reflection upon the officer responsible for these appointments, are of opinion that the evils pointed out are likely to be perpetuated, so long as the appointment rests solely in an officer who can have little or no personal knowledge of the man he appoints, but is dependent upon the recommendation of irresponsible persons; and they would strongly urge upon the attention of the Government the necessity for a change in the system, by which the Executive Government, through the recommendation of a local Board (to consist of the Visiting Justice, the Gaoler, and some other responsible person), shall exercise the power of selection of fit and proper persons to fill the office of turnkey, as well as the right of preferment to the higher offices of chief turnkey and Gaoler. It is clear, moreover, that the Visiting Justice should have the power, not only of hearing and disposing of complaints against the turnkeys, but of suspending, if not of dismissing them. The present practice of referring every complaint to the Sheriff is certainly prejudicial to the authority of the Gaoler, and to the maintenance of proper discipline.

CHARACTER OF THE DISCIPLINE.

6. Having stated so much as regards the state of the Gaol, and conduct of the officers, the Board have a few observations to make on the character of the discipline maintained in the establishment.

This may be divided under two heads, namely, the discipline maintained over the officers themselves, and the discipline maintained over the prisoners.

With regard to the first, the Board have already stated, that its character cannot be charged with laxity, whilst at the same time there is ample evidence to shew that the officers are treated by the Gaoler with fairness and justice. The testimony of every turnkey whom the Gaoler has not had reason to find fault with, goes to evince respect for his general conduct, and confidence in his fairness and impartiality towards them.

The

The Gaoler himself dispenses his orders through the chief turnkey, and holds that functionary responsible for their due carrying out. Hence it is that there ought to exist perfect confidence between these officers, in lieu of that antagonism which has been noticed in the evidence of Messrs. Forbes, Byrnes, and others.

When the principal turnkey is found (as appears by the evidence of more than one witness) to give orders to his subordinates "that they are not, on pain of dismissal, to be inquisitive as to whom the prisoners may be working for," and this without the authority or knowledge of his superior officer, it is not to be expected but that irregularities may arise which the Gaoler can have no means of detecting or preventing. If a Governor's Lieutenant is a traitor, the citadel will soon fall; and in the case of a Gaol, unless faith can be reposed in the honesty of the chief turnkey, the sooner the presence of such an officer is dispensed with the better.

The remedy which has suggested itself to the Board, as likely in some degree to obviate the evil alluded to, is to require the chief turnkey to keep a daily Journal or record of all orders given, and of all occurrences that may take place in the Gaol. It seems that the Journal which, by the 20th clause of the Regulations, the Gaoler is expected to keep, has never been required of him, or at all regularly kept; and the Board are of opinion, that much in the same way as the chief officer of a ship keeps his log, the chief turnkey should be made to keep a Journal, such as they have drawn attention to. This Journal should be kept in the office, open to the Gaoler's inspection, and placed before the Visiting Justice on all occasions of his visiting the establishment.

7. With reference to the character of the discipline maintained over the prisoners, the Board have to notice what appears to them a serious and dangerous interference with the discipline of the Gaoler, on the parts of the free overseers appointed to superintend the labour yard. These officers seem to think themselves above the control of the Gaoler, and hardly amenable to the Gaol Regulations. (See the evidence of the Visiting Justice). Anything more subversive of that discipline which is the most essential element in the management of prisoners, cannot well be imagined; and the Board feel bound to give this prominent notice to the complaint, in order that the evil may not be allowed to attain more dangerous proportions.

8. During the time that Mr. Forbes was Visiting Justice, the system known as the self-supporting labour system was introduced; and, according to his statement, it became not only a source of revenue to the Government, to the extent of nearly £2,500, the last year that he had charge of the establishment, but also a great inducement to good behaviour on the part of the prisoners employed. On his retirement, it appears that, owing to a change in the system, the revenue from the prisoners' labour fell off, the next year, to £1,500, and last year produced no more than £459.

It would seem that the encouragement to work, held out under Mr. Forbes' system, was withdrawn, and that the prisoners having now no stimulus to exertion, have relapsed into their former lethargic habits, doing no more than they can help, and that little with a bad grace.

The evidence of Messrs. Allen, Howison, and Briers (the overseer of stone-cutters), goes to recommend a return to the former system, by which one-third of the proceeds of their labour, after paying for material, was reserved to the use of the prisoners; one-half being allowed them weekly, for the purchase of small luxuries, such as tea and sugar; the other moiety being retained as a fund to be given them on leaving the Gaol. They think that double or treble the quantity of work would be done, and the result of the change after Mr. Forbes' retirement is adduced in proof.

The Board consider that they do not travel out of the path of duty assigned to them, if they express their own concurrence in the views thus presented, and their opinion as to the advantages of the system introduced by Mr. Forbes, over that now in operation, whether viewed in the light of a self-supporting or reformatory system.

THE PRACTICE OF ALLOWING CONFINES TO WORK FOR OFFICERS.

9. The practice that has prevailed of allowing the confines to work for the officers of the establishment, to which the attention of the Board was further directed, has, in their opinion, been in a great measure instrumental in causing the irregularities exposed upon the trial of Knipe, for making away with hats the property of the Crown; and they can conceive no more prolific source of peculation, whether amongst the prisoners or ill-disposed turnkeys.

Since Knipe's conviction the practice has been discontinued, and the Board would recommend that it should never be permitted to revive.

The practice originated in the permission accorded by the Government, many years ago, to the Gaoler, to have work done by the prisoners for his own use. This was long before the "Labour System" was introduced, and appears to have been granted as a means of supplementing the miserable salary allowed to the Gaoler.

The privilege seems to have been pretty largely availed of by Mr. Allen, as far back as the year 1842 (see Mr. Elliott's evidence), and to have been recognized as an authorized privilege by each succeeding Sheriff and Visiting Justice.

Mr. Forbes soon became sensible of the irregularities which this practice might give rise to; and recommended that the privilege should be withdrawn, and that a money allowance should be made to the Gaoler in lieu thereof.

It seems that one part of his recommendation was carried out, and not the other; the privilege was withdrawn, whilst the Gaoler's salary was left as before. (See Mr. Forbes' evidence, par. 24.)

It appears by the evidence of the Sheriff, that permission was sought of him by the turnkeys, to have work done for them by the prisoners, out of materials supplied by themselves; this was refused, but permission in a modified form was granted, in order, as he says, to place the subordinate officers on the same footing, as regards privileges of this sort, as the Gaoler had been, and was then permitted by the Government to enjoy.

The Board cannot too strongly condemn the practice, and recommend that, not even in the case of the Gaoler, should the practice be again reverted to.

These remarks are not intended to apply to the employment of prisoner servants by the Gaoler and principal turnkey; and for this reason, because it is the lesser of two evils; for the Board are of opinion, that to permit the introduction of free servants within the walls of the Gaol would be a most dangerous practice, and open the door to trafficking with the prisoners, and to a multiplicity of other irregularities impossible to foresee or to provide against.

CLERICAL DUTIES.

10. Their are one or two other points to which the Board deem it their duty to advert, before passing to other matters, upon which they have been desired to report.

The first has reference to the clerical department of the Gaol. They have to notice an entire want of system in the manner of keeping the accounts.

The attention of the Government was called to this subject by Mr. Forbes, but it does not seem to have led to the adoption of any improved method.

The Board have no wish to reflect with the slightest severity upon Mr. Ennes, the present clerk, who, in so far as his knowledge goes, has endeavoured zealously to discharge the duties imposed on him; and has introduced several improvements upon the system, if it can be called system, of his predecessors.

11. The accounts still, however, present an appearance of confusion and irregularity that would altogether defeat the scrutiny of auditors.

The salary attached to the office is on too low a scale to secure the services of an £125 per annum. efficient accountant. The Board would therefore recommend that a proper system should be devised, proper books furnished, and the clerk instructed as to the proper method of keeping them.

12. Certain pencil memoranda were brought under the notice of the Board, purporting to be vouchers for the payment of certain small sums to the Gaoler, for the use of his horse and cart, employed in carting out rubbish, and bringing up Government stores, &c., from the railway, &c., (a practice which was condemned more than two years ago, by a former Board of Inquiry. See Report of Messrs. Brennan, Darvall, and Elliott, dated 30th September, 1857.)

Particular inquiry was made into this practice, which was found to have been authorized by the Visiting Justice, in consequence of the difficulty of finding anyone to undertake the duty.

It seems, moreover, that the Auditor General detected some irregularities with reference to the charges made, and that the explanation of the Gaoler did not appear to him to be satisfactory.

The Board, however, failed to elicit anything that could implicate Mr. Allen in any attempt to defraud the Government; and the fact of the account to which exception was taken having been certified by the Visiting Justice, they think fairly exempts him from censure.

It does not seem that the charges made for this service by the Gaoler were exorbitant—in two years amounting only to the sum of £53; a sum for which the service can hardly be performed by the horse and cart which has lately been attached to the establishment.

13. The Board are of opinion that the clerk ought to have authority to question any voucher presented to him, and to require a strict account of disbursements, whether from the Gaoler himself, contractors, or others supplying goods to the Gaol; and they would recommend that a proper Stock Book of all articles supplied and issued be kept by the principal turnkey.

The absence of a book of this kind seems to have led to some of the irregularities which have been brought to light. It would seem that invoices of goods are carried into voucher by the clerk, for payment, without the signature of any officer of the establishment to vouch for their accuracy.

The clerk himself says that he only holds himself responsible for the correct casting up of the figures, and that he has nothing whatever to do with receiving the goods, nor is it part of his duty to inquire whether they have been received or not. He assumes so from the fact of the invoice being placed on his desk; and credits the contractor with the amount, without any further inquiry.

The Board think that Mr. Ennes might be transferred to other clerical employment in the public service, and a person more conversant with accounts, with advantage put into his place.

EXTRA TURNKEY OUTSIDE THE WALLS OF THE GAOL.

14. With the view to check the traffic which, in spite of the utmost watchfulness on the part of the turnkeys within the walls of the Gaol, occasionally takes place over the walls, that is, by discharged prisoners or other friends of the confines throwing tobacco and other articles from the outside into the Gaol yards, and receiving in return such things as the prisoners may be able to secrete—cabbage-tree hats, for instance—the Board are of opinion that it is desirable to have a turnkey during the day placed outside the walls of the Gaol; and they would recommend that an extra turnkey be appointed for that duty; his services to be available within the Gaol when required.

15. The Board now come to the consideration of the Report of the Sheriff, after his inquiry into the irregularities brought to light in the course of the trial "Regina versus Knipe."

The conclusion at which the Sheriff has arrived, with regard to the Gaoler, is one which, it seems to the Board, can only be justified upon the clearest testimony; and they are bound to say that, during the course of their investigation, they have failed to elicit any evidence that can justify them in condemning Mr. Allen.

The Board approached this branch of inquiry with some diffidence, yet with an earnest desire to get at the truth, and to do justice impartially, both to the accused and to his superior officer, who, in the discharge of his duty, had deemed it necessary to make a recommendation which involved the disgrace of an old and hitherto meritorious public servant.

The most minute and searching inquiries were directed, with the view to establish the fact of want of confidence in the Gaoler amongst his subordinates, and to test the soundness of the grounds which produced so unfavourable an impression upon the mind of the Sheriff.

It will be seen, in reference to the evidence, that out of the whole of the turnkeys examined, only one expressed the slightest want of confidence in the fairness and justice of Mr. Allen's treatment of them; and the testimony of Mr. Elliott, Mr. Forbes, and Mr. Darvall, who since 1842 have been the Visiting Justices of the Gaol, goes to establish the fact that no complaints on this head ever reached their ears.

In the face of such testimony as this, the Board could come to no other conclusion than this, that the Sheriff had been misled by ill-disposed and designing persons in the establishment, inimical to the Gaoler and impatient of his discipline and authority; they regret to say that there are evidences of such persons being, and having been in the Gaol; and it speaks much for Mr. Allen's temper and judgment that he has borne with them as well as he has done, and has been able to maintain such good discipline under so serious disadvantages.

The Board cannot dismiss this branch of their inquiry without expressing their conviction that Mr. Allen has done nothing to forfeit the confidence of the Government; and, in support of this testimony, they would particularly invite the attention of the Government to the Report of a Board appointed in 1857 to make inquiry into the then state of the Gaol.

The Board consisted of the Sheriff, the Visiting Justice, and Mr. Elliott; and in the 2nd paragraph of their report (dated 30th September, 1857) they say "that the Gaoler has had great difficulties to contend with in the execution of his duties;" they complain of "gross improprieties on the part of turnkeys lately dismissed;" and of a conspiracy to ruin the Gaoler having been in existence. They state further "that prisoners have been tampered with by the turnkeys, and have received from them spirits, tobacco, and writing materials; that prisoners have been drunk, and letters written by them have been sent out of the Gaol secretly by means of the turnkeys; and that, under these circumstances, it is a matter of surprise to them that the Gaol has been so well managed as it has been." They further remark, in paragraph 3, "that the whole of the charges against the Gaoler have been made and supported by dismissed turnkeys and discharged prisoners."

16. It only remains now for the Board to animadvert on that part of their instructions which has reference to the removal of the female prisoners from Darlinghurst and Parramatta.

As regards the latter establishment, there are no grounds for hesitation in supporting the recommendation of the Sheriff.

The want of room in the Gaol, both as regards labour and the proper classification of prisoners, has already been noticed.

The old Commissariat Store is a building of great strength and capacity; and although not built exactly in the style of a model prison, yet not ill adapted, with some better appliances for ventilation and for further security, for the purpose.

Upwards of 600 troops have been lodged there, and what has been considered good enough for free soldiers ought not to be considered unfit for convict women.

The Board inspected the premises, and considered that they might be put in a proper state to receive prisoners, at a cost not exceeding £1,000.

SALE OF LIQUORS GENERAL LICENSING BILL

(FARMERS, WINE-GROWERS, &c., IN THE HUNTER RIVER DISTRICT.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 1 October, 1861.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales.

The respectful Petition of the Farmers, Wine-growers, Store-keepers, and others, in the Hunter River District,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH :—

*Sic in original.

That your Petitioners have had brought under* a Bill, about to be introduced into the Legislature, to be styled "The sale of Liquors General Licensing Act of 1861."

That your Petitioners infer that it is intended to continue the restrictions at present placed upon the sale of Wines produced in the Colony.

That the manufacture of Wine has become an important Colonial product, and is likely to be increased to a very large extent, if greater facilities be afforded by the Legislature for its sale.

That your Petitioners are of opinion that the time has now arrived when Wine produced in the Colony should be accessible to all classes, and that to make it so accessible all restrictions upon its sale should be removed.

That the climate of New South Wales necessitates the use of some exhilarating beverage amidst the toils of laborious life, and no beverage of the sort can be more conducive to the health and comfort of the labouring population, than sound unadulterated Colonial Wine.

That it is universally acknowledged that in the Wine-producing countries of Europe, where every facility is afforded to the consumers, there is less drunkenness than in those countries where no Wine is made.

That your Petitioners are of opinion, that if Wines produced in the Colony were more extensively consumed, drunkenness would be proportionably diminished.

Your Petitioners would therefore respectfully pray your Honorable House to take the premises into your consideration, and afford such facilities for the production and consumption of Colonial Wines, as to your Honorable House may seem meet.

And your Petitioners will ever pray.

SALE OF LIQUORS GENERAL LICENSING BILL.
(HUNTER RIVER VINEYARD ASSOCIATION.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 1 October, 1861.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.
The Petition of the Members of the Hunter River Vineyard Association,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH :—

That in a Bill which it is proposed to introduce into the Legislature, intituled "The Sale of Liquors General Licensing Act of 1861," your Petitioners are under the impression that by the 3rd Clause of the Bill it is proposed to continue the restrictions on the sale of Wines produced in the Colony.

Your Petitioners respectfully submit to your Honorable House that the present restrictions upon Colonial Wines by the Act 13th Victoria, No. 29, have injuriously affected the production and consumption of Wines made in the Colony.

That the Hunter River Vineyard Association, of which your Petitioners are Members, has for many years past laboured to bring the Wines produced in the Colony to a state of perfection and cheapness, results which are evidenced by the increased demand for consumption at home and abroad.

That for the purpose of increasing the Vineyards of this Colony, your Petitioners are unanimously of opinion that greater facilities should be afforded for retailing Wines produced in the Colony, and that instead of limiting the sale of such Wines to two gallons, it should be procurable in the smallest possible quantity.

That your Petitioners are of opinion, that if the present restrictions were removed that greater sobriety amongst the labouring classes would be the result; as it is patent to all acquainted with the wine-producing countries of Europe, that in those countries intoxication amongst the labouring classes is almost unknown.

Your Petitioners would therefore respectfully pray that your Honorable House will take the premises into consideration, and will afford such facilities for the unrestricted sale of Wines made in the Colony, as your Honorable House may consider advisable.

And your Petitioners will ever pray, &c., &c., &c.

(CERTAIN MINISTERS OF THE WESLEYAN METHODIST CHURCH.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 26 November, 1861.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned Ministers of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in the aforesaid Colony of New South Wales,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That your Petitioners have read, with deep regret, the decision of the Committee of your Honorable House upon the 40th clause of the Bill, entitled, "Sale of Liquors Licensing Bill."

That, in the opinion of your Petitioners, the Sabbath is not a mere local and temporary institution, but an institution appointed by God in the beginning, for all men of every grade and nation under heaven, to the end of the world.

That your Petitioners believe that the Sabbath ought to be sanctified by a holy resting all the day from worldly employments and recreations lawful on other days, and by being set apart for holy uses; and also, that the proper observance of the day will produce the most salutary effects upon the minds and morals of all classes of the community.

That your Petitioners would respectfully point out to your Honorable House, that if the recent decision of the Committee of your Honorable House become law, a large number of persons in this land will be compelled either to relinquish their business or break the law of their God.

That while your Petitioners do not at present deem it right to ask your Honorable House to enforce the due observance of the Lord's Day in this country, they strongly deprecate any legislative enactment which will compel any classes of our community to violate the sanctity of that day; and therefore your Petitioners humbly pray that your Honorable House will so alter the said Bill as to protect the community from the evils which must necessarily follow if the clause of the said Bill hereinbefore objected to, as decided upon in Committee of your Honorable House, become law.

BONDED DISTILLERIES AND SUGAR HOUSES BILL.

(CERTAIN MERCHANTS OF SYDNEY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 31 December, 1861.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the undersigned Merchants in Sydney,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That a Bill called the "Bonded Distilleries and Sugar Houses Bill," intending to confer on the Sugar Refining Companies the privilege of refining sugars, and to distil rum in bond for home consumption, having been brought into your Honorable House, your Petitioners respectfully pray that, for the following reasons, it may not be allowed to pass into a law:—

1. The license sought by the Bill was often and urgently pressed on the British Parliament by the sugar refiners in England, and at one time it was granted; but it was found so inconsistent with the safety of the Revenue, that it was soon withdrawn, and the refiner is now allowed to work in bond, for exportation only. The Colonial Sugar Company, moreover, is allowed to distil rum from the waste of the refinery, a privilege that never was allowed to the English refiner, and this must further endanger the Revenue to an unknown extent.

2. The Sydney Sugar Company has circulated in your Honorable House a statement, in which they state that they pay ten shillings per ton more duty on their refined sugar than the foreign importer, inasmuch as they pay duty on a certain amount of waste resulting from the process of manufacture, and that it is to get rid of this unfair charge that they desire the intervention of your Honorable House.

3. What is designated as waste in the Company's statement, is the necessary result of all manufacture, and it is not a loss to the Company, as it forms part of the price of the refined sugar, and is repaid to the Company by the public.

4. The Company being distillers, can in reality have no waste, as all the refuse of a sugar refinery contains saccharine matter and may be converted into spirit.

5. That any compensation or remission of duty, such as that conferred by the Bill, must be considered as in reality a bonus which will give the Company a virtual monopoly in the two important articles of sugar and rum; on the latter of which they already enjoy a protection of seven-pence per gallon over the importer; and on the former a protection of the extra freight of seventy shillings or eighty shillings per ton, which loaf sugar pays on account of its bulk.

6. That the immediate loss to the Revenue will, on the Company's own statement, be—

On 2,745 tons of waste, @ 100/- per ton	£13,725
On 6,727 tons of treacle, which will only pay 66/8 in place of 100/-	11,212

In five years..... £24,937

Equal to £4,987 per annum.

7. That there can be no check to the per centage of what the Company calls waste and molasses, all which will be converted into spirit, and the sugar revenue injured to an extent that no one uninitiated in the manufacture can estimate.

2 BONDED DISTILLERIES AND SUGAR HOUSES BILL.—PETITION.

8. That, if it appears right to your Honorable House to alter the present law at all, your Petitioners pray that such alteration be limited to the indulgence granted in England, viz., to permit sugar to be refined in bond for exportation only.

9. That should your Honorable House think it desirable to proceed any further with the Bill, a Select Committee be named, to inquire whether the Sugar Company requires any legal privileges to enable them to compete with the foreign importer; whether such privileges will not injure the revenue derived from sugar and rum; and also whether such privileges would not give them such advantages in the sugar and rum markets as would virtually amount to a monopoly, to the injury of the public Revenue, the public consumer, and of the mercantile body engaged in importing these necessaries of life.

Your Petitioners, for these reasons, respectfully pray your Honorable House to take their case into your favourable consideration, and allow the Bill to proceed no further; or to grant a Select Committee to inquire into the reasons alleged for its being passed into a law.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

FINES CHARITABLE APPLICATION BILL.

(MUSWELLBROOK BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 14 November, 1861.

To the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The Petition of the Committee of Management of the Muswellbrook Benevolent Society,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioners view with alarm the provisions of a Bill, intituled "A Bill to regulate the Charitable Application of certain Fines and Penalties," as brought into the Legislative Assembly by Mr. Cowper, on the 10th October, 1861.

That, under the provisions of that Bill, the local Committees of rural Benevolent Societies would be encumbered in their action, their funds would be reduced, and the poor would not be so well provided for as under the present system.

That, to the knowledge of your Petitioners, the present system has worked satisfactorily in rural districts.

That, in the opinion of your Petitioners, any alteration of the present system, as affecting rural Benevolent Societies, is unnecessary and uncalled for.

That the centralization of the control and allotment of charitable funds by any Government would be a source of great additional patronage, which your Petitioners view with disapproval.

That, under the provisions of the Charitable Fines Act of 1861, additional duties would be entailed on gentlemen who acted gratuitously on behalf of their local poor, which would cause their retirement from office, and the interests and welfare of the poor would suffer materially.

That giving power to the Governor in Council to determine and direct in what manner the available balances to the credit of Benevolent Societies shall be expended, without the consent of the Committees of Management and general body of subscribers, would be an act of gross spoliation, unworthy of your Honorable House, and against which your Petitioners respectfully but earnestly protest.

That, contrary to the principles of the British Constitution, penalties are to be imposed on gentlemen for the non-performance of gratuitous services; and against such an act of tyranny your Petitioners protest most strongly and respectfully.

That, in the premises, your Honorable House will be pleased not to sanction the passing of the Charitable Fines Act of 1861.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

FINES CHARITABLE APPLICATION BILL.

(SCONE BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 26 November, 1861.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.
The humble Petition of the Scone Benevolent Association,—

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioners are members of a Charitable Institution (recognized by the above title), instituted in the year 1850, according to the provisions of the Acts then in force, and administering relief to the poor of their district, in the shape both of casual relief and permanent support, from funds derived from private subscription, and those sources of public revenue which are provided by existing legislation.

That your Petitioners view with alarm the provisions of a Bill lately introduced into your Honorable House by the Honorable Charles Cowper, entitled "A Bill to regulate the Charitable Application of certain Fines and Penalties."

This apprehension has been excited in the minds of your Petitioners, from the observation that the 5th clause of the proposed Bill requires the Treasurer or other authorized officer of every individual Society, to furnish, half-yearly, to the Colonial Treasurer, full, true, and particular accounts in detail of all the proceedings of the Society, including particulars of all the funds administered by the Society during a series of years, the sources from whence derived, the mode of application of disbursement, and the disposition of the balances in hand, designated "surplus" in the clause.

They further observe that the 6th clause confers upon the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, the sole power of directing the application, not only of that portion of the funds of these Societies derived under existing Acts from public sources, and by this Bill consolidated under a separate account, to be intitled "The Charitable Fines Fund," but also of the private subscriptions of your Petitioners and others, no payment from which, either in fulfilment of existing contracts or for the daily expenditure of the Society, would appear to be valid after the passing of this Bill, unless authorized in writing by warrant under his hand.

The 7th clause confers upon the Governor, with the like advice, the power of making regulations in matters of detail connected with these Societies, which shall have the force of law.

And the 8th imposes penalties upon the unpaid officers of these Societies for a breach of the provisions of the Act.

Your Petitioners are of opinion that this Bill, if passed into law, will have the effect of completely subverting these Societies in the rural Districts, as no institution of this nature can, with advantage to the community, carry on its operations, if subjected to such unwarrantable and uncalled-for interference with the details of management. That the power of confiscating the accumulated balances of the rural Societies, for the benefit of Institutions belonging to larger and more influential communities, is too dangerous to be placed in the hands of any Executive.

That your Petitioners are not aware of any necessity for a change in the existing laws referring to such institutions.

That, as far as they are aware, they have hitherto worked advantageously for the public good.

Your Petitioners therefore pray that your Honorable House will be pleased not to sanction the passing of the "Charitable Fines Act" of 1861.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

(MURRURUNDI.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 26 November, 1861.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of the Colony of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Memorial of the Inhabitants of the Town and District of Murrurundi,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH :—

That your Memorialists view with considerable anxiety the introduction into your Honorable House of a Bill intituled, “ A Bill to regulate the Charitable Application of certain Fines and Penalties.”

That your Memorialists desire respectfully to submit to your Honorable House, that all Charitable Institutions in the Country Districts derive a considerable portion of their income from, and, in many instances, are mainly supported by, the fines, forfeitures, penalties, and other moneys paid to them under the provisions of the several Acts cited in the Bill above alluded to ; that the moneys so handed over are, in the first instance, derived from the districts in which the Charitable Institutions receiving them are placed ; and further, that as the present mode of payment of those moneys is expeditious, convenient, and just, your Memorialists believe that any alteration in the present method of receiving such moneys would, in many instances, greatly diminish the usefulness of Societies hitherto affording relief to the indigent and helpless poor, and would be detrimental to the best interests of the Charitable Institutions of the Colony, especially in Country Districts.

Your Memorialists therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will take into your favourable consideration their objections to the Bill first above-mentioned.

And your Memorialists, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

FINES CHARITABLE APPLICATION BILL.

(HAWKESBURY BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 20 January, 1862.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Committee of Management of the Hawkesbury Benevolent Society,—

SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioners have observed that a Bill has been introduced into your Honorable House, intituled, "A Bill to regulate the Charitable Application of certain Fines and Penalties."

That whilst your Petitioners are willing to admit that the necessity for the passage of such a Bill may be rendered necessary by reason of difficulties which have arisen in the proper application of such fines and penalties in some parts of the Colony, they nevertheless submit to your Honorable House, that, in the case of the Hawkesbury Benevolent Society, which is established by the Act 4th Victoria, No. 3, and about whose Treasurer there can be no dispute, the provisions of such a Bill are wholly unrequired; and the operation of the said Bill upon the said Society would lead to great trouble, inconvenience, and loss of time and money—a state of things which would be most undesirable and ought to be avoided.

Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that, should your Honorable House see fit to pass the said Bill, the Hawkesbury Benevolent Society may be excepted from its operation and provisions.

And your Petitioners will ever pray.

No. 1.

BENCH OF MAGISTRATES, QUEANBEYAN, to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Queanbeyan, 8 March, 1860.

SIR,

We have the honor to call your attention to enclosed letter from the Revd. Mr. Smith, addressed to Mr. Hall (in the absence of the Police Magistrate), and also the copy of the one he had addressed to the Secretary of the Queanbeyan Benevolent Society or Hospital.

We have communicated with Mr. J. J. Wright, the President of the Queanbeyan Hospital, who stated that the designation of the Queanbeyan Benevolent Society had been altered for that of Hospital; that according to their present rules no one could be admitted without a fee of three guineas; and he did not think William Lawrence's was a case they could attend to under any circumstances.

Our attention was also to-day called to the state of Hugh M'Guire, a ticket-of-leave holder for this district, who is in very bad health, quite unable to work at present, and has neither place to live in, or money to find sustenance and medical advice, and we had to direct the Chief Constable to place him in the lock-up for immediate protection and it is anything but a proper place for him in his present state.

Under these circumstances we request your immediate advice, what is to be done for the before-named William Lawrence and Hugh M'Guire.

We may, in conclusion, state that the Queanbeyan Hospital have now funds to the amount of about one thousand pounds, in a great measure accumulated from fines at the Police Offices, and the proceeds of unclaimed cattle sold out of the pounds.

We have, &c.,

HENRY HALL, J.P.

WM. DAVIS, J.P.

[Enclosure in No. 1.]

Canberry Parsonage, Queanbeyan,
29 February, 1860.

My dear Sir,

I enclose you a copy of an application which I made to the Committee of the Queanbeyan Benevolent Society, on behalf of an infirm old man named William Lawrence.

At the end of one month, having received no reply, I called upon the Secretary, who informed me that he had not been able to get together a meeting of the Committee. He went with me to the President, and they arranged that a meeting should be held next day, to take the old man's case into consideration. As I have received no answer yet (though a week has elapsed), I imagine there was no meeting.

In the meantime the poor old man is in much distress, and the good intentions of Government in granting the poundage fees, &c., to the Queanbeyan Benevolent Society, are frustrated.

The only course that remains for me is to bring the matter before the Queanbeyan Bench of Magistrates, which I now beg to do through you.

Henry Hall, Esq., J.P.

I remain, &c.,
PIERCE GALLIARD SMITH.

[Sub-Enclosure.]

Canberry Parsonage, Queanbeyan,
23 January, 1860.

Sir,

I beg to bring before the Committee of the Queanbeyan Benevolent Society or Hospital the case of William Lawrence, as one standing very greatly in need of some assistance.

He is seventy-five years old, reduced almost to a skeleton, severely afflicted with rheumatic pains, and quite unable to work and support himself. He is at present living at Gundaroo in an out-house, and is supplied with food and clothes by one of the residents there—Mrs. Duffern. He has requested me to endeavour to obtain his admission into some benevolent institution, where he may end his days. He is an old soldier; he served in Holland, and in the Peninsula, and was wounded at Waterloo. He had a pension, but forfeited it, and was sent to this country in 1832.

I trust the Committee will at once look after this poor old man, as his is just one of those cases for the relief of which the poundage fees, &c., &c., were granted by Government to the Queanbeyan Benevolent Society or Hospital, and, whatever name the Institution may now bear, the object for which the funds were granted to it by Government is plainly enough laid down, viz.—for "the relief of those who, through age, sickness, accident, or infirmity, may be unable to support themselves."

I shall feel obliged by your informing me whether the Committee will receive William Lawrence into the Hospital, or will maintain him as an out-door pauper.

I remain, &c.,
PIERCE GALLIARD SMITH,
Minister of St John's Church, Canberry.

P. S.—I have omitted to mention that William Lawrence has resided for many years in the Queanbeyan District.

GENTLEMEN,

SIR,

We beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated 20th March, requesting the Committee of the Benevolent Society, Queanbeyan, to furnish report in reference to the refusal of two persons into the Asylum. In reply, we have the honor to state, that at the last Annual Meeting of the Society, held on the 10th January, it was resolved that the Institution be henceforth only a District Hospital; consequently, William Lawrence applying as a pauper, could not be admitted; as to the second person, named Hugh M'Guire, we beg to state that he obtained admission as an hospital patient on the 9th March, and he still continues an inmate; also, the persons who have been the subject of complaint to the Government, were those who supplied this man with the necessary sum to gain admission to the Hospital.

We have, &c.,

SIR,

We are in receipt of your letter, 60-1549, in reply to ours of the 8th ultimo, in which we requested to know what was to be done with William Lawrence and Hugh M'Guire. The latter we see has been admitted into the Hospital at Queanbeyan; but you do not state what is to be done with the former, which was the more unjust case, as he is a pauper, and unable from age and infirmity to help himself. Is he to be allowed to die in an out-house like a dog?—as he assuredly will as soon as the cold weather sets in, as he has no means of reaching the Benevolent Asylum in Sydney, even if he was able to go so far and would be admitted; and that at a time that we are aware there are abundance of funds paid from the fines at the Police Office, and unclaimed pound cattle, to meet all such cases. Nor can we consider the appropriation of the whole of these sums to an Hospital in which persons are charged for admittance, at all in compliance with the Act which states that they shall be paid for the support of such persons as are unable to get their own living.

POLICE MAGISTRATE, QUEANBEYAN, to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Police Office, Queanbeyan, 15 June, 1860.

SIR,

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 283, of 11 May, 1860, requesting my report on the subject of a communication of the Bench of Magistrates at this place, respecting the non-admission of William Lawrence into the Queanbeyan District Hospital.

2. The Secretary of that Institution (in absence of the President just now at Sydney, and the time of whose return is uncertain) has furnished me with such information as the sources at his command enable him to afford. I have had the opportunity, too, of placing myself in communication with two gentlemen on the spot, upon whom, for two or three years previous to about December last, had devolved, it appears, almost the entire management of the Institution; and upon the information so obtained, I do myself the honor to report as follows:—

3. In October, 1847, the Queanbeyan Benevolent Society, to be supported by subscribers, was established, having for its object the relief of the "destitute and infirm" of the district; which object, in December, 1850, it was determined by the subscribers should embrace the "sick and destitute"; provision then, for the first time, being made for medical treatment of patients in a house to be rented for the purpose; and from which date up to January last, the Institution appears to have been designated and known as the "Queanbeyan District Hospital and Benevolent Society." Cases of temporary want or distressing emergency being subject to out-door relief; and the persons admitted being confined to such as required medical treatment.

4. From December, 1850, the Institution, as regards patients in Hospital, seems to have been conducted in a great measure on a self-supporting principle; admission being almost invariably sustained by the patients, each depositing £3 in the hands of the Treasurer, or by the like sum being otherwise guaranteed for their maintenance in Hospital.

5. Temporary relief to the aged poor has not been called for but on very few occasions, when aid was always rendered in the shape of the providing for their conveyance to Sydney, and then procuring their admission into the Benevolent Asylum. At no time does it appear to have been contemplated to make an asylum for the aged and destitute, of the small building rented; nor can I discover that any such patients (unless suffering from sickness or accident, and then only upon the usual deposit or guarantee) have been admitted.

6. Towards the end of last year, meetings, which were attended by some of the residents of the town, were held, the persons forming such meetings, for the most part, qualifying as members of the society, only when so assembled, (for, except as depending on the funds appropriated by law to the poor, together with the amount received from patients upon their admission, the Institution may be said to have almost ceased to be supported or assisted from other sources; the amount paid by subscribers, for 1857, being shewn to be no more than £3 1s.—for 1858, £5,—and for 1859, when demanded to entitle to taking part in the proceedings, £18 2s.): and, in January last, a resolution appears to have been passed, that, "The society be from henceforth called and recognized as the Queanbeyan District Hospital Society."

7. It is very possible that the meeting intended, that henceforth, such Society should have for its sole object, the providing of medical aid and maintenance for diseased and wounded poor, who may be unable to procure the same in houses of their own. But no minute of resolution to that effect having been passed is recorded, although the subject appears to have been mooted, and the necessity of declaring the Institution to be governed by some rules and regulations such as are peculiarly applicable to hospitals, to have been suggested; and the purpose in view is more evident from the fact of it having been determined to build a hospital for the sick, without combining with the plan and arrangements any provision for the aged and poor, as such. At this moment, the old Institution, for aught I perceive to the contrary, remains; its name alone being changed. But it is said to be a hospital for the treatment of sick and wounded only, and is governed as such, though there are who demur to the limitation of its objects to the sick and wounded, and do not altogether recognize the Hospital, as now conducted, and who remonstrate against the shutting out of the aged, or helpless poor.

8. Under these circumstances, application on behalf of William Lawrence was made for the admission of that man, as being aged, infirm, and destitute, he being stated to be subject to chronic rheumatism, and to have long resided in the district.

2 Vic., No. 23,
sec. 1.
17 Vic., No. 6,
sec. 8.
19 Vic., No. 36,

9. It does not appear that the usual deposit on admission of a patient was tendered or proposed to be paid, or that the amount was otherwise guaranteed. His admission was demanded, it being urged he is a proper object to participate in the provision made, in such cases, by Acts of Council.

10. But I apprehend, if the Queanbeyan District Hospital Society is (as, no doubt, was intended in January last, it should thence become) a place or hospital for affording medical treatment and surgical aid to the sick and wounded,—without professing to have, but rejecting care of the aged and infirm, as such, amongst its objects,—the taking into, and giving a claim to the benefits of the Hospital, of the latter, would perhaps be to exceed the specific object of the Institution; and certainly inconsistent with the apparent determination so recently come to, to exclude from its benefits all other than the sick and wounded.

11. It is insisted upon by some persons, that the funds appropriated by law to the poor,—when such funds are received by the treasurer of a charitable institution, as provided,—should find a more enlarged distribution, and be made to meet all the cases enumerated in the Acts to which they may be applied, that is—“poor persons who, through age, sickness, accident, or infirmity, are unable to support themselves,” without regard being had to the limited and particular objects of the charity, which may be restricted, perhaps, to one or two, and not embrace the whole of those objects. And farther, it is said the institution that only relieves the sick or wounded poor, without providing for the aged and infirm, cannot be entitled to, nor properly in receipt of, such funds.

12. This question being raised, I believe it to be desirable—and beg, respectfully, to suggest—that the opinion of the Law Officers of the Crown be obtained on the point, for the information and satisfaction of all parties.

13. William Lawrence's case is one of extreme distress and necessity. If he were suffering from attack of rheumatism, or other bodily ailment, when his admission was applied for, I see no reason to have objected to his being taken in, on the usual terms; but I understand his admission was demanded as for one aged and poor, and not as for a person requiring medical aid.

14. It would appear, therefore, I think, that the proper asylum for such a case is the Benevolent Asylum of Sydney, no nearer institution suited to the case being available; and I have no doubt the expense of Lawrence's removal would be defrayed on the spot, without any great exertion or importunity being found necessary to procure the means to do so. At the end of the current quarter there will be left in the hands of the Treasurer, at credit of this Society, £1,180, or about that sum, derived almost wholly from public sources; or rather, being the accumulated receipts, for some years, of moneys appropriated by law to the poor.

15. Of that amount, £1,040 stands set apart to the building of the hospital now in course of erection. The balance (£80) will probably be exhausted before the year has expired, as expenditure chargeable against patients; but, in the meantime, will, I dare say, be supplemented by what is likely to be received from patients, and otherwise; and, on the whole, prove adequate to the liabilities of the Hospital, but insufficient to meet the extraordinary burthen of supporting, among its inmates, the aged and infirm, which cases are denied to be within the scope of the objects of the present institution.

16. In conclusion, I do not regret being able to state that, as far as opportunity has been afforded to me, I have ascertained that the subscribers to the present institution seem disposed to assist the aged and poor to make their way to some asylum, as well as to give out-door relief to extreme cases of distress. I am assured of the willingness of subscribers to their Committee being empowered accordingly, and I hope before long to see such suggestion carried out.

CH. E. NEWCOMBE, P.M.

No. 8.

TREASURER, GOULBURN HOSPITAL, to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

*Parsonage, Goulburn,
17 August, 1860.*

SIR,

I beg leave to call your attention to the copies of two warrants issued by the Yass Bench, for the committal of the two parties therein named to the Goulburn Gaol, under the Vagrant Act.

By the recommendation of the committing Magistrates at the foot of the warrants, it seems that these men were, in fact, sick paupers, and as such, had they been found in Goulburn, would have been admitted into the Hospital.

It appears from the last Report of the Yass Hospital, that the Committee have accumulated a sum of (£800) Eight hundred pounds, which has been invested so as to bear interest for the benefit of the Institution.

This large sum has been saved by almost systematically refusing to admit pauper patients. These poor creatures have either, as in the above instances, been treated as rogues and vagabonds, or have been turned adrift to seek relief elsewhere. The consequence is, that we have been repeatedly obliged to admit into the Goulburn Hospital, pauper patients thus driven from Yass.

The

The man Shuttleworth (see Warrant No. 1,) after his discharge from the gaol here, was admitted into the Goulburn Hospital, and was ultimately forwarded to the Benevolent Asylum. I believe this man was formerly in the employment of Mr. Blake, one of the Surgeons of the Institution, and the committing Magistrate.

Not long ago, a man named Mark Hale was admitted into the Yass Hospital, by funds supplied by the Rev. Messrs. Syngé and Kemmis, and when these funds were exhausted, he was turned out into the streets uncured; he found his way with difficulty to Goulburn, where he was received into the Hospital, on the 2nd February, and died on the 31st March last.

A month ago, a man named James Edwards was admitted into our Hospital, who stated that he had applied to Dr. Blake at Yass, for admission into the Hospital, who told him he could do nothing for him, although he is one of the chief managers of an Institution for the relief of the sick and destitute, which possesses a balance of nearly (£1,000) One thousand pounds of Government money. I say advisedly Government money, because I know that the number of subscribers for the year 1859 amounted to only ten. Within the last fortnight, or three weeks, a man named Cutts has been committed from the Yass Bench to the gaol here, who is merely a destitute pauper. He is now in the Gaol Hospital.

I am not aware how the Committee at Yass procure any part of the yearly grant made by the Legislature, as the subscriptions of ten subscribers cannot call for much; of course the sum paid by patients counts in this respect.

There is no report of the Hospital proceedings published in the pamphlet form, and therefore it is difficult to procure any accurate statistical information on any point connected with the Institution.

I may observe that it never has occurred since the Goulburn Hospital came into the hands of the inhabitants, that anyone has been refused admission who was a proper object, neither can such a case ever occur while we possess funds.

I know that the answer will be "they act according to their rules, which are similar to ours." So they are, but they result in two important differences: one is, that our Police Magistrate, in urgent cases of distress, can give admission; and the other is, that having a list of one hundred and twenty subscribers, we have no difficulty in carrying out our rules.

I have only to observe that I leave this statement to the decision of the Government, with the remark that I think it is very hard that the Goulburn Hospital should suffer from the present system pursued at Yass, where they have large Government aid placed at their disposal, and yet repeatedly treat the sick poor either as rogues and vagabonds, or send them to seek relief elsewhere.

I have, &c.,

W. SOWERBY,
Treasurer of the Goulburn Hospital.

TREASURER, GOULBURN HOSPITAL, to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Parsonage, Goulburn,
23 August, 1860.

SIR,

A few days ago I forwarded to you a statement respecting the Yass Hospital. I have since received a communication from the Reverend Mr. Syngé, Church of England Minister at Yass, in which he states—"I quite join you in being very much dissatisfied with the manner in which things are conducted at the hospital here. In fact, there are so many complaints and divisions connected with it, that I have not become a subscriber or in any way meddled with it until I could see some prospect of making things better. There is no annual report printed that I can hear of, and I shall be very glad if any satisfactory reform can be accomplished."

I am informed that R. C. clergymen decline subscribing for similar reasons. I may as well observe that the medical men receive so much per diem for each patient; they—that is, the medical men—finding everything in the shape of supplies, medical comforts, &c. I need not point out how liable to abuse such a system is.

MINUTE OF COLONIAL SECRETARY.

6 Sept., 1860.

THE attention of the Attorney General should be invited to this question, and to the state of the law generally as affecting fines, &c., paid to local hospitals.

Can parties receive such moneys for a series of years, and abstain from, or refuse to spend them in relieving cases until they have accumulated large sums for the erection of buildings? In several localities this would appear to be the case, and some remedy should be applied, if the law as it now stands does not meet the circumstances.

OPINION OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

As to the first point arising on these papers, viz.,—the neglect or refusal of the Yass Benevolent Society to apply the funds according to the trusts thereof, as declared by 2 Vic., No. 23, s. 1, Call: p. 541; 15 Vic., No. 4, s. 19, Call: p. 2546; 17 Vic. No. 6, s. 5; 19 Vic, No. 36, s. 25;—I am clearly of opinion that an information in Equity will lie for such breaches of trust, especially as to the cases mentioned, viz. :—Shuttleworth, Hall, Edwards, and Cutts. But before filing such information, I advise that a strong circular should be addressed to this Society (and to the Queanbeyan Society also, as to Lawrence's case), stating that such retaining of trust moneys to the injury of the "sick persons" entitled thereto, needs immediate and complete explanation; and that in future, all these and every other trust funds for charitable purposes must be immediately applied as by law directed, or proceedings in Equity will be instituted.

With regard to the second point, I am quite clear that the surplus of funds at any time in the hands of these Societies cannot lawfully be applied in land investments; and as the above-mentioned Colonial Statutes do not appear to me to have provided for the application of these surpluses, I think a short Bill should be prepared by the Parliamentary Draftsman, directing that all Societies receiving any fines, &c., under these laws, should furnish to the Government a yearly account of the specific application of such fines, and should remit the surplus, if any appearing by such account on the 31st December in each year, to the Colonial Treasurer, to be by him invested in a general Benevolent Fund, and applicable to such benevolent purposes in the Colony as Parliament may by such Act direct; and that such other provisions be inserted in such Bill as may be thought advisable.

GENTLEMEN,

I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you, that representations have been made to the Government, that sick paupers have been refused admission into the Yass Hospital; and that a considerable sum of money has been accumulated and invested at interest, instead of being applied to the relief of the persons contemplated by the Statutes enumerated in the margin.

COMMITTEE OF YASS HOSPITAL to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

*Yass Hospital,
14 January, 1861.*

SIR,

With reference to your letter of the 6th November last, informing us that representations have been made to the Government that sick paupers have been refused admission into the Yass Hospital, and that a considerable sum of money had been accumulated and invested at interest, instead of being applied to the relief of the persons contemplated by the Acts of Council named by you; and to your subsequent letter of the 5th instant, forwarding us copies of the letters in which the above charges are made;—

2. We have now the honor to forward, for your perusal, a copy of the Rules of the Institution, by which you will see that, unless the Hospital is to be considered and used as a Benevolent Asylum for the admission of all sick paupers from any part of the Colony, some such restrictions as those contained in our Rules (which are almost verbatim copies of the Rules of the Goulburn Hospital) must necessarily be retained and acted upon; otherwise the funds now at the disposal of the Committee would be exhausted, and the Hospital closed for want of funds in less than twelve months. We claim for ourselves, and are entitled to credit, for having just as great a desire as our reverend accusers, to do as much good as we possibly can with the funds intrusted to us; but it is our duty to see, in the disposal of these funds, that the Hospital is, in some degree at least, made to support itself; and our object in placing the surplus balance of our funds as a fixed deposit in one of the banks, with the view of obtaining interest thereon, and thus increasing our means of relief, still appears to us a perfectly reasonable one.

3. With regard to the cases of committal to the Goulburn Gaol, alluded to by Mr. Sowerby, we have only to remark that we have no doubt the Magistrates who made these committals are quite prepared to justify their conduct in doing so; but the matter does not seem to call for any explanation from us, as a Committee of the Yass Hospital.

4. Many of the members of our Committee have, for the last twelve years, and in one instance fourteen years, at some inconvenience to themselves, acted gratuitously in the discharge of their duties as such Committee-men; and they certainly cannot help feeling that, under such circumstances, they were entitled to some more consideration than has been shewn to them, both by their accusers and the Government, in this matter; by the former, for making such charges without previous inquiry or communication of any sort with the Committee; and by the latter, for the exceedingly uncalled-for and discourteous tone adopted towards us in your letter conveying these charges, which, without inquiry, you adopt as true, and in effect threaten us with a prosecution for breach of trust. The office we hold was not sought for by us; and while we consent to hold such office we expect, at least, to be treated by the Government with the ordinary courtesy shewn to gentlemen in their communications with each other.

(For the Committee.)

Chairman.

REV. MR. SMITH to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

St. John's Parsonage, Canberry, Queanbeyan, 23 January, 1861.

SIR,

I feel it to be my duty to bring under the notice of the Government the fact that by the Rules and Regulations of the "Queanbeyan District Hospital Society," relief is afforded only to such persons as are suffering from disease or accident, so that the claims of such poor persons as from age and infirmity are incapable of supporting themselves are completely completely set aside. As nearly the whole of the funds of the Society is derived from drunkards' fines and poundage charges, the Society ought to expend the money in the manner laid down in the Impounding Act and Publicans Licensing Act. This the Queanbeyan Benevolent Society (now superseded by the Queanbeyan District Hospital Society), to which the funds were originally granted, certainly did. When that institution was, about twelve months since, superseded by the present Society, there was in the hands of the treasurer a large sum, I believe more than £1,000, nearly all derived from drunkards' fines and poundage charges, &c. Of this amount the Hospital Society at once appropriated the sum of £800 to the building of a hospital for the reception only of those suffering from disease or accident, and no provision whatever is made for relieving the aged and infirm poor. The members of the Committee assert that the Government has granted the money for charitable purposes, and they are so expending it. Yet, after all, the Society is but a trustee, and ought to spend the money, not in relieving one class of sufferers only, but in assisting all those specified in the clauses of the Impounding and Publicans Licensing Acts, by which the Government intrusts to it the fines and charges. This the Society is determined not to do. During the past year I applied to the Society for relief for a poor aged helpless man, and no aid was given until a communication was received from Government. In fact, the poor man had to wait eight or nine months before he could get an allowance of 5s. per week.

I and many other persons are anxious that the Government should give a plain interpretation of the clauses in the Impounding and Publicans Licensing Acts, relating to the appropriation of fines and charges, and direct the Society to expend the money accordingly. It remains, too, for the Government to decide whether the Committee was authorized to appropriate £800 of the funds (derived from drunkards' fines and poundage charges, &c.) to building purposes, without consulting the Government. As no relief can be obtained from the Society for the aged and infirm poor of the district, it will be necessary to send them to the Sydney Benevolent Asylum; but it appears to me very unfair to burden that institution with these persons, when Government has granted money to the Queanbeyan Society for their support.

It is very desirable that the Government money should be expended in the way laid down in the Acts, and that one class of sufferers should not receive relief and another large class, having equal claims upon the funds, be neglected.

Earnestly begging that the Government will take immediate steps to prevent the continuance of what cannot be regarded as other than a grievous act of injustice,—

I have, &c.,

PIERCE GALLIARD SMITH,
Minister of St. John's Church, Canberry,
In the District of Queanbeyan.

P.S.—William Lawrence is the name of the old man on whose behalf I applied to the Society for relief.

There is, in fact, no Benevolent Society now in existence; and, if necessary, the Hospital will add that name to its present designation, as it is intended that the building shall not only be an Hospital, but also a Benevolent Asylum.

GENTLEMEN,

I am directed to inform you, that it appears, by a letter received from the Secretary to the Committee of the Albury Hospital, that a considerable sum of money accruing from Public Sources is deposited in the Bank of New South Wales at that place, to the credit of the Albury Benevolent Society; and that the accumulation of such funds, and their application otherwise than contemplated by the Statutes enumerated in the margin, are held by the Attorney General to be breaches of trust, for which proceedings in Equity may be instituted.

2. I am further desired to state, that an immediate and complete explanation should be furnished on the subject, and that in future all these, and every other trust funds for charitable purposes, should be at once applied as by Law directed.

Elizabeth-street, 18 December, 1860.

SIR,

1. On behalf of Mr. S. F. Blackmore, who has corresponded with your Office concerning the sum of £1,143 5s. 2d. now in the Bank of New South Wales, Albury, to the credit of the Albury Benevolent Society (Heyward Atkins, Treasurer),—I have now the honor to address you on the same subject.

2. It appears that some few years since a Benevolent Fund was formed in the Albury District, a Committee elected, and a Treasurer appointed, namely, Mr. Atkins.

3. About two years ago, a Committee was formed for the erection of the Albury Hospital, and a building which, I am instructed, is intended to be not only a Hospital but also a Benevolent Asylum, has been commenced within the last few months.

4. It appears that Mr. Atkins, before his departure to England, assured the Hospital Committee that there would be no difficulty in handing over to the Hospital the money standing to the credit of the Benevolent Fund, and that on the faith of this assurance, the gentlemen forming the Hospital Committee have entered into contracts, the performance of which will be shortly required from them.

5. The Government will, I think, fully admit the desirability of exempting gentlemen who give their time to any public purpose from all loss besides that of their time, and of indemnifying them against all personal liability.

6. I venture to submit, that the building of a Hospital and a Benevolent Asylum is an act for the relief of the poor and the sick, and a step towards relieving them, and as such, within the policy of such an enactment as the 5th section of the 17th Vic., No. 6; also, that whatever might be the duty of applying newly received moneys to the actual tending and maintenance of sick and poor persons, moneys originally applicable to those objects, but which have been suffered to accumulate, cannot be better applied than in or towards the erection of a building in which those objects may be efficiently attained.

7. The Benevolent Committee has ceased to exist; and Mr. Heyward Atkins being out of the Colony, the Bank of New South Wales appears unwilling to pay to the Hospital Committee the money standing to the credit of the Benevolent Society, without the sanction of Government.

8. I have the honor to request that Government will assist the gentlemen forming the Hospital Committee, so far as possible; and if deemed necessary, that the advice of the Attorney General may be taken, as to whether the requisite sanction may not be given for the transfer of the moneys in question from the Benevolent Society to the Hospital; but in case the Attorney General's report, made some time ago, be considered contrary to the view I am advocating, I have reason to believe that that officer will give all due weight to the urgency and hardship of the case, and will be willing to consider this letter, which I request may be laid before him.

FURTHER OPINION OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

I HAVE considered Mr. Burton's letter of 18th December, but do not observe any new facts, except the vague statement "that the gentlemen forming the Hospital Committee have (on the faith of the assurance of Mr. Atkins) entered into contracts, the performance of which will be shortly required from them." If merely a contract has been entered into for building a Hospital, there seems to me very little (if any) hardship in leaving these gentlemen to their own defence, and to protect themselves by their own professional advisers.

If the building has been actually erected, there will be no difficulty in providing for payment for this and other Hospitals, under the Bill I proposed in my former Opinion, and so releasing the parties from personal liability.

It is quite plain to my mind, as advising the Government, that the fund in question should remain in its present state until Parliament can deal with the whole question.

Sir,

In connection with my letter of 18th ultimo, concerning money in the Bank of New South Wales to the credit of the Albury Benevolent Society, I have now the honor to enclose a letter to you from S. F. Blackmore, Esq., which has been entrusted to me.

[Enclosure in No. 25.]

Albury, 29 December, 1860.

Sir,

Some few years since Mr. Atkins, the late Police Magistrate of Albury, in order that the moneys received from fines at the Police Office, pound fees, &c., should be applied in this district, induced several gentlemen to form themselves into a Committee and institute a Benevolent Fund. The Committee was organized, and Mr. Atkins appointed Treasurer; but before long the whole matter fell into into the hands of Mr. Atkins, who received the moneys from the Government, and made such allowances and payments as he thought fit. On application to some of the original members of this Committee, they can give no information on the proposal to erect the Hospital. Mr. Atkins informed the Hospital Committee, that there was in his hands a sum amounting to more than £1,000 to the credit of the Benevolent fund, and which, if the Hospital would amalgamate with the Benevolent Society, would be available for the erection of the proposed building. Of course the Committee were quite willing to assent to this proposal; and, on the understanding that this money to the credit of the Benevolent Fund was available, entered into the necessary contract with the builder. Since this, Mr. Atkins has resigned the Police Magistracy, and has left the Colony. The moneys still remain in the Bank of New South Wales, Albury, to the credit of the Benevolent Fund, H. Atkins, Treasurer.

There is really no Benevolent Society; and this money is locked up, unless the Government authorize the Bank authorities to pay it to the Treasurer of the Albury Hospital and Benevolent Society, the only institution of the kind now in the District.

The Colonial Secretary,

SIR,

Referring to the conversation with Mr. Elyard on the 4th instant, in reference to the moneys to the credit of the Albury Benevolent Fund, I have the honor to inform you that these moneys were applied entirely for the relief of those who fairly required it, and as far as the Committee of the Albury Hospital are aware, no person entitled to such was denied assistance. The accumulation was entirely accidental; owing, I presume, to there having been no incidental expenses. Since the departure of Mr. Atkins, no person has had power to draw on the fund, consequently some little debts incurred on account of that fund have been unliquidated.

Sydney, 12 June, 1861.

SIR,

With reference to your letter of the 18th ultimo, respecting the sum of £1,143 5s. 2d., which remains in the Bank of New South Wales at Albury, to the credit of the Benevolent Fund, of which H. Atkins, Esq., was Treasurer, there being no Benevolent Society now in existence, I am directed to inform you, that a communication has been made to the Manager of the above Bank, to the effect that no objection exists on the part of the Government to the balance alluded to being paid to the Committee of the Albury Hospital, for the purpose of being devoted to provide for the object to which the fines, &c., from which it is formed, should be appropriated, in the shape of accommodation for the sick.

MEMORIAL FROM PRESIDENT, &c., OF ALBURY HOSPITAL AND BENEVOLENT ASYLUM.

To His Excellency the Right Honourable SIR JOHN YOUNG, Baronet, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of New South Wales, and Vice-Admiral of the same.

The Memorial of the President, Vice-President, Treasurer, and Committee of the Albury Hospital and Benevolent Asylum,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That, some years since, a Benevolent Fund was established in Albury, for the purpose of relieving the sick and the destitute, a Committee was appointed, and Heyward Atkins, Esquire, the then Police Magistrate of the district, was elected Treasurer. To this fund was paid the police fines and fees and the impounding fees, set apart for benevolent purposes accruing in this district from its formation. This fund has been managed solely by Mr. Atkins, and though all cases requiring relief were attended to; yet, owing, your Memorialists presume, to the fact that there were no extraordinary expenses incidental to its working, there remained to the credit of the Benevolent Fund in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty, the sum of one thousand one hundred and forty-three pounds five shillings and two-pence. This money is deposited in the Bank of New South Wales at Albury, and since the departure of Mr. Atkins from this Colony, has been unavailable for any purpose whatever.

That, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, it was proposed to erect an Hospital, and it was understood that the moneys to the credit of the Benevolent Fund would be handed over to the Hospital Committee. Sufficient funds have been raised from various sources, and a neat and convenient building has been erected on a site granted by the Government.

Your Memorialists are desirous that the moneys now to the credit of the Albury Hospital and Benevolent Society, the latter having the same objects in view though on a more extended scale; there being no Committee of the Benevolent Fund in existence, and its Treasurer having left the Colony, there is no one to transfer the fund or to apply it for the purposes intended.

Your Memorialists would, therefore, pray that your Excellency will be pleased to direct a transfer of the moneys, now to the credit of the Benevolent Fund in the Bank of New South Wales at Albury, to the Committee of the Albury Hospital and Benevolent Asylum, or to grant such other relief as to your Excellency may seem desirable.

And your Memorialists will ever pray, &c.

PRESIDENT OF QUEANBEYAN HOSPITAL to COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Queanbeyan, 29 October, 1860.

SIR,

As President of the Queanbeyan Hospital I do myself the honor to address you; but in order to convey forcibly the object of this communication, I must beg your forbearance while I give you a brief sketch of this establishment and its origination. It was started in the year 1848, by the late Dr. Murray, Charles Campbell, G. J. Palmer, senr., and T. H. Macquoid, Esquires, and other influential residents of the District. The first intention of the promoters was merely to establish a Benevolent Society; but owing to the liberality of subscribers, they were ultimately induced to extend their good work, and combine with it an Hospital; and accordingly, at a General Meeting of the Society, held on the 5th of October, 1848, the following resolution, proposed by Mr. Charles Campbell and seconded by Mr. Macquoid, was adopted, viz. :—

“ That two-thirds of the balance in hand at the end of each year be set apart as a fund for the building of an Hospital or Asylum, until there be an adequate sum available for such a purpose.”

Again, at the Annual Meeting of 1849, Dr. Murray, the President, read the following extract from the 8th paragraph of the Secretary's Report, viz. :—

“ Subscribers may thus see that the funds of the Society are improving, and there is every prospect of establishing a Hospital.”

From this period up to the year 1857, notwithstanding that all claims upon the funds of the Society had been paid, they (the funds) continued to increase; and at the Annual Meeting held in that year, the balance in the Treasurer's hand was shown to be £1,050, and it was resolved that this sum should be placed at interest for the period of eighteen months. You will thus see that, although death and other causes have deprived the Society of many of its first founders, the original intention of ultimately building a Hospital has been steadily kept in view and strictly adhered to. In accordance with the spirit of the intention of the founders of the Society for some years past, premises have been rented for Hospital accommodation, but which latterly have been insufficient for the increased number of patients; and the Matron employed by the Society has been obliged to live at a distance from the Hospital, which in many instances has been attended with melancholy consequences; some of the patients having died during the night time, alone and unattended. Two such instances may be mentioned. One, a male patient, named Marley, who was admitted in a dying state, from injuries received through a violent attack made upon him, died during the night, alone and unattended. Another, a young female in the last stage of consumption, died early in the morning, under similar circumstances; although in the latter case there was a patient in the adjoining room, who distinctly heard her dying groans, but he, suffering from a severe fracture, was unable to render any assistance; and when the Matron arrived in the morning, the poor creature was found a lifeless corpse, having departed this life without any Christian consolation, and without a hand to smooth her dying pillow, or even moisten her parched lips with a drop of cold water. These circumstances being laid before the Society at their Annual Meeting of 1859, it was unanimously resolved that a portion of the accumulated funds be appropriated to the original intention of building a Hospital forthwith, and accordingly, plans and specifications were prepared and tenders advertised for; a Building Committee was appointed, and at the appointed time the tenders were examined, and on the 23rd of August, 1859, that of Messrs. Jordan and Gibson, for £950, was accepted; the Treasurer of the Society (Mr. W. F. Hayley) guaranteeing, in writing, the payment of the amount in instalments as the work was progressing, on the order of the Chairman of the Building Committee. The work was proceeded with, and on or about the 16th of January last, the contractors made a demand for £210 as a first instalment, and the order of the Chairman of the Building Committee for this amount was duly paid by the Treasurer, and the work went on as usual. On the 24th of September last a second instalment became due, and the necessary order for payment obtained and presented, but which the Treasurer refused to pay, giving no reason whatever for so doing; in consequence of which the building is stopped, and there is now no accommodation whatever for those poor creatures who may stand in need of, and whose very existence may depend upon, such assistance as is to be procured only in a Hospital. The Society have repeatedly remonstrated with the Treasurer upon the matter, but without any success, or even getting the least satisfaction from him. The Society therefore deem it necessary to lay the matter before you, in hopes that this unpleasant state of things may be remedied, and the evil at present existing removed; for, from the Treasurer's refusal to pay the demands made upon him, which extends even to the present temporary Hospital and destroys its usefulness, I decline drawing further orders upon him until this matter is finally arranged.

SIR,

With reference to your letter of the 22nd September last, stating that you have been called upon to pay from the moneys (accruing principally from public sources) held by you as Treasurer of the Queanbeyan Benevolent Society and Hospital, a large amount for the Hospital that is now in course of erection, and inquiring whether you would be justified in making such payment, I am directed by the Colonial Secretary to inform you, that the Attorney General, who has been consulted in the matter, has advised that the surplus of funds at any time in the hands of Benevolent Societies cannot lawfully be applied in land investments; and that the appropriation of money derived under specific Acts to other purposes than those prescribed by Law, render the persons committing the breach of trust liable to proceedings in Equity.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

PAWNBROKERS BILL.

(CERTAIN PAWNBROKERS, SYDNEY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 26 November, 1861.

To the Honorable the Speaker and the Members of the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Licensed Pawnbrokers of the City of Sydney and the neighbourhood,—

SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioners lately petitioned your Honorable House for the appointment of a Select Committee, to take evidence, and consider the subject of Pawnbroking; and for the postponement, at least for one month, of the third reading of the Pawnbrokers Bill, now before your Honorable House.

That your Petitioners urged as a reason why an opportunity should be given them of being heard against the said Bill, the unprecedented fact that they had been unable to obtain a copy of the Bill up to the day on which it was read a second time; and that on the very same day on which it was so read, the said Bill was passed through Committee.

That up to the present time, your Petitioners have not heard of any appointment, by your Honorable House, of a Select Committee to consider and take evidence upon this subject; and have not heard of a definite postponement of the third reading of the Bill, with the view to afford to your Petitioners time and opportunity to reclaim against the policy and justice of passing such a measure.

That your Petitioners would urge upon the attention of your Honorable House, that they exercise their calling by virtue of licenses from the Government, for which they have paid the legal fees; and they considered, when they so paid for their said licenses, that they had bought and paid for the right to carry on their businesses for twelve months under the law then and now in force; whereas the Bill before your Honorable House, if passed into law, would be operative immediately thereon, and thus commit a breach of faith with your Petitioners.

That your Petitioners would also draw attention to the fact, that the Bill now before your Honorable House contains what is generally admitted in all free countries to be a most monstrous principle, namely, retrospective legislation, inasmuch as the 2nd clause of said Bill proposes to nullify all contracts made by your Petitioners previous to the date of its passing into law.

That your Petitioners would suggest as another reason why your Honorable House should take further time to deliberate on this Bill, and the subject it professes to deal with, that there is involved in it the large question of the expediency of introducing a usury law into this country, whereas it has been considered hitherto by all our preceding legislators impolitic to do so.

That your Petitioners, if afforded an opportunity of producing witnesses, would undertake to shew to your Honorable House, how, by passing the Bill now before you, serious inconvenience and great misery would be inflicted on the very people to whom it professes to extend protection and confer a benefit.

That your Petitioners, if allowed the facility of appearing before a Select Committee, would be able to shew that the passing of the said Bill would bring about the entire destruction of the businesses of your Petitioners, and of the present system of Pawnbroking; that the business of Pawnbroking at present employs a large number of persons and a very great amount of capital; and that, consequent on its destruction, the Revenue will suffer loss to the amount of the license fees, your Petitioners will be deprived of their livelihood and suffer great pecuniary loss, and the thousands of poor persons compelled to have recourse to the pawnshop will be put to great inconvenience and misery.

That indeed your Petitioners are aware that nothing short of the entire upsetting of the trade of Pawnbroking is the object of the promoters of the Bill before your Honorable House, who wish in this way first to clear the ground for setting on foot a scheme for establishing Pawn Offices under the control of the Government—the said promoters of the Bill have openly declared such to be their object.

That your Petitioners, in common with many others, conceive it will not be for the credit of free institutions that your Honorable House should suffer itself to be surprised into hasty legislation on a subject which, though at first sight it seems of little consequence, and thus escapes the challenge of individual Members, is yet, when examined, found to involve principles of the highest importance.

Your Petitioners would deplore the passage through your Honorable House of the Bill against which they reclaim, not only because of their own interests which are thereby involved, but also because there would be (1) a breach of public faith; (2) an unadvised establishment of the principle that usury laws are expedient; (3) a great injury done to a very large number of poor persons; and, (4) encouragement given to the notion that the Government here should take on itself an office never yet imposed on it in any other part of the British Empire, namely, the supplying of money to all classes of the community, on the security of personal property.

That your Petitioners therefore pray that your Honorable House will take the premises into consideration, and not pass the Pawnbrokers Bill now before your Honorable House until after a report of a Select Committee on the whole subject, or at least, until your Petitioners shall have had at least one month's time to prepare their case, and present the same before your Honorable House, either by Counsel or Petition.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

PAWNBROKERS BILL.

(PETITION RELATIVE TO.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 26 November, 1861.

To the Honorable the Speaker and the Members of the Legislative Assembly, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Licensed Pawnbrokers of the City of Sydney and the neighbourhood,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioners are at present carrying on the business of Pawnbroking, by virtue of licenses for twelve months, obtained under the Act now in force for regulating the said business of Pawnbroking.

That at the several times at which your Petitioners respectively paid for and obtained their said licenses, they were under the impression that for the term of twelve months thenceforth their trade would be regulated by the provisions of the said Act now in force.

That your Petitioners lately observed, in the public newspapers, that it was the intention of one of the Honorable Members of your Honorable House to bring in a Bill to alter and amend the law respecting Pawnbroking.

That subsequently your Petitioners learned from the same source, that a Bill proposing so to alter and amend the present Pawnbroking Act had been introduced into your Honorable House, and that the said Bill had been read a first time on the day of its introduction, and that the second reading thereof was fixed for Friday last.

That so late as last Thursday one of your Petitioners applied to the Officers of your Honorable House for a copy of the said Bill, with a view to taking such action as would put your Honorable House in possession of facts and circumstances attending the business of Pawnbroking, which would enable your Honorable House to arrive at a just decision in legislating further on this subject, and that the said applicant received for answer that a copy of the said Bill was not yet printed.

That your Petitioners observed with alarm, in the newspapers of Saturday last, that the said Bill had been read a second time in your Honorable House on the Friday previous, and that the said Bill had been considered and amended in a Committee of your Honorable House on the same day; and further, that the third reading of the said Bill was fixed for the following Tuesday, which is this present day.

That your Petitioners are further alarmed at observing that the said Bill does not make any allowance or provision for the fact that your Petitioners have severally paid for a license for twelve months in the expectation that for the term over which their license extended, their trade would be regulated by the present Act, whereas the business of your Petitioners will be effectually stopped if the said Bill should become law.

That your Petitioners believe, from their intimate knowledge of the circumstances and wants of their customers, that the provisions of the said Bill are calculated to injure and not to benefit that class of the community, which your Petitioners feel assured they could shew to the satisfaction of your Honorable House, if they were allowed the opportunity.

That your Petitioners have learned with regret, that some Honorable Members of your Honorable House have been taken at advantage equally with your Petitioners, inasmuch as they were under the impression that if your Petitioners or other parties concerned had felt the Bill obnoxious to their interests they would have moved in the matter before the second reading, and therefore the said Honorable Members were led to believe the provisions of the said Bill were objectionable to no one.

That

That your Petitioners, if permitted, would be most happy to attend before a Committee of your Honorable House and tender such evidence on the subject of Pawnbroking as would prevent your Honorable House, from legislating ex parte, and without extending to your Petitioners that right of being heard which is the distinguishing mark of British institutions.

That your Petitioners, if the forms of your Honorable House do not admit of the appointment of a Select Committee at this stage of the Bill, would at least desire that some considerable time may elapse before a motion shall be allowed to be made in your Honorable House for the third reading of the said Bill, in order that your Petitioners may have the opportunity of laying before your Honorable House, either by Petition or in some other lawful method, the representations which they wish to make.

That your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Honorable House will take the premises into consideration, and either refer the Bill to a Committee with power to take evidence, or postpone the reading of the Bill a third time for the period of one month.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

PAWNBROKERS BILL.

(SYDNEY AND SUBURBS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 3 January, 1862.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the House of Assembly, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Inhabitants of the City of Sydney and Suburbs,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH, AS FOLLOWS :—

Your Petitioners are persons who have occasion at times to borrow money on pledges; and who have heard that a Bill is under consideration in your Honorable House, which proposes to alter the present law regulating Pawnbroking, in two respects, namely:—

1. To lengthen the minimum period for pawning; and
2. To limit the charges of the Pawnbroker to forty per cent. per annum.

This Bill, if passed into law, will, in the first respect, inflict a great hardship on your Petitioners in a pecuniary point of view. It stands to reason that, if the Pawnbroker is compelled to reckon on his pledges being left a long time on his hands, he will not advance his customers so much on them as at present. As a general rule your Petitioners want to borrow money for a short time, and they would feel it a hardship to be obliged to deposit more security (if they have it) for the same amount of money than they have been accustomed to. When they want to borrow for a longer period, the present law allows them to bargain especially for the time their pledges shall be held.

Your Petitioners know their own wants better than other persons not placed in their circumstances possibly can do, and they object to being deprived, as a class, of the same control over their property which is enjoyed by other persons better off in the world. They cannot see any reason for depriving them of a power possessed by all others, of raising money on the security of property even for a day, and they respectfully but emphatically protest against having the value of their security depreciated through the operation of the proposed law.

With regard to the proposal to limit the rate of interest, your Petitioners would urge that they are quite content to pay the present charges. There are at present about two dozen Pawn-shops in Sydney, and if they are dissatisfied with one they can go to another; and your Petitioners are satisfied that the Pawnbrokers do not make a greater profit from them than their grocers or their bakers get on purveying the necessaries of life in parcels of the same value.

And your Petitioners are afraid, if the present Bill should become law, that the Pawn-shops would be closed, in which case they would be obliged to sell their goods altogether when in urgent want of money, when they would be at a great loss; for most of the articles they now pledge and which they would be compelled to sell, are articles of domestic use, and of more value to your Petitioners than to any other persons; and these articles would be sold at prices far below what it would cost to replace them, either by buying new, or by redeeming the old ones under the present system of pawning. Moreover, your Petitioners would not like to be hawking their goods about for sale; they would not like to offer them where your Petitioners are known, for that would reveal their poverty to their neighbours; and to apply to strangers would subject your Petitioners to the cross-examination consequent upon a suspicion that goods might be stolen; and if a broker would not give a fair price, your Petitioners would not like to be travelling about to get the best price, but would be at the mercy of the first broker they called upon; whereas, at present, when they get to be known as regular customers to a Pawnbroker, he lends them fully as much, if not more, than their goods would sell for, for the Pawnbroker knows the pledges are of more value to your Petitioners than to anyone else, and that they will be sure to redeem them.

Some one has pithily observed that the greatest drawback to the poor is "their poverty," meaning thereby that their poverty places far greater obstacles in the way of their exertions towards an improvement of their circumstances than exist in the case of other classes of the community. The weight of poverty is indeed hard to bear; but your Petitioners would humbly protest against having their burdens increased, through the interference of professed philanthropic persons who do not understand their wants and feelings. The patronage and "protection" of such people your Petitioners can well do without. Your Petitioners wish to be let alone, and to be allowed to manage their own business in their own way, and to be spared from having the burden of their straitened circumstances increased by over-legislation or misdirected philanthropy.

Wherefore your Petitioners humbly pray, that your Honorable House will take the premises into consideration, and decline to read a third time the Bill before your Honorable House to amend the present Act regulating Pawnbroking.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

CUSTOMS BILL.

(CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 26 November, 1861.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the Sydney Chamber of Commerce, as represented by their Chairman,—

SHEWETH :—

That the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to the Customs, now before your Honorable House, is, in their opinion, unsuited to the requirements of the trading community of these Colonies, on the following grounds especially :—

- 1st. That many of the clauses are altogether unnecessary, inasmuch as they apply to matters of detail, the regulation of which (varying from time to time, as circumstances require or are rendered advisable) might, with greater advantage, be left to the control either of the Colonial Treasurer, the Collector of Customs, or other competent authorities.
- 2nd. That some of the clauses tend to invest the Collector and other officials of the Customs with powers which might be employed arbitrarily to a dangerous extent, and are therefore highly objectionable.
- 3rd. That others of the clauses, more particularly those having reference to Drawbacks, would interfere vexatiously with the present Inter-colonial trade, and divert to other channels much of the business now carried on in Sydney in connection with stations in the Northern and Southern Districts.

They therefore pray your Honorable House will take the above premises into your consideration, with a view to referring the above Bill to a Select Committee of your Honorable House, empowered to call evidence and papers, to enable them to remodel the said Bill so as to meet the requirements of the trading communities of these Colonies, as before mentioned.

DUTY ON TOBACCO.

(CERTAIN MANUFACTURERS.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 26 November, 1861.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales.

The Petition of the undersigned Tobacco Manufacturers, Residents of Sydney,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH :—

That your Petitioners are, and have been, injuriously affected by the operation of that portion of the present Tariff which refers to the Duty on Tobacco, and which differs essentially from the principles by which the British Revenues are regulated, and also from what was formerly the usage in this and the adjoining Colonies, viz., that as the law now stands there is no difference in the Duty between the article imported in a state of finished manufacture and the raw material.

That in the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, the Duty on the raw material is, and has been all along, only one-third of that levied on the manufactured article; while, in the adjoining Colony of Victoria, the present proposition is, that the Duty on the raw material shall be one-half of that on the manufactured article.

Your Petitioners therefore pray, that as this part of the Tariff of this Colony was hastily passed in one night, by which your Petitioners were prevented memorializing your Honorable House on the subject, your Honorable House will take these premises into consideration, and grant to your Petitioners such relief as shall appear to your Honorable House just and equitable.

And your Petitioners will ever pray, &c.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

BORDER CUSTOMS.

(DUTIABLE GOODS CROSSING THE QUEENSLAND BORDER.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 23 December, 1861.

COLONIAL SECRETARY, QUEENSLAND; to COLONIAL SECRETARY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

*Colonial Secretary's Office,
Brisbane, 18 December, 1861.*

SIR,

I do myself the honor to address you with reference to the recent seizure, by an officer of the Queensland Government, of certain dutiable goods entering this Colony overland by the Southern Frontier; and to invite the consideration of your Government to the possibility of effecting any arrangement by which the question of Border Customs may be settled in a satisfactory manner.

2. The appointment of an officer to patrol the south-western extremity of Queensland was in the first instance called for by the numerous complaints made to this Government of the extent to which the unlicensed sale of spirits was being carried in that quarter, and of the injury and annoyance to which respectable settlers were thereby subjected. The Government also, receiving neither the duty payable upon the importation of such spirits, nor the license fee payable by the retailers of them, was doubly defrauded of its Revenue. It was therefore held desirable that the officer in command of the patrol should also be appointed a sub-officer of Customs, in order that failing, as he might not unfrequently do, to prove the sale of spirits, he might nevertheless seize and confiscate them as contraband.

3. My object in troubling you with this statement of the considerations which induced this Government to take action in the first instance, is to explain that it was rather with the view of suppressing a nuisance that prevailed within the Colony, than with any intention of suddenly establishing a staff of Customs Officers, and collecting Revenue on the Inland Frontier, that the patrol in question was despatched. And although I regret that the purpose of this Government to commence any proceedings in which the Government of New South Wales might ultimately become interested, should not, as a matter of courtesy, have been more early notified to you, I trust that a knowledge of the circumstances above detailed will show this omission to be a less serious breach of Inter-colonial comity than it is reported to have been considered by your Government.

4. The fact has now been established that, in addition to consignments of spirits manifestly intended for illicit sale, a considerable amount of dutiable goods is despatched from Maitland across the Frontier, for the supply of stations in Queensland; and while this Government is reluctant to compel Crown tenants to pay duty a second time in such cases, it is now no longer able to dispense with a legitimate and increasing source of Revenue. There is reason to believe, also, that a portion of the Colony of New South Wales draws its supplies from Ipswich. The collection of Customs on the Frontier would, I apprehend, be under any circumstances, difficult and expensive to both Colonies, and I have therefore the honor to request that the Government of New South Wales may consider whether the requirements of the case may not be met in another manner.

5 Without at present entering into any details, I may state that this Government thinks it possible that an arrangement might be made by which dutiable goods might be taken out of Bond in one Colony, under a declaration that they are intended for consumption in the other; and in such cases the Colony in which those goods are to be consumed could be credited with the amount of duty received. I believe that, upon consideration, this proposal would be found practicable.

6. Perhaps I may be permitted to suggest that, unless such a course should appear inconvenient or objectionable to your Government, a provision might be introduced into the "Murray River Customs Amendment Bill," now under the consideration of the Parliament of New South Wales, authorizing your Government in general terms to concert the necessary measures with the Government of Queensland. I make this suggestion with the greatest deference, and without venturing to express any further opinion.

7. In the hope that, at this early stage of the proceedings, and before further difficulties arise, a satisfactory settlement of this question may be arrived at, the Government of Queensland have directed the officer in command of the patrol to abstain, until further notice, from interfering in any manner with goods consigned to the occupants of stations, or accompanying stock proceeding to stations in Queensland. Should the two Colonies be unable to come to an arrangement of the matter, the Government of Queensland, of course, reserves the right of resuming such steps as may be necessary to protect its Revenues; and I hope that you will consider that by thus suspending action, this Government has given a substantial proof of its desire to show no intentional want of courtesy towards the Government of New South Wales.

I have, &c.,

ROBERT G. W. HERBERT.

LANDING WAITERS OF HER MAJESTY'S CUSTOMS.
(PORT OF SYDNEY.)

Ordered by the Legislative Assembly to be Printed, 31 December, 1861.

To the Honorable the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled.

The humble Petition of the undersigned Landing Waiters of Her Majesty's Customs at the Port of Sydney,—

HUMBLY SHEWETH:—

That your Petitioners hold situations of great trust, and involving as great, if not greater, responsibilities than any other branch of the public service, as the whole of the goods landed at this port have to pass through the hands of your Petitioners; and from their returns are calculated the amount of the duties payable upon the importation of such goods, which produce a revenue, as your Honorable House is aware, of upwards of six hundred thousand pounds per annum.

That your Petitioners have all the same duties and responsibilities, and give security in the same amount, namely, five hundred pounds, for the due and faithful performance of such duties.

That your Petitioners wish to bring under the notice of your Honorable House the fact that, whilst in all other respects they stand on a footing of perfect equality one with another, the inequality of their salary is very great.

That your Petitioners submit to your Honorable House, that being the highest in rank in the Customs Department, their salaries should also be the highest; whereas your Honorable House will find that five of the Lockers are paid the same salary as five of the Landing Waiters, and twenty pounds per annum more than the four junior Landing Waiters, whilst the duties and responsibilities and securities given by the latter are at least five times as great as those of a Locker.

That a sum was placed on the Estimates for 1861, for the better equalization of the salaries of the out-door department of the Customs, but your Honorable House refused to sanction the increase for the Landing Waiters, although the amounts for the Lockers and Tide Waiters were voted.

That your Petitioners believe that this arose from your Honorable House not being aware of the position held by the Landing Waiters in the Department, as at present if a Locker were promoted to be a Landing Waiter he would receive a salary of thirty pounds per annum less than he did as a Locker.

That your Petitioners were given to understand that a sum would be placed on the Estimates for 1862, for the better equalization of their salaries, but finding that this has not been done, your Petitioners would pray your Honorable House to take the premises into your favourable consideration, and to afford them such a measure of relief as to your Honorable House may seem meet.

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

REGISTRAR GENERAL'S REPORT

TO THE HONORABLE THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

General Registry Office,
Sydney, 29 August, 1861.*

SIR,

In submitting for transmission to the Secretary of State and presentation to Parliament the Statistical Register of New South Wales for the year 1860, it may be expedient that I should preface the volume with a few remarks, by way of illustrating the progress of the Colony during the past year, and of pointing out the more prominent features of development or decline exhibited in the Tables as they are passed under review.

The earlier pages of the volume are devoted to the usual Tables of Duties, Fees, Taxes, &c., and to the Index of the Officers of the Government, upon which heads there is nothing calling for comment.

POLITICAL.

2. At page 50 will be found a Return shewing the number of Registered Electors on the lists of the several Electorates throughout the Colony, and of the numbers who exercised the franchise at the last General Election. ^{Treating of the Electoral Returns.}

From this Return it appears that the names of 77,945 persons were entered on the lists; that is, about 22 per cent. of the estimated population of the Colony at the end of the year.

It

It seems that the seats for sixteen districts (having 16,998 registered voters) were uncontested, and that, with regard to 41 districts (having 60,947 voters on the Lists), only 27,817, or 45.64 per cent., exercised the franchise.*

Of the Gold Fields
Electorates.

3. The three Gold Fields Electorates are not embraced in the foregoing calculations, because the number of voters is regulated by the number of persons holding Miners or Business Licenses. The number so qualified to vote is estimated at 10,400. The seats for the Northern and Southern Electorates were uncontested, and it seems that out of the estimated number of 3,300 qualified voters for the Western Gold Fields only 398 recorded their votes at the last Election.

SOCIAL.

Treating of the Increase and movement of the Population.

4. The Population Table, at page 118, shews an estimated population at the end of the year of 348,546; that is, an increase of 11,974 persons upon the Return of 1859, which, after writing off 23,450 as the estimated loss to the Colony by the separation of the Districts forming the Colony of Queensland, exhibited a population of 336,572. Had we had no safer guide upon which to base the estimate of our numbers at the end of 1860 than the ordinary Returns from the Customs of Immigration over Emigration, and the natural increase by the excess of Births over Deaths, we should have produced a result considerably in excess of what the Census Returns give us on the 7th April following.

The movement of the population seaward (in the absence of any check upon the overland migration) is found to be a very fallible guide to the true position of the people in the intervening years between one enumeration of the people and another, five years apart. I have, therefore, preferred to base my estimate of the population at the end of last year upon the ascertained numbers by the Census of 1861, rather than upon the estimate of the previous year, which was deduced from the Census of 1856.

By this process we arrive at a result short of the number we anticipated by no less than 11,881 souls; that is, instead of a population of 360,427 we must content ourselves with 348,546.†

Of Births, Marriages, and Deaths.
(p.p. 118 and 119.)

5. There were decreases in the number of Births and Marriages registered in 1860, as compared with the Returns of the previous year, whilst a very large increase is observable in the number of Deaths, as will be seen by the following figures, viz. :—

	Births.	Marriages.	Deaths.
1859	14,415	3,295	5,642
1860	14,233	2,945	6,562
	Decrease... 182	Decrease... 350	Increase... 920

The

* The New England Return is incomplete.

† The population on the 7th April, 1861, taken from the Enumerator's Returns, was 350,553.

STATISTICAL REGISTER, 1860—REPORT.

The decrease in the Births is small and may be made up by increased registrations during the earlier months of 1861; there being noticeable, in many instances, carelessness in registering Births within the proper time.

The decrease in Marriages is unquestionably assignable to the depression of the times, which in the Colonies, as in the Mother Country, is found to discourage the disposition to marry and settle in life, amongst the masses of the people.

The increased mortality is referable to the visitation of an epidemic of Influenza, followed by an epidemic of Measles, during the winter months of 1860. The first epidemic was very fatal to the old and weakly, and the second to the infantile portion of the population.

IMMIGRATION.

6 The Immigration (exclusive of 6,958 Chinese Immigrants) Treating of Immigration. Page 120. during the year was as follows, viz.:—

	Males.	Females.	Total.
At the public expense.....	1,596	1,493	3,089
Voluntary	10,409	2,575	12,984
Totals	12,005	4,068	16,073

From these figures it seems clear that Voluntary Immigration, uncorrected by any counterbalancing system, is calculated to increase rather than to lessen the disparity of the sexes, for we find that in one year, to 10,409 males introduced there was only a proportion of 2,575 females, or a little under 25 per cent.

Of the Immigrants at the public expense, there were, from—

England and Wales	966
Scotland.....	311
Ireland	1,780
Other Countries	32
Total	3,089

Of the whole European Immigration (voluntary and assisted) there were—

Adults	14,435
Children	1,638, or 11·34 per cent.

EDUCATION.

7. Passing on to the Table of Education, at page 126, we find an Treating of the Denominational Schools. increase under the head of Denominational Schools, from 217 Schools in 1859 to 264 in 1860, and of Scholars from 13,590 in 1859 to 15,267 in 1860; that is, an increase of 47 Schools and 1,677 Scholars.

The

The contributions from the public Treasury in support of these Schools were, in all, £20,031 19s. 4d., or at the rate of £1 6s. 3d. per head, whilst the voluntary support amounted to £12,465 3s. 4d., or at the rate of 16s. 4d. per head.

Of the National Schools.

The number of Schools established under the National system exhibits an increase from 125 in 1859 to 144 in 1860, and the number of Scholars from 8,447 in 1859 to 9,305 in 1860; that is, an increase of 19 Schools and 858 Scholars.

The contribution by the State towards the support of these Schools was £23,445 1s. 10d., or at the rate of £2 10s. 4½d. per head; whilst the amount received from Voluntary Contributions was £7,838 5s. 6d., or at the rate of 16s. 10d. per head.

Of the University and higher Educational Institutions.

8. There is a notable decrease observable in the numbers attending the higher Seminaries of Education.

The University, St. Paul's College, and the Sydney Grammar School, all shew a falling off in the number of Scholars, viz.:—

	1859.	1860.	Decrease.
University	42	32	10
St. Paul's College...	8	5	3
Grammar School...	187	144	43
Totals.....	237	181	56

I have been unable to obtain from the Master of the King's School, Parramatta, any Return of the working of that institution during the year, and have therefore adopted the figures of the year before.

Of Private Schools.

Other Private Schools exhibit a slight decrease in the number of establishments, and a more considerable decrease in the number of Scholars, viz.:—

	Schools.	Scholars.
1859	390	9,923
1860	383	9,318
Decrease....	7	605

Taking the whole of the Schools, public and private, throughout the Colony, the Return exhibits the following increases upon the Return of 1859, viz.:—

	SCHOOLS.	SCHOLARS.		TOTAL SCHOLARS.
		Male.	Female.
1859.....	739	17,581	15,259	32,840
Increase	59	1,159	768	1,927
1860.....	798	18,740	16,027	34,767

The total contributions from the Public Treasury in support of Education for the year was £60,587, or at the rate of about 3s. 7d. per head of the population.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

9. The Return of Sunday Schools (page 127) is not so complete as could be wished. Whether from indifference, negligence, or fortuitous circumstances I cannot tell, the Returns of the Church of England and Roman Catholic Sunday Schools have not been rendered so complete and satisfactory as on the last occasion. From many Ministers of both Churches no Returns whatever have been received. My efforts, therefore, to render this Table perfect have proved unsuccessful.

The result is, that, in the Church of England Sunday Schools, there is a decrease from 124 in 1859 to 110 in 1860, whilst the Children attending them, which, in 1859, were put down as 6,073, are returned as 6,065 in 1860.

The proportion of Children to each School is 55, whereas the year before the proportion was only 49.

The Roman Catholic Sunday Schools which, in 1859, were returned as 65, are, in 1860, cut down to 47, whilst the number of Children attending them has increased from 3,566 to 3,886, so that; whilst eighteen fewer Schools are accounted for, the number of Children has increased by 320, which raises the proportion of Children attending the Schools from 55 to 83.

The Presbyterians shew a decrease of two in their Schools (from 37 to 35), but an increase of 215 in the number of Children attending them, viz., from 1,363 to 1,578.

The Wesleyans have increased their Sunday Schools from 65 to 109, and the number of Children from 4,107 to 7,096, or 72 per cent.

The Independents have, likewise, doubled their return of Schools from 7 to 14, whilst their Scholars are nearly trebled; that is, from 546 to 1,537.

These three last named Churches contribute principally to the satisfactory result of the general totals under the head of "Sunday Schools," which, as compared with the previous year, may be thus stated:—

SCHOOLS.		SCHOLARS.		TOTALS.
		Male.	Female.
1859	313	7,870	8,720	16,590
Increase	16	2,185	2,329	4,514
1860	329	10,055	11,049	21,104

CRIME.

CRIME.

10. The Criminal Returns, extending from page 130 to page 149, give evidence of diminished criminality.

Treating of commitments and convictions in the Supreme and Circuit Courts.

The commitments for trial in the Supreme and Circuit Courts for the three years 1858 to 1860 were as follows:—

	1858.	1859.	1860.
Felonies	234	156	127
Misdemeanors ..	53	48	40
Totals	287	204	167

The convictions were, viz.:—

	1858.	1859.	1860.
Felonies	119	105	76
Misdemeanors ..	33	25	19
Totals	152	130	95

* 53·0 per cent. 63·7 per cent. 57·0 per cent.

Quarter Sessions.

To the Courts of Quarter Sessions there were committed for trial in each of the three years, as follows, viz.:—

	1858.	1859.	1860.
Felonies	382	441	412
Misdemeanors ..	111	108	106
Totals ..	493	549	518

The convictions were, viz.:—

	1858.	1859.	1860.
Felonies	181	221	240
Misdemeanors ..	82	55	70
Totals ..	263	276	310

53·3 per cent. 50·3 per cent. 60·0 per cent.

The moral state of communities is generally estimated, not by the number of convictions, but by the number of commitments for trial; and if we may apply this test to the records of the last three years, adding together the numbers committed for trial at the Supreme and Circuit Courts and Courts of Quarter Sessions, the result exhibits a progressive improvement; the committals having amounted to 780 in 1858, to 753 in 1859, and to 685 in 1860.

Summary jurisdiction Courts. (pp. 148 & 149.)

11. The offences tried before the several Courts of Petty Sessions, during the year, amounted to the large number of 19,193; of this number 10,166, or 53·0 per cent., were for drunkenness. The Returns do

STATISTICAL REGISTER, 1860—REPORT.

do not specify the number of offenders who came before the Court more than once, therefore the figures must be understood to refer to the number of offences, and not to the number of individuals.

The following figures exhibit the result of the inquiries before these tribunals, for the two years 1858 and 1859, for offences other than drunkenness, viz.:—

	1858.	1859.
Summarily convicted	4,942	5,044
Committed for trial	761	737
Discharged	2,896	3,246
	8,599	9,027

Whilst as regards drunkenness the comparison is as follows, viz.:—

	1858.	1859.
Convicted	7,815	8,184
Discharged	1,582	1,982
Not recorded	22	:
	9,419	10,166

12. Turning to the Tables of Gaols and Prisoners No. 1 at page 130, and No. 3 at page 136, there will be found three columns of figures, expressing the numbers of Males and Females confined during the year who can read and write, read only, and neither read nor write. Treating of Education and Crime.

From these figures the following results are elicited, viz.; that out of a total of 7,501 Confines (excluding coloured people) the proportion of 2,952 Males and 552 Females, together 3,504, or 46·7 per cent., could read and write; 992 Males and 244 Females, together 1,236, or 16·4 per cent., could read only; and 2,029 Males and 732 Females, together 2,761, or 37·0 per cent., could neither read nor write. The Males numbered 5,973, or 80 per cent.; the Females 1,528, or 20 per cent.

INSOLVENCIES.

13. The number of Insolvencies during 1860 was very large, no less than 511 persons—483 voluntary, and 28 compulsory—surrendered their estates to the adjudication of the Court.

The liabilities shewn in the Insolvents' Schedules were to the amount of £835,825; assets, £541,744; leaving deficiency £294,081;—but it is probable that the estimated deficiency will prove very far short of the real losses when the assets are realized.

LANDS.

Of the extent of Land sold, and amount realized. Page 154.

15. Both in the extent of Land sold and amount realized the Returns shew a decrease upon the Returns of the two preceding years; indeed the sum received from the sales of Crown Lands is smaller than in any year since 1852, as a reference to the Decennial Table at page 156 will shew. Confining our comparisons with the years 1858 and 1859, the following are the results, viz. :—

16. There will be found, at pages 156 and 157, two very interesting Tables furnished by the Acting Surveyor General. The first shewing the acres alienated and unalienated in the old Settled Counties, by which it appears that out of a total area of 24,981,760 acres there are 6,222,601 acres, or barely one-fourth alienated, leaving 18,759,159 acres to the credit of the National Domain.

Of the acres alienated and unalienated in the old Settled Counties.

The second Table exhibits the areas alienated and unalienated in what have hitherto been recognized as the Pastoral Districts of the Colony; these districts, as the settlement of the country advances, are divided into counties, but with boundaries subject to future modification.

Of the acres alienated and unalienated in the Pastoral Districts.

By this Table it appears that out of a domain consisting of 183,018,160 acres, only 925,069 acres have been alienated; that is, to every five acres possessed by the Colonists the Crown possesses a thousand.

It is, moreover, shewn by the summary to this Table, that of the 207,000,000 acres comprised within the Colony of New South Wales there have been alienated

There are reserved from lease leaving 148,951,729 acres as the extent of the National Estate unappropriated at the end of the last year.

INDUSTRIAL.

17. The Tables from pages 166 to 170 exhibit a complete view of the progress made in Manufactures during the last ten years.

Treating of Mills, Manufactories, &c.

These embrace Woollen Cloths and Tweeds; Soap and Candles; Tobacco; Refined Sugar; and Tallow and Lard.

Of Mills.

With regard to Mills for grinding and dressing grain, it will be seen that steam is gradually superseding the mills worked by wind, water, and horses; for since 1851 the mills worked by steam have increased from 68 to 134, whilst those by water have decreased from 33 to 24, those by wind from 25 to 20, and those by horses from 25 to 15.

Of Woollen Manufactures.

18. The manufacture of Cloth and Tweeds seems to be reviving again, owing, in all probability, to the reduction in the rate of wages.

During the five years, 1850 to 1854, the average annual produce was 174,059 yards; during the succeeding five years, 1855 to 1859, the average annual produce was 62,659 yards; during the last year the produce was 118,500 yards.

The number of establishments at work during 1860 was 8, whilst during the previous five years employment was found for half that number only.

Soap.

19. The manufacture of Soap gave employment to 33 establishments, the produce being 57,080 cwt.; whilst during the previous five years there were 21 establishments at work, producing, on the average, 45,468 cwt., annually.

Tobacco.

20. The manufacture of Tobacco is manifestly on the decline; and this in spite of a protective duty of 2s. per lb.

There were 8 manufactories open last year, the produce being 1,697 cwt.

The average produce of the previous five years was 1,900 cwt., and of the five years before that 4,145 cwt.

Refined Sugar.

21. The manufacture of Refined Sugar has somewhat decreased, owing probably to the establishment, by the Sydney Company, of a manufactory in Melbourne. The quantity manufactured during 1860 was 113,600 tons; whilst the average of the previous five years was 145,400 tons.

MINING.

Of Gold.

22. The discovery of our Southern Gold Fields has given a great impetus to gold mining operations in New South Wales during the past year.

The following Table gives the results of this branch of industry from the year 1855.

YEAR.	WEIGHT.	VALUE.	YEAR.	WEIGHT.	VALUE.
	ozs.	£		ozs.	£
1855	171,367	654,594	1858	286,798	1,104,174
1856	184,600	689,174	1859	329,363	1,259,127
1857	175,950	674,477	1860	384,055	1,462,772
	531,917	2,018,245		1,000,246	3,826,073

Comparing

Comparing the three years 1858 to 1860 with the three years preceding, we find the production gradually increasing, the latter triennial period exceeding the former in quantity by 468,329 ozs., and in value by £1,807,828. The value is computed at the standard rate of £3 17s. 10½d. per oz.

23. Coal mining operations also manifest increased activity—^{Of Coal.} fourteen mines were worked, and the total produce amounted to 368,862 tons, valued at £226,494, this is an increase of 60,649 tons on the production of the year before.

Our export of Coal during the year was 233,877 tons, valued at £183,761, and, of this quantity, 176,765 tons (more than three-fourths) were shipped to the sister Colonies and other British Possessions in the Eastern Seas, and 57,112 tons to Foreign States.

AGRICULTURE.

24. The Tables under this head are necessarily placed at the end ^{Treating of the} of the Volume, in consequence of its being found impossible to get them ^{collection of the} ready in time to occupy their proper position amongst the “Industrial” ^{Returns.} Returns.

Advantage has been taken of the staff appointed to collect the the Census to obtain, as near as it is possible to effect the object, accurate Returns of the areas of land held under freehold, leasehold, or annual license tenure, throughout the Colony, of the number of acres in cultivation, nature of crops and the produce thereof, for the year ending 31st March, 1861. ..

These Tables may, therefore, be viewed with less distrust than heretofore. If they do not exhibit a perfect statistical view of the present state of our agricultural operations and resources, the fault must lie with the people themselves who are engaged in this important branch of industry, and not with the Collectors, for each Collector was instructed to take round with him a sufficient number of blank “Occupants Schedules,” to be left for completion by the occupant, or, to be filled up by himself from the viva voce statement of the occupant, in cases where the occupant or his superintendent had failed to complete the Return.

Much extra labour has been cast upon the staff of the office in the tabulation and in the preparation of the Tables for publication.

They are very confidently recommended to public notice as conveying as true a picture of the agricultural position and resources of the Colony as it is possible to present.

Neither the limits of this Report, nor the time that is left to me, will permit the entrance upon so searching an analysis of the figures contained in the Tables as the interest attaching to the subject demands.

I must content myself with a brief comparison of the general results with those of the previous year.

Of the number of occupants and extent of holdings.

25. In the first and second columns of the Summary Table will be found the number of occupiers of land in quantities exceeding one acre, and the total extent of holdings. The figures exhibit a large augmentation upon those of the previous year, viz. :—

	NO. OF OCCUPANTS.			TOTAL EXTENT OF HOLDING.
	1859.	1860.	Increase.	1859.	1860.	Increase.
Counties	14,207	16,480	2,273	4,365,228½	7,630,099	3,264,870½
Pastoral Districts .	1,508	2,872	1,364	23,298,136½	34,513,073	11,214,936½
Totals	15,715	19,352	3,637	27,663,365	42,143,172	14,479,807

By this Table it is seen that the number of occupants of land from whom Returns have been obtained has increased from 15,715 in 1859 to 19,352 in 1860—that is 3,637 occupants, or rather more than 23 per cent.; whilst the extent of holdings exhibits an increase from 27,663,365 acres in 1859 to 42,143,172 acres in 1860; that is an augmentation of 14,479,807 acres, or rather more than 52 per cent.

It must not be supposed that these increases are in reality the result of extended operations during the year, a large portion must be put down to the more careful collection of the Returns, as I have before explained.

Of land purchased and enclosed.

26. Columns three and four express the extent of land purchased and enclosed. There are no corresponding columns to these in former Tables. It seems that the enclosed lands amount to 3,560,558 acres; that is, 8·45 per cent. of the total extent of holding.

Of acreage in crops.

27. We will now proceed to examine the more important features of the Tables before us, namely, the acreage under crop, and the produce thereof.

The Table exhibits a total acreage in crops of 260,798 acres; that is an increase of 13,256 acres, or rather over 5 per cent. on the Returns (247,542) of the previous year, and about one acre and a quarter for every head of the population, by the Census of 1861.

WHEAT.

Of the breadth of land sown.

28. The breadth of land sown in Wheat for grain was 128,829 acres, against 115,928 acres in the previous year; that is an increase of 12,901 acres, or 11 per cent.

What is the comparison with regard to “produce?” By reference to the Tables of 1859 we see it stated at 1,605,353 bushels, or nearly 14 bushels to the acre, whereas, by the Return now before us, we find a produce of 1,581,597 bushels only, or about 12 bushels to the acre. The decrease is attributable to the very destructive floods which visited the principal wheat growing districts in the course of the last year.

The

The yield of Wheat during the five years, 1854 to 1858, fluctuated between $12\frac{1}{2}$ and $16\frac{1}{2}$ bushels per acre, the average being a trifle over 15 bushels per acre. Comparing the results of the two last years (1859-60) with this, we find that they produce about two bushels per acre below the average of the five previous years.

The estimated produce of the year is at the rate of, as near as possible, four and a half bushels for every head of the population.

From seven to eight bushels per head is generally considered about the average rate of consumption, we are, therefore, short of our requirements, including what is wanted for seed—fully one-half; that is to say, we produced only about 50 per cent. of our total estimated consumption for the year.

MAIZE.

29. The extent of land planted in Maize, or Indian Corn, for grain was 51,488 acres, against 49,506 acres the year before, whilst the produce is stated at 1,484,467 bushels against 1,602,630 bushels the year before; that is a decrease of 118,163 bushels, or 7.37 per cent.

The yield in 1859 was rather over 32 bushels per acre, whilst that of 1860 was not quite 29.

The produce of the five previous years, 1854 to 1858, was very nearly 31 bushels per acre.

BARLEY AND OATS.

30. The extent of land sown in Barley and Oats for grain amounted to 9,394 acres, against 10,073 acres the previous year, shewing a decrease of 679 acres in these descriptions of crop. The produce shews a corresponding decrease, viz.,—from 153,624 bushels in 1859, or 15 bushels per acre, to 138,615 bushels in 1860, or $14\frac{1}{2}$ bushels per acre.

POTATOES.

31. The growth of this esculent shews a progressive increase. In 1859 there were 8,839 acres in cultivation; in 1860 there were 9,228 acres. The produce in the former year was computed at 20,537 tons, or at the rate of rather more than two tons per acre; whilst the produce of the latter year is stated at 28,127 tons, or rather more than three tons per acre. From this it appears that the unusual quantity of rain which fell in 1860, which was so unfavourable to the cereal crops, had a favourable effect upon the potatoe crop, to the extent of nearly a ton per acre.

GREEN CROPS AND HAY.

32. There were 19,804 acres sown in green crop in 1860, against 15,560 acres in 1859; an increase of nearly 30 per cent.; whilst, for hay, the breadth of land sown in 1860 was 46,584 acres, against 45,924 acres acres in 1859. The produce of 1859 was 60,873 tons of hay, or at the rate of about one and a quarter tons per acre; that of 1860 was 50,926 tons, or at the rate of very little more than a ton per acre. The floods, to which allusion has already been made, are thus seen to have had a prejudicial effect upon the hay crops of the past year, to the extent of about one-quarter of a ton per acre.

VINEYARDS.

33. The acreage planted in Vines shews a considerable augmentation on the Returns of the previous year, viz. :—

1859	1,354 acres.

shewing an increase of 229 acres, or 17 per cent.

The number of acres appropriated to the production of wine was 622, or rather less than one-half the total quantity in vines. From this extent of wine producing vineyard 99,791 gallons of wine were manufactured; that is at the rate of 160 gallons per acre. In 1859 the acreage appropriated to the production of wine was 577, and the produce 96,100 gallons, or 167 gallons per acre.

The average produce of the vineyards of France is computed at about 190 gallons per acre.

PASTORAL.

34. The Returns of Live Stock will be found at the end of the volume.

These Returns, like those of Agriculture, have been collected with great care by the sub-enumerators of the Census, and it is believed are worthy of greater reliance than it has been wonted to place upon the figures of preceding years; indeed, it may be confidently asserted that the Returns express the amount of Stock depasturing in the Colony as accurately as it is possible to ascertain it.

Comparing the general totals with those of the previous year, the Return exhibits a considerable increase, as the following figures will shew, viz. :—

	Horses.	Cattle.	Sheep.	Pigs.
31st March, 1860...	214,684	2,190,976	5,162,671	119,701
Increase	36,813	217,610	956,492	60,961
31st March, 1861...	251,497	2,408,586	6,119,163	180,662

By these figures it is seen that, in spite of the large Export to Victoria, and

and the numbers that have been driven north to stock new country in Queensland (of which no account is taken), we have an increase of very little short of a million Sheep, of over two hundred thousand head of horned cattle, of over thirty-six thousand horses, and sixty thousand pigs; as regards the supply of animal food then for the wants of our population, we have no reason to encourage any gloomy anticipations.

The system of boiling down for Tallow, has, since the year 1856, almost fallen into desuetude, as may be seen by reference to the Table at page 170. The exigencies of years gone by gave rise to this wasteful system, and whether similar necessities may arise to superinduce a return to it, would seem to be mainly dependent upon the increase of population.

It is clear, assuming the rate of increase we have just shewn to continue, that, in the absence of a large influx of population, the boiling pots will be again resorted to for the disposal of our surplus stock; indeed the Return of Live Stock slaughtered for Tallow for the year under review, shews that the increase for consumption has already more than overtaken the demand—for it is seen that there were twenty boiling down establishments in operation during 1860 to six the year before.

There were as near as possible, when the Return of Stock was taken, seven head of horned cattle and rather more than seventeen sheep to every head of the population.

35. Perhaps, on account of the interest attaching to this subject, I may be pardoned for travelling rather beyond the legitimate scope of this Report to shew the total amount of Live Stock in the Colonies of New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, and Queensland, on the 31st March last. It was as follows, viz. :—

	Horses.	Cattle.	Sheep.	Pigs.
New South Wales ..	251,497	2,408,586	6,119,163	180,662
Victoria	69,288	683,534	5,794,127	50,965

COMMERCIAL.

Of Imports and Exports.

36. The Returns of Imports and Exports seaward, through the Customs will be found at pages 172 to 220.

The general results of our trading are thus stated for the year, viz. :—

	Imports.	Exports.	Excess Imports.	Excess Exports.
United Kingdom	£4,160,307	1,482,717	2,677,590
British Colonies	1,994,947	3,066,021	1,071,074
Foreign States...	1,364,031	523,282	840,749
	£7,519,285	5,072,020	3,518,339	1,071,074

Rate per head of population.

The Imports were at the rate of £22 2s. 3d. per head of the estimated population at the middle of the year; the Exports at the rate of £14 18s. 4d. per head. It should be borne in mind, however, that New South Wales imports not for her own wants alone, but in great part to supply the wants of the population of the Colony of Queensland. Her chief article of export, too, comes via Sydney for shipment, and, therefore, the computation should more properly be made upon the united population of the two Colonies.

Taking this view of the question, and estimating the population of both Colonies at the middle of the year at 366,000, we shall produce a result shewing the Imports to have been at the rate of £20 10s. 10d. per head, and the Exports at the rate of £13 17s. 2d. per head.

The value of the Imports exceeded that of the year before by nearly a million, whilst the Exports were greater by over three hundred thousand, viz. :—

	Imports.	Exports.
1859	£6,597,053	4,768,049
Increase ...	922,232	303,971
1860	£7,519,285	£5,072,020

It is somewhat remarkable that the value of our Exports to Victoria is stated at a larger sum than that of our Exports to the Mother Country.

Victoria took from us produce to the value of £1,501,536, whilst to the United Kingdom the Exports are computed at £1,482,717.

Our next best customer is Queensland, to the extent of £583,047, and then New Zealand to the value of £442,861.

IMPORTS.

37. The items amongst the Imports, which exhibit the largest Imports. increases upon the Returns of the preceding year, are as follows, Increase. viz. :—

	1859.	1860.	Increase.
Apparel and Slops	£161,425	£243,207	£81,782
Beer	203,078	229,541	26,463
Flour and Bread	77,050	234,659	157,609
Gold	259,723	456,514	196,791
Grain.....	206,845	315,846	109,001
Hardware	250,201	287,713	37,512
Iron and Steel	95,316	176,697	81,381
Leather and Boots	289,398	385,948	96,550
Stationery.....	109,429	152,188	42,759
Tobacco.....	134,961	176,587	41,626
Wool.....	146,819	460,532	313,713

The great increase in the Import of Wool is attributable to the Imports from Queensland for shipment to England.

During eleven months of 1859 the shipments from the northern ports were not recognized amongst the Imports, being the produce of our own Colony ; but, during 1860, it seems that no less than 4,435,677 lbs., of the computed value of £407,654, were received in Sydney from Queensland for shipment.

38. The articles which exhibit the largest decreases are, Coffee, Decrease. Fish, Fruit, Sugar, and Tea.

The two last-named articles of consumption exhibit a very remarkable falling off, viz. :—

	1859.	1860.	Decrease.
Sugar	£765,168	£308,256	£456,912
Tea	501,330	400,812	100,518

In 1859 we Imported 22,939 tons of Sugar and 5,567,367 lbs. of Tea, against 9,923 tons of Sugar and 4,937,454 lbs. of Tea in 1860.

With regard to Sugar, it is probable that the operations of the Sydney Sugar Company, in Melbourne may account for the short shipments of last year, since we may assume that they import direct what they want for carrying on their business in the sister Colony.

DUTIES.

39. The amount of Duty received at the Customs was £555,103 19s., being £56,770 11s. 4d. short of the receipts of the preceding year as shewn below, viz. :—

	1859.	1860.
Paid on Landing.....	£74,026 16 9	£52,489 16 5
Paid on Warehoused Goods..	537,847 13 7	502,614 2 7
Totals	611,874 10 4	555,103 19 0

Cause of decrease, and rate per head.

This decrease is attributed to the separation of the Northern Districts from New South Wales, and to the consequent collection, by Queensland, of its own duties. The Revenue from dutiable commodities in the year 1859, including Queensland, was at the rate of £1 15s. per head of the estimated population at the middle of the year, whilst that of 1860, excluding Queensland, was at the rate of £1 12s. 8d. per head of the estimated population at the same period.

EXPORTS.

Increase of.

40. Amongst the Exports exhibiting the largest increases, are the following, viz. :—

Coals	132,984	...	183,761	...	50,777

Wine and Spirits	61,802	...	83,574	...	21,772

Decrease of.

41. The largest decreases are observable under the heads of Hides, Timber, and Wool.

Wool.

With regard to Wool, the produce of New South Wales flocks, the quantity exported seaward was smaller than in any year of the last decennial period, except the year 1852, as will be seen by the following statement, viz. :—

	lbs.	Value.		lbs.	Value.
1851 ...	15,268,473	£828,302	1856 ...	19,200,341	£1,303,070
1852 ...	11,086,974	676,815	1857 ...	17,044,201	1,275,067
1853 ...	16,358,869	999,896	1858 ...	13,553,835	1,126,486
1854 ...	18,976,300	1,181,956	1859 ...	16,988,016	1,458,005
1855 ...	17,671,684	1,078,017	1860 ...	12,809,362	1,123,699
Totals...	79,362,300	4,764,986		79,595,755	6,286,327

Decrease in shipment of Wool.

By this statement it appears that we shipped seaward 4,178,654 lbs. of Wool short of what we shipped in 1859. The question arises whether the decrease is to be attributed to a short clip, or to delay on the road in getting the Wool down to port, or to increased shipments from our border districts via Melbourne. I think it may be shewn that the decrease arises from other causes than any of these, because, if we look to to the Returns of Exports viâ "Albury" and "Moama," we shall find that we sent over six thousand bales to Melbourne for shipment. 6,154 is the number given in the Returns, and it is not improbable that Wool found its way across the Murray at other places, of which no record has been kept. However if we calculate the number of bales of which we have returns at the average of 350 lbs. per bale, we shall arrive at an additional Export of not less than 2,153,900 lbs., which will make up the total Export, the produce of our own flocks, to 14,963,262 lbs.

Now, although it may never happen that the season's clip is shipped within the year, we may assume that taking one year with the other the Export of the year pretty nearly expresses the produce of the year, because what remains for shipment after the expiry of the year bears pretty much the same proportion to the total Wool clip. If this is a tolerably accurate view of the case, we may proceed to shew the average yield of Wool per sheep.

The number of Sheep returned as depasturing in the Colony on the 31st March, 1860, was 5,162,671, assuming that this number passed under the hands of the shearers last season, it follows that the average yield per Sheep was rather over 2 lbs. 14 oz. of Wool—this high average may probably be set down to the quantity sent Home in the grease, at all events it goes to prove that the decrease to which I have directed attention cannot be attributed to any falling off in the average yield of our flocks.

Comparing the number of Sheep with the Clip.

We must look then to other means of solving the question, and there is no doubt the solution is to be found in the fact that the shipments of Wool from the Northern Districts up to the 1st December, 1859, were treated as the products of New South Wales; and, of course, went to swell up the figures in the Return of that year; whereas, during the year under review, the Imports from Queensland are separately accounted for,—in other words, New South Wales was given credit for so much of the Wool clip of the Northern Districts as came to Sydney for shipment previous to the date of Separation, from which time the Imports from Queensland are placed amongst those of the other Colonies.

Decrease attributable to the separation of Queensland.

The Export of Wool from Queensland viâ Sydney, and direct to England; during 1860, is stated in the Statistics of that Colony at upwards of five millions pounds weight.

The Exports of New South Wales and Queensland together, may be stated in round numbers at twenty millions of pounds weight.

42. It is worth while glancing at the Decennial Tables (at page 221), which shew the computed value of Imports and Exports, in order to arrive at an idea of the vast expansion of our Import and Export trade within the last ten years.

Decennial view of our Import and Export Trade.

If we divide the Tables into two quinquennial periods, we shall be surprised at the very large increase exhibited in the amount which represents the latter five years.

Without

Of Imports.

Without giving the figures in detail, the results are as follows :—
From 1851 to 1855, the computed value of our Imports was £20,456,346 ; from 1856 to 1860, the computed value was £32,366,083 ; shewing an increase on the first quinquennial period of no less than £11,909,737.

Of Exports.

The result of our Export trade during the same period bears equal evidence of the wealth and industry of our population.

From 1851 to 1855, the computed value of our Exports was £17,858,548 ; from 1856 to 1860, the computed value was £21,469,178 ; shewing an increase upon the first quinquennial period of no less than £3,610,630.

Nothing can convey to the mind a clearer perception of the extraordinary development of our industrial and commercial operations, or indicate with greater force the spirit and enterprise with which they have been conducted by a community apparently so inadequate in numbers to produce such results.

COLONIAL PRODUCE.

Of Exports.

43. The Decennial Tables at pages 222 to 228 are interesting as exhibiting the quantities and values of our principal articles of Export (Seaward), the produce of the Colony.

Increase.

Those which shew an increase on the Returns of the preceding year are thus stated, viz. :—

	1859.	1860.	Increase.
Grain	£100,900	£150,465	£49,565
Butter and Cheese..	18,907	33,527	14,620

Gold	1,698,078	1,876,049	177,971

Decrease.

The Articles which exhibit a decrease are :—

	1859.	1860.	Decrease.
Live Stock.....	£73,834	£54,804	£19,030
Hides and Leather..	98,542	90,554	7,988

Timber	47,154	28,186	18,968
Oil	26,980	10,661	16,319

WHALE FISHERIES.

44. The result of our Whale Fisheries (see page 227) shews a decrease upon the operations of the previous year, viz. :—

	1859.	1860.	Decrease.
	£26,288	£17,685	£8,603

SHIPPING.

45. The number and tonnage of Vessels entered Inwards and Pages 228 to 232. Outwards exceeded that of any previous year. There were entered Inwards 1,424 vessels, of the aggregate tonnage of 427,835 tons.

There were entered Outwards 1,438 vessels, of the aggregate tonnage of 431,484 tons.

There were 17 new vessels built, of the aggregate tonnage of 1,135 tons; and 52 new vessels registered, of the tonnage of 7,212 tons.

OVERLAND TRAFFIC.

46. The next Tables which pass under review are those which are Treating of the Trade with Victoria. intended to express the extent of our Import and Export Trade overland across the Murray to Victoria.

The Returns in neither case are so complete or satisfactory as could be desired. For the greater part of the year New South Wales had no officers on the frontier whose duty it was to take account of the traffic Outwards and Inwards, and, therefore, I have been dependent upon the courtesy of the Revenue officers of Victoria to supply me with such information as they were kind enough to afford.

At page 233 will be found two Tables—the first a Quarterly via Albury. Statement of the value of the General Imports and Exports via Albury, the second distinguishing the dutiable articles.

By the first, the total computed value of our Imports was £170,813, and of our Exports £126,606.

By the second, it seems that, of dutiable commodities passing through the Customs, there were Imported to the value of £43,708, and Exported to the value of £1,334. This is via Albury.

47. By way of Moama the Return of Imports embraces the period via Moama. Page 234. from 27th July to the end of the year, whilst the Exports are said to embrace the whole year.

The Sub-Collector reported that it was out of his power to give the particulars of Imports for the period preceding his entrance upon his duties.

Bearing in mind then that the value of Imports is confined to the five last months of the year, we find that we received—

Of dutiable goods	£12,672
Of free	36,909
Together.....	£49,581

whilst we Exported for the whole year (including Live Stock) articles to the value of £855,930.

Albury and Moama
together.

48. Taking the traffic via Albury and Moama together, and assuming a proportionate rate of Imports for the seven months at the latter place, of which we have no return, we shall arrive at an inter-colonial trade with Victoria across the Murray to the value of, say—

Imports	£140,800
Exports	982,500

which leaves a balance in favour of New South Wales of £841,700 on the Border Traffic for the year:

I have not succeeded in getting Returns of the Trade between Adelaide and the Stations on the Murray and Darling, to publish with these Tables.

Of Live Stock.

50. The total Export of Live Stock at places where an account has been kept, was as follows, viz. :—

	Horses.	Cattle.	Sheep.
To Victoria.....	4,495	111,841	313,764
To South Australia	316	707	13,400
Totals....	4,811	112,548	327,164

We have no Returns of any Live Stock received from Victoria; but from South Australia, via "Overland Comer," there were introduced 800 Cattle and 17,200 Sheep, so that we may take credit for a large balance in our favour from the exportation of Sheep, Cattle, and Horses during the year.

MUNICIPALITIES.

Of the increase in the number of Municipalities.

51. The extension of our Municipal Institutions is a very remarkable feature in the Returns.

In the Statistical Register for 1859, notice was taken of 13 Municipalities, exclusive of Sydney.

The estimated value of rateable Property was computed at £244,705, the Revenue at £2,807, the Expenditure at £4,237.

The present Return shews an increase of 7 Municipalities, making 20 of these Institutions in operation during last year, with an estimated value of rateable Property of £1,177,225, with a Revenue of £21,824, and an Expenditure of £27,490.

MILITARY.

Of the Volunteer movement.

52. The Return of the Volunteer Corps is a novelty in the Statistics of the Colony, and must not be allowed to pass without notice.

It was towards the middle of the year that the first movement for

for the enrolment of a Company of Volunteer Artillery was made, and this movement was soon followed by the most spirited efforts for the formation of Companies of Rifles in the City of Sydney, and throughout the metropolitan county, as well as at Maitland and Newcastle.

The Table before us (page 246) exhibits the result of this movement.

It shews that, in the course of six months, 21 Companies (1 mounted) of Rifles have been formed, and 2 Companies of Artillery, numbering 1,644 Rank and File, officered by 48 Commissioned and non-Commissioned Officers.

FINANCIAL.

53. The Tables of Receipts and Disbursements for the year will be Treating of Receipts. found at pages 247 to 258.

The statement of Revenue in the year 1860, compared with the Comparison with 1859. year 1859, shews a decrease exceeding half a million.

The principal items of Revenue exhibiting an increase are thus Increase. stated, viz.:—

Gold and Mint Receipts	£11,374
Postage	1,957
Electric Telegraph	2,971
Miscellaneous	25,377

Those exhibiting a decrease are to be found under the heads of— Decrease.

Customs and Duties	£67,268
Lands	165,023
Rents and Licenses	1,593
Fines and Fees	2,547
Railway Tolls	1,834
Pilot and Harbour Dues	958
Immigration Remittances.....	6,186
Loans	256,093

To the erection of the Northern Districts into a separate Colony may be attributed the decrease in the Revenue derived from Duties collected by the Customs, and partly to this cause, and partly to the unsettled state of the Land Question may be attributed the shortcomings of the Revenue from the sale of Lands. The total Revenue and Receipts for the year (including £560,729 to Loans Account) are stated at £1,880,508, or, at the rate of £5 10s. 7d. per head of the estimated population at the middle of the year.

54. With regard to the Expenditure of the year the usual Expenditure. Comparative Statement has been by authority discontinued, in consequence of a suggestion made by the Auditor General to the effect that “the Comparative statement discontinued. form in which the Expenditure is stated is calculated to mislead by its “ apparently

“ apparently giving the Expenditure for the service for each year, while “ it really gives only the amount actually brought to account within each “ year.”

The total Disbursements during the year, (excluding the sums charged under the heads of “ Special Receipts” and “ Trust Moneys Deposit” Accounts, £143,043) were £2,047,955, or, at the rate of £6 0s 5d. per head of the estimated population at the middle of the year.

The total Disbursements are in excess of the Total Receipts for the year, £167,447.

The abstracts of the Public Accounts for 1860, prepared by the Auditor General and printed by order of the Legislative Assembly, furnish in detail the particulars under each branch of Revenue and Expenditure, and to these statements inquirers will have to refer for fuller information than is considered necessary to introduce in this publication.

Statistical Table of the progress of the Colony from 1821 to 1860.

55. There will be found, preceding the usual Returns, a Statistical Table, exhibiting a complete view of the progress of New South Wales from the year 1821 to the end of the year 1860.

It is intended to shew, at a glance, the development of the resources and chief branches of our Colonial industry, from the earliest date at which any authentic Statistics are available, to the present time, and will be found both convenient and useful for reference.

Favorable notice of Mr. Newcombe's services.

56. Before closing this Report it is due to Mr. Newcombe, the gentleman who has in charge the compilation of the Tables, that I should make favorable mention of his untiring exertions to render them as perfect as possible.

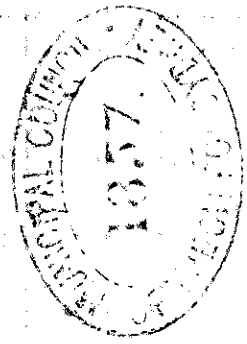

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

CHRIS. ROLLESTON,

Registrar General.

NOTE.—The adopted mean Temperature is the mean of the Maximum, Minimum, 9 A.M. and 9 P.M. results.

The mean height of Barometer is the mean of the 9 A.M., 3 P.M., and 9 P.M. results.

The mean pressure of vapour is deduced from the readings of the wet and dry bulb Thermometers at 9 A.M., 3 P.M., and 9 P.M.

The resultant direction of the wind is obtained as follows:—

The direction and force are registered three times a day, the force being represented by numbers, according to the Observer's judgment, from 0 to 6; the resultant force and direction are then determined on the principle of the resolution of mechanical forces.

1861.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS, DEATHS, & MARRIAGES.
(FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT.)

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

THE REGISTRAR GENERAL to THE HONORABLE THE COLONIAL SECRETARY, transmitting his Annual Report of Births, Marriages, and Deaths, for the Year 1860.

General Registry Office,

Sydney, 29 July, 1861.

SIR,

In transmitting the Annual Returns of Births, Marriages, and Deaths, for the year 1860, to be laid before Parliament, it is not my intention to enter into any elaborate analysis of the facts recorded.

In my last Report I entered somewhat minutely into a comparison of the Returns for the three complete years—1857 to 1859, not only one year with the other, but with the Returns of the neighbouring Colony of Victoria, and of the Mother Country.

I intend to defer any such minute comparative inquiry into the facts presented in these Tables until we have the Returns of another year to add to them. By that time we shall have the results of the late Census fully brought out, and a complete quinquennial period to frame our calculations upon.

On the present occasion I shall merely content myself with noticing one or two of the most striking features presented in the Tables before us.

2. Table A, at foot, exhibits the actual number of Births, Marriages, and Deaths registered in each Quarter of the Year, in the City of Sydney, in the Suburbs, and in the Country Districts respectively, distinguishing Males from Females.

2 REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS, DEATHS, AND MARRIAGES.

By reference to this Table, it will be observed that the births of 7,214 boys and 7,019 girls have been recorded in the National Registers; that 2,945 marriages were celebrated—that is, 5,890 persons married; and that the names of 3,914 males and 2,648 females are noted as having passed from amongst us to their long home.

We have thus an addition of 26,685 new names to the vital statistics of the country, and a large amount of very valuable information laid up for the use of our own and future generations.

BIRTHS.

3. Estimating the population of the Colony at the middle of the year, in round numbers, at 340,000, the increase by the excess of the births (14,233) over deaths (6,562) was at the rate of 2.256 (say two and a quarter) per cent.; whilst the average increase of the three previous years (1857 to 1859) was 2.540 (say two and a half) per cent.

The evil effects of the Influenza Epidemic, which prevailed during the winter of 1860, upon the natural increase of the population, is thus very clearly shown—the average annual rate of increase having been reduced by 0.284, or more than one quarter per cent.

The actual number of births registered in 1860 was less by 182 than the number registered in the previous year. The annual rate of 1860 was 41.86 to every 1,000 persons living.

The average rate of the three previous years was 41.77 to every 1,000 of the estimated population.

The number of boys born to the number of girls was in the proportion of 103 boys to 100 girls.

4. Table B, at foot, shews the number of Births in each quarter of the years 1857 to 1860, classified in three divisions, viz., the City, Suburban, and Country Districts.

The

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS, DEATHS, AND MARRIAGES.

The number of illegitimate children registered was 464; the instances of triplets 3, and of twins 136. (See Table C below.)

MARRIAGES.

5. The number of marriages celebrated during the year was 2,945; of this number 879, or 29·84 per cent., were solemnized according to the rites of the Church of England; 714, or 24·24 per cent., by the Roman Catholic Church; 877, or 29·77 per cent., by the Presbyterians; 192, or 6·52 per cent., by the Wesleyans; 41, or 1·39 per cent., by the Independents; 36, or 1·22 per cent., by the Primitive Methodists; 25, or 0·84 per cent., by other persuasions; and 181, or 6·14 per cent., by the District Registrars.

Comparative number of marriages celebrated by each Denomination.

6. The most remarkable feature in the Marriage Returns is the decrease upon the number celebrated in the two preceding years. In 1859 the marriages numbered 3,295, and in 1858, 2,992; the decrease, therefore, is 350 upon the marriages of 1859, and 47 upon those of 1858. (Vide Table D, below.)

Decrease through depression of the times.

This falling off in the number of persons seeking a settlement in life is the surest index of the depressed state and prospects of the great mass of the people. In Sydney there were 41 fewer marriages, in the Suburban Districts 29, and in the Country Districts 280, than took place in the previous year.

These results would seem to shew that the depressive influences under which our industrial population has suffered during the last year or two, have not been confined to the City of Sydney alone, but have exercised their baneful effects upon the country population.

Amendment of Marriage Law.

7. The necessity for the amendment of the Marriage Law has been urged in each of my annual Reports. The facts connected with the case of the Rev. W. Chaucer, at Newcastle, have brought its defects so prominently before the public eye, that I need not repeat my arguments on this occasion.

DEATHS.

Increase in the number of deaths over previous years.

8. The number of deaths registered during the year 1860 was 6,562, viz., 3,914 males and 2,648 females. This is an increase of 920, or 16.30 per cent., upon the deaths (5,642) of the preceding year.

The average annual mortality of the three years—1857 to 1859—was 1.679 per cent., or 1 in 59 of the population; whilst the mortality of 1860 was 1.930 per cent., or 1 in 52.

Effects of the Influenza and Measles Epidemics, upon the mortality of Sydney.

9. The Returns for the City of Sydney afford remarkable evidence of the fatal effects of the Influenza Epidemic which (accompanied by Measles) prevailed during the Winter of 1860.

The deaths in the City, in the first and fourth, or Summer quarters of the year, numbered 731; whilst the deaths in the second and third, or Winter quarters, amounted to 1,095,—that is, 364 deaths in excess of the first and last quarters, or, as near as possible, 50 per cent. (See Table E. at foot.)

Do. in Suburbs.

10. In the Suburban Districts the deaths in the Summer quarters were 406, whilst those in the Winter quarters were 492,—that is, an excess of 86, or 21.18 per cent., exhibiting the effects of the Epidemic with a considerably modified intensity.

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS, DEATHS, AND MARRIAGES.

11. In the Country Districts again, the difference in the rate of mortality of the Summer and Winter quarters is comparatively trifling, shewing how small the influence of Epidemics is in rural compared with urban populations.

Effects of the Influenza and Measles Epidemics, upon the mortality in Country.

The deaths in the first and fourth quarters were 1,873, and in the second and third quarters 1,965—an excess of 92 only, or 4.91 per cent.

12. Below will be found two sets of Tables (marked F. and G., 1 and 2) designed to shew more clearly the localities and periods within which the most fatal results were recorded in the City and Suburban Districts, distinguishing the deaths from Measles from those resulting from Influenza, and also the ages of those who died.

Do, in each Ward of the City and in each Suburb composing the Metropolitan District.

From these Tables it will be seen that the Influenza Epidemic raged with the greatest virulence in the month of June, both in the City and Suburbs, whilst the deaths from Measles commenced in Sydney in June, increased during July, and continued during August, but with diminished intensity.

In the Suburbs no deaths from Measles are recorded during the month of June; they commenced in the month of July, and increased nearly double during the month of August.

In the City, out of a total of 57 deaths from Influenza, only 13, or 22.81 per cent., were of children under 5 years of age; whilst in the Suburbs, out of 48 deaths from Influenza, 14, or 29.16 per cent., were of children under 5 years of age.

Effect of Measles Epidemic.

13. With regard to the mortality caused by the Measles, it appears that, out of 192 deaths in the City, 156, or 81.25 per cent., were of children under 5 years; and, in the Suburban Districts, out of 66 deaths, 55, or 83.33 per cent., were of children under 5 years; the remainder, in both cases, being almost entirely made up of children between the ages of 5 and 10 years.

Infantile Mortality.

14. If we look to the total deaths in the Colony (6,562) we shall find that 2,866, or 43.67 per cent., are placed to the account of children under 5 years, varying, in a very trifling degree, from the average proportion of the three previous years, viz., 1857 to 1859, 43.29 per cent.; 1860, 43.67 per cent.

15. It is unnecessary for me to enter into any further analysis of the returns now submitted; and the subsidiary tables furnished with this Report afford complete data for those interested in vital statistics to make for themselves comparisons with former years, or with the returns of other countries, and to work out such results and inferences as may meet their several views and requirements.

16. I would again avail myself of the opportunity which the presentation of this Report affords me to recall attention to the still unsettled state of the question between the Government and Mr. James, the Deputy Registrar of the Diocese, touching his claims to compensation, for the transfer to this department of the registers at present deposited under his custody in the Diocesan Registry Office.

The importance attaching to these records, and the inconvenience to which the public are subjected in their search for evidence (often of the utmost importance in proof of questions pending in the Law Courts, as to descent or inheritance) render it expedient that the question should be set at rest.

I have, &c.,

Registrar General.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

CENSUS—1861.

Presented to both Houses of Parliament, by Command.

MEMO:—The following Return of the Population on the 7th April, 1861, is presented with a view of satisfying inquiries in the meantime, whilst the detailed Tables are in course of preparation.

The complete results of the Census cannot be given for three or four months.

The classification into separate Tables exhibiting the Sex, Age, Occupation, Religion, Social Condition, Education, and Nationality of the people, is necessarily a very laborious and troublesome work; and it should be noted that the several classifications are to be separately arranged, as follows:—

1st—By Registry Districts.
2nd—By Police Districts.
3rd—By Electoral Districts.
4th—By Counties.

5th—By Pastoral Districts.
6th—By Towns and Villages.
7th—By Municipalities.

General Registry Office,
Sydney, 3rd October, 1861.

CHRIS. ROLLESTON,
Registrar General.
